THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY

Ten-Year Eight Per Cent Convertible Gold Debenture Bonds, Series of 1931.

November 8, 1924.

To the Holders of the above Bonds:

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that The Detroit Edison Company, pursuant to the provisions of its Ten-Year Eight Per Cent Convertible Gold Debenture Bonds, Series of 1931, will redeem the entire issue of said Bonds at the principal office of Bankers Trust Company, 16 Wall Street, New York, N. Y., on January 10, 1925, at 103 and accrued interest to said date. All of said Bonds will accordingly become due and payable on January 10, 1925, no further interest will accrue thereon thereafter, and the coupons for interest subsequent to that date will be void.

Said Bonds are convertible, at the option of the holder, into stock of The Detroit Edison Company at any time on or prior to January 9, 1925, when this right will absolutely expire. Upon surrender of any Bonds for conversion at the said office of Bankers Trust Company, bearing the coupon due January 10, 1925, and all subsequent coupons attached, The Detroit Edison Company will deliver a certificate or certificates for shares of the par value of $100 of its full paid capital stock, at the rate of one share for each $100 in principal amount of each Bond so surrendered.

In case of such conversion, the accrued interest on the Bonds so surrendered and the dividends on the stock to be issued will be adjusted as of the date of conversion, so that both interest and dividend will not be paid for the same period.

THE DETROIT EDISON COMPANY,

By ALEX DOW, President.

NOTE: For the convenience of holders residing in Michigan, the Bonds may be surrendered either for conversion or redemption at the office of Security Trust Company, Detroit, Michigan.

(1) Salesmen differ in their Knowledge of Securities. Hence some can gain the investor's interest and confidence better than others.

(2) Salesmen differ in their ability to Capitalize their Knowledge. Hence some are much more forceful in their presentation and can close better than others.

More Sales

Babson Institute Training in Security Salesmanship not only presents the necessary facts but shows how to use these facts to get More Sales.

REORGANIZATION OF

The Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad System

Under Plan and Agreement dated June 15, 1923, as modified February 29, 1924

To Holders of First and Refunding Mortgage Five Per Cent. Gold Bonds and Seven Per Cent. Cumulative Adjustment Mortgage Gold Bonds of The Denver and Rio Grande Railroad Company:

Pursuant to the decree of the District Court of the United States for the District of Colorado, entered September 18, 1924, the properties constituting the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad System were, on October 29, 1924, sold in foreclosure of the Refunding Mortgage and the Adjustment Mortgage. By order entered November 20, 1924, said sale was confirmed by the Court. Proceedings will promptly be taken to complete as rapidly as possible the reorganization under said Plan and Agreement as modified and to issue the new securities in accordance therewith.

The distributive share of the proceeds of the aforesaid sale of the mortgaged properties which bondholders will be entitled to receive under said foreclosure decree will be approximately only $290 for each $1,000 Refunding Bond with the February 1, 1922 and subsequent coupons, and $242 for each $1,000 Adjustment Bond with the October 1, 1921 and subsequent coupons. Accordingly, bondholders who have not already become entitled to participate in the benefits of the reorganization by depositing their bonds under said Plan and Agreement are urged to do so immediately for their own protection. Deposits may be made with any of the depositaries named below, or with their respective sub-depositaries.

In order to permit such deposit, the time for the deposit of bonds under said Plan and Agreement is hereby extended to the close of business on December 30, 1924. After December 30, 1924, bondholders, as a condition of deposit under said Plan and Agreement, will be required to pay in cash $50 for each $1,000 bond deposited. The Reorganization Managers, however, reserve the right at any time after said date, in general or in particular instances in their discretion, to refuse to permit the deposit of bonds or to permit such deposit without such payment or on such special or general terms as they see fit.

Copies of said Plan and Agreement and of the Modifications thereof may be obtained from the undersigned Reorganization Managers or from any of the Depositaries.

THE UNION TRUST COMPANY (CLEVELAND), CORPORATE TRUSTEE

Unconditionally guaranteed as to principal and dividend by Detroit United Railway by endorsement on each certificate

The issuance of these Certificates is subject to approval of the Michigan Public Utilities Commission

Mr. Elliott G. Stevenson, President of the Detroit United Railway, has summarized in his letter to us as follows:

SECURITY AND LEASE

"These certificates are issued under an equipment trust agreement and lease with The Union Trust Company and Wilbur M. Baldwin, Cleveland, as Trustees, whereby the Trustees will, in opinion of counsel, hold the free and unencumbered title (subject to lease) to new electric car and motor coach equipment costing in excess of 133% of the principal amount of this issue.

The equipment will be leased to Detroit United Railway at rentals sufficient in amount to provide for the semi-annual installments of maturing principal and dividends on Certificates. Title to all the equipment will remain with the Trustees until the full payment of principal and dividends on the entire issue.

EQUIPMENT

The equipment covered by these certificates is of the latest standard type for economic operation of interurban and urban railway and motor coach service.

The equipment consists of eighty heavy interurban passenger cars with motors; six interurban passenger chair cars with motors; fifteen double truck 52 passenger one-man operation cars with motors; fifty trailer box cars of 30-ton capacity; twenty-five 29 passenger single deck six-cylinder motor coaches; ten 66-passenger semi-enclosed double deck, six-cylinder motor coaches; forty 29-passenger single deck four-cylinder motor coaches.

The Railway, by operating this type of passenger equipment and effecting changes by alternating electric railway and motor coach service, will reduce the running time of the interurban schedules, particularly within the City of Detroit. These changes should substantially reduce the Railway's operating costs.

DETROIT UNITED RAILWAY SYSTEM

For the year 1923, the first full calendar year of operation since the Railway sold its City of Detroit lines, and for the first six months of the current year 1924, the following consolidated revenues, expenses and net income are reported:

	12 months ended December 31, 1923	6 months ended June 30, 1924
Gross revenues from operation	$8,863,600	$4,361,653
Operating expenses	7,243,271	3,776,056
Net from operation	1,620,329	585,597
All other income	873,583	419,319
Total—Net available for interest, taxes and depreciation	2,493,912	1,004,916
Interest and Taxes	1,630,265	771,113
Balance	863,647	233,803

The earnings for the six months of the current year, 1924, were made notwithstanding the most severe bus competition in the history of the Railway. This motor bus competition resulted in the lowering of rates on a number of the lines to 1c a car mile and the maintenance of a frequency of service that was out of proportion to traffic requirements. This competition has now been overcome and the laws of the State of Michigan provide that the Railway is entitled to put into effect rates that will bring a return of 7% on its investment after operating expenses (this will include rental for this equipment), maintenance and 2% depreciation. The Public Utilities Commission has placed a valuation for rate making purposes on the railway property of approximately $30,000,000."

All legal matters pertaining to this issue have been under the supervision of Messrs. Tolles, Hogsett, Ginn & Morley, of Cleveland, for the Bankers, and Messrs. Stevenson, Carpenter, Butzel and Backus, of Detroit, for the Railway. The books of the Railway are audited annually by Price, Waterhouse and Company and the accounts are kept in accordance with Interstate Commerce Commission's classification for steam railways.

We offer the above certificates when, as and if issued and received by us subject to prior sale and to approval of counsel and to the approval of the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Michigan at prices for different maturities to

The following is summarized from a letter of Mr. Ernest J. Stevens, President and active manager of the Company:

Location: The Hotel La Salle is located on the northwest corner of La Salle Street, the financial center of the Middle West, and Madison Street, the main through artery for east and west bound "Loop" traffic. It is the nearest important hotel to the principal railroad passenger terminals, and within convenient walking distance of the shopping and theatre districts.

The building comprises a 22-story structure of modern steel construction throughout, containing 1,026 bedrooms, and extensive dining facilities, and is so designed as to permit conversion of sections for office purposes if found desirable.

Of the land on which the hotel stands, 179.10 feet fronting on La Salle Street and 162.478 feet on Madison Street, approximately 28% will be owned in fee, and the balance is held under leaseholds running to the year 2004, with fixed ground rentals on very favorable terms.

Security: These bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be secured by a first mortgage lien on the fee and leaseholds valued at $3,753,045, and the hotel building valued at $5,428,500, making a total of $9,181,545 as recently appraised by independent experts.

Earnings: Audited net earnings available for interest, depreciation and Federal Income Taxes have averaged $728,119 for the 5 years and 9 months ended September 30, 1924, as compared to maximum annual interest requirements on bonds to be presently outstanding of $275,000.

Management: No change in management or control is contemplated, the Hotel remaining under the operation of the men responsible for its years of continued success.

Circular giving further information will be sent on request.

Unconditionally guaranteed as to both principal and interest, joint and severally, by endorsement by Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad Company, Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway Company, The Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad Company and The Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

The issuance and sale of these Bonds are subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For further information regarding the Company and this issue of bonds, reference is made to a letter from Samuel Rea, Esq., President of the Chicago Union Station Company, dated November 12, 1924, copies of which may be obtained from the undersigned and from which the following is quoted:

"Chicago Union Station Company owns extensive station and terminal properties in the City of Chicago, now approaching completion, including the property heretofore used as a terminal by the guarantor companies, and properties adjacent thereto. The entire development extends for about eleven blocks from Carroll Avenue to West Twelfth Street, principally between the Chicago River and North and South Canal Streets, and including the present city block bounded by West Adams, West Jackson, Clinton and North Canal Streets. The terminal properties have in larger part continued in use during the construction period, and work upon the station and appurtenant facilities is progressing satisfactorily and it is expected will be completed early in 1925.

As the work progressed it became necessary to add to the original plans, including the construction of a large building for handling United States mail, which is leased to the Government for twenty years, and an office building over the station head-house, which together cost upwards of $5,000,000. The purpose of the sale of the $7,000,000 5% Guaranteed Gold Bonds is to place the Company in funds to complete the construction of the terminal properties on the enlarged plans.

The indenture under which these bonds will be issued will contain appropriate provisions to the end that the Company shall not create any mortgage in addition to its First Mortgage dated July 1, 1915, for $60,000,000, upon the properties owned by it at the date of such new mortgage, or upon any part thereof, without making effective provision in such mortgage that all the bonds of this issue then outstanding and unpaid or thereafter to be issued shall be secured under such new mortgage by a lien ranking pari passu with any bonds issued under such new mortgage.

The total authorized amount of the 5% Guaranteed Gold Bonds is limited to $15,000,000, of which $7,000,000 of bonds constitute the present issue and the balance of $8,000,000 bonds is to be reserved for future capital requirements of the Company. The entire amount of the issue outstanding, but not part thereof, will be redeemable at the option of the Company on ninety days' previous notice at 105 per cent and accrued interest, on any interest date on or after December 1, 1929, and on or before December 1, 1939, and thereafter on any interest date at their principal amount and a premium equal to ½% for each six months between the date of redemption and the date of maturity.

The issue and guaranty of the bonds and their sale to you are subject to the approval of the Inter-State Commerce Commission and any other public authorities whose approval shall be necessary and to the opinion of your counsel."

The United Light and Power Company

Gold Debentures

6½%, Series of 1924

Dated May 1, 1924 Due May 1, 1974

The Company will pay the normal Federal Income Tax, deductible at the source, up to 2%, and will refund upon application within sixty days the Pennsylvania Personal Property Tax to the extent of the present rate of four mills, and the Massachusetts Income Tax, not exceeding 6% per annum on income derived from the Debentures.

From a letter to us, Mr. Frank T. Hulswit, President of the Company, summarizes as follows:

Business and Territory The United Light and Power Company, incorporated in Maryland, or its predecessor, has for many years controlled and operated a group of properties furnishing a diversified public utility service in ninety-seven prosperous and growing communities in the heart of the Middle West. The Company also owns the entire common stock of The United Light & Railways Company (incorporated in Delaware), which is now acquiring a controlling interest in Continental Gas & Electric Corporation, which has recently acquired control of Kansas City Power & Light Co. and Columbus Railway, Power & Light Co. The communities served by the combined properties total 289, and the aggregate population served is in excess of 1,750,000.

Purpose of Issue The proceeds from the sale of these $5,000,000 Debentures and $5,000,000 Prior Preferred Stock of The United Light & Railways Company (the Delaware Company), will provide in part, for the acquisition of over 75% of the common stock of Continental Gas & Electric Corporation. In addition, sufficient holders of the remaining shares have accepted an offer to exchange their holdings for preferred and common stocks of The United Light and Power Company, to assure the ownership of not less than 95% of the Continental Gas & Electric Corporation Common Stock.

Consolidated Earnings Statement Consolidated Net Earnings of the combined properties for the year ended September 30, 1924, as stated in the letter referred to above, after deducting interest and dividends payable to public and minority stockholders' share of undistributed earnings of controlled companies, estimated as at close of current financing, exceeded 3 times the annual interest charges on the entire funded debt of The United Light and Power Company, including interest on these Debentures. After deducting all annual charges prior to interest on these Debentures, the balance available as above calculated was over 10 times the annual interest requirements.

Net earnings of The United Light & Power Company Group alone exceed 1¾ times the annual charges on the entire funded debt of The United Light and Power Company, including interest on these Debentures.

All legal matters in connection with the issue of these Debentures will b.passed upon by Messrs. Winthrop & Stimson of New York, and for the Company by Messrs. Humes, Buck & Smith of New York.

The Financial Situation.

The pace on the Stock Exchange continues fast and furious, and it is a time for the exercise of discrimination and for keeping level-headed. Pools and cliques are active and stocks are being sent upward without much regard to merit. For the time being confidence in security values is so firmly grounded and the upward trend so pronounced that little special stimulus of any kind is required to start a stock on a skyrocket path. All that is necessary is to place a few good-sized orders for the stock in the closing hour of the session, sufficient to cause a rise of 2 or 3 points, and the whole speculative fraternity is sure to take notice. Attention is then concentrated on that stock and the higher the price goes the more buyers for it will be found. Previously it was mainly the railroad stocks that were prime favorites, but now the industrial shares have joined the procession, and speculation in these has always been less restrained than in the rest of the list.

This week a very optimistic statement as to the condition of the steel trade, given out by Judge Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, has done much to bring the industrial stocks to the forefront. The steel shares in particular have felt the beneficial effects. Mr. Gary is able to report a steady growth in the volume of business, and here he is on safe ground because he speaks with a full knowledge of the facts. But Mr. Gary also wants higher prices for the steel company's products, so as to give a larger margin of profit, but this is at best a debatable proposition, and it remains to be seen whether the goal of higher prices can be attained and permanently held. For the time being a higher level of values can no doubt be established—in fact is already taking place, as indicated by the course of market prices. But for the longer future it is at least open to question whether prices can be maintained at any very substantial advance over the figures recently prevailing. On the one hand, there is the disinclination of consumers to buy at higher figures, except for immediate needs, to be considered, and on the other hand the likelihood of importations of iron and steel and their products, on a large scale, looms up, notwithstanding the tariff barriers, now that Europe is once more getting on its feet.

With the railroads, the case is different. Their status has been greatly improved as the result of growing economy and efficiency in management, and the election would appear to have safeguarded them against reductions in rates. But even here the greatest discrimination in making investments is called for, since results differ widely for different roads even in the same section of country. Thus stocks of Southwestern roads have been particularly prominent in the sensational rise of the last few weeks. Yet the St. Louis-San Francisco, for example, is able to report for the ten months to Oct. 31 $4,611,373 surplus above charges in 1924, against only $2,927,056 in the ten months of 1923, while the surplus of the St. Louis Southwestern for the same ten months stands at $1,570,097, against $2,728,781. With stock prices so very much higher than a short time ago, caution ought to be the watchword in buying—at least for investment.

Scarcely a week has passed since the armistice in which one or more European Governments has not been called upon to contend with big problems. This week it has been Egypt for Great Britain. The trouble grows out of the murder last week of an English army officer. First news came on Nov. 19 in a cablegram from Cairo, saying "an attempt to assassinate Major-General Sir Lee Stack, Sirdar of the Egyptian army, by means of a bomb followed up with a fusillade from revolvers just outside the Ministry of War to-day resulted in the serious wounding of the Sirdar [who died the next day from the effects of the wounds]. His aide de camp, P. K. Campbell, the chauffeur of the Sirdar's motor car and a policeman also were wounded. The three or four men involved in the attack escaped." This information was given to the world through an Associated Press dispatch. It was added that "Egyptian Government circles immediately manifested their grave concern over the attack. Premier Zaglul Pasha and other of the Cabinet Ministers called at the residency and expressed their profound horror and sorrow at the outrage. The Premier himself was greatly affected." The London correspondent of "The Sun" cabled on Nov. 19 that this incident "has given a new and more serious turn to Anglo-Egyptian relations." He pointed out also that "Egyptian Nationalists have demanded that all British troops should be removed from Egypt, and when Zaglul Pasha was in London recently he advanced such a proposal, but was turned down by Ramsay MacDonald." Continuing to set forth the British position, he said: "It is the view of Britain's Imperial Defense Committee that to protect the Suez Canal, the main artery of communication of the Empire, effectively the British forces must be maintained in Egypt. Even the Labor Prime Minister coincided in that view, as he did also that Britain must at all costs retain her position in the Sudan."

The Egyptian situation became more acute each day until the resignation of the former Ministry, acording to Cairo and London cable dispatches. It became known here last Sunday morning that "Lord Allenby presented to Zaglul Pasha in Cairo this [Saturday] afternoon a note from the British Government which is practically an ultimatum and demands a satisfactory reply within 24 hours. A supplementary note also was forwarded." It was stated in London dispatches of a week ago to-day, Nov. 22, that "the British demands include a proper apology for the assassination of Major-General Sir Lee Stack, an indemnity of £500,000, prohibition of political demonstrations and the withdrawal of Egyptian troops from the Sudan." One correspondent added that "the terms of the ultimatum were approved at a special Cabinet Council held this morning. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin came to Downing Street from Chequers, where he had gone last evening and where he returned this afternoon. The ultimatum was cabled to Lord Allenby early in the afternoon and was ceremoniously delivered by him to Zaglul Pasha at 5 o'clock in the afternoon." The British Government took prompt action in the dispatching of naval forces to Egypt. In a wireless message from Malta dated Nov. 23 it was reported that "the British fleet is under orders to sail at four hours' notice." On the same date word came from Gibraltar that "the First Battalion of the Buffs, stationed here, has been ordered to proceed to Egypt and will embark Saturday." Apparently the dispatching of the note and the prompt naval preparations had only in part the desired effect. This was shown by the fact that on the same day, Nov. 23, it was announced in a Cairo cablegram to the New York "Times" that "the Egyptian Government has agreed to comply with the British 24-hour ultimatum resulting from the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, to the extent of apologizing, to punishing the criminals and to paying the indemnity of £500,000, but has refused to accept responsibility for the assassination and has offered the contention that the other demands, such as the evacuation of the Sudan, were matters to be dealt with by diplomatic methods, or were counter to the Egyptian Constitution."

It seems that, "within an hour and a half of the receipt of the Egyptian reply to the British notes, Lord Allenby replied as follows: Sir, with reference to Your Excellency's communication of to-day's date I have the honor to inform you that in view of the Egyptian Government's refusal to comply with those requirements of His Majesty's Government number five and six in my communication of yesterday, instructions are being sent to the Sudan Government: First, to effect the withdrawal from the Sudan of all Egyptian officers and purely Egyptian units of the Egyptian army with the specified changes resulting therefrom. Secondly, that they are at liberty to increase the area to be irrigated at Gezira from 300,000 feddans to an unlimited figure as the need may arise. Your Excellency will learn in due course the action which His Majesty's Government are taking in view of Your Excellency's refusal to comply with requirement seven regarding protection of foreign interests in Egypt. I note that the Egyptian Government accepts among other requirements requirement four. His Majesty's Government expects that the payment of the sum of £500,000 will be made to me before noon to-morrow." The British Foreign Office in London issued a statement Sunday afternoon saying that "His Majesty's Government have decided that the fine of £500,000 to be paid by Egypt shall be subject to the provision of compensation for the victims, to be applied as they may hereafter direct to benevolent objects in the Sudan, for which country Sir Lee Stack laid down his life."

The French were said to be much concerned over the whole affair. It was pointed out by the Paris correspondent of the New York "Times" that "France as well as England holds fertile possessions in Africa. To them she has given by her authority, by her work and with her money peace and prosperity. That reflection lies at the bottom of almost all to-day's comment on the situation which has arisen in Egypt as the result of the murder of the Sirdar. But the security of France is involved to a greater degree than that of almost any other Power in the maintenance of her authority and the ability of the League of Nations to prevent an outbreak of war. That is the second reflection which runs through the comment." Attention also was called to the fact that "three questions are involved: First, does the British demand infringe on Egyptian independence as it was proclaimed and recognized in 1922? Second, is the British demand for evacuation of the Sudan by the Egyptian units in accord with the status of that country? Third, if the League of Nations is appealed to by the Egyptians would the reply by England be justifiable that Egypt does not belong in the League and that the matter is of domestice character affecting only England and coming within the same category as those cases provided for in the Japanese amendment to the Geneva protocol?" The further suggestion was offered that "all these questions, the French say, are of a kind which only those not engaged in the quarrel can consider calmly, and the fear is that English opinion, outraged by the murder of the Sirdar and impatient at abuse of their quasi-independence by the Egyptian Nationalists, will take but little account of them."

In describing the situation the next day the Cairo correspondent of the New York "Times" cabled that "things moved with dramatic swiftness to-day in the crisis resulting from the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, Governor-General of the Sudan and Sirdar of the Egyptian Army. Just before noon Egypt handed over to Lord Allenby, British High Commissioner, a check for the £500,000 indemnity. On receiving it General Allenby announced that British forces would seize the customs at Alexandria, and this was soon done." He added that "this was followed by the resignation of Premier Zaglul Pasha, which was accepted at once by King Fuad, who called upon Ziwar Pasha, President of the Senate, to form a new Government. Ziwar Pasha accepted, and to-night a new Government is directing Egypt's affairs." It was made known also that "late to-night the Egyptian Parliament voted to appeal to the League of Nations to prevent injustice and approved the text of a protest to be addressed to the Parliaments of the world." Announcement likewise was made the same evening that Ahmed Ziwar Pasha had succeeded in forming a Cabinet of which he was the Premier. Attention was drawn to the fact that "all the members except Ziwar Pasha and Zulfikar Pasha are new to office." It was added that "Parliament will be suspended for a month."

According to further Paris cable dispatches, the French Government was still undecided as to the wisdom of the course taken by the British Government in dealing with the Egyptian situation. The Paris correspondent of the New York "Times" cabled on Nov. 24 that "French opinion is still hesitating between approval of the firm attitude of the British Government in Egypt and the desire to have the contested matters referred to the League of Nations. There is a frank realization that Austen Chamberlain has inaugurated a new chapter of British imperial policy which has the support of practically the whole of the British press. But whether it is a wise policy or not Frenchmen do not feel called on to say, except in so far as they personally favor a policy of authority or of compromise." The British Cabinet met again on Monday. The New York "Times" correspondent said that "the British Cabinet held another emergency meeting at midday today when the situation in Egypt was the only matter under consideration. The messages which had passed between the Foreign Office and General Allenby were reviewed and plans to be adopted to enforce the demands of the British Government were approved. Members of the Cabinet have been warned to hold themselves in readiness for a further meeting of the Cabinet at any time, in addition to the weekly meeting which will be held Wednesday morning." It was added that "in official circles to-day considerable satisfaction was expressed at the favorable reception accorded to the British action throughout the country."

It became known here Tuesday evening that "the Egyptian Parliament was adjourned by royal decree to-day to Dec. 25." The Associated Press correspondent in Cairo cabled the same afternoon that "an improved atmosphere prevails here to-day after yesterday's sensational political developments resulting from the course taken by Great Britain because of the assassination last week of the Sirdar, Major-General Sir Lee Stack." He also made it known that "the new Ministers in the Cabinet formed by Ziwar Pasha called at the house of ex-Premier Zaglul Pasha and discussed the Cabinet's program. The decree proroguing Parliament was a sequel." The London representative of the New York "Evening Post" said that "Government officials expect Ziwar Pasha, who became Premier yesterday following the resignation of Zaglul Pasha, to accept the British conditions rejected by his predecessor as speedily as he can get his Government to functioning." It was made plain in London cable dispatches that the British regarded the Egyptian situation as presenting only domestic problems and not such as might well be submitted to the League of Nations.

In a cablegram Tuesday evening the Cairo representative of the New York "Times" declared that, while conditions were somewhat improved, "there is, however, no truth for statements published in the local press that the Alexandria customs have been evacuated by the British." He added that "although the absence of demonstrations is popularly attributed to Zaglul Pasha's orders, and undoubtedly his disapproval of such proceedings has counted for a great deal, it is certain that the show of strength and firmness by the British authorities has restrained the lower orders and also the members of the Wafd clique, who, it is no secret, have been responsible for the many demonstrations by students and others which have taken place in late years, and, as the events of the past four months in particular have shown, are fully capable of controlling them or calling them into being as required." According to the same correspondent, Ziwar Pasha, in outlining his attitude and policies, said that "the members of the new Cabinet were fully alive to the great responsibilities and difficulties of their position. He admitted it required some courage to face them, but he and his calleagues felt it their duty as patriotic Egyptians, he said, to do what they could to relieve the situation." The new Premier was quoted as saying also that "the maintenance of public order was absolutely essential, and that he and his colleagues were resolved not to allow anything to trouble the peace of the country." It was stated that "he [the Premier] concluded by saying that he trusted that eventually Britain would display the same benevolence toward Egypt which she had always shown in the past, for a state of hostility between Britain and Egypt would make the position of any Egyptian Cabinet difficult, and would be highly detrimental to the interests of Egypt."

As the week progressed the reports relative to Egypt were more encouraging until yesterday. Word came from London Wednesday evening that "Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, British High Commissioner in Egypt, informed the British Government in a message to-day that the situation in Egypt was much easier as the result of the respite since the resignation of the Egyptian Cabinet. The possibility of serious riots in Cairo and other centres, he said, was greatly reduced." It was added in the London dispatch that "Lord Allenby, it was said in official quarters, believes the Ziwar Pasha Cabinet will accept the remaining British demands or open direct negotiations with Great Britain for the settlement of the differences." In an Associated Press cable message from Khartum, Sudan, on Nov. 26, it was stated that "the Egyptian units of the Egyptian army have received orders to evacuate the Sudan forthwith. The Fourth Battalion already has left. The Third Battalion, with artillery, will leave shortly." At the same time, however, "the entire Cairo brigade of British troops again paraded the streets of the European and native quarters with fixed bayonets."

The Egyptian Government acted promptly in referring its case to the League of Nations. The Associated Press representative at Geneva cabled on Nov. 26 that "the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies has addressed a protest to the League of Nations against the British demands bearing on the assassination of Sir Lee Stack, Sirdar of the Egyptian army." The League acted with equal promptness, as it was announced that "this protest was taken under consideration to-day, and after an hour's meeting of the department chiefs of the Secretariat, under the Chairmanship of Sir Eric Drummond, it was decided not to distribute the Egyptian protest to the members of the League." The correspondent explained that "the decision was based on the constitutional procedure of the Secretariat which is not to circulate documents that do not emanate from Governments. One precedent cited was the decision not to distribute a communication received from a man who claimed to represent the Fiume Parliament." Continuing, the correspondent said that "it is explained by the League officials that when documents come from private associations, such as the Red Cross or Parliamentary unions, a list is usually made of them and each member of the Council is given a copy of the list so that he may ask for the original document if he so desires. Whether this course will be followed in the Egyptian affair does not seem to be clear as yet."

Word was received from Geneva yesterday morning that the League of Nations had decided after all to present the Egyptian protest to the Council of the League. Cabling the night before, the Associated Press correspondent in Geneva said, however, that "the prevailing opinion in the Secretariat seemed to be that Egypt's protest would not be officially discussed in Rome, because the members of the Council would find it difficult to give official importance to communication from a Parliament. All depends, it was declared, on whether any member of the Council inaugurates debate on the matter."

According to Cairo cable advices yesterday morning the situation had become critical again. Mahmud Nekrashy Effendi, "until a few days ago Under Secretary of State for the Interior," and three others were arrested by British officials on the charge of plotting against British authorities and as dangerous propagandists. The New York "Times" correspondent in Cairo said, however, that, notwithstanding this incident, "progress is being made toward a settlement. The difficulty has been to make the Cabinet as well as the mass of Egyptians realize the seriousness of the situation. It did not seem to grasp this and has been inclined to consider it could bargain as usual, or at any rate discuss the conditions imposed." He added that "however, there is reason to believe it now understands what the ultimatum means and that the sole consideration exercising the minds of the Cabinet Ministers is now how best to fit in inevitable acceptance of the British demands with the requirements of the Constitution." In an Associated Press cablegram from Cairo last evening it was stated that "two platoons of the Eleventh Sudanese at Khartum mutinied to-day and attacked the military hospital, killing one British and two Syrian doctors. British troops fired on the mutineers, causing several casualties." Announcement was made in the same dispatch that "communication with the Sudan has been cut. The telegraph lines are down and the train which connects with the Sudan steamer from Halfaya, in the Eastern Sudan on the Nile, will not leave to-night. The military authorities here have been in wireless communication with Khartum and it is understood the situation is well in hand, but the circumstances are somewhat obscure."

France not only was inclined to think that Great Britain had not taken a wise course in dealing with the Egyptian situation, and was apprehensive over the possible outcome, but she has had troubles of her own, particularly in Tunis. The Paris correspondent of the New York "Herald Tribune" cabled on Nov. 26 that "serious developments in Tunis, which may result in an organized insurrection against France's protectorate there, became known here to-day and attracted wide attention to North Africa, which is the chief storm centre of world disturbance just now, with the Anglo-Egyptian crisis still threatening despite surface calm and the desperate situation of the Spanish army in the Riff." Outlining the state of things in greater detail, the correspondent said: "Although Tunis and Morocco and Algeria, the connecting link between the two countries, are separated from the seat of the Egyptian trouble by Tripoli and the great Libyan desert, it must be remembered that the people of all these countries are Mahometans, and to the northeast of Egypt in Asia Minor and India, are countless millions more chafing under European domination. Just at present North Africa has taken the place formerly held by the Balkans as the potential disturber of the peace of Europe." He added that "the French Government has secretly investigated the Tunisian situation, and is said to have discovered that the disturbance is purely political. Spanish and Italian colonists outnumber the French in this protectorate and it is charged that they are behind the agitation to throw off French control and that the move actually is directed from Tripoli, Italy's North African colony, which adjoins Tunis on the southeast."

France was not concerned over Tunis alone. The "Herald Tribune" correspondent said in the same dispatch that "meantime France is seriously concerned also with the situation in Morocco, where the intervention of French troops may become necessary on account of the virtual abandonment of the Riff by the Spanish army. It was intimated in Paris today that French troops would not cross the frontier into Spanish Morocco before it was officially known what are Spain's intentions regarding the territory, but such a movement must be regarded as the inevitable sequence of the first move of Abdul Krim, the rebellious Moorish tribal chief, to compromise foreign interests or to consolidate the territory now being evacuated by Spain into a Moorish republic or even into a separate Moorish State with himself as Sultan." According to a Paris dispatch yesterday morning, Lord Crewe, British Ambassador to France, conferred with Premier Herriot at the Quai d'Orsay on Thursday relative to "the common troubles of England and France in North Africa." The New York "Herald Tribune" representative in the French capital reported that "Senor Quinones de Leon, the Spanish Ambassador, called at the Quai d'Orsay and talked with the Premier, his visit marking the opening of negotiations between France and Spain concerning the Moroccan situation."

The cancellation by the Chamberlain Ministry of the trade treaties between Great Britain and the Soviet Government of Russia that were entered into when the Labor Cabinet was in power in the former country, caused much discussion if not surprise there and even greater disappointment in Russia. Special attention was directed in London cable dispatches under date of Nov. 21 that "at the same time the Foreign Secretary replied to the Soviet on the Zinoviev letter, declaring the Government's belief that the letter was no forgery and taking the Moscow authorities to task for their failure to check the propaganda activities of the Communist International." The New York "Times" representative observed that "the action of the Government creates a novel if not unprecedented diplomatic situation. Treaties which the British Labor Government had signed and which by implication conveyed if not in the actual text of the treaties at least in public statements of the British signatories, were to be submitted to Parliament, are canceled by the present Government. It is even asserted in some quarters that the Chamberlain notes withdraw the de jure recognition accorded to the Soviet Government by the late British Government, but in other quarters this is considered a debatable point." Continuing, he suggested that "the Soviet Government is in any case warned that continuance of present relations between the two countries, both diplomatic and commercial, are dependent upon the future good behavior of the Soviet Government in regard to propaganda." The correspondent said that "it is suggested that the Soviet authorities may be the first to break off existing relations, that is to recall its diplomatic agent here and annul the trade agreement under the provisions of which the commercial relations between Russia and Great Britain are now carried on. On this point it was remarked to-night that even the Soviet Government was unlikely to 'cut off its nose to spite its face.'"

Commenting upon another feature of the note of Mr. Chamberlain to M. Rakovsky, Soviet Charge d'Affaires at London, the representative in that city of "The Sun" said: "But Chamberlain in clearing the air has given Moscow a very definite warning that the recognition of the Soviet Government by the previous British Government, although not now withdrawn, will be revoked unless Moscow ceases its propaganda plottings in Britain and the Empire. Furthermore, the door is not closed to further treaty negotiations, but such negotiations also are dependent upon Russia's conduct and her recognition that dealings with Russia cannot be carried on at the expense of any British principles or of the betrayal of any British institutions." He added that "Laborites, of course, do not relish the idea of their plans to bring Soviet Russia into the family of nations being scrapped. Some Liberals are uneasy about the possible effect created in Moscow by this firm stand. It is certain that the Laborites in the Commons will do everything possible to spur on the Government to enter into further treaty negotiations, but they will be embarrassed by the fulminations of some of the Labor radicals now in Moscow who have been showering plaudits on the Red army and trying to convince the Communists that the hostility of the Tory Government does not reflect the attitude of the British people."

The French loan was a great success. Formal offering was made in the United States last Monday morning (Nov. 24) of $100,000,000 7% French bonds. The syndicate was headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., the First National Bank of New York, the National City Company and Brown Brothers & Co. The syndicate was spoken of as "nation-wide" and was quite similar to the one that floated the recent issue of German bonds in the United States. The price to subscribers was 94, on which the yield is approximately 7.53%. Within an hour after the books were opened announcement was made by the syndicate managers that all the bonds had been taken and that the books had been closed. Even the early figures indicated that the bonds had been three or four times subscribed. The subscriptions were said to have actually totaled $400,000,000 and allotments were on a basis of from 25 to 30%.

The necessary bills authorizing the loan were passed by both branches of the French Parliament on Nov. 21, "with only the Communists objecting." The vote in the Chamber of Deputies was 535 for and 29 against. In the third clause of the enabling bill it is stipulated that "the proceeds of the loan will be turned over to the Bank of France in reimbursement of its advances at the rate of five francs eighteen centimes for a dollar." The Paris correspondent of the New York "Herald Tribune" explained somewhat in detail that "this loan is not new in the sense that it is a substitute for the same amount credited to France by the Morgan and allied banks last March when the condition of the franc called for immediate action. That credit was for three months, and before the end of the three months a statement was circulated that it had been repaid. On the contrary, it has been renewed at the end of each three months since that date, and the present operation simply converts the short-term credit, to which many conditions were attached into a 25-year loan at 7%." Sales of the new bonds (when issued) in the open New York market on Monday, the day of the offering, amounting to $566,000 par value were reported, with the top price for the day 94¾. That quotation was raised to 94⅞ on Wednesday, while yesterday it was 94⅞. The aggregate of open market transactions up to the close of business on Wednesday was $2,506,000. This amount was further increased to a considerable extent yesterday.

All week there were reports from Paris and Washington, particularly the former centre, as to the attitude of the French Government toward funding her war debt to the United States. It was even claimed that there had been preliminary negotiations between representatives of the two Governments. In an Associated Press dispatch from Washington last evening it was stated that "informal discussions have been instituted between representatives of the French and American Governments relative to a basis for funding the former's war-time debt to the United States." According to the dispatch also, "Ambassador Jusserand has held several conferences with Secretary Mellon, during which the whole French situation was gone over. It was made clear at the Treasury to-day, however, that Mr. Mellon's talk with M. Jusserand had been most informal; that thus far the French Plenipotentiary had merely outlined the position his Government occupies with respect to finances, and that the subject of actual terms had not been broached, except as these are governed by the ability of France to pay."

The Bank of Norway, according to a cable dispatch from Christiania, this week reduced its discount rate ½ of 1%, to 6½%. Aside from this change official discount rates at leading European centres continue to be quoted at 10% in Berlin; 7% in Denmark; 6% in Paris; 5½% in Belgium and Sweden; 5% in Holland and Madrid and 4% in London and Switzerland. In London open market discounts were steady and practically unchanged, finishing at 3⅝@3 11-16% for short bills, against 3 9-16@3 11-16, and 4% for long bills, against 3¾% a week ago. Call money continues strong and ruled most of the time at 3¾%, though the close was 2⅝%, as compared with 2¾% last week. In Paris and Switzerland the open market discount rate has not been changed from 5⅜ and 3⅝%, respectively.

The Imperial Bank of Germany in its statement, issued as of Nov. 15, indicated a reduction in note circulation and an increase in gold holdings. Notes in circulation were reduced by 88,634,000 gold marks (the equivalent of a trillion paper marks). Other maturing obligations declined 79,080,000 marks, while there were reductions in holdings of bills of exchange and checks 172,553,000 marks, silver and other coins 1,554,000 marks and investments 72,000 marks—all in gold marks. Reserve in foreign currencies increased 112,000 marks, notes of other banks 1,930.000 marks, advances 1,607,000 marks and other assets 69,477,000 marks. Other liabilities increased 691,999,000 marks. The bank's gold reserve is now 694,626,000 marks, a gain for the week of 338,000 marks and comparing with 467,025,000 marks last year and 1,004,848,000 marks in 1922. The total addition to gold holdings since the low record point of April last is 252,749,000 gold marks. Note circulation is now 1,633,171,000 marks, against 92,844,720 marks a year ago. Here also improvement is shown, since the present total is appreciably lower than on Oct. 31, when a high record of 1,780,930,000 marks was reported. These figures are given in the new reichsmarks, which have replaced both the old paper marks and the temporary rentenmark.

The statement as of Nov. 22 also became available last evening, and showed a further decrease of 83,049,000 marks in notes in circulation, an increase of 154,839,000 marks in other maturing obligations, an increase of 16,351,000 marks in holdings of bills of exchange and checks, an increase of 33,321,000 marks in other assets and an increase of 5,574,000 marks in notes on other banks. Gold and bullion increased $208,000 and the bank's gold holdings now stand at 694,834,000 marks. Note circulation is down to 1,550,122,000 marks.

The Bank of England this week reported a loss in gold of £5,874, while reserve was reduced £837,000, the result of expansion in note circulation amounting to £831,000. Moreover, the proportion of reserve to liabilities again declined, falling to 19.21%, as against 20.60% last week, 18.62% a year ago and 18.94% in 1922. Public deposits decreased £234,000, but "other" deposits increased no less than £5,212,000. The bank's temporary loans to the Government were reduced £570,000, although loans on other securities were increased by £6,396,000. Gold holdings now are £128,491,489, as against £127,768,737 in 1923 and £127,440,455 a year earlier. Reserve aggregates £25,176,000, in comparison with £22,503,077 last year and £23,005,930 a year earlier. Loans total £82,396,000. A year ago they were £72,796,613 and in 1922 £67,935,487. Note circulation is £123,066,000, in comparison with £125,015,660 and £122,884,525 one and two years ago, respectively. Clearings through the London banks for the week were £783,849,000, which compares with £780,272,000 last week and £636,884,000 a year ago. The minimum discount rate of the bank has not been changed from 4%. We append herewith comparisons of the principal different items of the Bank of England statement extending over a series of years:

The Bank of France in its weekly statement reports a further reduction of 83,266,000 francs in note circulation, following contraction of 105,663,000 francs and 69,340,000 francs, respectievly, in the two previous weeks. This brings the total outstanding down to 40,447,011,000 francs, contrasting with 37,329,311,815 francs at this time in 1923 and with 36,114,050,565 francs in 1922. Just prior to the outbreak of the war, in 1914, the amount was only 6,683,184,785 francs. A further small gain of 99,600 francs is shown in the gold item this week. The Bank's gold holdings, therefore, now aggregste 5,544,700,125 francs, comparing with 5,539,801,607 francs at the corresponding date last year and with 5,533,921,512 francs in 1922; of these amounts 1,864,320,907 francs were held abroad in both 1924 and 1923 and 1,897,967,056 francs in 1922. During the week silver increased 170,000 francs; bills discounted, 82,780,000 francs; Treasury deposits, 477,000 francs, and general deposits, 3,990,700 francs. On the other hand advances fell off 64,938,000 francs. Comparisons of the various items in this week's return with the statement of last week and corresponding dates in both 1923 and 1922 are as follows:

The Federal Reserve Board's statements, issued at the close of business Friday (Thursday being a legal holiday) showed smaller rediscounts, locally and nationally, with a loss in gold for the System as a whole, of $4,000,000. At New York gold reserves increased $15,300,000. Rediscounts of Government secured paper at the local institution expanded $4,700,000, but rediscounts of "other" bills decreased $20,000,000, so that total bills discounted declined $15,300,000. Open market purchases remained practically stationary. Deposits heavily declined, viz., $18,800,000, and earning assets $17,100,000. Federal Reserve notes in actual circulation increased $8,500,000. For the banks as a group rediscounts of Government secured paper increased $11,500,000, while "other" bills decreased $23,900,000. Bill buying in the open market expanded $5,700,000. Earning assets declined $11,000,000, while there was a falling off in deposits of $67,700,000. The amount of Federal Reserve notes in circulation increased $22,000,000. Member bank reserve accounts showed a material shrinkage in both statements, $16,000,000 at New York and $67,000,000 for the System. Decrease in deposits was responsible for an advance in reserve ratios; at New York a gain was shown of 1.7%, to 78.2%, while in the combined statement the ratio moved up to 77.4%, from 76.8%.

Last Saturday's statement of New York Clearing House banks and trust companies showed a contraction in loans and deposits after the heavy expansion of the previous week and a substantial addition to surplus reserve in part as a result of this contraction and in part owing to increased borrowing at the Reserve bank. In loans and discounts the reduction amounted to $16,083,000. Net demand deposits decreased $55,858,000, to $4,664,139,000. This total is exclusive of $23,123,000 in Government deposits, a drop in the latter item of $6,823,000 for the week. Time deposits, on the other hand, were appreciably larger, gaining $33,633,000, to $640,842,000. Cash in own vaults of members of the Federal Reserve Bank expanded $2,082,000, to $51,353,000, which, however, is not counted as reserve. Reserves of State banks and trust companies in own vaults gained $127,000, but the reserves of these same institutions kept in other depositories fell $287,000. There was an increase in the reserves of member banks at the Reserve bank of $18,347,000, and this in combination with the shrinkage in deposits, served to bring about an addition to surplus of $24,353,470, so that excess reserves was raised to $28,894,000 from $4,540,610 a week ago. The figures here given are based on legal reserves of 13% for member banks of the Federal Reserve System, but not including $51,353,000 held by these member banks in own vaults on Saturday last.

The feature of the local money market this week was an advance to 4% yesterday afternoon for call loans. This was the highest rate since May 31 last. The ruling rate for call money was 2½% until Wednesday afternoon, when there was an advance to 3%. As the end of the week and month was close at hand this was not in the least surprising, particularly in view of the tremendous speculation in stocks, and reports of expanding business in the country generally. The Government withdrew $2,047,000 from the Federal Reserve district yesterday. While the Government's operations will be large in December, it was announced at the New York Federal Reserve Bank that this small withdrawal would be "used for current requirements of the United States Treasury." No estimates of changes in brokers' loans as a result of the continued heavy speculation in stocks, and the offering of the French bonds, were made public. Liquidation of speculative accounts and extensive cash purchases have helped to offset new buying on a marginal basis. Much attention was given to Judge Gary's statement relative to the improvement in the steel industry since the election and to the still greater expansion which he looks for in the near future. Favorable reports are being received as to other lines of industry and business. The mail order houses appear to be particularly busy. This indicates that those who have profited directly and specially from this year's good crops that have been sold or that may be sold, at favorable prices, are buying sooner and on a larger scale than had been predicted by most observers. Because of unusually large interest and dividend disbursements and Government operations the money market generally is active and higher in December. No real stringency nor particularly high rates are looked for this year, however.

Dealing with specific rates for money, call loans this week ranged between 2@4%, which compares with 2@2½% last week. On Monday the high was 2½%, the low 2%, with renewals at 2½%. Tuesday all loans on calls were put through at 2½%, the only rate named. Firmness set in on Wednesday and although the renewal basis was still 2½%, a high level of 3% was touched before the close; the low was 2½%. Thursday was a holiday (Thanksgiving Day). On Friday call loans renewed at 2½%, the same as heretofore, but a slight flurry at the close sent the rate up to 4%, with 2½% the lowest for the day. Preparations for the month-end settlements were responsible for the stiffening. In time money also the tendency was toward slightly higher levels and 60-day loans advanced to 3%, against 2¾@3%; 90 days to 3¼%, against 3@3¼%; four months to 3½%, against 3¼@3½%, with five months quoted at 3½%, unchanged, and six months 3½@3¾%, unchanged from last week. The demand continued light and the market was quiet and featureless.

Commercial paper was firm, with trading restricted by light offerings of prime bills. Four to six months' names of choice character remain at 3¼@3¾% required for names less well known. New England mill paper and the shorter choice names are still being dealt in at 3¼%.

Banks' and bankers' acceptances have again been raised; that is, for spot bills in the open market. Fairly active trading was reported, with the demand usually in excess of the supply. Both city and country institutions were in the market as buyers; the aggregate turnover, however, attained only moderate proportions. For call loans against bankers' acceptances the posted rate of the American Acceptance Council was not changed from 2¼%. The Acceptance Council makes the discount rate on prime bankers' acceptances eligible for purchase by the Federal Reserve banks 2½% bid and 2⅜% asked for bills running 30 days, 2⅝% bid and 2½% asked for bills running 60 days, 2¾% bid and 2⅝% asked for bills running 90 and 120 days, 2⅞% bid and 2⅝% asked for bills running 150 days and 3¼% bid and 3⅛% asked for bills running 180 days. Open market quotations were as follows:

There have been no changes this week in Federal Reserve Bank rates.

The sterling exchange market reflected the uneasiness felt in financial circles at all large foreign centres over the clash between Great Britain and Egypt arising out of assassination of the British Sirdar, and while prices were well maintained, trading locally much of the time was at a practical standstill and rate movements narrow and perfunctory. Nervousness developed in the early dealings and heavy selling was reported on the part of London interests which forced prices down from 4 63 13-16 to 4 61 11-16. The slump, however, proved comparatively brief, and by Tuesday afternoon selling commenced to subside and quoted rates rallied to 4 62¾, with the close 4 63⅜. Advices from London and Cairo took on a less threatening aspect and the feeling began to gain ground that an amicable understanding would be reached. Moreover, fears of the bad effects that this mishap might have upon other of Great Britain's dominions proved to have been considerably exaggerated. The result was a distinct lessening of the strain that had prevailed in the first part of the week, although this was largely sentimental and not accompanied by any general broadening in market operations. Large operators who had hastily withdrawn from the market remained aloof, so that there was a marked falling off in speculative buying and selling. This was particularly noticeable on Wednesday, when approach of the national Thanksgiving holiday rendered the undertaking of new commitments over the interval rather hazardous.

Opinion in banking circles as to whether the advance in sterling which was interrupted by the Cairo incident, would be immediately resumed was much mixed. Should the Egyptian situation prove difficult of adjustment, it is easily conceivable that the trouble might attain serious proportions. This contingency, however, is regarded as remote, and the more hopeful intimate that England is now in full control. Aside from this, conditions are satisfactory and many look for continued high prices in anticipation of the thirty or forty foreign loans that it is expected will be offered in the course of the next few months. Further diminution in the supply of cotton and grain bills offering was reported during the week. With the resumption of business yesterday trading continued quiet and featureless.

Referring to quotations in greater detail, sterling exchange on Saturday last was strong, with a further advance to 4 63 7-16@4 63 13-16 for demand to 4 63 11-16@4 64 1-16 for cable transfers to 4 60 15-16 @4 61 5-16 for sixty days; in keeping with the firmness, trading was fairly active for a half session. On Monday heavy foreign selling on fears of a crisis in the Egyptian situation induced a recession in demand rates to 4 61 11-16@4 63, in cable transfers to 4 61 15-16@4 63¼, and in sixty days to 4 59 3-16@ 4 60½. Dealings on Tuesday were largely professional in character and the range of prices narrow; demand bills moved between 4 62¼@4 62¾, cable transfers 4 62½@4 63 and sixty days 4 59¾@4 60¼. On Wednesday, although pre-holiday quiet prevailed, better foreign news was responsible for a firmer tone and quotations advanced to 4 62¾@4 63 for demand, to 4 63@4 63¼ for cable transfers and to 4 60@ 4 60½ for sixty days. Thursday was a holiday (Thanksgiving Day). On Friday a small accumulation of orders over the holiday failed to influence prices and the range for demand was unchanged at 4 62⅞@4 63⅜ for cable transfers, 4 63⅛@4 63⅝ and for sixty days 4 60⅜@4 60⅞. Closing quotations were 4 60½ for sixty days, 4 63 for demand and 4 63¼ for cable transfers. Commercial sight bills finished at 4 62⅞, sixty days at 4 58¾, ninety days at 4 58¼, documents for payment (sixty days) at 4 59 and seven-day grain bills at 4 62⅜. Cotton and grain for payment closed at 4 62⅞.

The Bankers Trust Co. reports that it has received a shipment of $3,500,000 in German gold coin, the consignment being part of an original transaction of $15,000,000, of which one-ahlf has now been delivered. The gold is said to be subject to orders from the Bankers Trust Co.'s office in Paris and will in all probability be used for account of claims rising from war damages. Shipments of gold bullion to the amount of $375,000 are going forward this week to South America, part to Venezuela and part to Colombia. A cable from London, received this week, stated that a shipment of $2,000,000 gold recently made from New York to London, is destined to Russia.

In Continental exchange trading was colorless, with rate variations narrow and lacking in significance. There was a noticeable falling off in speculative activity and in the absence of buying demand prices sagged, although actual changes were restricted to a few points only. Uneasiness over the possibility of serious complications as a result of the Egyptian outbreak made itself felt and rates receded in sympathy with sterling. French francs were neglected during the early part of the week and the quotation moved aimessly, without definite trend. Later on, selling of francs set in incidental to preparations for purchase of the new French bonds by those who prefer dollar to franc holdings, and there was a drop to 5.25, or 6 points off. Before the close, however, firmness set in and there was a rally to 5.38¾. Reichsmarks were dealt in to a limited extent at a fraction above par. Lire held their own well, ruling between 4.32¾ and 4.33. In the minor European exchanges, Czechoslovakian crowns maintained the strength displayed at the close of last week and advanced another fraction to 3.01¾. Rumanian lei were a trifle firmer, while finmarks remained all week at 2.53. Polish zloty continue to be quoted at 19¼. Apparently monetary reforms in Poland are meeting with considerable success, although the capital and credit scarcity has been a drawback. Greek exchange was steady, ruling slightly above the levels of the previous week.

The London check rate on Paris finished at 86.50, comparing with 87.60 last week. In New York sight bills on the French centre closed at 5.38¼, against 5.28¼; cable transfers at 5.39½, against 5.29¼; commercial sight bills at 5.32, against 5.27¼, and commercial sixty days at 5.32, against 5.22 the previous week. Final quotations on Antwerp francs were 4.89 for checks and 4.90 for cable transfers, in comparison with 4.84 and 4.85 a week earlier. Reichsmarks finished at 23.82 for both checks and cable transfers, against 23.81½ last week. Austrian kronen closed at 0.0014⅛ (unchanged). Lire finished the week at 4.34 for bankers' sight bills and 4.35 for cable transfers. This compares with 4.32¾ and 4.33¾ a week ago. Exchange on Czechoslovakia closed at 3.00⅛, against 3.00⅝; on Bucharest at 0.51⅞, against 0.52¼; on Poland at 19¼ (unchanged), and on Finland at 2.53 (unchanged). Greek exchange finished at 1.78 for checks and at 1.78½ for cable remittances. Last week the close was 1.77¼ and 1.77¾.

As to the former neutral exchanges trading was usually quiet but quotations firm. Guilders attracted attention by a further advance to 40.38 for checks. Swiss francs moved up to 19.30½. There was no real activity to explain these advances, and dealers attributed the strength to evening up of balances in anticipation of the month-end settlement. A topic for discussion the early part of this week was whether or not guilders might be expected to reach the gold export point. These conjectures were set at rest yesterday when the quotation shot up to 4.38. However, it is not generally believed that Holland has any intention of adding to her present gold holdings. Swiss francs are now selling above the gold export point, but as the Swiss Bank has refused to buy bullion, no exports were arranged. Another currency now above the gold shipping point is Swedish kroner, which advanced to 26.88.

Bankers' sight on Amsterdam closed at 40.36, against 40.18; cable transfers at 40.40, against 40.22; commercial sight bills at 40.30, against 40.12, and commercial sixty days at 39.94, against 39.76 last week. Swiss francs finished at 19.30½ for bankers' sight bills and 19.31½ for cable transfers, in comparison with 19.29 and 19.30 a week ago. Copenhagen checks closed at 17.52½ and cable transfers at 17.56½, against 17.63 and 17.67. Checks on Sweden finished at 26.88 and cable transfers at 26.92, against 26.83 and 26.87, while checks on Norway closed at 14.79 and cable remittances at 14.83, against 14.82 and 14.86 the previous week. Spanish pesetas, after advancing to 13.82, sagged off again and finished at 13.69 for checks and at 13.71 for cable transfers, against 13.65½ and 13.67½ a week earlier.

As to South American quotations, Argentine exchange renewed its advance, touching 38.13 on continued buying incidental to sales of grain. Argentine checks finished at 38.03 and cable transfers at 38.08, against 37.90 and 37.95 last week. Brazil, on the other hand, was easier, closing at 11.59 for checks and 11.64 for cable transfers, in comparison with 11.75 and 11.80 for the week preceding. Chilean exchange also eased off, and finished at 11.31, against 11.48 last week, but Peru was steady and finised at 4 10, against 4 19.

The Far Eastern exchanges continue strong, owing to active buying and high prices for silver. Hong Kong finished at 55⅞@56⅛, against 55⅝@55⅞; Shanghai, 78¼@78½ (unchanged); Yokohama, 39@39½, against 39¼@39½; Manila, 50¼@50½, against 50½@50¾; Singapore, 54½@54¾ (unchanged); Bombay, 35@35¼, against 34¾@35, and Calcutta, 34⅞@35⅛ (unchanged).

The New York Clearing House banks, in their operations with interior banking institutions, have gained $3,847,307 net in cash as a result of the currency movements for the week ended Nov. 27. Their receipts from the interior have aggregated $4,937,107, while the shipments have reached $1,089,800, as per the following table:

As the Sub-Treasury was taken over by the Federal Reserve Bank on Dec. 6 1920, it is no longer possible to show the effect of Government operations on the Clearing House institutions. The Federal Reserve Bank of New York was creditor at the Clearing House each day as follows:

Note.—The foregoing heavy credits reflect the huge mass of checks which come to the New York Reserve Bank from all parts of the country in the operation of the Federal Reserve System's par collection scheme. These large credit balances, however, reflect only a part of the Reserve Bank's operations with the Clearing House institutions, as only the items payable in New York City are represented in the daily balances. The large volume of checks on institutions located outside of New York are not accounted for in arriving at these balances, as such checks do not pass through the Clearing House but are deposited with the Federal Reserve Bank for collection for the account of the local Clearing House banks.

Great Britain, Egypt and the League.

We took occasion to remark, at the time of the Corfu incident, that the League of Nations was not likely thereafter to be of much practical consequence as an agency for promoting peace in any case in which a strong nation was concerned, and that unless the will to peace governed the policy of Governments, and patience and restraint took the place of the mailed fist, technical claims of right were pretty sure to prevail over moral obligations. The unhappy situation which has suddenly developed in the relations of Great Britain and Egypt is an impressive, albeit a most unwelcome, illustration of the truth of that prediction, and one that may well be pondered by those who not only wish well to the League, but who also believe that it should always be ready to act in any case of alleged injustice, whether the aggressor State be small or great.

The facts are worth reciting, since it is in the facts that the lesson of the case is to be read. On Wednesday, Nov. 19, Sir Lee Stack, British Governor-

General of the Sudan and Sirdar of the Egyptian Army, was fired upon in the streets of Cairo, and the next day died of his wounds. The assassins, who escaped, were believed to be students, members of an Egyptian organization which has for some time been agitating for the complete independence of Egypt from British rule. There was no proof that the Zaglul Government, notwithstanding that it was itself committed to independence, had anything whatever to do with the assassination, or that the crime was in any way different from similar acts which have occurred with regrettable frequency in almost every country in the world. Zaglul Pasha himself hastened to express his own regret, and that of his colleagues, at the killing of a British representative who personally was esteemed by both the Government and the Egyptian people, and the arrest on Nov. 21 of some of the persons implicated in the outrage seemed to be evidence of the Government's good faith.

The British Government, on the other hand, gave the Egyptian authorities scant time to deal with the matter by the usual processes of law and police, but promptly resorted to force. On Nov. 22, the day following the funeral of General Stack, General Allenby, British High Commissioner in Egypt and the Sudan, handed to the Egyptian Government an ultimatum to which he demanded a satisfactory reply within twenty-four hours. The ultimatum called for "an ample apology for the crime," an energetic and impartial inquiry, the "condign punishment" of the guilty persons "whatever their age," the immediate payment of a fine of £500,000, the suppression of "all popular political demonstrations," and the withdrawal within 24 hours of Egyptian officers and troops from the Sudan. Notice was also given that the limitation hitherto existing in regard to the extent of the irrigated area in the Sudan was abolished, thereby creating apprehensions lest the water supply upon which agriculture in the Egyptian portion of the Nile area depends be imperilled. Preparations for the dispatch of additional military and naval forces to Egypt were also announced.

The Zaglul Government yielded to force so far as to agree to apologize and to pay the fine, but denied responsibility for the killing of General Stack, and insisted that the virtual appropriation of the Sudan was a violation of the agreement existing between Great Britain and Egypt in regard to the government of that region and the independence of Egypt itself. Payment of the fine was made on Monday, Nov. 24, but for failure to comply with the other requirements of the ultimatum the Alexandria customs were promptly seized. Thereupon the Zaglul Government resigned, a new Premier widely believed to be little more than a British figurehead was installed, and the Egyptian Parliament was prorogued. Zaglul Pasha has continued to counsel moderation and abstention from violence, but British troops paraded the streets of Cairo for several days as a hint to the population, the removal of Egyptian forces from the Sudan has been proceeded with, British troops and warships are held in readiness at Malta, and a number of persons, including members of the former Zaglul Government, have been arrested by the British military authorities. A mutiny of Egyptian troops in the Sudan, reported on Nov. 28, appears to have been suppressed.

The political relations between Great Britain and Egypt are a complicated subject, and of the legal right of Great Britain to a voice in the government of Egypt and the Sudan there is no doubt. The question of political or legal rights, however, has no conclusive bearing upon the course of the Baldwin Government, for the question of national policy is also involved.

"Noblesse oblige," and the relations between superior and inferior States are ill-regulated indeed when strained interpretations of law and the display of irresistible force are the only arguments employed. What has fixed the attention of the world is the regrettable spectacle of the British Government, for a political crime such as might occur any day in any country—such as actually occurred a few years ago in England itself when Sir Henry Wilson was assassinated—levying upon Egypt a huge money penalty of £500,000, demanding the virtual suppression of political discussion, and giving color to the charge of violating agreements under which Egypt has enjoyed a large measure of independence and constitutional government. As the New York "World" aptly remarks, this is "British statesmanship at its worst." No two political situations are ever exactly alike, but one cannot help recalling the harsh demand of the German Emperor in 1897, following the murder of two German missionaries in China, for concessions which made Shantung practically a German province and an international plague spot; nor has the course of the Baldwin Cabinet failed to be contrasted with the high and honorable restraint of the American Government, only a few months ago, in dealing with Persia after the killing of Vice-Consul Imbrie by religious fanatics in that country. If the action of the Baldwin Government, curiously reminiscent of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's stiff rejection in October of Zaglul Pasha's plea for Egyptian independence, shall turn out to be one which the British Parliament and British people approve, it will indicate a return to methods of coercion out of harmony with the world desire for peace.

What, meantime, has been the attitude of the League of Nations, of which Great Britain is a controlling member? The record here is contradictory. Sir Eric Drummond, Secretary-General of the League, was quoted as saying on Nov. 23 that since Egypt was not a member of the League, and the control of the foreign relations of that country was regarded by Great Britain as a domestic affair, the controversy could not come before the League unless some third Power chose to present it. When, three days later, a protest of the Egyptian Chamber of Deputies, adopted just before Parliament was prorogued, reached Geneva, the Secretariat of the League was reported to have decided that no action could properly be taken, beyond making the document available to such members as might wish to see it, because it was not a protest of the Egyptian Government. On Nov. 28, following apparently the receipt of a protest from the Egyptian Senate, the Secretariat of the League was reported to have reversed its decision, and to have decided to submit the case to the Council at its meeting in Rome next month.

The weakness of the British claim of a "Monroe Doctrine" for Egypt, a claim for whose announcement Mr. Lloyd George appears to be responsible, lies in the fact that the American Monroe Doctrine, from whose principles the British Government seeks to draw support, has as its foundation the announced purpose of the United States to insure the complete political independence of the States to which it applies, while the British policy is to continue to hold Egypt as a dependency. The plight of Egypt would be no more happy if the famous protocol of Dr. Benes and Professor Shotwell were in effect, since the British Government could as easily ignore the World Court as it seems inclined to ignore the League. In other words, in the presence of a policy which inevitably recalls the exploit of Mussolini, a League whose main reason for existence is the aid which it may afford to the cause of justice and international peace can neither speak nor act, save at the risk of a breach with one of its most powerful members. It is earnestly to be hoped that the League may not again lay itself open to the criticisms which attended its course in relation to Corfu, and that British statesmanship may find a way of settling the Egyptian difficulty without injury to the cause of peace.

Contrasting Types of City and County—Closeness to Nature.

In an address before the National Catholic Rural Life Conference, at Milwaukee, Oct. 22, C. J. Galpin of the Federal Department of Agriculture, discussing the American family, said: "The city family has long ceased to be the type of American family. The rural home is holding the line for the family idea in the nation. This is the reason why rural life is significant. If the rural structure crumbles, the nation crumbles." Delivered in the midst of a political campaign the speaker offers a topic for consideration which we may take up with profit now that the battle is over. While we may agree with the central thought of this address, we should exercise caution in taking a positive stand as to the relative importance of the city and rural family in our body politic. Statistics do not always express the truth. Figures may deny the abstract that is of more value than the concrete. To say that "in the 30,000,000 of farm population there are 4,000,000 more children under 21 years of age than in the 30,000,000 of city population" does not eliminate the influence of the city population on our civic affairs, nor does it prove that the 4,000,000 more children under 21 years of age" are destined to control the affairs of the nation through the mere preponderance of numbers. As for present tendencies, it will often be admitted that the rush of life of to-day is fast taking hold on the youth of the farm.

We would say that while the farm family produces, as the speaker asserts, young men who are both morally and physically fit to adorn the nation and conserve a high social order, yet the city family in the great school of city-life experience produces keen, intelligent, ambitious youth who are prepared by contact to grapple the huge industrial problems that are more and more becoming the objects of attempted political control and rule. It would seem that the city does produce more, proportionately, of young men and women addicted to frivolity and waste of time and money; and that the country produces more who are lethargic and contracted in their outlook upon life and affairs. It would seem, further, that the natural advance is diminishing these numbers in each of the classes and bringing higher standards to the great masses in both. There may not be as many "idle rich" upon the farm, nor even as many idle poor; but under the modern teachings of political demagogues the number of those upon the farm who hate work for its own sake is increasing. These statistical distinctions and differences are misleading without a study of the spirit of life in city and country.

Complete agrarian control of our political affairs might work havoc with our natural economic life. We quote another paragraph from the report of this address: "The farmer's close contact with the manifestations of nature has made him a religious man," the speaker said. The farmer "always saves a place for God's will to operate in wheat, corn, cotton and cattle. The farmer does his part. But, after all, he must have faith in God's part. But the worker in textiles, iron, gold and acids, feels that his materials are under his control and will. It is no wonder, then, that his own ego is exalted. His own will is set and small place is left for God. Atheists do not grow up out of the soil." Is this conclusion in accord with the premise? There is no doubt that the farmer is taught reverence for natural law by his close contact to "God's will." But is it true that the worker in "textiles, iron, gold and acids" learns nothing of the mighty mysterious forces that enter into and control the formation of those solid substances upon which our man-made physical world rests? Can the chemical engineer, the scientist of the manufacturer's laboratory, even the common worker in shop and factory, use other than the natural laws of atomic and molecular force? Must he not learn even a deeper reverence?

In our humble opinion the speaker carries his thought too far. Whether on farm or in factory the worker must see God with his own spiritual eyes. One of the great dangers in our own country and time is the false teaching that points the farmer to Government as the source of help and authority. He is being taught the egotism of absolute power in artificial law. He is told a thousand miraculous tales of the power of collectivism through Government. Too wise, we think, in the long run, to be drawn away from the beneficence of natural law, he will turn against these Utopian dreamers and work their political downfall. But must not the city worker sooner or later learn the same lesson? Must not he, too, learn that he works in and through natural forces that are God-made? It is much like the old question answered by Kipling as to steam driving poetry from the seas. When the city youth looks upon electricity and its intimate relation to his life in the congested areas can he by any rational process deny the beneficence of the hidden law that man learns to harness for his own comfort?

The city worker may gain confidence in his own powers by observing his dependence on natural law. If, perchance, he thinks at all upon "the radio," must he not bow to the wisdom and creative power that set in motion the law that makes it possible for him to so "tune" a physical instrument that he may "listen in"? True reverence is not the product of apathy or indifference. Education by which we would be guided must teach in city and country that it is by conformity to natural law we prosper. Our trouble now is a social and political one. We are everywhere listening to the strange voices that would by opposition to natural law set up Utopia. But it is not by close contact with the forces of nature in agriculture or manufacture we learn these fallacies —rather in apathy and indifference our thought is led by politicians and dreamers who, we grant, are egotists in their extreme selfishness. With reverence must come humility. And the forces used in the bridge, the building, the railway, are not man's, but nature's.

Within the limits of natural law man is partly creative. He can assemble new forms by the use of old laws. He can increase his own power by borrowing the powers that he cannot create. In a large degree it is true that man's future must depend upon his attitude toward natural laws and powers. These are unfailing, but they are physical rather than spiritual—although there is spiritual law in the natural world. In the spiritual world are also immutable laws. As man uncovers these he must grow in morals and modest obeisance to the Author of all. And it is by introspection that man discovers his relation to environment and the universe. He cannot by statute laws make men moral more than by Governmental laws he can make men rich without work. If in country or city as man toils with the forces of nature to secure life and joy there is no turning inward in contemplation of the divine there will be no worship, no reverence.

There is a saying that "nature is conquered by obedience." He who sows and reaps must in his life-work learns this through experience. But what of the man whose life is cast in the fierce competition of the city? What he sows and reaps is in a spiritual plane. He is closer to animate nature. And he hears the voices which are continually talking of Brotherhood, Equality, Unity. If, then, he leap to the conclusion that all human relations are at the will of the State how can he conquer by obedience? He has no free will to exercise. He has no volition by which he plans a career. He cannot by study of the natural relations of men in a competitive life learn the laws of right conduct that make for the good of all. He is a prisoner fast in the chains of collectivism. But if he learn of brotherhood through helpfulness to others, if he learn of equality through the abundance and benefit of opportunity, if he learn of unity through the essential purpose of all effort, then he is free to follow the laws of his own being, conscious that, in his own conquering, his self becomes exalted. Only through the triumph of free individuals can come brotherhood, equality, and unity, and consonance to spiritual law.

The same divine purpose works in country and city. Each finds God after its own fashion. Not by egotism but by humility does man come into contact with the Divine One. In the quiet of the countryside may come contemplation; in the turmoil of the city may come introspection. This looking without and within makes up the spiritual advance. We quite agree that life on the farm brings the toiler in close relation to nature, but does not life in the city bring man into closer relation to human nature? Of the two, contemplation must cause introspection; but the latter by a reverse process must bring contemplation of others. The spiritual laws that govern human relations. that show forth the path of self-sacrifice, that teach obedience to the right, and that energize the creative power, may not these burgeon in the thick of the contest where population congests? Perhaps, it is a fact that the country feeds men to the city—but for us of to-day, art, science and letters spring from that endeavor forced into action by the thousands stimuli of the crowded city.

Some of the Issues in Railroad Consolidations.

Proposed consolidation of five great railroad lines calls sharp attention to this feature of the railroad problem. The Inter-State Commerce Commission, under the law, has been working upon the whole railroad map with similar mergers in view. Nothing definite has been accomplished by the Commission; and a forced series of mergers, if eventually attempted, is open to serious question. On the other hand, systems established by mere control of stock must always derive life and perpetuity from their basic ability to meet the imperative wants and needs of the territories covered, together with their fitness to be naturally linked up with other inevitable consolidations. It seems reasonable to believe that of the two plans the independent, natural merger is more likely to succeed. For one thing, a large body of stockholders must be convinced of the feasibility of the undertaking. The genius for organiz ıtion and any speculative interest that may be invoked are to a large extent held in check by the voting power in the various roads to be united. The wisdom of the Commission may be greater, or more comprehensive of the field, than that of promoters, but a complete chain of huge consolidations, when arbitrarily attempted, must appeal to the self-interest of the separate roads involved or meet with failure in the very nature of things.

Already there are great railroad systems that have come about through natural and continuous growth. These cannot be displaced or seriously modified, being grounded in natural conditions of production and transportation. They must form the skeleton upon which to clothe any new system in which they are included. Less friction will so result. They have grown great and strong by meeting both local and long distance needs. They have builded upon production, and the trend of traffic as well. Markets, domestic and foreign, the spread and congestion of population, terminals already established, the potentialities of sparsely settled portions of the country, interior rivers, and seaports, have all been factors silently compelling the growth of these present huge independent systems. No new mergers can ignore their inherent power. And the forming of systems that will invoke competition unless they be made as intensively powerful will find themselves in a colossal struggle. Yet so vast is the mileage already in operation, so potentially productive the territories involved, that it is apparent that new consolidations can be made both in the interest of the roads and the people. For the rest this coming transformation must occupy years, and put a new test upon capital and credit.

Within the present flow of affairs two factors must affect these coming consolidations—the improvement of internal waterways and the application of electric power. It is not to be expected that the railways can prevent, or that they will attempt to prevent, the improvement of our rivers. But when systems of railroads are projected larger than heretofore even contemplated it must appear that when water transportation is resumed in volume it will affect the trend of traffic in certain basic products that now constitute a constant and important factor in railroad revenues. We cannot foreshadow what these developments will be. But they suggest the idea that in these railroad mergers there is an element of experimentation that demands of those instrumental in furthering these projects the greatest care and the highest wisdom. It would be disastrous to the business interests of the country if speculation should foster consolidated systems that are not reasonably permanent. It would be fatal to the best interests of privately owned and conducted railroads if these mergers in any large degree should in a few years prove failures. Just now, with all the burdens the roads are bearing, it would seem best to go slow in consolidations.

And yet it is not to be doubted that with time and care these consolidations can be made successfully in the interests of all. The lesson to be learned from the movement, a lesson to be observed by all as the process goes forward, is that these large interests are able to take care of themselves without aid or intervention by the Government. The vast productive area in the United States is year by year pouring wealth into the general coffers of the people. The railroads are indispensable factors in this increasing trade, foreign and domestic. They take toll from all. But like other factors in the general business of the country they cannot successfully, for an extended period, take more than the traffic will bear. They are bound by the inexorable laws of the greatest service to the largest numbers at the least cost. As a consequence they seek to reduce expenses and increase service by these consolidations that are now taking form. Billions added annually to the national income denote billion-dollar corporations as units of our business system. A people taxed annually in billions must do business on a billion-dollar scale in order to live. It is therefore a natural evolution which now confronts the railroad world.

Transportation by truck and auto is a form of limited competition the steam roads must meet. Utilization of the full power of the combined lines is now hampered by restrictive laws and coercive measures applied by classes that ought to be the first to appreciate the common difficulties of the roads and lend themselves to their solution. But, as so often said, we all go up, or down, together. The increase in general business by good roads, by State and national highways, must help the steam roads in the end—as indeed will the general productive increase by reason of improved waterways. As the people learn the lesson of these projected systems they must become better acquainted with the problems railroad management has to contend with; must see, for one thing, that war-time wages can no more be maintained therein than elsewhere. Complaint about high rates must resolve itself into complaint of overpaid labor in this industry of transportation, if analysis shall show this to be true. The very act and fact of consolidation suggests a study of comparative costs of labor in the varied industries. Railroads cannot meet the public demand for lowered rates if they pay more than their share for costs of operation.

We cannot think too much on the large problems of industry and trade. We cannot observe too closely the natural tendencies therein. It is not that the average man shall find himself capable of appreciating, to the full, cause and effect. But he will be able to lay hold of some of the larger factors and principles involved. He will be able to determine whether he shall lend his support, economic or political, to coercive classes seeking control through government —control that is arbitrary and selfish. He will be able to perceive the demagogy which cries out against so-called "monopolies" that are in fact simply larger units forced into existence by the demands of the times. And above all, the difficulties disclosed by study of consolidations, when voluntary, and by the highest genius in management, will show him the folly of believing the Government could run the roads.

Women in Office.

With two Governors of States elected, one woman elected to Congress, several elected to State Legislatures, to say nothing of those defeated for office, woman in office will soon be on trial in larger degree than ever before. It will prove to be quite a different proposition to that of filling places on party committees and in party conventions. Enforcing the law and making laws, in a representative capacity, will bring a prominence far beyond that of participation in party affairs. Taking the late lamented Democratic National Convention as an example women did not exert the tranquillizing effect expected of them. This may have been due to the fierce war of factions therein, so fierce as to obscure their efforts, but history tells us that many of the women delegates were disgusted with some of the party methods. Other educational opportunities must be afforded them before they will be able to materially soften the asperities of these occasions. But now in office in two States as Governor, the fierce light of popular criticism will be upon them. Responsibility cannot be shifted to other shoulders. Under all the trying circumstances of law enforcement these women incumbents must prove their capability. Failure will augur ill to further advance in office-holding.

We might, perhaps, better wait two years before serious consideration of this subject. But speculative reflection may be of service to us all, in that it is the duty of the people to afford to these Governors of sovereign States the highest respect and the most cordial good-will. Woman's suffrage is now the constitutional law of the country. If we look upon office as a "public trust," women as well as men must now sacrifice personal affairs to the public good. Doing so, women must be accorded the helpfulness which comes from well-wishing. Not being schooled by long experience in partisanship, women in office should be able to focus their official acts upon the good of the whole people untrammeled, to a greater degree than men, by party ties and influences. Naturally, having more to learn, they will not aspire to leadership as do men. Whether they will try to succeed themselves it is too early to conjecture. Office holding may not prove the boon it seems to men. Again, their conduct in office may bring them such applause as to induce more of the sex to aspire to office in the next election.

Often in the public careers of men we hear of a power behind the throne, which is a woman. Will the positions now be reversed and the prompter be a man? Again, and this is the pertinent thing, will women in office be willing to rely on expert advice, or, wishing to show their capacity to rule, will they prove to be too self-reliant? Mere man will not be expected to fathom a woman's mind. The old saying: "You cannot tell what a woman will do, for she does not know her own mind," augurs ill for a commonplace administration of State affairs. There may be many surprises in store for constituencies. The mere ancient privilege a woman has to "change her mind" may bring unexpected decisions in civic affairs. Yet law is law, and not to be trifled with even by a woman official. Men Governors have sometimes done this to the detriment of the Commonwealth. Take the matter of paroles and pardons. Putting the best construction on the attitude of some Governors toward criminals, they have apparently proved soft-hearted. Will women prove to have proper poise and decision?

One thing must soon manifest itself to these incumbents—the necessity, if they would avoid the pitfalls of politics, of listening to disinterested advice. The work for them will be much simplified if they will hold the politicians who hover about the throne for the purpose of influencing acts and decisions for the "good of the party" in firm check. Again, they will doubtless save themselves much worry if they will refrain from regarding office as a direct means of prospering the people. A defeated candidate for the Vice-Presidency, now an outgoing Governor, has been returned to his "trafficking" in coal and gasoline, as near as that word will describe his use of the power of the State centred in himself in an attempt at breaking down "monopoly." If our new women Governors attempt to put the Government into business they will find the way of the transgressor in office is hard—for it will prove a task worthy of the noblest mind to enforce the laws we have, let alone the making of experimental forays in commerce.

Sometimes we hear women will reform politics. This may be true in some ways and to some extent. But they will show wisdom if they separate office from politics. If they will be content to perform their administrative duties in office with no thought of the effect upon a second term they will escape the fault that has grafted itself upon the official conduct of male incumbents to an extent that is detrimental to the public good. In matters of efficiency and economy in office, women enter upon civic duties at a time when the people are awakened to the necessity of lowering the tax rate. Whatever they may be able to accomplish in this behalf will redound to their credit regardless of party. A condition confronts them, not a theory. But the road to State economy lies in sacrificing wants to needs. Appeal comes for all sorts of public indulgences in the name of "progress." Bond issues are far too frequent to admit of frugality in public living. If one were to enumerate the expenditures for roads, schools, libraries, parks, civic centres, memorials, all good in themselves in the proper way at the proper time, the sum is alarming. We are not sure that economics is particularly the pride of women. We are not sure that personally they are trained in counting the costs. Yet the thrift of the housewife is proverbial. This, coupled with the condition and need of the time for lowering the tax rate, may enable women in office to show a capacity for service which will render their position in civic affairs more secure and at the same time accomplish a real benefit to the people.

The incoming woman Governor of the State of Wyoming, succeeding her deceased husband in office in a State that was a pioneer in equal suffrage, should bring a special equipment to her task. In the Lone Star State the question most at issue in the campaign adds nothing to the strength of the Governor-elect and may prove embarrassing to her conduct of the office. In this State, with its Southern predilections, she must overcome by her proven fitness a certain prejudice to women in public life still entertained by members of her sex. But the industry and fidelity to the State's business these new and prominent office holders may exhibit will overcome many obstacles that have their origin in politics. Man or woman inducted into high office has enough to learn to preclude the "making of a record." Women, however, will naturally enter office with less political prejudice, less compulsive desire for party success, more "plain thinking and simple living" in public affairs, than men overpowered by the lure of a limitless career in the "service of the country." We shall hardly expect either of these incumbents to become a candidate for the "highest office in the gift of the people." Their limitations in knowledge of law and its enforcement, in opportunity to succeed themselves or to secure higher office, in power to contrive spectacular careers, may prove in the end helpful. Quietude in State affairs and content among the people will speak volumes for the worth of their administrations.

Certain conflicts, happenings, exigencies, are to be noted in the increase of women in office. Considering the teaching of experience as necessary to fitness, it might be well that women seek appointive offices rather than elective during the years of apprenticeship. However, it may be said, we think, that they are not showing greed in their aspirations for office. Given fair representation in the machinery of the two old parties they are not asking for half the offices. More and more, we think, they are accepting the responsibilities of suffrage, and seeking to vote in the interests of the whole people. Judging by the vote of the recent general election, there is still too large a stay-at-home vote, though when you come to recall that party men who do not wish to vote for their national nominees refrain from voting for the other side, voting the lower part of the ticket only, the figures must be taken with allowance. Women in office by their successful conduct will lead their sex in the duty of voting.

Civilization, or War?

Defense Day, Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day coming in swift succession have stirred conflicting emotions. People find themselves forced to think. Big questions press. Have we seen the end of war? Why has human society endured it so long? Is civilization in peril? What new conditions exist; what new machinery has been devised on which we may depend for permanent peace? Is the Thanksgiving of the nation to be but a trivial routine occurrence?

Two facts are indisputable. Mussolini put his finger on one of them the other day when he said: "The whole story of civilization from the cave man to the cultured and settled citizen of to-day records the progressive limitation of liberty." The other is, that from the beginning of human society war has been incessant and dominant. The right to personal liberty with rebellion against restraint is the prevailing cry, though we all know that every step toward bettering one's condition or sharing the privilege or benefit of intercourse with others involves the restraint of one's freedom of action. The idea of absolute liberty, even of choice, is an arbitrary fiction, no such thing actually exists.

As for war, so far is it from being an incident, however frequent in the course of history, its bearing upon the development of civilization has been so potent that history until very recent times has been invariably written as the story of successive wars and of famous chieftains. The great empires of the past that have inaugurated eras and made history, such as Assyria and Egypt, have been little more than appanages to warriors like Sargon and Rameses and their successors. Civilization was brilliant and highly developed, but opposition within and without was crushed by force. When Rome established the method which was to be the model of administration for the new world, at the hand of Caesar Augustus, it meant peace within but military force set up at all frontiers under able leaders in the person of the Emperor himself or chiefs who would succeed to his throne. This has continued the method relied on for the creation and continuance of nations to this day. Their history is mainly the story of wars and their Kings on the throne, or the commanders in the field to whom the people looked for protection and leadership, and who won for them national glory and aggrandizement. Peter of Russia, Charles of Sweden, Frederick of Prussia, Francis and Bonaparte of France, Philip of Spain, Richard and the Henrys of England, and the long list of captains on sea and land whose names are on all lips to-day.

The frequency and the destruction wrought by war have lost little if anything in the progress of the years. The wonder has often been that civilization has survived. It is frequently asserted that it could not stand another war on the scale of the last. The weapons employed would certainly be destructive beyond comprehension or forecast. But civilization has survived; and in the face of all has progressed and acquired a form and content which give it a value and a promise which we cannot but believe superior to the past. Indeed, we know that at any stage, whatever its vicissitudes, its form and vigor bore testimony to and depended upon such civilization as had preceded it. The attainments and character of the past, its art, its handicraft, its literature, its knowledge, its ideas and its principles, constituted the material and the guide for the new day. However complete the overthrow, the pattern remained, the line of development would be resumed, the inspiration would in time be recovered, and life would go on toward high ideals and an unchanged goal. War means a desperate waste and a reckless retarding, but it has its lessons. As with other evils which attend our existence and spring from our passions, or our wilfulness and ignorance, it is to be withstood and, as far as possible, prevented.

Civilization is the product of human society; it is in fact a phase of it. War is the embodiment of force, and society cannot be governed by force. It may be dominated by it, but it cannot so survive, still less develop. Its vitality is within. Force is applied from without; it can destroy, but it cannot create life, either in man or in society. In them spontaneity is the source, and freedom is the essential. When a man seeks intercourse, or has need of cooperation for pleasure or profit he has to make some surrender of freedom, to agree to some restraint upon individual action, as the initial and permanent condition. In companionship, in the bonds and obligations of the family, in his position in the community and the State, as well as in every phase of business, the limitations and restrictions increase with the growth of the situation. They are expressed in laws and customs which are adopted for the common good. These acquire such authority over the individual that they necessitate and possess the support of the community. The person who on any ground resents the control or refuses to respect the restraint must either withdraw from the community or face a restraint which will be complete. He is hostile to all; the law which is the expression of requirements that are for the common good must be obeyed until with change of conditions it is changed. The rights of the individual, up to the point where their assertion becomes injurious to others, are the especial care of the growing society. Defined as "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," they are vital and essential. In the consciousness of their possession the individual is stimulated to the exercise of his powers and becomes the efficient and constructive unit in the development of human society. Of that development civilization is the product and becomes at once the expression and the measure of its advance. To that extent it becomes also the established instrument of human progress.

Whatever, therefore, at any stage arrests or impairs civilization, whether it is a force acting from without, or a corroding evil within, is inimical to all who are embraced by the civilization and who in varying degree are vital elements in its existence. That all do not share equally, that many suffer in its advance, and that many may even clog its action and become its burden and its shame, is but evidence that "man's inhumanity to man," his sin and his selfishness, are elements of his earthly career, and in every stage of his existence are the challenge to his character, the burdens he must bear and the evidence of the duties he must perform.

Here, then, is the situation today. In this conflict of rights and restrictions, new both in its intensity and its extent, in which as the result of the great war the world finds itself, the position of the United States is like that of all the other leading nations. We must contribute to the full extent of our ability in the endeavor to remove the causes and conditions provocative of war, but must, nevertheless, be careful not to lend our aid to ventures like the proposed protocol to the League of Nations, which, however well meant, must operate in precisely the opposite direction from that intended by providing a fertile field for the development of new causes of friction. At the same time it is important that we welcome every evidence of good-will and be patient towards the difficulties that beset the world on every side. Never was there greater demand for thanksgiving and hopeful courage over the progress that has been made since the armistice. The temper of war is not easily overcome, and the mistakes of Versailles, however they may now be realized, were but human.

Much is to be done over, and it is no new discovery when all are coming to recognize that permanent peace and prosperity are to be obtained only by the operation of the forces hidden in men's hearts; not justice merely, but good-will, patience, unselfishness and mutual respect. These will gain effect in proportion as they are exhibited by the people whose circumstances make their exercise less difficult.

This is the task of the hour for the English-speaking nations, those having a common language, common traditions, common history and faith and a common law. To them the daily exercise of the homely virtues which draw men together and produce Christian civilization and peaceful human society, ought not to be difficult.

The appeal made by Sir Esme Howard, the new English Ambassador, ought to find response in every heart, even though England's present action regarding Egypt seems out of accord with it. Because of what he sees in the new spirit manifest in all the far-flung dominions that compose the British Empire, he "looks forward to a future still more glorious, not from a military or imperial point of view, but inspired by the hope of rendering real service, of conferring real benefits, not only on our fellow subjects, but, also, by furthering the cause of peace by law and justice on the rest of the world."

So far as this spirit prevails we may well believe that civilization and the safety of the world itself, depend upon the gool fellowship and co-operation of the English-speaking peoples, thinking aright and seeing aright; all, under whatever sun, or of whatever name, recognizing the common task and exercising the common traits of spirit and character which unite and do not divide, and which so uniting will in God's good time solve the problems that now distress the world.

"Real Estate Finance" and the Nation's Welfare.

FINAL ARTICLE.

The first two articles of this series regarding the financing of the present wave of building construction in the United States (new housing in particular), discussed the findings from the inquiry carried on through questionnaires and otherwise by the Mortgage and Finance Division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, as recorded in their volume entitled "Real Estate Finance"; and gave special attention to the parts played in such financing by the principal life insurance companies, savings banks and building and loan associations.

In the present concluding article we consider, as fully as space will permit, the efforts of the realtors to perfect their methods of financing, and, by this and other means, to widen the popularity and increase the safety of mortgage loans. We close with some remarks and quotations of our own relating to the status and immediate outlook for the building industry.

Parts Played by Banks, National and Commercial.

Mr. C. H. Corbett, realtor and builder, Canton, Ohio, in his report on "New Methods in First Mortgages," for which he analyzes 102 replies to a questionnaire (7 from New England, 16 from North Atlantic States, 41 from Central States, 15 from Southern, 11 from Pacific Coast and 12 from Rocky Mountain Region), says regarding these mortgages (compare insurance loans in Article No. 1):

We find that national banks make mortgage loans in many of our cities, especially the smaller cities. National banks in larger cities make loans only to protect those previously made without security. One year seems to be the limit of the loan, although they are allowed to make loans for longer periods upon certain classes of property.

With regard to commercial banks we find that the straight loan is equally popular with the serial-payment loan. This is true in practically all sections of the country.

We find only a few instances where banks accept a bonus and cut the rate of interest for the purpose of making a wrong impression upon prospective purchasers, and we are glad to report that realtors rightly condemn this practice wherever it is used.

The replies show that the interest rate upon loans, both in banks and loan houses, have been reduced during the past two or three years. A tendency toward longer term loans is shown in all sections except New England and the Central States.

Appraisals by realtors seem to be gaining ground in many sections. The rule is for conservative appraisals throughout the entire country without doubt, although a few answers indicate appraisals somewhat more liberal than in the past.

The percentage that may be loaned upon the appraisal varies from 40 to 75%. Loans upon business property seldom exceed 50% and apartment house loans range from 50% to 60%. Many insurance companies charge a higher rate of interest for the 60% loan upon dwellings than they do for a 50% loan, the variance in rate usually being ½ of 1%.

All in all it may be said that insurance company loans are becoming more and more popular throughout the country.

Appraisals for City Loans.

Philip W. Kniskern, C.E., of the Real Estate Loan Department of the Chicago Trust Co., furnishes one of the longer and most valuable of the reports. Unfortunately, no adequate summary of his opinions respecting appraisals for city loans can be included in this review. A few concluding sentences will serve to indicate the breadth of his views:

The valuation must be fair to the property. Do not be conservative to a fault.

One must not be carried away with local enthusiasm.

The great underlying principles of investment are the interest return and the security of principal.

Appraising is not a mathematical science, but rather it is one of keen experience, observation and judgment. We determine a provable value based upon well-defined principles and express it in terms of money. To establish this value the property is considered from a competitive viewpoint of investment, speculation, income, profit, market value, reproduction or physical value, and in the light of the various manifestations of competition.

Finally, we must recognize the peculiarities of the interest or contemplated interest to which the valuation is being made.

Of all these various kinds of value that for investment is the most important. The two factors that determine this value are income and rate of return.

Asked whether he used the cubic foot value as a basis for the appraisal of residences and apartments, he replied in substance:

Yes, as to residences; apartments you have to consider both from the replacement standpoint and from the income standpoint. I never figure an apartment building by square foot; I never determine a loan with respect to the income alone. As to residential property the possible income is not considered as a basis and I very seldom use it in figuring two-apartment buildings. It is always on a competitive market basis that I consider them.

Guaranteed Mortgages.

Mr. W. L. Ulmer of Cleveland, on this subject, says in brief:

In New York guaranteed mortgages have become extremely popular due to the tremendous business done by the mortgage guarantee companies. Their practice is to charge ½ of 1% per annum for issuing a binding written guarantee covering the payment of interest and principal.

In Chicago guaranteed mortgages are almost unknown. Here again the man engaged in the mortgage business will have to be governed by local conditions.

As a general principle, it may be stated that it is poor business to offer a guaranty without charging for it. It is certainly better practice for a company to sell its securities on their own bottoms rather than because of a guaranty.

A guaranty is, after all, a contingent liability, and your bank might some day object to a large liability on this item in your financial statement. Further, the public, generally speaking, would rather have the ½ of 1% to put in its pocket and take its own risk.

Numerous attempts have been made in various parts of the larger cities to popularize guaranteed mortgages, but outside of New York the effort has not been successful.

Edgar N. Greenbaum, of Chicago, makes these remarks:

In Chicago none of the responsible bond houses actually guarantees the bonds it sells; in fact, under the Illinois statutes, they are prohibited from so doing without impractical restrictions, but every responsible house morally guarantees their bonds even to this extent—interest and principal are invariably paid to the bondholders on the day of maturity, regardless of whether or not the mortgagor has paid all or any of it.

The bond house making conservative loans knows that even if there should be some delay in collecting matured interest and principal, it will eventually all be paid and it is far better policy for the bond house to wait rather than ask the bond holders to. This is one of the easiest and best ways to establish good-will.

Construction Cost, Operating Expense, Gross Rentals.

John E. Parsons, Toledo, President of the Maumee Valley Mortgage Co., presents some very interesting figures based on the averages between small cities and large cities as determined from questionnaires covering (1) the cost per cubic foot to construct buildings of the character indicated below; (2) the percentage of the gross income estimated for expense of operating, including taxes, insurance, maintenance, etc.; (3) approximate gross rental per square foot. The figures tabulated for the "Chronicle" follow:

(1) AVERAGE COST PER CUBIC FOOT; (2) AVERAGE PERCENT OF OPERATING EXPENSE; (3) GROSS RENTAL PER SQUARE FOOT.

Class of Building—	Building Cost.	Percent Oper. Exp.	Gross Rental.
Medium class hotel (up to 6 stories) brick—elevators	$0 50	38%	$1 75
High class hotel (10 to 20 stories stone—everything of the best	65	45%	2 00
Small office building with stores on the ground floor (up to 5 stories)	45	35%	2 00
Large office building (over 5 stories)	57½	40%	2 50
Small apartment house (not over 10 apartments and 4 stories)	40	40%	1 25*
Large apartment house of high class	55	38%	2 00†
Large store	38	25%	2 00
Large garage—fireproof construction	30	20%	50

*Or $20 per room. †Or $30 per room.

As to the increase in cost of building over 1914, ten years ago, the answers range from 25% to 250%, with the average at 95%. Over 50% of the answers say that in the opinion of the writers construction costs are to decrease, while about 30% of the answers state that in their opinion costs would remain the same. Only a few gave as their opinion that costs would decrease considerably, while many stated that there would be no considerable decrease for a few years.

Safety of Mortgage Securities.

Mr. George R. Hemingway, President George R. Hemingway Co., Chicago, described by Mr. Cody as one of Chicago's most experienced and able bankers, considers questionnaire replies received from 266 out of 360 members respecting chiefly the questions:

(1) How the normal flow of money into the real estate field may be maintained; (2) how it may be increased rapidly under conservative practice; (3) how the safety and productiveness of real estate securities may be established beyond all question; (4) how the investing public may be impressed with the fact.

The replies are tabulated by Mr. Hemingway for the four sections of the country, West, Mid-West, East and South, but in his remarks he presents the average experience for the entire country of local or territorial business, not that of national firms with widespread representation. Some of the salient facts follow:

Point in Mortgage Security Safety.

The mortgage sales on the part of reporting firms since 1900 or since the firm was established, if later than that date, total $1,119,452,000; bonds, $287,546,000. Of this total, members report a total principal loss of only $38,925.—"less than three one hundred thousandths of one per cent."

Four points in the Mid-West reported some loss on interest; in the West, South and East no interest whatever was noted.

Total foreclosures were 894, a condition heightened perceptibly by the experience of one Mid-Western firm, which alone reports 100.

Forecasting Decrease in Rent and Construction Costs.

Continuing, Mr. Hemingway makes the following generalizations:

It is significant that in all sections of the country dealers are discounting present costs and rentals 17 to 25%. In the East the highest discount on construction was as much as 85%, but the most common discount was 20%. In the Midwest the highest was 50%, the most common 20%. The highest in the West 33%, most common 25%. In the South highest 25%, most common 17%. On rental discounts the East again led with a high 50%, Midwest and South registered 25%, and the West 40%. The average most common for all four divisions was 21%.

Western territory showed the greatest conservatism on its loans, with 60% the highest reported; 33% the lowest, with a common of 50%. Midwest shows a maximum of 75%, as does the South. The East high figure 80%, but East, Midwest and South have the same common maximum, 60%.

On bonds the Midwest high figure is 80%; East and South 66%; West 60%. Most common 60% for Midwest and South; 50% for East and West.

Requirement of Prepayments—Appraisals—Installment Selling.

Reports by 137 firms show prepayment requirements on mortgages, by 55 on bonds. This obviously is another form of safeguard by which all interested are conserved.

The majority of firms reporting do their own appraising, 209 in all. Those who use Real Estate Board Service number 42; independent appraisal, 44.

Installment selling is not widely practised, only 60 firms using this method as compared with 151 which do not.

Voluntary Safeguards.

In addition to the leading standards against hazard and the like, the following safeguards are listed with the number of firms reported as practicing them, in Mr. Hemingway's summary:

Monthly deposits on principal	113
Monthly deposits on interest	95
Monthly deposits for taxes	24
Specific assignment of rent	49
Separate chattel mortgage on personal property	21
Assuring payment of special assessments and taxes	53
Credit report on borrower	109
Life insurance required of borrower	21
Tornado and hailstorm insurance	95
Surety bond for completion of building in construction loan	83
Privilege of examining books if loaned to corporation	53
Representation on corporation board of directors	11
Corporate trustee	23
Inspection of property	201

Along with the foregoing there are numerous scattering suggestions. The question how to increase the interest and confidence of the public in mortgage securities is variously answered in the replies to questionnaires.

Many want a campaign for the education of the public on the safety and income of real estate securities. Many also want mortgages to be made exempt from taxation or urge uniform standards of appraisal, etc.

One writer suggests the extension to the national banks of the privilege of investing in real estate securities!

Worthless Securities Injure Worthy.

Referring to the injurious effect of "get-rich-quick" stock issues, Mr. Hemingway says in brief:

Some estimates place the sales of our (mortgage) field at present as $450,000,000. But even that is less than half the (estimated) loss annually caused by worthless investments.

All of us agree on the safety of the real estate security when sponsored by a reputable firm.

The National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs refers to countless schemes for mulcting the public—radio, oil, automobiles—and names the Commonwealth Hotel of New York, which recently went into receivers' hands; the 3 and 4% loan companies, or home building trusts (which have secured tremendous sums from the small investor), notably the Union Home Builders, United Home Builders, the Co-operative League, the Hawkins Mortgage Co., which took over the last two named and had Welfare Loan Societies in many cities of the Middle West; the Cleveland Discount Co.

Texas oil promoters have had victims in all parts of the American Continent. Dr. Cook's Petroleum Producers' Association, the Pilgrim Oil Co. and the General Lee Development interests totaled (losses) well in the millions.

These schemes ended disastrously, with receiverships, indictments of the promoters, etc.; also a number of prosecutions by the Federal authorities for using the mails to defraud.

Danger From Mushroom Mortgage Companies.

"But while regarding these pernicious activities with perhaps the mingled emotions of amusement and alarm, we may well take every possible step toward seeing that our own house is kept in order." An Eastern trust company, referring to the formation of many new companies for operation in the mortgage field, Mr. Hemingway continues, says:

The rapidity with which these companies are selling their real estate mortgage bonds, tempting the public by high rates of interest, reminds observers of conditions 30 years ago, when a similar group of mortgage companies came into existence, issuing real estate mortgage bonds by the million to a hungry public.

Practically all of these early mortgage companies failed, and it would appear that any mortgage company organized from the selling end and not from the lending end was foreordained to fail.

Properly Organized and Managed Mortgage Companies Should Last for Centuries.

To be on safe and permanent ground, a mortgage company should be organized by lenders of care, skill and experience, and managed [economically] with full information as to fluctuating real estate values and with a willingness, year after year, to refuse the large fees which accompany excessive loans. In such case, the mortgage company should last hundreds of years, as have mortgage companies in Europe.

Mr. Hemingway ends by saying:

As your committee goes more deeply into its work it sees more clearly the many steps yet to be taken in respect to standards of practice, legislation, education of the public and methods for expanding our sales market and so demonstrating the superior benefits of real estate securities that in time they will represent not only first place in safety, but first place in demand.

Supplementing what has already been said in these articles with respect to trust companies and savings banks in their relation to real estate mortgages, Mr. Frank J. Parsons, Vice-President of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company of New York, in an address on "The Banker's Place in the Real Estate Mortgage Field," which he delivered before the Savings Bank Division of the American Bankers Association in Chicago, Sept. 29 1924, said in part:

Trust Company Investments and Mortgage Financing.

The assistance given in financing mortgages by trust companies is much greater than what statements indicate. In St. Louis, for instance, where the statement of the Mercantile Trust Co. indicates but $3,900,000 of mortgages out of total assets of $64.900,000, and the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., $1,180,000 of mortgages out of $37,000,000 of assets; both of these companies do a very large mortgage business, placing the loans with their clients in St. Louis and throughout the country.

The same is true with the Fidelity Union Trust Co. of Newark, N. J., carrying but $2,000,000 of mortgages out of $64,000,000 assets, but doing a large business, and with our company in New York, whose present line is but $3,200,000 out of $72,000,000 total assets, but with mortgage agencies in 60 different cities and doing a large mortgage business with corporate and individual clients. In these cases the mortgage account is merely a sort of a "clearing house" for the business which is constantly coming in and going out.

Cleveland is an exception, where the Cleveland Trust Co., as of June 30 1923 held $56,000,000 of mortgages, with total assets of $191,000,000, and the Union Trust Co. $46,000,000, with total assets of $283,000,000.

Savings Bank Investments in Real Estate Mortgages.

For reasons which are apparent to all, however, the savings banks of the country are particularly qualified to carry a very large share of the mortgage investment total. The total assets of all savings banks in the United States as of June 30 1923 were approximately $18,000,000,000, and assuming that about 55% of the assets consist of first mortgages upon real estate, it would indicate that nearly $10,000,000,000 of savings deposits are invested in mortgages.

Outlook for Continued Building Activity.

With regard to the present and probable future trend of building costs and rentals, while there are differences of opinion, the majority of the recognized economists hold to the view that these factors are now pointing downward, the degree depending on local conditions. . . .

Like a straw pointing the direction of the wind in this particular is the report of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, having to do with the operation of apartment buildings in different cities. Their report indicates a percentage of vacancies for 1923 of 5.47 as against 2.85 for 1922.

[Mr. Parsons's interesting address is given in full on pages 152 to 154 of our "Bankers' Convention Section," issued Oct. 18.—Ed.]

The report of S. W. Straus & Co., in October, however, showed no indication of any general decline in the demand for new construction. Their data, in brief, follows:

While in 148 cities of the Union no special building shortage was reported, on the other hand in 380 cities there was found an aggregate "shortage" amounting to $4,050,820,000 (chiefly $2,312,510,000 in the Eastern section), viz: Residential buildings, $2,102,698,500; commercial, $1,130,851,500; public, $817,270,000.

The contracts awarded in October in 36 Eastern States (which include about seven-eighths of the total construction of the country), the firm says, aggregated $410,000,800, an increase of 14% over October 1923, largely because of several large public works and utility projects; residential contracts amounted to $166,198,900.

For the ten months ending Oct. 31, contracts awarded in 1924 reached a total of $3,775,093,500, being an increase of 12% over the ten months in 1923.

Moreover, the United States Department of Labor in its "Monthly Labor Review," under date of Oct. 17, says:

A periodical survey of the housing situation by the Bureau of Labor Statistics through a study of the building permits issued in each of the 68 cities having a population of 100,000 or over shows that in the first half of 1924 55.4% of the new buildings for which permits were issued were for residential purposes and 66.2% of the estimated cost of all new buildings was for this class of building.

The number of families to be provided for was 205,193—a considerable increase over the figures for the corresponding period in 1923.

The trend which has been apparent in the preceding surveys towards the increase in the number of apartment house dwellers is shown to have changed, the proportion of families provided for in apartment houses being considerably reduced in 1924.

It is considered that one reason for this change may be found in the rather general movement towards the ownership of small houses in the suburbs.

This movement to the suburbs, we believe, may be attributed in no small measure to the more and more general ownership of automobiles and the desire to live where these can be kept inexpensively in private garages and used readily on country roads.

Mortgage Money Still in Ample Supply.

Neither is any shortage of funds apparent. For one thing, the sales of life insurance by 81 leading insurance companies, as reported on a subsequent page (page 2467), aggregated in the first ten months of the year $5,432,132,000, being an increase of $355,374,000 over the corresponding months of 1923.

As to the money situation in the New York district with respect to mortgage investments, Charles F. Noyes in his article in the Real Estate Section of the New York "Times" for Nov. 16, having referred to the heavy stock transactions on the New York Stock Exchange as being a result of the re-election of President Coolidge, says in part:

Real estate is also benefiting, and there never was a time when there was so much money available for real estate securities. In the mortgage field we have an unlimited amount of 5½% money to loan on liberal appraisals; a large amount to loan at 5% on conservative valuations, and for financing new or old enterprises we have literally an avalanche of money that prominent financial houses and banking houses in Wall Street wish to loan on real estate. Our official records show that in Manhattan alone $447,167,325 has been loaned on mortgages for the first ten months this year, as against $354,910,279 during the same period last year, and 235 more properties have been sold this year during the same first ten months as against last year.

Real Estate Operations in New York City in 1923 and 1924.

Frank E. Perley, editor of "Real Estate Record and Guide," and former State Tax Commissioner, addressing the Real Estate Training Class, West Side Y. M. C. A., on Nov. 18, stated that "during the last ten days there has been a very noticeable increase in activity in the real estate market" of New York City, and that the prospects are, when the complete data for the year are compiled on real estate conveyances, mortgage loans, leases and building construction, it will be found that the 1924 market comes "close to equaling the tremendous activity of last year."

Mr. Perley, as quoted in the "Times" of Nov. 23, further said, in brief:

Records in 1923.

New York City last year experienced the greatest real estate market ever known. Records were broken all along the line. The recorded conveyances in Manhattan alone numbered 16,048 and represented in assessed valuations a total of $1,138,056,405.

The amounts involved in these transactions also set new records—ten millions in one instance; seven millions in another; several around the five-million mark, and million-dollar transactions being so frequently reported as to become almost commonplace.

And all building records, too, were broken during 1923, the construction work contracted for in the five boroughs of the city totaling more than $600,000,000, and this in spite of the shortage of labor and the high cost of building materials.

The year's residential operations in the Bronx, Brooklyn and Queens attained amazing proportions, and in Manhattan the high-class apartment houses and apartment hotels which were erected represented scores and scores of millions in value. At the same time commercial buildings were erected on a scale never before known.

Conveyances, Mortgages and Permits in 1924.

During the early months of the current year the phenomenal activity of 1923 continued, but in June the number of conveyances recorded in Manhattan began to fall behind the totals for the corresponding period of last year.

Only during the past few days has the number of conveyances recorded again approached the 1923 totals. By Nov. 11, however, the total of recorded conveyances in Manhattan passed last year's total, numbering 13,985, as against 13,963 up to Nov. 13 1923, the assessed valuations representing a total of $839,970,400, as against $1,011,994,850 for the corresponding period last year.

As for recorded mortgages, the total in Manhattan from Jan. 1 was 12,816, against 11,906 last year, representing $477,688,404 this year, as compared with $372,640,297 last. An increase in mortgage extensions this year also is shown.

Similar conditions prevail in the Bronx, where the total of recorded mortgages this year is 13,466, as against 12,928 last year, representing $158,388,417 for 1924, against $133,629,908 for the corresponding period of 1923. The Bronx likewise shows an increase this year in mortgage extensions.

Some large transactions have been held in abeyance pending the election, and these will be carried through soon, adding impetus to a market which already reflects the revival of confidence so general throughout the country.

Permits for new buildings thus far total in Manhattan 770, against 1,165 last year, but the 1924 permits, although about 400 less, represent construction work of $231,030,065, as against $148,866,948 up to the corresponding date last year.

In the Bronx this year's permits number 2,612, against 1,598 last year, and represent $121,013,264, against $102,822,670 for 1923. Brooklyn reports more permits than last year, but less expenditure, and Queens larger expenditure on less permits. Richmond also reports fewer permits and slightly less expenditure than for the corresponding period last year.

Outlook in New York City From Contractors' Standpoint.

Bearing on the general building situation in and around New York City, Allen E. Beals in the current week's issue of "Dow's Service Daily Building Reports" states that the old-line building contractor, being a "model of conservatism," has been led by the recent strengthening of the market for building materials and the intimation that there may be delay in their delivery, to be chary about entering into new contracts, except for architects and owners of his own selection. In consequence of this, Mr. Beals says, many contracts are being let, without "the guaranteed completion date," to a new class of operators—possibly a significant phase, if not momentary or overstated. He writes in part:

Every one in the building construction business knows that there is a volume of building projects being offered at this time for estimates that is out of all proportion to the volume usually met with at this time of the year.

Many of these jobs passed through the building departments early this year, but for various reasons they had been put aside for estimates until after election. . . .

When the old-line contractor became "picky" there sprang up in every borough of the city a great number of "general contractors." Some of these bidders had desk room in well located buildings and others operated from their own dwellings, but in any event they responded to invitations to bid on these proposed building projects, and awards have, in many instances, been made to them.

The names of these "general contractors" of 1925 are familiar to those who keep track of building operations in New York and vicinity as speculator-owners of some of the notable investment building projects of 1924. They are, for the most part, former bakers, tailors, clothing and millinery manufacturers, dentists, waiters, barbers, and in many instances, former sub-contractors who put their own money into building projects, mostly housing structures, and, having made money and gained also the most exacting experience in perhaps the most exacting time the New York building construction industry has ever known, are offering to handle the general contract on the initial building operations of other thrifty folk of their acquaintance.

The situation is briefly this: The established building trade of New York and vicinity is rapidly filling up to marginal capacity. The speculative contractor is rapidly absorbing second and third selective offerings, and that part of the building construction business known as the shop or alteration contractor is finding an enlarged market for his abilities in a field unusually devoid of competition, and all are confidently expecting to take liberal profits in the spring jam that they foresee.

Nature of the Building Shortage.

With the facts thus before him the reader must decide for himself, whether, now that six years have elapsed since the signing of the armistice, it is still appropriate to describe the building movement of the post-war period, as most realtors are accustomed to do, as though it were the result of a shortage produced by the World War; or whether it is and has been, more exactly speaking, a gratification of a new zest for home ownership, fostered by the generous wage increases and the extraordinary supplies of capital afloat for which the country's absorption of 2,600 million dollars worth of gold in the past decade, with the issue of excessive amounts of Federal Reserve notes, and the conditions these factors have produced are directly or indirectly responsible.

What the next few years have in store for building construction and the mortgage business of the United States manifestly depends on many uncertain questions, one of the most important of which is: "Will labor undergo any considerable wage deflation, and will the decrease be attended by a decrease in taxation and the cost of living?"

With wages mounting in substantial fashion, the demand for new housing may be said to be unlimited; with wages stationary or declining and no decrease in living costs or in taxation a more moderate pace for building and mortgage floating may not unnaturally ensue.

Indications of Business Activity

THE STATE OF TRADE—COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, Nov. 28 1924.

Colder weather with 16 to 20 degrees in parts of the West has stimulated business in jobbing and retail lines. There was some rain and snow which did trade no harm. In parts of the South, on the other hand, the temperatures have still been rather high and this has hurt business to some extent. A somewhat curious fact, too, is that taking the country as a whole collections are not so prompt as might be expected. Naturally, they are better at the West and Northwest than in some other sections. Mail order business is increasing in the West. In the main the dry goods trade has been unsatisfactory, especially as regards cotton goods. Some increase in sales of woolens is reported, but not at the East. The West is doing a better dry goods trade in all kinds of fabrics than the East. But even as regards cotton mills they are gradually increasing working time, aided by a reduction in wages of 10% or more in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Maine and Connecticut. In parts of the South working time is also being increased. Lancashire mills will work longer hours on American cotton beginning on Monday. Silk mills are also busier, with raw silk recently rising. Iron and steel have advanced somewhat, wtih the outlook for trade promising. Indeed, the sales of pig iron and of steel to railroads and builders are of no small volume. Lumber prices are advancing. Building has recently been active, favored by unusually warm weather for this season of the year. There is a larger sale of agricultural implements. This industry is buying steel on a larger scale. A more active business is going on in hardware. Anthracite coal is in better demand, especially the domestic sizes. The coke trade is improving and the output is larger. The oil output is increasing owing to an addition to production in Oklahoma and Texas. Cotton has declined somewhat during the week, owing mainly, however, to a tendency to increase the estimates of the crop. One that appeared to-day was 13,410,000 bales, which is very close to the yield in 1920. Yet at one time the crop was estimated at as low as 12,000,000 bales, and even lower. The remarkably favorable fall and the unusually late date of killing frost have saved a great deal of cotton and added materially to the crop. There is an idea that the Bureau report a week from Monday will make a noticeable addition to its estimate for Nov. 14 of close to 13,000,000 bales. Meanwhile the cotton exports continue on a large scale. The excess thus far this season over a like period in 1923 is approximately 650,000 bales. The mills keep buying steadily here, competing in some degree with Europe.

Wool has been in better demand at rising prices in the United States, England and Australia. The shoe manufacturing trade is rather disappointing, but with the coming of cold weather it may be expected to increase. With the holidays approaching the jewelry manufacturing trade is more active, and also the actual sales. Flour mills are reported busy at most centres, although the actual business, according to current reports, keeps within very moderate bounds. The grain markets are higher, especially wheat. The wheat exports have fallen off during the week to 11,100,000 bushels, as against 15,760,000 last week. But this is certainly a very large total and at the same time will be more readily marketed in Europe, where prices have at times of late felt the effects of the huge shipments from exporting countries. There are complaints of damage to the wheat crop by frost in Argentina, and it is significant that the export premiums on cash wheat at our Northwestern markets show an upward tendency. It is evident that Europe will have to continue to buy our wheat for a time, perhaps for a considerable time. Our visible supply decreased this week for the first time since last July. The total American exports thus far this season are now some 222,000,000 bushels, or 57,000,000 bushels more than for a like period last year. At the same time the reports from the winter wheat belt are in the main favorable. It is regrettable that the corn crop is turning out more and more disappointing; not so much as to quantity as to quality. It looks as though it would prove to be a low grade crop. In coffee the wild and seemingly reckless fluctuations in prices have continued, and there is an advance during the week of 1½ to 2 cents in futures. The rise has been accompanied by gloomy reports about the outlook for the Brazilian crop, and heavy buying by the Brazilian and American trade. The stock at Santos is very large, much larger than that of last year, namely 1,610,000 bags, against 562,000 a year ago. Yet there was a violent rise in prices there to-day. As to trade in merchandise generally, it is believed to be increasing, though there is still a note of conservatism in most branches of business. Towards the close of the year trade is apt to slow down for inventories. This year the unseasonably warm weather has, of course, had a detrimental effect. Yet it is curious to notice that car loadings for November make a new high record for the third week of this month, the total exceeding 1,000,000. In the West cold weather has helped the sale of heavy winter goods and collections are satisfactory. One sign of the times indicative, no doubt, of expanding business, is a tendency towards higher rates for money. The call rate here to-day was up 4%, against 2% recently, and after a couple of weeks of daily transactions on the Stock Exchange generally exceeding 2,000,000 shares. The total to-day was 2,382,000, as against less than 700,000 a year ago. While speculation is taking up the slack in the money supply to some extent the tendency towards higher rates need not be attributed solely to transactions on the Stock Exchange. There is a manifest drift towards better times in trade. Money is wanted. Conservative government for one thing is assured in this country and in England and there is also a tendency towards greater political stability on the Continent of Europe. A straw showing which way the wind blows, a sign that the people are in earnest in their demand for safe and sane government, was the action taken in Washington to-day, whereby the radical Senators, La Follette, Brookhart, Ladd and Frazier, at a conference of the Republican leaders in the Senate were read out of the Republican Party by an overwhelming vote. They are not to be invited to future Republican caucuses or named to fill vacancies on committees. Their punishment will be a salutary lesson to politicians who in past have seen fit to coquette with so-called "progressivism," which is at times too much like thinly disguised Sovietism to escape the condemnation of level-headed people in this country.

Meanwhile stocks, despite some reactions, have been advancing and have reached a new high average during another week of remarkable activity. Merchants and financiers are cheered by a broadening demand for steel and also by the large number of very favorable railroad earnings statements for October. These are old-time and reasonably trustworthy indicators of the condition of trade in this country. The tendency of foreign currencies towards higher rates is also a gratifying feature of the business news.

Though the advance in sterling during the week has not been marked, there is a slight improvement. And francs are up some 12 points during that time. Some other currencies are above par. Another gratifying thing was that the French loan for $100,000,000 was oversubscribed four times. London, too, refuses to take the trouble in Egypt and the Sudan seriously enough to affect its stock market, although there was a revolt reported to-day at Khartum. In London the tone was firm. In other words, the trend of things at home and abroad is towards betterment, and there is no reason to doubt that the year 1925 will see this tendency still more clearly developed.

Fall River wired that resumption of work in the textile industry on a normal basis is still in the offing, but there are indications of its gradual development. At Clinton, Mass., the operatives of the Lancaster Mills, Inc., will accept a wage cut of 10% and the big plant will start on full time on Dec. 1. At North Adams, Mass., the Davis & Furber Co., manufacturer of textile machinery, has gone on full time. The plant has been on short time since the early summer. The Great Falls, Mass., Manufacturing Co. opened its carding room on the 27th inst., the picker room having been opened the previous day. Other departments are to be opened as soon as the work can be made ready for them. The Great Falls Bleachery & Dye Works have cut wages 10% effective Dec. 1. This plant has been on short time for a number of months, but it is hoped will reach full time shortly. Springfield, Mass., wired: "Two western Massachusetts mills announced wage cuts of 10% effective Dec. 1. The Otis Co. of Ware, Mass., posted notices to that effect in its piece goods department and the Warren cotton mills of Ware announced the reduction would apply to all departments. No other departments of the Otis mills are affected by the cut." Pawtucket, R. I., wired that business conditions in Pawtucket and Rhode Island generally are fast returning to normal. The cotton mills are running full time, silk plants are running night and day and worsted plants are operating all departments full time. The dispatch adds that providing the heads of local textile plants carry out their intention, persons employed in mills at Pawtucket will receive a cut in wages of 2, 3, 4 and 5% within the next three weeks. Some mill men assert it is absolutely necessary to reduce wages, as it is said most plants have been running at a big loss for the last seven months. At Manchester, N. H., the Amoskeag Manufacturing Co. favors a national 48-hour law, but in self-defense opposes a local State law, which would magnify the competition against which the company must operate. On the 24th inst. the Coolidge mill, one of its largest mills, opened its weaving department. Reports from Hartford, Conn., said most Connecticut mills plan no immediate wage or time cut. With few exceptions business in eastern Connecticut is doing well. Several mills in that State have cut wages 12 to 15% and resumed full time. The trend in Connecticut toward reduction of wage scales in the textile industries later seemed more emphatic. The Goodyear Mills, Inc., at Killingly announced a 10% cut for its employees, which is now effective. This cut, together with cuts for employees of the Quinebaug and Wauregan mills, affects about 1,500 employees. The amount of reduction to be put into effect at the last two mills has not yet been announced, but it is not expected to exceed 15%. The Goodyear Mills, Inc., manufactures tire fabrics for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., of which it is a subsidiary.

At Houston, Texas, the first cotton mill began operations last Monday with 200 people employed. It will produce cotton blankets. Charlotte, N. C., wired: "Reports from Gastonia Co. show that the majority of 100 mills in that company are running full day shifts and many of them at night." In the Piedmont, N. C., section mill improvement in 30 days has been so marked that practically all mills have, it is stated, returned to full time. The Southern Power Co., which furnishes power to most of the spindles in that district reports that it is carrying the highest power load in its history. At Athens, Tenn., the new 69 x 194-foot addition to the plant of the Athens woolen mills has been completed and 200 looms have been installed and are now in operation. At Chester, S. C., the Eureka cotton mill is now operating nights and days. The Aragon-Baldwin mill is also operating on a day and night shift. The Springstein mill, which does not operate at night, continues full time day operations. The three big plants of the Republic cotton mills at Great Falls, Chester County, continue on full time. The Manetta mills at Lando, Chester County, also continue to operate at full time. At Opp, Ala., the Micolas cotton mills are now operating night and day shifts. It is understood that the company plans to double the capacity of its plants as soon as more labor can be engaged.

Manchester, Eng., mills using American cotton are to go on a 39¼-hour week instead of 32, as for some time past on Dec. 1. The Bremen Cotton Exchange is contemplating the establishment of a cotton futures exchange to open some time in December.

Conditions in the American woolen and worsted industry have improved very noticeably during November. Demand has broadened and mill operations have increased.

At Lynn, Mass., business is rapidly improving. Several of the larger shoe manufacturers have taken sizable orders. Three concerns recently announced their intention of leaving the city, but two new local concerns and an outside company are now planning to start business at Lynn. Five factories, those of A. Fisher & Sons, Merrill, Porter & Co., G. W. Herrick Shoe Co., Dickinson Shoe Co. and the James W. Hitchings Shoe Co., are producing between 1,000 and 2,100 pairs of shoes and slippers per day. With better business nearly every factory at Lynn is now on full time.

New Orleans wired: "Orders for lumber received by the Southern pine mills are increasing at period of year when they usually decrease. Reports from 129 mills in Southern Association show increase of 2.69% in orders during past week and they are now 8% above normal production. These 129 mills report orders for 88,000,000 feet last week and production of 70,000,000. They have unfilled orders for 247,000,000 feet. A year ago 135 mills reported unfilled orders for 205,000,000 feet. This is one of the best indications of general business conditions."

Car loadings for the week ending Nov. 15 were 1,015,704, or 23,654 more than in the same week last year.

It was mild here last Monday, with 46 at noon and even at 3 a. m., but it grew a little colder on Tuesday, when it was 42 at noon and at 2 p. m. The West was colder, with the temperatures down to 20 at Milwaukee and St. Paul, 22 at Chicago, 26 at Cincinnati and Cleveland and 28 at Kansas City. Reports of washouts, of towns isolated and of streams rising rapidly were received early in the week from many parts of northern New England following heavy rains. Here latterly it has been cloudy at times, but in the main clear and cool. On Thursday it was 16 at St. Paul, 20 in Chicago, 26 at Kansas City and Milwaukee, 30 at Cleveland, 34 at Cincinnati, 32 at Pittsburgh, 36 at New York, 38 at Philadelphia and 40 at Boston. To-day it was 44 here at 2 p. m., with a forecast of light rain or snow flurries to-night and Saturday and colder weather.

Cotton Trading on Chicago Board of Trade on Dec. 1.

The Chicago Board of Trade is very sanguine as to the success of the movement for trading in cotton, which is to be definitely inaugurated next Monday, Dec. 1. In a statement just issued by the Board, the movement is discussed as follows:

The title of "Farm Capital," which in recent years has been affixed to Chicago, is becoming more and more a realization.

After holding leadership for many years as the grain centre of the world, the livestock centre and the premier provision market, Chicago now turns to cotton. The new cotton market, creation of which has been in progress for several months, opens on Dec. 1. All indications point to its success.

Talk of a cotton market in this part of the country has been heard for several years. There seems to have been an actual demand for hedging facilities. On several occasions the Board of Trade, because of its vast marketing facilities, was urged to establish such a market on its trading floor.

It was not until Sept. 8, however, that the question was placed before the association's membership. The project received a unanimous vote.

This vote was taken only after months of conferences and investigations of every condition pertaining to the establishment of a cotton futures market in this district. The opinions of leading cotton men in the South, as well as Government officials and representatives of Eastern cotton interests, were obtained. Everything pointed to the practicability of the project.

Point of delivery on Chicago contracts is the Houston-Galveston basin, and the contract is based on Texas or Western cotton.

Last year this exporting point, the greatest in the world, handled about three-quarters of the cotton sent from the United States.

Enormous quantities of actual cotton are always available at the joint port, assuring a broad market. It is declared that hedging business may be conducted with minimum risk.

Recently many applications have been coming in from Houston and Galveston warehouses for approval by the Board of Trade directors as regular places for storage and delivery of cotton on Chicago contracts. Some time ago it was stated that if no further warehouses sought designation there would still be ample storage facilities available at those points. Facilities there are declared to be excellent, with incoming tracks on one side of the warehouses and outward bound ships on the other. Total warehouse capacity is placed in excess of 1,500,000 bales.

January will be the first month traded in on the Chicago market.

Under the rules of the cotton futures market, which functions under the United States Cotton Futures Act, each contract is deliverable from one regular press or warehouse located within the Houston-Galveston port area.

It is announced that the contract unit traded in is 100 bales, approximately 50,000 pounds of cotton.

"Quotations are in cents and hundredths of a cent a pound," the Board of Trade announced. "One one-hundredth of a cent, or one point on 100 bales equals $5. One cent or one hundred points on 100 bales equals $500.

"In event other grades than middling are delivered allowances or deductions will be made on the averages established in the ten designated markets as provided in the United States Cotton Futures Act.

"The grades tenderable on Chicago contracts are the same as those at New York and New Orleans, as provided for under the United States Cotton Futures Act.

"Notices of the seller's intention to deliver will be issued in Chicago.

"Sworn inspectors and weighers will be maintained by the Chicago Board of Trade at Houston and Galveston. They will inspect, weigh and sample the cotton offered for certification. This plan in general is similar to that in effect at New York. A separate warehouse receipt must be supplied, however, for each bale.

"All cotton will be classified by the United States Department of Agriculture, the same as is done at New York and New Orleans.

"Trading at Chicago is expected to develop a broad, liquid market. Observers declare it will work an increase in trading in other markets because of increased public interest."

Hours of trading are from 9 a. m. to 2 p. m. except on Saturday, when the market will close at 11.

Back of Chicago's new cotton market stands the solid Southwest, Joseph W. Evans, former President of the Houston Cotton Exchange on Nov 26 told directors of the Chicago Board of Trade. "Creation of the cotton futures market in this city," said Mr. Evans, also former head of the Texas Cotton Association," is an important constructive step in marketing. We are heartily in accord with the project and will give it our solid support." He added:

There is every reason to believe that the new market, which opens next Monday, will develop rapidly into a broad liquid hedging market and will in a comparatively short time equal in importance the exchanges at New Orleans and New York. Virtually all the surplus cotton is now raised in the Southwest, the mills in the Southeast consuming the production of that section. Western cotton has superior spinning value and is eagerly sought after especially by foreign spinners and therefore the Chicago contract is the best, for not only does it represent superior cotton, but its point of delivery is at the centre where world values on cotton are made.

Importance of the new cotton market to the Southwest as well as to this section of the country can hardly be exaggerated. Closer business ties between the two sections are bound to develop rapidly.

Texas dealers, according to other cotton merchants, will be put in a somewhat independent position by the new cotton market, which will permit them to hedge in near-by months, a course that is now declared to be practically impossible. Sooner or later, Texas cotton houses aver, New York and New Orleans will be forced to change their methods of compelling deliveries to points remote from the normal line of movement from producer to spinner. Under Chicago's contract, all deliveries will be made at the joint port of Houston-Galveston. This innovation, it is contended, will save vast sums of money in freight. It will obviate the haul to New Orleans or New York, with expensive handling charges at destination. The cotton merchant will be benefitted, it is argued, by this saving in freight, and his ability to do business at a lower cost and more certain hedge should be immediately reflected back to the producer. C. B. Howard of the American Cotton Growers' Association, favors delivery in the Southwest on futures contracts, declaring that delivery at New York simply "forces cotton out of its natural freight channel at an unnecessary expense."

All arrangements have been completed for the formal opening of the new futures market on the floor of the Chicago Board of Trade next Monday morning, with President Frank L. Carey making the first trade.

In our advertising columns on pages 25&2 xxxv xxxv, xxxvi, of the present issue, 17 different houses announce their readinesss to execute orders in the staple.

Federal Crop Reporting Board Defends Issuance of Semi-Monthly Cotton Reports — Objections of Dallas Cotton Exchange.

In defense of the issuance by it of semi-monthly cotton crop reports the Federal Crop Reporting Board, in answer to contentions that the semi-monthly reports of estimated cotton yield have a demoralizing effect on business, asserts that they have tended to reduce, rather than accentuate market fluctuations. Replying to communications from members of Congress, cotton exchanges and trade organizations that the reports have made the markets unduly sensitive the Board, according to a Washington dispatch Nov. 9 to the New York "Journal of Commerce," stated:

It is felt that from the standpoint of the cotton planter it would be a serious mistake to discontinue these reports, at least during the period when the bulk of the cotton crop is being picked and moved to market.

To attribute the fluctuations in the cotton market during the present season to the semi-monthly cotton reports is to overlook many other factors which have had an important influence on cotton prices, such as the short carryover, which has made the market extremely sensitive to change in crop prospects; the unsatisfactory condition of the cotton dry goods trade and the spinning industry, as well as the general economic situation of the world, which have also affected the demand for cotton and prices much more than usual.

In its further account of the Board's contentions the same paper continued:

Range of Prices.

Figures adduced by the Board show that in fact the range of cotton prices during the past four months between the daily high and low prices has not been nearly as wide this year as last. Also that the average deviation of daily closing cotton prices from the monthly average for the same period is only slightly more than for last year.

"An examination of the closing quotations of both spot and future prices does not indicate that the fluctuations of the market have been greater than last year," the Board says. "The average deviation of cotton prices from the monthly average for spot cotton at ten markets, and for futures at New York and New Orleans (closing prices only being considered), indicate that the fluctuations this year have been about the same as last year. For the four months, July, August, September and October, the average deviation of spot cotton prices in 1923 from the monthly average was about .98 of a cent, while in 1924 it was 1.05c., a difference of .07 of a cent. The average deviation of future prices in New York for the four months has been .16 of a cent more than last year, while in New Orleans the deviation from the monthly average was .21 of a cent less than in 1923.

"A study of the range of cotton prices for the four months for 1923 and 1924 shows that the range, that is, the difference between the highest and lowest closing price during the month, has been much less during tht past four months than was the case last year. The July range for spoe cotton last year was 5.69c., while the range this year was only 3c. In New York futures the range last year for July was 6.09c., and for this year 6.92c. For New Orleans futures the range was 6.55c. last year, while this year it was 2.48c.

Range of Spot Cotton.

"For August the range last year for spot cotton was 2 08c., while for this year it was 4.90c. For New York futures in August last year the range was 2.80c., and this year 3.95c. New Orleans futures in August last year had a range of 2.95c., and this year 3.96c.

"In September last year spot cotton had a range of 4.74c., and this year 3.46c. New York futures had a range of 4.80c. in September last year and 4.16c. this year. New Orleans futures last year had a range of 4.75c. in September, and this year 3.92c.

'In October last year the spot cotton price range was 3.06c., and this year 3.32c. New York futures had a range of 3.09c. in October last year and 4.43c. this year. New Orleans futures in October last year had a range of 3.30c. and 3.44c. this year.

"For these four months last year the range of spot cotton prices was 13.87c., New York futures 15.96c. and New Orleans futures 16.02c. This ear the range for spot cotton for the four months has been 9.94c., New York futures 13.15c. and New Orleans futures 8.21c. These figures indicate quite clearly that the range of prices this year for the four months is considerably less than a year ago."

The Dallas Cotton Exchange, it is learned, had laid the matter before members of the Texas delegation in Congress with a view of securing legislation prohibiting the continuance of these forecasts, and the Memphis Cotton Exchange is another of the organizations which, it is stated, has taken exception to the frequency of the reports. Said the "Journal of Commerce" in Washington advices Oct. 28:

It seems to have been the experience of the directors of the Dallas Exchange that their foreign correspondents cease placing orders just prior to the issuance of these reports and in their opinion, these reports are simply guesses as to what the yield will be. They urge the Representatives to do all within their power to abolish these reports as to the probable yield, issued every two weeks, declaring that the country at large feels that once a month is often enough. They do not object to the semi-monthly ginning reports because they feel that figures contained therein are accurate.

Trade Conference Held.

Last year the Secretary of Agriculture sent invitations to a number of members of the various branches of the trade to visit Washington for a conference with a view to securing suggestions that would make the cotton reports more helpful to the trade generally. A dozen men responded and they were asked, first, to thoroughly inform themselves as to how the materials for the crop reports are collected, the extent of the crop organization, and the manner in which the reports are handled; second, to consider whether the board is making too many reports and whether changes in the reports would be helpful.

The committee later recommended that the cotton reports be increased to two per month, instead of one; that the mid-month reports cover cotton conditions as of about the 10th of each month from July to November, inclusive, and that the reports cover such factors of crop growth and conditions as shall be found necessary and practicable by the crop reporting service.

The committee stated that in view of the fact that there has been considerable criticism of the cotton reports of the crop reporting board, which tends to destroy confidence in these reports, made by those unfamiliar with the magnitude and difficulties of the work and its highly technical nature, or by those having a selfish interest to serve, it felt that a word of appreciation of the work being done was due.

Members of Congress from the cotton States held similar views with regard to the number of reports to be rendered, it is pointed out, and legislation dealing with the subject was adopted. It is not possible for the board of its own initiative to lessen the number of reports, whether or not inclined to do so. Members of the board declined to comment upon the subject, but state that only legislation by Congress can change the situation as urged by the Dallas and Memphis exchanges.

Declare Business Upset.

Commenting further, the directors of the Dallas organization express the opinion that the semi-monthly estimates as to what the farmers in the cotton belt are going to produce upset business and encourage all kinds of illegitimate speculation.

"We believe our Government should confine itself to the publication of facts and not guesses," said the directors, "and we also believe that it is impossible for the Government to make an accurate statement of the actual acreage planted in cotton as well as the abandonment of the acreage.

Members of Congress who were responsible for increasing the number of cotton crop reports to two each month are inclined to take issue with those who are objecting, declaring that the members of the Crop Reporting Board are acting in an open and unbiased manner, and their efforts are of great help to the cotton planters. They point out that if this work is eliminated by law, there will be more private reports than at present and the coton producer would be worse off than now, while the field would be left open to a greater extent to the speculators. They declare they will oppose any move to change the law unless it be shown by public hearings that its amendment will in truth be beneficial.

In its issue of Nov. 10, the "Journal of Commerce" quoted the Crop Reporting Board as follows in reply to the protest of the Dallas Cotton Exchange against the issuance of the semi-monthly cotton reports:

It is noted that while the directors of the Dallas exchange object to the issuance of the semi-monthly cotton reports, they are in favor of the issuance of the semi-monthly ginning reports. The ginning reports are without doubt extremely valuable and the final ginning report issued in March of each year is the final authority as to the size of the crop. However, as an indicator of the probable size of the crop during the period when the farmer is marketing the bulk of his cotton, they are of comparatively little value. It is not until the report showing the amount of cotton ginned to Oct. 18 issued on Oct. 25 that the ginnings themselves may be used with any degree of assurance, and then only by experienced estimators, to measure the probable size of the crop, and even at that time they may prove extremely misleading, due to the fact that the percentage of the total crop ginned to Oct. 18 varies widely from year to year.

To insist, therefore, that the Government shall issue only ginning reports would be the equivalent to saying to the farmer during the period when he is marketing his crop that he must depend for information as to the probable size of the crop upon private crop reporting agencies and the local buyers. It is rather difficult to see how such a situation could work to the advantage of the producer.

Under date of Nov. 16 a New Orleans dispatch to the New York "Times" said:

Every one in the trade is eager to have the long series of half-monthly reports on the crop by the Government come to an end, and the agitation is growing in favor of a strong effort to have the Government return next season to the old system of monthly reports, as it has been amply demonstrated that the rapid succession of reports has kept the market nervous and unsettled and has militated against orderly trading.

Discontinuance of cotton crop forecasts prior to Aug. 1 or Aug. 15 each season was suggested by W. F. Callander, Chairman of the Federal Crop Board, in addressing members of the New York Cotton Exchange at a meeting this week (Nov. 25). This does not mean the elimination of early acreage or condition reports, but the discontinuance of forecasts in numbers of bales of cotton. Mr. Callander had the following to say:

The members of the Crop Reporting Board are of the opinion that it might be advisable for the Department to delay their issuance of quantitative forecasts until a little later in the season than at the present time. Things may occur to affect the crop later in the season so that any forecast made prior to Aug. 15 is likely to be radically changed, and as we have repeatedly pointed out, the Board itself has not attempted to forecast the effect of weather and other factors on the crop and have simply issued their forecasts based on present outlook. We would view with complacency therefore any steps taken to relieve the Board of the responsibility of making a quantitative forecast prior to Aug. 1 or Aug. 15.

Mr. Callander described to the members of the Exchange, by means of charts, the detailed methods used in preparing cotton crop reports. Numerous checks and cross-checks are used to minimize possible bias, and mechanical methods of estimating acreage are being used. On the question of semi-monthly reports he said that the Department feels that it is too early to pass final judgment on the real value of such reports, but that while undoubtedly the reports themselves on the day of their issuance have caused the market to fluctuate considerably, the range in cotton prices this year is considerably less than last year and the actual deviation of closing prices during the season is only slightly greater than last year. He said:

It is possible that if the plan which was put into effect on Nov. 21 of closing the Exchange for 15 minutes after the issuance of the report had been in effect during the entire season that much of the complaint which has arisen concerning these reports would not have occurred. Our feeling is therefore that these reports should be given a more thorough trial under more normal conditions than existed during the past season before they are utterly condemned.

International Federation of Master Spinners Opposes Continuance of Semi-Monthly Cotton Reports.

The Department of Agriculture officials at Washington have been notified by General Secretary Arno S. Pearse of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Associations of the adoption of a resolution by that organization opposing the continuance of the semi-monthly reports, urging that monthly reports during the cotton-growing season are ample. The resolution, unanimously adopted by the committee of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Associations at its meeting in London on Oct. 30 1924, is as follows:

That in the opinion of the committee of the International Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' and Manufacturers' Associations, the half-monthly cotton condition reports are detrimental to steady trade and lead to frequent speculative fluctuations in the price of raw cotton and manufactured goods, which are injurious to grower and consumer, therefore this committee respectfully requests the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., to consider the advisability of reverting to the issue of only one cotton condition report per month during the growing season, commencing Aug. 1.

That with a view of co-operative action being taken, this resolution be sent to the cotton exchanges of the world and other interested parties.

There were present at the London committee meeting the leaders of the cotton industry of the following countries: Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, England, France, Holland, Italy, Japan, Sweden and Switzerland.

Large Exports of Cotton—Small Exports of Cotton Manufactures.

On Nov. 24 the Department of Commerce at Washington gave out its report for the month of October and the ten months ending with October of the exports of cotton, cotton cloths, yarns, thread and hosiery. The exports of raw cotton have increased, both in quantity and in value, as compared with the preceding year, but proportionately more in the latter than in the former because of the high prices prevailing. Thus, for the ten months the exports in quantity increased from 3,666,145 bales in 1922-23 to 4,412,448 bales in 1923-24, or about 20%, while in values there has been a jump from $532,236,879 to $649,874,892, or over 23%. In October the exports came close to reaching a million bales, having been 946,506 bales, but as the price of cotton now is lower than at the corresponding dates in 1923, the ratio of gain in the quantity shipped is greater than that in value. In quantity the October exports were, as just stated, 946,506 bales, against 774,320 bales in October 1923, an increase of 22.1%, while the value of the shipments was $123,303,475 in October 1924, against $115,659,368 in October 1923, an increase of 6.6%. The exports of cotton manufacturers for the ten months have quite generally declined, both in quantity and in value. Below is the report in full:

Department Store Sales in Federal Reserve District of New York During October Larger than Last Year.

In its Dec. 1 "Monthly Review of Credit and Business Conditions" the Federal Reserve Agent at New York states that "October sales of department and apparel stores in this district were 3% larger than in October last year, whereas in September they were 12% larger and in August 7% smaller than a year previous." Continuing, the "Review" says:

Sales of Newark and Bridgeport department stores showed a considerable increase, and smaller gains occurred in the sales of reporting stores in Buffalo, Rochester and New York City. In Syracuse and other localities not shown separately October sales were slightly below those of a year previous. A substantial increase in the sales of the large apparel stores was due largely to an expansion of store facilities.

Furniture and cotton goods showed the largest increases in sales over a year ago, but smaller gains appeared in home furnishings, hosiery, men's clothing, shoes, women's ready-to-wear accessories and woolen goods. Sales of women's clothing and silk goods were somewhat smaller than in October 1923. The average amount of each sales check was $3 26 compared with $3 29 last year.

Stocks of goods on hand on Nov. 1 were 4% larger than a year ago, partly due to the retarding effect of mild weather on sales of apparel and to the store expansion previously referred to. Excluding the apparel stores, stocks of merchandise were little changed from a year ago. The percentage of outstanding orders for merchandise to total purchases of the stores during the previous year show a seasonal decline from 8.2% on Oct. 1 to 6.8% on Nov. 1, a figure practically the same as that on Nov. 1 1923.

Mail-order sales increased about one-third from September to October, or approximately the usual seasonal amount, and were 6% above October last year. This bank's index of mail-order sales, in which allowance is made for seasonal variation and price changes, was 3% above normal, as determined by the trend of past years.

Wholesale Trade in Federal Reserve District of New York During October at Same Level as in September, but Smaller than in October Last Year.

Regarding wholesale trade, the Dec. 1 "Monthly Review of Credit and Business Conditions" by the Federal Reserve Agent at New York says:

Wholesale trade in this district in October continued at about the same level as in September but was smaller than in October 1923, due to unusually large sales last year in some lines, particularly clothing. This banks' index of trade, after allowance for seasonal variation and price changes, has advanced steadily since June and in October stood at 103% of the computed trend, or normal.

Sales of women's coats and suits were somewhat smaller than in September, due possibly to the mild weather, and much below the large totals of last year, while business in shoes, dresses, and men's clothing was also smaller than a year ago. In the case of drug sales, while below last October, were otherwise the largest ever recorded, and trade in hardware and machine tools showed an improvement over recent months.

Sales of diamonds, stationery, and silk goods, continued above last year, and those of jewelry were slightly larger than in any corresponding month since 1920. The following table gives comparative figures for October sales with those of previous years:

Increase in Retail Food Prices in October.

As was noted in these columns last Saturday (page 2356), the retail food index issued by the U. S. Department of Labor, through the Bureau of Labor Statistics, shows that there was an increase of about one and a third per cent in the retail cost of food in October 1924, as compared with September 1924. The index number (1913-100) was 146.8 in September and 148.7 in October. The usual tables supplied each month by the Bureau, portraying the index number of retail food prices, have since come to hand and we give the same herewith:

October Chain Store Sales in Federal Reserve District of New York Largest Since December 1923.

According to the Dec. 1 "Monthly Review of Credit and Business Conditions" by the Federal Reserve Agent at New York, "October sales by reporting chain store systems were the largest since December 1923, and 14% larger than in October last year, due partly to the opening of new stores." The "Review" continues:

The volume of sales per store, however, also increased and was slightly larger than a year previous, for the first time since April. This was due to increases in the sales of 10-cent and grocery stores. In other reporting lines, sales per store remained below last year, although, except in shoe stores, the percentage of decrease was smaller than has recently been the rule. The following table indicates the changes in chain store trade in October as compared with October of previous years:

Wholesale Trade Conditions in New England Relatively Better than Retail—Report of Federal Reserve Bank of Boston.

Retail trade conditions in New England, according to reports received by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, have not as yet shown any noticeable improvement over the previous months of this fall. According to the bank's Industrial Statistics Division, wholesale trade conditions in New England during October were relatively better than retail. The average New England wholesale grocery firm reporting to the Federal Reserve Bank had about the same volume of business as a year ago. During October this year the Boston wholesale grocers on the average reported increases over their sales of October 1923, while those concerns in the larger New England cities outside of Boston, on the average, reported a smaller volume of sales. Approximately the usual seasonal increase was made in the sales of shoes at wholesale in both Boston and other New England cities, and trade conditions in this branch of the wholesale trade are probably much better at the present time than they have been at any other time this year. The bank also states:

The results of a special report covering department store business during the first 15 working days of November indicated that the volume of sales in terms of dollars was 7% less than during the corresponding period a year ago. Throughout October and the first part of November, sales of various types of clothing in New England department stores were reduced markedly by the extremely warm, dry weather which prevailed throughout the month. According to the records of the local Weather Bureau, there were only two days during the entire month of Octoberr when there was any trace of rain. The result of this is clearly shown in the sales of umbrellas in the Boston department stores, which were 44% less than in October 1923, or, in other words, there were perhaps only half as many umbrellas sold as usual during October.

The clear and fairly warm weather has also had its effect on the sales of several apparel lines, both men's and women's. The total sales of a group of Boston women's apparel shops during October were nearly 8% less than in October 1923, and no improvement was reported for the first half of November. In the department stores during October, the sales of men's clothing were nearly 13% less than in October 1923, and sales of various types of women's apparel averaged from 5 to 10% less than during the corresponding month in the previous year.

Jewelry and silverware sold very well during October. It was reported that the largest volume of sales of jewelry and silverware was made during October of any month so far this year, and the per cent increase over the same month of 1923 was larger than that of any month since last February.

In the department stores outside of Boston, sales were uniformly less than a year ago, with the exception of several cities in southern New England. Among these an outstanding example was Providence, where the sales for October were 6% greater than in October 1923. Credit conditions in the Providence department stores were as satisfactory as a year ago, and the rate of collections on both installments and all charge accounts was practically the same as in October 1923.

Life Insurance Sales Increase in All Sections of the Country—1924 to Be Biggest Insurance Year.

Over twenty-two million dollars of ordinary life insurance were written every day in the United States in October, according to figures just issued by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. The general gains in life insurance sales throughout the country, coupled with the generally increased business prosperity give every indication, says the Bureau, that 1924 will be decidedly the biggest year in the history of life insurance. The Bureau continues:

The 81 companies which make up the Bureau's survey and do 88% of the life insurance business in the United States, report very substantial gains for the past month. With the exception of four Southern States and three in the Rocky Mountain section, all of the States showed decided gains in October over this September. The actual sales for October were $572,184,000, a 3% gain over October 1923, the largest October to date. From January 1 to Oct. 31 $5,432,132,000 of life insurance was written in the United States, a gain of 7% for this same period last year.

The Middle Atlantic and Pacific sections show the greatest advances, the former leading by a 13% increase for the first ten months of this year compared with the same period in 1923. New York, Michigan and California have been showing especially consistent gains throughout the year. Sales in these States have increased from 13% to 15% for the last 12 months in comparison with the previous 12 months, whereas the country as a whole has only shown a gain of 8%. Massachusetts figures show a rapid recovery from the sharp depression felt in the New England States during the late summer and early fall, October sales in Massachusetts being 15% greater than those of October 1923. Boston leads all of the large cities by a 40% increase over October 1923.

Increase in Life Insurance Sales Increase in October.

Life insurance sales in Canada increased two and a half million dollars in October over September of this year, according to figures just issued by the Life Insurance Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Conn. The Bureau's report for October says:

Although the October sales of $32,438,000 were 3% below those of October 1923, there has been an increase of 9% for the first ten months of this year over the same period of last year. From Jan. 1 to Oct. 31 $319,686,000 of ordinary life insurance has been sold in Canada by the companies operating in the Bureau's survey. These companies do 83% of the Canadian business.

New Brunswick shows decidedly the greatest increase in business written for October as well as for the first ten months of this year. Sales in October 1924 exceeded October 1923 by 21% and the first ten months of this year show a gain of 19% above the same period last year. The Provinces of Ontario and Quebec both made gains of 12% each for the first ten months of the year, although each showed a smaller production in October 1924 than in October 1923—Ontario by 2% and Quebec by 7%. Quebec leads the cities with a 40% increase for the first ten months of 1924, while Vancouver had the largest increase for October 1924 over October 1923, also 40%.

Holidays Reduce New York State Factory Earnings in October.

Weekly payrolls in New York State factories amounted to $34,080,000 in October, or $230,000 less than in September. This estimate is based on returns received from manufacturers reporting to the State Department of Labor. Up-State gains were found in some of the metals and textiles and in the furniture plants where not only additional workers but also longer working hours were responsible for the increase. It was in New York City that the actual loss came when Columbus Day and religious holidays cut into weekly wage payments. This statement was issued by Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag of the State Department of Labor at Albany on Nov. 25. Commissioner Shientag says:

After allowing for the holiday, it was evident that September's rate of improvement had not been sustained. Only a seasonal gain showed in October, as might be expected with an impending Presidential election.

Wage Rate Decreases Extend to Metals.

Wage rate decreases continued. In October, 14 were reported ranging from 5 to 15% and affecting 2,700 workers. This is about the same number reported in the preceding month. The difference was in the industries concerned. In September the majority of decreases came in the brick yards, which were reducing operations after an extremely active summer. Now metals and textiles, the industries which felt more keenly the recent depression and therefore determine the degree of improvement each month are conspicuous. One-third of the wage rate cuts came in the metals where 1,200 employees were affected. Several knitting mills revised wage scales downward as operations were extended. Increases were reported in a few clothing establishments and in newspaper and publishing plants.

Loss in Average Earnings.

Average earnings for the week of the 15th were $27 53 for the factories of the State, an average loss from last month of 52 cents per worker. A comparison with last year shows that the men's earnings for October, $30 66, were 84 cents lower than those for October 1923, while the women, with $16 69 as their earnings this month, received only 19 cents less.

Earnings of Men and Women.

Textile mills and some of the metals were more active in October. Cotton goods manufacturers took back a large number of the workers released in recent months. This pulled down the average earnings of the men from $24 48 to $21 74. Women, however, were able to earn $2 80 more as the looms were busier. Last year, however, women's earnings averaged $18 instead of $15 as this October. Knitting mills also added considerably to the number already employed. Earnings for all the employees went from $18 37 to $18 85 as the pre-Christmas season brought more demand for goods.

In the steel mills where one finds relatively the highest payrolls, even the taking on of many seasonal workers did not check the rise in earnings. Here earnings went up over $ but they are still $1 lower than the earnings for October 1923. This with the fact that employment is only three-fourths as high as last year shows how far some industries have to come back before they reach the level of 1923. In the brass and copper mills holidays cut into payrolls in the New York City district and working time was reduced up-State. The earnings of the men dropped from $28 90 to $27 22, while the women received only $14 66 in contrast to $17 32 the month before. This industry is one of the few metals which employs a large number of women. The loss of $3 25 over last year is significant. Wages paid to the men this month averaged $2 10 lower than last year. The other metal industries which employ a large number of women are electrical apparatus and foundry and machine shops. Both of these reported small increases in employment with slight decreases in payrolls. The machinery and electrical apparatus division showed a loss of $1 in earnings from September to October. This was largely among the men. Earnings of the women in this group are higher than in October of last year.

Railways Repair Shops Busy.

Average earnings in the railway repair shops went up over $2 50 as the men worked all day Saturdays; losses in working time in the equipment factories, however, brought wage payments down $1.

The lower level of employment makes earnings in the automobile industry about the same as last year. Instrument factories are still dull. Men averaged $27 98, 38 cents less than last month and $1 35 less than October of last year.

Jewelry shops failed to show as much overtime as in 1923 and earnings accordingly were lower.

In wood products, furniture factories reported the largest gains in payrolls. Employment here is only 3% below that in October 1923, so the fact that earnings are 67 cents higher than last year shows that the factories are making up for the recent dulness. Holidays cut into the payrolls of the piano factories.

Apparel Still Slow.

Men's and women's furnishings were affected by seasonal demands. In the up-State shirt and collar factories which were more active women worked a little longer. A comparison with last year, however, shows that along with reduced employment, earnings were reduced from $14 78 to $13 88. Shoe factories made little net change in employment but the men received $1 60 less than last month, while the women earned $16 39, a reduction of 58 cents from September.

Crude Oil Market Still Quiet—Gasoline Prices Continue to Advance.

There has been practically no change during the current week in the crude oil situation as far as price is concerned. On the other hand, gasoline has advanced a trifle in several sections of the country. A despatch from Tulsa, Okla., states that the bulk price of new navy gasoline in the Mid-Continent territory was, on Nov. 22, advanced ¼ to ⅜c. per gallon, the new price now ranging from 8 to 8¼c. per gallon. The price of Mid-Continent fuel oil was advanced 5c. per barrel to $1 10.

Another advance has been made in new navy gasoline, according to reports from Chicago. This class of refined oils in Group 3 territory, Mid-Continent district, is now 8¼c. a gallon, an advance of ¼ of a cent, compared with a price of 7¾c. wholesale, which was obtainable about a week ago. Higher quality gasolines are also firmer, selling from 9½ to 10½c. a gallon, with difficulties in finding large supplies. Fuel oil in that district is now quoted around $1 07½ to $1 12½ a barrel, against $1 05 to $1 10 late last week.

Fuel oil has been advanced ¼c. a gallon, or about 10c. a barrel, by northwestern Pennsylvania refiners.

The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey advanced the price of bunker fuel oil 5c. a barrel at New York harbor, Baltimore and Norfolk, to $1 80, plus 6½c. barrel lighterage charge.

The Standard Oil Co. of New York has advanced the price of tank wagon gasoline 1c. a gallon throughout the New England territory, bringing up the price to 15c. per gallon, in line with the price prevailing in New York. The advance was followed by the Gulf Oil Co. and the Texas Co.

The "Toledo Blade" on Nov. 24 reported:

Another gasoline price war in Toledo, O., loomed when the Johnson Oil Refining Co. put 15-cent gas into effect in its two stations. This is the lowest level of prices in Toledo since before the war. The Standard Oil and other companies are holding to their 17-cent price, or were Nov. 24, although in some circles, it was felt that the cut of the Johnson company, with two well located stations, was likely to precipitate a price cutting war of extensive proportions there. Fifteen and even 14-cent gas prices have been in effect in some stations near Toledo, but the Johnson company is the first in Toledo to put into effect so low a price. Some other stations of a more or less indepencent character have cut prices below the Standard, Sun, Paragon and other levels. "Conditions do not warrant any further reduction," General Manager Vance of the Standard Oil in Toledo said. He would make no further comment on the two-cent reduction of the Johnson company.

Crude Oil Production Continues to Increase.

The American Petroleum Institute on Nov. 26 estimated that the daily average gross crude oil production in the United States for the week ended Nov. 22 was 1,963,600 barrels, as compared with 1,941,050 barrels for the preceding week, an increase of 22,550 barrels, but a decrease of 234,650 barrels per day when compared with the output during the corresponding week of 1923. The daily average production east of California was 1,375,000 barrels, as compared with 1,351,500 barrels the previous week, an increase of 24,050 barrels. California production was 588,000 barrels, as compared with 589,500 barrels; Santa Fe Sptings is reported at 52,000 barrels, no change; Long Beach, 129,000 barrels, against 131,000 barrels; Huntington Beach, 41,000 barrels, against 40,000 barrels; Torrance, 45,880 barrels, against 46,800 barrels, and Dominguez, 32,000 barrels, against 31,300 barrels. The following are estimates of daily average gross production for the weeks indicated:

Elbert H. Gary on Increasing Demand for Iron and Steel Products Following Presidential Election.

In stating on Nov. 25 that "the results of the Presidential election have been what we had hoped and expected they would be," Judge Elbert H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation, made the following observations:

The demand for iron and steel products is large and increasing. It promises to be fully up to and perhaps in excess of the manufacturing capacity. The prices have been too low. It is hoped that they will soon be high enough to allow all of the producers some profit. As the published figures show, many have been operating at a loss. I am very glad that employers, during the last six months, have not reduced their wage rates, although they would have been justified in so doing. I am hoping that the markets of everything that is sold will not advance too rapidly nor to figures that are unreasonably high. It will be better for all business lines and for the country if we have a steady, progressive and reasonable volume of business at fair rates.

We should be and are thankful for the conditions which exist in this country, and for the kind of Governmental Administration that we have in Washington. For the last six months it has required some courage and a clear vision to look forward with confidence and satisfaction. Now that we are entering upon a realization of our hopes we shall increase our efforts to justify the blessings bestowed upon us.

Advance Report by Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia on Steel and Iron Foundry Operations in the Philadelphia Federal Reserve District for October 1924.

Regarding the figures of steel foundry operations for October, the Federal Reserve Bank of Philadelphia, through its Department of Statistics and Research, says:

An analysis of questionnaires returned to us from five steel foundries in the Third Federal Reserve District as shown below discloses the fact that during October the situation in regard to production, shipments and stocks improved to an unusual extent over that in the preceding month. The most noteworthy gain occurred in the tonnage of unfilled orders which increased 108.5% over the total in September.

Steel and Iron Markets Show Greater Activity—Higher Prices.

Some subsidence in the buying of steel products but a marked expansion in the tonnage of orders released against contracts is a development of the week, according to the "Iron Age" of Nov 27, which adds:

Buyers appear willing to postpone a testing of new prices, but are making a heavy demand on current production, even with protection extending through February at recent price levels. The result is a further increase in mill operations.

The broadening in demand is noteworthy. The railroads remain conspicuous in steel takings; general steel building work is of surprising proportions; a slow gain from the agricultural implement trade, until that is now on a 60 to 70% manufacturing rate, is reported; and automobile companies are placing liberal contracts with parts makers.

Price advances, not yet general, now cover wire and sheets. The new levels would establish wire products and black sheets $2 a ton and galvanized and automobile body sheets $3 a ton above those of recent transactions.

Present prices are to be continued for coke tin plate and heavy orders have been bokked for next year. A slight advance has been named for charcoal plates and also for short terne plates, because of higher costs of coating metals.

On bars and structural shapes 2c. Pittsburgh basis appears to be the minimum on new business. Plates are obtainable in the East on a 1.80c., Pittsburgh basis, though the price is 1.90c. in the Central West.

Ingot output in the Pittsburgh and nearby districts is now close to 70% of capacity, against 65 one week ago and 60 two weeks ago. The general average of finishing mill operations is fully 70%. On Nov. 1 there were 73 blast furnaces in production in the district, and to-day 78. Another blast furnace has gone in at South Chicago and steel output there has advanced to a 75% rte, while a large Chicago district independent steel mill still remains on an 80% basis.

The railroad program of additions and betterments is indicated by the purchase by the Santa Fe of 85,600 tons of rails and 25,000 tons of bridge work. For railroad shop work 10,000 tons of steel has been bought. The Chicago & North Western has ordered 3,200 freight cars, taking 39,000 tons of steel. The Southern Pacific is expected to buy some 15,000 cars

The buoyancy of building activity, hastened possibly by the stronger tone of the steel market, is shown in the week's awards of over 85,000 tons of fabricated steel, the largest weekly total reported this year. Fresh inquiries call for over 42,000 tons.

Pig iron sales in the past week have amounted to fully 250,000 tons, making a total since Nov. 1 of over one million and a quarter tons. In the latest selling Chicago was in the lead with about 125,000 tons, while Cleveland sales were 50,000 tons and those in New York about 40,000 tons. Prices have advanced $1 on foundry, malleable and basic grades at Pittsburgh, and 50c. on Bessemer, while in Chicago, Buffalo and eastern Pennsylvania the market is much stronger and advances of 50c. to $1 have been recorded. An advance of $1 on charcoal iron is expected within a few days.

Sharp advances in quotations on European iron have to a large extent relieved the anxiety of domestic producers in regard to competition from abroad.

Current prices of sheet bars and billets have been extended to cover first quarter sales. Between 30,000 and 40,000 tons, mostly sheet bars, were booked in Cleveland, some subject to prices at time of shipment.

Following the increase in soft steel bats, bar iron in Chicago has actually been cut, apparently as a move to build up a backlog while the trade is taking the measure of the steel advance.

Mill purchases of heavy melting steel have brought about advances as high as $1 50 a ton .

Closer competition is indicated in railroad spikes by the makers' utilizing about as many basing points as there are spike-making centres. Thus it is expected that divergence in delivered prices will be narrowed by eliminating from estimates complex freight calculations.

Welsh tin plate mills, the outstanding active branch of the British steel industry, but for some time exporting on consignment in seeking consumers, have caught up on consumption and are now working short time or closing down.

Continental pig iron is unobtainable before January shipment and for semi-finished steel February is the earliest shipment date.

Both of the "Iron Age" composite prices advanced this week, pig iron going from $19 88 to $20 54 a ton, a new high level for the second half-year, and finished steel rising from 2.474c. to 2.517c. a lb., the highest point since mid-August. Both are still well below last year's level.

The weekly composite price table is as follows:

Nov. 25 1924, Finished Steel, 2.517c. per Pound

Based on prices of steel bars, beams, tank plates, plain wire, open-hearth rails, black pipe and black sheets. These products constitute 88% of the United States output of finished steel.	Nov. 18 1924	2.474c.
	Oct. 28 1924	2.460c.
	Nov. 27 1923	2.775c.

	Oct. 28 1924	19 46
	Nov. 27 1923	21 86
	10-year pre-war average	15 72

Finished steel 1924 to date: High, 2.789c., Jan. 15; low, 2.460c., Oct. 14; high, 2.824c., April 24; low, 2.446c., Jan. 2. Pig iron 1924 to date: High, $22 88, Feb. 26; low, $19 21, Nov. 3; 1923, high, $30 86, March 20; low, $20 77, Nov. 20.

Demands for steel for definite undertakings are increasingly heavy, giving the market the appearance of growing fundamental strength, declares the "Iron Trade Review" of Nov. 27, and then continues as follows:

The numerous releases of these requirements indicate that the present time and outlook are regarded favorably for going forward with various enterprises, some of which long since have been under consideration. This phase of the market's development has followed closely the recent active covering of iron and steel supplies for future delivery by all classes of buyers.

Steelworks and finishing mill operations again are working higher. Chicago leads the way with 75 to 80% of ingot capacity engaged. At Pittsburgh the week's record shows 65 to 70%, and in Youngstown territory, 70%.

Steel construction awards have had a record-breaking week, reaching an aggregate of 94,000 tons. The best previous week was 56,000 tons. Bridge work has been the big item with the Santa Fe placing 25,000 tons and the Alaskan Northern 3,650 tons. Other railroad awards totaled 10,000 tons of which 6,370 tons were for Illinois Central shops. Among the other larger contracts was 7,500 tons for a jewelers' building at Chicago. Of much new work put out, 19,000 tons for a Pittsburgh public bridge and 14,200 tons for a Chicago market house are notable.

Apart from the heavy requirements of bridge work, the railroads steadily are absorbing steel in large tonnages. Award this week by the Chicago North Western of 3,200 cars calls for 40,000 tons. Prospective orders for 15,000 cars for the Southern Pacific and Union Pacific involve 150,000 tons. The Pennsylvania is to come out soon for 150,000 to 200,000 tons of rails. The Santa Fe has placed 85,600 tons of rails and at Chicago 30,000 tons of track fastenings was closed.

With the domestic market on a higher basis, selling of foreign pig iron along the Atlantic Coast is increasing. At New York 10,000 tons of German iron has been sold the past week and a liberal amount of Dutch, Indian and French grades also has been placed there and in New England. English low phosphorous iron again is selling in the Philadelphia market. Recent pig iron buying, as it has further devloped, has been the heaviest to all indications since 1920. Its total may reach 1,500,000 tons. While the sweeping activity has subsided because most consumers now have their requirements well in hand to April 1, not less than 250,000 to 300,000 tons additional was placed on furnace books in the week. This included 125,000 tons by Cleveland sellers, 70,000 tons in New York and New England and considerable amounts at Pittsburgh, Chicago, Philadelphia and in the South. Prices have strengthened 50 cents to $1 further this week. Along the lakes $21 now is minimum. Basic has been sold at $20 50 valley.

More price advances of finished steel hae come out this week. Wire products have been put up $2 per ton by all mills. The leading producer has raised black sheets $2 per ton and galvanized and automobile sheets $3 per ton for first quarter delivery. Tin plate prices announced for first half are unchanged but terne plate is up 60 cents to $1 per box. Because the well-filled order books of Chicago mills now prevent prompt deliveries, Pittsburgh sellers are able to quote higher prices to that territory.

For the third consecutive week, "Iron Trade Review" composite of 14 leading iron and steel products has advanced. The week's index is $39 46. Last week it was $39 21 and four weeks ago $38 61.

With few exceptions buyers have been able to cover their contemplated steel needs well toward April 1 at the old and lower level of prices. Some of these protections still are being taken up. Consequently, the new prices remain to be tested by actual sales. The effect of the advances, however, has been to put a heavy tonnage of orders on mill books during the past two weeks, users obligating themselves against visible and prospective necessities

Cable reports this week tell of signatures having been affixed to the reorganized German raw steel union. The agreement provides that finished steel output should be curtailed 20% and semi-finished 10% of full capacity.

Over 4,000,000 Pounds of Copper Consumed in Photo-Engraving and Electro-Typing Industries.

More than 4,000,000 pounds of copper are annually consumed in the photo-engraving and electro-typing industries, according to a survey just completed by the Copper & Brass Research Association. The latter under date of Nov. 21 says:

The attention given to magazines and newspapers to-day has not been exceeded in any other period in history; pictures and illustrations were never more popular. The last few years have witnessed the inception and wide circulation of the tabloid newspaper, with its pages of photos and illustrations, and with this and other developments in the publishing field, the consumption of copper has increased proportionately.

At the present rate of consumption, between 2,500,000 and 3,000,000 pounds of copper are used each year in the manufacture of photo-engravings while more than 1,300,000 pounds go into the making of electro-types.

Monthly Zinc Statistics—Further Fall in Stocks During October.

Stocks of zinc in the country declined 7,268 tons during October, according to figures supplied by the American Zinc Institute. At the end of last month the surplus amounted to 38,452 tons, as compared with 45,720 tons at the end of September and 50,922 tons on Aug. 31. At the corresponding period in 1923, however, stocks were as low as 25,787 tons. Production, on the other hand, increased in October by 1,636 tons, the comparative figures for September and October being 40,852 and 42,488, respectively, while for August 41,775 tons were produced, and 42,098 in October of last year. The larger production was more than compensated by an expansion in shipment tonnage, which, at 49,756 tons, was 3,702 ahead of the September total, and compared with 43,558 tons for August and only 39,204 tons for October 1923.

A feature of the figures issued since May of this year has been the growth in the amount of zinc shipped from plants for export—8,299 tons during October constitutes the high point for the year, and compares with 5,640 tons in September, 6,743 in August, 7,483 in July, 4,317 in June and 1,732 in May. The figures for October 1923 was 4,978.

At a meeting of the board of directors the following officers were elected:

President, R. L. Agassiz	Vice-President, U. T. Hungerford
Vice-President, C. F. Kelley	Treasurer, Stephen Birch
Vice-President, F. S. Chase	Secretary, George A. Sloan
Vice-President, Walter Douglas	Manager, William A. Willis
Vice-President, H. J. Rowland

Following the meeting R. L. Agassiz, President of the Association, issued the following statement:

Domestic deliveries of copper during the first nine months of the year amounted to 1,156,000,000 pounds, which, with consumption going on at the present rate, means a total for the year of approximately 1,600,000,000 pounds. These figures represent refinery deliveries and take no cognizance of the very large consumption of secondary or scrap copper during the year. The domestic consumption in 1923 was about 1,470,000,000 pounds, so it will be seen that not only has the record consumption of 1923 been maintained during the current year, but even substantially increased in volume.

The domestic industries showing the largest increased uses of copper, brass and bronze are the electrical and building fields. The former consumed about 25% more metal than in 1923, while there was an approximate increase of 12% used in building construction.

In the building field the use of brass pipe has shown a very large gain over that of any previous year. To date there has been more than a 30% increase over the first ten months of 1923, and this ratio will, I believe, be maintained during the remainder of the year. There also has been a large increase in the use of copper for leaders, gutters and downspouts, copper roofing, and in the use of brass and bronze hardware fixtures.

Refinery exports of copper during the year should be more than 1,000,000,000 lbs. During the first nine months of the year exports were in excess of 815,000,000 lbs. as against total refinery exports during 1923 of about 844,000,000 lbs. The pre-war average was close to 800,000,000 lbs., so it will be seen that in spite of the chaotic conditions of affairs in Europe during the greater part of the year, there has been a substantially increased foreign business for American producers. If Europe had gone ahead in copper consumption at anything like the rate maintained in the United States, exports would have reached a huge figure.

With the working out of the Dawes plan I believe conditions abroad will show marked improvement and that copper exports during 1925 will be even greater than the figures show for 1924, in spite of the fact that this is a record year in this field.

Because of the excellent prospects for increased foreign business, and because there is nothing to indicate any falling off in domestic concumption, I believe the outlook for the copper industry is most encouraging. There is in this country to-day a much better understanding of copper and its uses. This has been brought about in the main by the educational work of the Association, a work which will be continued through 1925.

A New High Level in Portland Cement Shipments in October.

The following tables, prepared under the direction of Ernest F. Burchard of the Geological Survey and covering the month of October, are based on the reports of producers of Portland cement, though estimates had to be made in the case of three plants because of the lack of returns from those plants. Production and shipments were nearly at the same rate as in September; shipments, however, in Oct. it is well enough to note, reached a new high level. Stocks decreased considerably but are 33% higher than in October 1923.

The following figures, also the work of the Geological Survey, show shipments from Portland cement mills distributed among the States to which cement was shipped during July and August 1924. The interesting announcement is made that it is planned to publish in succeeding issues of this report similar figures for succeeding months and also for the preceding months back to October 1923, which is as far back as these figures are available.

Weekly Lumber Review of West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

One hundred and sixteen mills reporting to the association for the week ending Nov. 15 manufactured 92,759,286 feet of lumber; sold 84,550,963 feet, and shipped 71,687,206 feet. New business was 9% below production. Shipments were 15% below new business.

Forty per cent of all new business taken during the week was for future water delivery. This amounted to 33,401,263 feet, of which 23,543,730 feet was for domestic cargo delivery; and 9,857,533 feet export. New business by rail amounted to 1,554 cars.

Thirty-six per cent of the lumber shipments moved by water. This amounted to 26,057,506 feet, of which 16,292,212 feet moved coastwise and intercoastal and 9,765,294 feet export. Rail shipments totaled 1,370 cars.

Local auto and team deliveries totaled 4,529,700 feet.

Unfilled domestic cargo orders totaled 149,388,802 feet. Unfilled export orders 72,612,104 feet. Unfilled rail trade orders 3,196 cars.

In the 46 weeks of the year, production reported to West Coast Lumbermen's Association has been 4,298,886,246 feet; new business 4,284,330,591 feet, and shipments 4,399,059,493 feet.

Anthracite Trade Shows Slightly Greater Activity—Bituminous Output Improved.

According to the "Coal Trade Journal," the past week has shown slightly gr ater activity on the part of the country's bituminous markets. There has been a stiffening of prices, increase in inquiries and also in demand. In fact, it is "among those present" in "Bradstreets," which reports "coal better, with soft coal screen.ngs scarc r." The"Coal Trade Journal" adds:

The local New York market, however, has shown no excitement. Industrial inquiries were numerous, but spot buying for present requirements was all that resulted. Prices were firm. The Chicago market was unsettled, with screenings in better position on account of scarcity and changeable weather keeping domestic demand down. Prices, however, strengthened in nearly all fields. The end of distress tonnage in Boston brought firmer tidewater prices. Spot demand continued light, but next year's business is interesting buyers and some of it has already been closed. Reports from Philadelphia were not so encouraging, the bituminous market remaining dull. In Pittsburgh there was an increase in industrial demand, but buying continued cautious. There was little doing in Buffalo, or in St. Louis. Superior-Duluth trade was active. Shipments from docks were the heaviest of the year with consumers pressing for supplies. Markets were firm. The demand for Pocahontas as an anthracite substitute continued to increase. Buyers in Baltimore have not yet responded to the betterment in general business conditions. Columbus reports a featureless market. New Jersey, owing to colder weather, showed more activity. In Detroit consumers of bituminous bought irregularly and in small lots. Other centers continued about the same as for the preceding week.

Soft coal production improved for the second week in November, according to the Geological Survey, but the total output was curtailed by the observance of Armistice Day. The total is estimated at 10,122,000 net tons. This is an increase of 791,000 tons or approximately 9%, compared with the corresponding week in 1923 there was an increase of 4%. So the production of bituminous for the first 270 working days of 1924 was 402,979,000 net tons. This is some 16,000,000 tons behind that of the year 1919, when the output was curtailed through a temporary business depression in the early part of that year, and 82,000,000 tons behind that of 1923. There would hardly seem to be any danger of over-production.

The anthracite market remained quiet. The weather has had much to do with this, for while it started out like real winter, the thermometer climbed up again before heavy clothing had lost its odor of mothballs. Dealers in the local New York market are still heavily stocked and have stopped buying. In Boston the retail market improved perceptibly, but this improvement was not reflected in the wholesale market. The same condition, in fact, prevailed in other anthracite markets. Philadelphia and Buffalo reporting a quickening of demand during the cold spell, which dropped off as soon as milder weather again set in. Prices, however, remained firm and it was felt that good business was only a few days away.

The "Coal Age," in its report on Nov. 27, says:

A partial sop to the justly disgruntled coal trade came along last week in the guise of a blast of rough weather, but—the usual insect in the salve—while it was unusually severe, it didn't last long enough. Therefore, although there was a sudden revival of interest in coal it subsided almost as quickly as it appeared and conditions resumed the listless aspect that had been in evidence for several weeks. The paradoxical wish of the coal industry still is for more weather—the worse the better. And unless a stretch of seasonable temperature puts in an appearance soon the producer will be up against it harder than ever, with the end of the Lake season close at hand and heavy tonnage to be deflected into other channels.

The era of prosperity expected to follow on the heels of the election has thus far fallen far short of prognostications. Though surveys of industrial conditions indicate an improvement, the pickup has not yet been sufficiently general—being quite spotty, in fact—to give the impetus to business expansion that would pull the coal trade out of the rut. As New England industries have been conspicuously sluggish for some months, more than ordinary interest attaches to the resumption of operations this week on full time by one of the large Fall River textile plants.

Coal Production Remains at About Same Level, Despite Observance of Armistice Day.

The production of bituminous coal reached the level of 10,122,000 tons during the week ended Nov. 15, while the anthracite output was 1,674,000 tons, in spite of the observance of Armistice Day in many of the fields. Coke production rose to 152,000 tons, an increase of 12,000 tons during the same period, according to the weekly report of the U. S. Geological Survey, from which we add the following extracts:

The average daily rate of soft coal production improved perceptibly in the second week of November, but the total output was curtailed by the celebration of Armistice Day. The total output is now estimated at 10,122,000 net tons, an increase of 791,000 tons, or approximately 9%. Compared with the corresponding week of 1923 there was an increase of 4%.

The occurrence of a holiday makes it difficult to compute the average production per working day. The daily reports of loadings now indicate that Armistice Day counted as 60% of a normal day, as against about 50% in 1923. On the basis of 5.6 working days, the average daily production was 1,808,000 tons.

a Revised since last report. b Subject to revision. c Minus one day's production in January to equalize number of days in the two years.

Production of soft coal during the first 270 working days of the calendar year 1924 was 402,979,000 net tons. In the six preceding years it was as follows:

Years of Activity.		Years of Depression.
1918	518,133,000 net tons	1919	418,956,000 net tons
1923	485,268,000 net tons	1922	354,493,000 net tons

Thus it is seen that in point of soft coal production 1924 stands far behind each of the years of activity, and is considerably behind 1919, when the output was curtailed through a temporary business depression in the early part of the year.

ANTHRACITE.

The succession of holidays affecting the production of anthracite at this season of the year continued into the week ended Nov. 15, with the occurrence of Armistice Day, and the total output in that week is estimated at 1,674,000 net tons. Compared with the preceding week, which included two holidays, one of which is not universally observed, this was an increase of 82,000 tons. Production during the five working days was at a weekly rate of approximately 2,000,000 tons.

BEEHIVE COKE.

The production of beehive coke recovered promptly in the week ended Nov. 15. Estimates based on the number of cars of coke shipped place the total output at 152,000 net tons, an increase of 12,000 tons over the record of the preceding holiday week. This is the highest mark reached since the latter part of May. The improvement was centred in the Eastern producing districts and in the Rocky Mountain and Pacific Coast States there were slight decreases.

According to the Connellsville "Courier," production in the Connellsville region increased from 86,720 to 91,500 tons. The "Courier" further stated that 475 additional ovens were put in blast.

Cumulative production of beehive coke during 1924 to Nov. 15 stood at 8,453,000 net tons. Figures for similar periods in earlier years are as follows:

1920	18,600,000 net tons	1922	6,297,000 net tons

Production of Coal in October.

The following table prepared by the United States Geological Survey presents the best figures now available on the production of coal in October and during the first ten months of 1924, with comparative figures for the eleven preceding years. In studying these figures it should be remembered, it is pointed out, that the figures for 1923 and 1924 are estimates based on preliminary reports of cars loaded and are subject to revision upon completion of the final annual figures as reported by the operators. The figures in the table for years prior to 1923 have been revised and now stand as final. Experience has shown that the margin of error in the estimated annual totals has usually been in the neighborhood of 2%, but that in years of unusual depression or activity, or in which important strikes occur, it might be as high as 3 or even 3.5%.

a Years of unusually large washery production. b Subject to revision.

If the October rate of output were maintained during the next two months, the total bituminous production for 1924 would be about 476,000,000 tons. In only five of the eleven years immediately preceding 1924 has production been that low. Examination of the table shows that up to the end of October, 1924 was:

12 million tons behind 1913	29 million tons ahead of 1914
31 million tons behind 1916	30 million tons ahead of 1915
78 million tons behind 1917	35 million tons ahead of 1921
113 million tons behind 1918	55 million tons ahead of 1922
27 million tons behind 1919
81 million tons behind 1923

Undoubtedly the principal factor in the reduced rate of output that has prevailed in 1924, says the Geological Survey, has been a curtailment of consumption attendant on decreased business activity. Up to September the decrease in production of coal had been greater than in consumption, and during the first eight months of the year consumers' reserves declined 15,000,000 tons. The trend of production in the last two months has been steadily upward, but the course of consumption is not actually known. It is therefore impossible at present to determine the adequacy of the present rate of production.

Production of Coke in October.

Continued improvement in the iron and steel market has carried with it the output of coke. The production of by-product coke for October was 2,899,000 net tons, against 2,543,000 tons in September. The daily rate of production during October was 93,525 tons, an increase of 10.3% over the September rate. The plants operated at 74.1% of capacity. Out of 75 plants now in existence in the country 68 were active and 7 idle, according to statistics furnished by the United States Geological Survey.

As forecast by the weekly returns of railroad shipments, the output of beehive coke also increased. The total for the month of October is placed at 631,000 tons, or 21.0% greater than the figure for September.

The total production of all coke in October thus reached 3,530,000 tons, the largest in any month since last May, when the depression suddenly affected the steel industry. In comparison with the monthly average of 4,748,000 tons during the record year 1923, however, the present rate of output still shows a decrease of 25.5%.

It is estimated that the by-product ovens consumed in October about 4,166,000 tons of coal and that the beehive ovens consumed 995,000 tons, a total of 5,161,000. In comparison with the month of July, when the recent depression reached its lowest point, the October rate of consumption shows an increase of 1,025,000 tons.

Trade Associations Still Multiplying.

The organization of commercial and trade enterprises into trade associations has assumed colossal proportions, says the National Industrial Conference Board. In connection with its studies of trade association activities, the board estimates there are between 800 and 1,000 trade associations of national or inter-State character in the United States. In arriving at this conclusion, it has been necessary to define the dividing line between trade associations and other types of voluntary organizations not conducted for profit. The latest list of commercial industrial organizations issued by the Department of Commerce, with which the board co-operated, contains, it is stated, slightly over 11,000 names and the present analysis of the board shows that about one-tenth of this number can be classified as true trade associations. Of the 11,000 organizations listed by the Department of Commerce, 1,500 were inter-State, national or international, 2,000 State, and 7,700 local organizations, and it is not feasible, remarks the board, to estimate on the basis of these figures the number of State and local trade organizations in existence. The board points out that chambers of commerce, merchants' associations and similar organizations constitute the vast majority of the organizations so listed and that many local organizations are only subsidiary units of larger associations and their inclusion in any estimate of the extent of trade organizations involves duplication.

In view of recent legislation touching upon the relation of Government business and the regulation of bsuiness by Government, this analysis of types of trade associations is an important feature of the board's attempt to clarify for the public and business community the present situation in the relation of trade co-operation and the Federal anti-trust policy. This report, the first of a series, deals primarily with the economic and legal limits of voluntary co-operation among trade competitors, and as trade associations have become recognized as a representative medium for ameliorating trade abuses and improving industrial activity, the definition of what is a true trade association is of vital interest to business.

Production, Orders and Stocks of Hosiery for September 1924.

The Department of Commerce on Nov. 6 gave out the following statistics of hosiery production, orders and stocks, according to returns received from 331 establishments representing 419 mills for the month of September 1924. Of this number 36 establishments reported no production during the month. The 331 establishments included in this statement produced approximately 70.5% of the total value of hosiery reported at the census of manufactures, 1921.

Rubber Goods Exports Larger than in 1923—Nine Months' Figures for 1924 Over Half a Million Dollars Better than for Same Period Last Year—Tire Exports Decrease in September.

Rubber products shipped from the United States for the first nine months of the present year reached figures of $30,248,084, and exceeded totals for the corresponding period of 1923 by $545,331, according to the Rubber Division of the Department of Commerce. With September registering exports valued at $3,292,441, as compared with $2,623,209 for the same month last year, and with shipments proceeding more steadily this year than last, when the closing months witnessed a severe contraction in exports, it is said to be safe to assume that 1924 total shipments will be well above those for 1923. Tire exports in September numbered 85,095 casings, 59,694 inner tubes and 7,311 solids, as compared with 109,584 casings, 101,781 tubes and 9,172 solids in August, a decline mostly due to normal seasonal trends. The average value per casing was $13 35 as compared to $12 57 in August and $12 92 in July, establishing a record high monthly unit value for 1924.

Record shipments of rubber boots, rubber belting and rubber toys played a large part in maintaining the rubber goods trade at its relatively high level. Exports of waterproof foot wear included 90,006 pairs of rubber boots, the highest for any month since January 1922, and 340,012 pairs of rubber shoes, a record exceeded only in the previous month, when 350,549 pairs were exported. Rubber belting exported in September amounted to 377,344 pounds, a record exceeded only once previously, in May 1923, when 385,175 pounds were shipped. The exports of rubber toys, balls and balloons consisted of 89,476 pounds valued at $90,016 a new high record for this year. Shipments of water bottles and syringes were also relatively high, as well as exports of rubber thread, while other classes of rubber goods experienced an average trade during September.

Domestic Exports of Meats and Fats Continues Smaller.

Domestic exports of meats and meat products for the month of October, as well as for the first ten months of this calendar year, continue smaller in volume when compared with the same periods of last year, according to a report issued by the Department of Commerce at Washington on Nov. 22. The average export value of meat and meat products shipped from the United States for the ten months' period ending October 1924, was 13.84 cents per pound, as compared with 14.53 cents per pound, the average value of these exports during the same period in 1923. The per unit value of these products for the first ten months of this year was greater by 0.18 cents per pound than their per unit value for the nine months' period ending September 1924, thus indicating higher average values for exports during October. As contrasted with meats and meat products, animal oils and fat exports from the United States for the first ten months of this year are practically equivalent to the exports of these products during the same period last year, but the value has increased more than three million dollars over their total export value for the first ten months of 1923. This is due to an increase in per unit value this year as compared with last year of 0.58 cents per pound. The average export value of this year was 12.55 cents per pound, as compared with 11.97 cents per pound, the average export value of these products during the first ten months of 1923.

Full details regarding the different items of meat products, as furnished by the Department of Commerce follow:

Stocks of wool in and afloat to the United States on Sept. 30 1924, including tops and noils, amounted to 391,248,485 lbs., grease equivalent, according to the quarterly joint wool stock report released Nov. 14 by the Bureau of the Census, United States Department of Commerce, and the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, United States Department of Agriculture. This report is based on returns from 592 manufacturers, secured by the Bureau of the Census and 394 dealers, secured by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. The totals are exclusive of stocks held by 29 manufacturers and 13 dealers who have not yet reported. The figures for June 30 1924 were given in our issue of Aug. 23 1924, p. 876. On Sept. 30 1924 the stocks, by condition, consisted of 262,283,502 lbs. of grease wool; 27,709,229 lbs. of scoured wool; 14,222,462 lbs. of pulled wool; 20,431,111 lbs. of tops; and 6,860,510 lbs. of noils. Dealers held 152,972,257 lbs. and manufacturers 151,252,936 lbs. of raw wool. The figures "held by dealers" represents wool in their possession in the form of st cks owned by them or lots held by them awaiting delivery instructions, and wool owned by them which is in warehouses. Stocks of wool held by wool pools and wool-growers' selling organizations are also included in "held by dealers" figures. Of the total amount of raw wool reported, 61% was domestic and 39% was foreign. Of the raw wool reported, 29.3% was fine; 13.1%, ½-blood; 15.7%, ⅜-blood; 15.4%, ¼-blood; 5.7%, lower grades; 20.8%, carpet. (These percentages are based on the total amount of classified wool reported.) The item "grade not stated," consisting of 28,116,154 lbs., constitutes either wool in orginal bags, or ungraded or mixed wool upon which the concerns reporting could not accurately specify grade. A summary of the holdings on Sept. 30 1924 and June 30 1924 follows:

Analysis of Imports and Exports of the United States for October.

The Department of Commerce at Washington on Nov. 25 issued its analysis of the foreign trade of the United States for the month of October and the ten months ending with October. This statement enables one to see how much of the merchandise imports and exports for 1924 and 1923 consisted of crude materials, and how much of manufactures, and in what state, and how much of foodstuffs and whether crude or partly or wholly manufactured. The following is the report in full:

Grain Exports During October Very Heavy.

The value of the grains and grain preparations exported from this country during the past ten months (January-October) is greater than that of the corresponding period of last year by over $51,000,000, says the Department of Commerce in reporting the figures. Last month's report showed the value of these exports during nine months (January-September) to be over $30,000,000 less than for the same nine months of 1923. The shipments during October this year having a value of nearly 82 million dollars greater than for the corresponding month of last year, has brought the value of the exports for the ten months' period definitely above that of the same months of 1923.

The most notable increases during October 1924, as compared to October 1923, have been in the case of wheat, rye, barley, malt, oats and wheat flour, in the order named—the largest of these increases being wheat whose exports in October this year had a value of $58,038,000 more than those of last October. Other gains, but of a more modest nature, were made in the exports of corn ($272,000); bread, biscuits, etc. ($64,000); corn breakfast foods ($47,000); rice ($42,000); wheat breakfast foods ($40,000); "other grain preparations" ($14,000); macaroni ($9,000), and rye flour ($7,000). The value of the following grain preparations exported during October 1924 was less than in October 1923: Cereal breakfast foods, n. e. s. ($90,000); rice flour, meal and broken rice ($50,000); oatmeal ($30,000); cornmeal and flour ($17,000). The statement then goes on to say:

For the ten months' period of 1924 the value of the exports was greater than the corresponding period of 1923 by the following amounts: In the case of wheat, by $58,380,000; rye, $9,161,000; barley, $5,572,000; malt, $3,078,000; rye flour, $719,000; wheat flour, $466,000; biscuits, $217,000; wheat breakfast foods, $174,000; corn breakfast foods, $140,000; "other grain preparations," $187,000; oats, $79,000; macaroni, $42,000, and buckwheat, $23,000. The value of the exports of the following commodities was less during the ten months of this year than for the same period of last year by these amounts: Corn, $17,712,000; rice, $5,688,000; oatmeal, $1,723,000; rice meal and broken rice, $529,000; corn meal and flour, $450,000; cereal breakfast foods, $331,000; hominy and grits, $313,000; buckwheat flour, $10,000.

The volume of the exports of the above-named commodities during October this year was greater than during October last year as follows: Wheat, 35,874,000 bushels; rye, 10,399,000 bushels; barley, 3,892,000 bushels; malt, 2,064,000 bushels; oats, 1,794,000 bushels. Other slight gains were made in the case of corn, rice, biscuits, macaroni, other wheat preparations for table use, corn breakfast foods.

Losses are noted in the case of oatmeal to the extent of 4,169,000 pounds; rice flour and broken rice, 3,126,000 pounds; hominy and grits, 303,000 pounds; cereal breakfast foods, n. e. s., 510,000 pounds, and flour, 220,000 barrels.

For the ten months' period of this year, the most notable gains, as compared to the same period last year, were as follows: Wheat, 31,229,000 bushels; rye, 3,963,000 bushels; malt, 2,787,000 bushels; barley, 2,060,000 bushels; "other grain preparations," 6,144,000 pounds; other wheat preparations for table use, 2,461,000 pounds; biscuits, 1,660,000 pounds; corn breakfast foods, 1,560,000 pounds.

The most notable losses during the past ten months, as compared to the same ten months of 1923 are as follows: Rice, 164,347,000 pounds; corn, 22,111,000 bushels; oatmeal, 60,511,000 pounds; rice flour and broken rice, 26,612,000 pounds; hominy and grits, 20,019,000 pounds.

As a result of the tremendous quantities of grains, particularly wheat, rye, barley, malt and oats, exported during October, the record of the past ten months exceeds by far that of the same period of 1923.

The average export price per unit of all these commodities exported during the past ten months is higher than that of the same period last year in every case except for wheat flour, rye flour, biscuits, buckwheat and "other wheat preparations for table use." The average export price per unit of wheat and rye flour, biscuits and "other wheat preparations for table use" exported during October this year is greater than that prevailing in October 1293. For example, the average price per barrel of wheat flour exported last month was $6 30, while that for October 1923 was $5 17. Rye flour per barrel advanced from $4 28 in October 1923 to $5 76 in October 1924.

Summary.

The volume of exports of grains and grain preparations and the value of the same were far greater during the ten months, January-October 1924 than for the same period of 1923. The exports of bread grains have shown gains over last year's shipments. To a lesser extent the same is true of the coarse grains (excepting corn) and malt. On the other hand the exports of the chief preparations of grains as well as of rice show losses of a serious nature. This is especially true of rice flour and meal, oatmeal and hominy grits.

Rising Exchange Continues to Affect India's Trade—Legislature Abolishes Cotton Excise Duty.

The outstanding features of the political situation in India include the adoption by the Legislative Assembly of the resolution abolishing the cotton excise duty and another authorizing a unity conference for bettering Hindu-Mohammmedan relations, according to cable to the Department of Commerce from Trade Commissioner Miller at Bombay. Manufacturers of steel in India are realizing that the benefits which they expected from the recent protection legislation are being neutralized to a large extent by the rapid rise in exchange. Greatly increased imports of certain kinds of steel are also seriously affecting the industry in India and the Indian Government is being urged to raise the duty on steel. The continued brisk demand to meet the jute market requirements in Calcutta are being met largely by heavy sales of sterling remitted to the Government by banks. The acuteness of the money situation is resulting in investments in only liquid securities.

The assured success of the monsoon has made the agricultural outlook satisfactory regardless of sectional damage caused by floods. The cotton market is steady with improved good demand but bazaar undertone is bearish. Estimated total cotton production is 5,057,000 bales. Bombay cotton stocks Oct. 9 amounted to 343,000 bales and mill consumption Sept. 1 to Oct. 9, totaled 29,000 bales. Oct. 3 quotation for machines ginned broach 502 rupees 8 annas. The piece goods market is weak and Bombay stocks small with average weekly Bombay pride 1.375 Sept. 18 to 25, and 1.359 from Sept. 25 to Oct. 18. Jute production for year estimated to be 8,045,000 bales and the market is firm and steadily improving. The shellac market is healthy and broadening although inquiries are confined to certain qualities. Linseed prices were sustained during the month. Hides and leather market was firm but quiet and tea prices were slightly higher with Persian buyers quiet but others keen. Rangoon rice prices show little variation with paddy prospects good but little recent business in "big mills specials."

Imports of cheaper grades of automobiles are increasing and are to continue, but medium and highpriced cars lack inquiries while the market is still influenced by accumulated stocks. Some cement mills have shut down and the industry is stagnant. Output of the Bawdin mines amounted to 20,060 tons of ore and the Mysore gold output for the past year of five mines, was 428,573 fine ounces.

Domestic Exports of Canned and Dried Foods.

As the year draws to a close, statistics just released by the Department of Commerce show a most satisfactory condition in the country's export trade of canned and tried fruits. With the single exception of canned beef, so far this year, exports have been above those for the same period of 1923 in value and volume. Some of the changes are very large, and are of interest. The most active export period for these products are the closing months of the year, so that, if there are no radical political or economic changes abroad, we may expect to see, it is stated, a record year in this field. Canned salmon exports are within four million pounds of the total exports of 1923 and canned sardines about six million pounds in excess of the preceding year's totals. Canned fruit exports are already about 15% above those of 1923, while dried fruits are over 130% above last year's exports. Among the dried fruits the prune exports are most interesting. In October alone more than 50% of the preceding year's exports were shipped from this country. Raisins also are showing increases, as in past years. The exports through October are almost equal to those for the whole preceding year.

The improvement of the export trade of this year in these food products can be attributed largely to the improvement in the German and English markets. Comparative figures follow:

Current Events and Discussions

The Week With the Federal Reserve Banks.

The consolidated statement of condition of the Federal Reserve banks on Nov. 26, made public by the Federal Reserve Board, and which deals with the results for the twelve Federal Reserve banks combined, shows a decline of $12,400,000 in holdings of discounted bills and of $4,900,000 in Government securities, together with an increase of $5,800,000 in holdings of acceptances purchased in open market. Total earning assets went down $11,500,000, deposits $67,700,000, cash reserves $9,300,000 and non-reserve cash $8,700,000, while Federal Reserve note circulation increased $21,800,000. After noting these facts, the Federal Reserve Board proceeds as follows:

A decline of $15,300,000 in holdings of discounted bills is shown for the New York Reserve bank, and of $2,00,0000 and $1,800,000, respectively, for the Richmond and St. Louis banks. The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston reports an increase of $2,C00,000 in its discount holdings for the week and Cleveland an increase of $1,900,000, while the remaining banks show smaller changes for the week. Holdings of paper secured by U. S. Government obligations increased by $11,500,000 to $96,200,000. An increase of $3,200,000 in holdings of acceptances purchased in open market is shown for the Boston Reserve bank, and $2,500,000 for Philadelphia, while the Chicago bank shows a decline of $3,600,000. The system's holdings of Treasury notes declined by $7,500,000, while holdings of certificates increased by $2,600,000 and those of United States bonds remained unchanged.

Increases of $9,400,000 and $8,600,000 in Federal Reserve note circulation were reported by the Philadelphia and New York Reserve banks, respectively, the Cleveland bank shows an increase of $3,900,000, and Boston an increase of $2,200,000. The remaining banks show smaller changes in Federal Reserve note circulation for the week.

The statement in full, in comparison with the preceding week and with the corresponding week last year, will be found on subsequent pages, namely, pages 2505 and 2506. A summary of the changes in the principal assets and liabilities of the Reserve banks during the week and the year ending Nov. 26 1924 follows:

The Week with the Member Banks of the Federal Reserve System.

Decrease of $48,000,000 in loans and discounts and of $180,000,000 in net demand and Government deposits, and increases of $58,000,000 in investments, of $39,000,000 in time deposits, and of $51,000,000 in reserve balances, are shown in the Federal Reserve Board's weekly consolidated statement of condition on Nov. 19 of 743 members banks in leading cities. It should be noted that the figures for these member banks are always a week behind those for the Reserve banks themselves. All classes of loans show reductions for the week, loans on U. S. Government securities by $3,000,000, loans on corporate securities by $21,000,000 and "all other," largely commercial, loans and discounts by $24,000,000. Holdings of U. S. bonds went up 423,000,000, U. S. Treasury notes $18,000,000, U. S. certificates of indebtedness $11,000,000 and corporate securities $6,000,000.

Loans and discounts of the New York City banks aggregated $17,000,000 less than a week earlier. Loans on U. S. Government securities went down $3,000,000, loans on corporate securities $6,000,000, and "all other" loans and discounts $8,000,000. Their investments show increases as follows: U. S. bonds $12,000,000, U. S. Treasury notes $15,000,000, U. S. certificates of indebtedness $9,000,000, and corporate securities $2,000,000. Further comment regarding the changes shown by these member banks is as follows:

Of the total decline of $152,000,000 in net demand deposits, $42,000,000 was reported for the New York district, $39,000,000 for the Cleveland district, $25,000,000 for the San Francisco district and $23,000,000 for the Chicago district. Time deposits went up $37,000,000 in the New York district and $16,000,000 in the Chicago district and declined $13,000,000 in the San Francisco district. Net withdrawals of Government deposits aggregated $28,000,000, of which $5,000,000 was reported by the New York City banks.

Reserve balances were increased $51,000,000 at all reporting banks, while holdings of cash declined by $20,000,000. The New York City members report an increase of $11,000,000 in reserve balances and a reduction of $3,000,000 in cash.

Borrowings of all reporting institutions from the Federal Reserve banks increased from $72,000,000 to $82,000,000. Like borrowings of the New York City banks increased from $7,000,000 to $28,000,000. Return of J. P. Morgan.

J. P. Morgan returned to his office this week, following his return from Europe on the steamer Berengaria, which docked at West 14th Street last Saturday at 6 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Morgan were taken off at quarantine by their sons in a tugboat which landed them at the New York Yacht Club pier, East 24th Street. Mr. Morgan's return from abroad was hastened because of his mother's illness; her death, before Mr. Morgan's arrival, was noted in our issue of a week ago, page 2368. The funeral services at St. George's Church and the burial at Hartford had been delayed until Sunday last, pending Mr. Morgan's arrival.

Successful Flotation of French Government Bonds in United States.

The ready response made to last month's offering of German bonds in the American market was duplicated this week when the $100,000,000 twenty-five year sinking fund 7% gold bonds of the Government of the French Republic (external loan of 1924) were offered by a syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. in association with the First National Bank of New York, the National City Company and Brown Bros. & Co. The bonds, oversubscribed nearly four times, it is estimated, were quickly placed, subscription books having been closed less than an hour after their opening at 10 a. m. on Nonday, Nov. 24. The negotiations for the floating of the loan were completed in Paris only a week ago between the Morgan interests and French Finance Ninister Clementel, following which (on Nov. 21) the French Senate and Chamber of Deputies approved the bill providing for the loan. In another item in this issue we refer to the action of the French Parliament. The bonds were offered at 94% and accrued interest, to yield approximately 7.53% to maturity. The bonds will bear date Dec. 1 1924 and will become due Dec. 1 1949. They are not subject to redemption prior to maturity except for the sinking fund. As to this the official circular says:

In the loan contract pursuant to which these bonds are to be issued, the French Government covenants to pay as a sinking fund $4,200,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments beginning Jan. 1 1925, being sufficient to retire annually one-twenty-fifth of the entire issue at 105%. Such sinking fund payments are to be applied to the purchase of bonds, if obtainable at or below 105% and accrued interest, or if not so obtainable, to the redemption of bonds, called by lot, at 105% and accrued interest, such interest in either case to be paid otherwise than out of the sinking fund. The bonds are to be redeemable at said price for the sinking fund on Dec. 1 1925, or on Dec. 1 of any year thereafter prior to maturity.

The bonds will be in coupon form in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Principal and interest (June 1 and Dec. 1) will be payable in New York City at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co., in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction for any French taxes, present or future. According to a letter addressed to J. P. Morgan & Co. by M. Clementel, "the proceeds of the loan are to be applied to the reduction of the Government's indebtedness to the Bank of France, which will hold and use the proceeds as it may deem wise for the stabilization of the franc." In announcing on Nov. 23 the forthcoming loan, J. P. Morgan & Co. issued the following statement:

J. P. Morgan & Co. announce that they, in association with the First National Bank of New York, National City Company and Messrs. Brown Brothers & Co., are heading a syndicate to offer on Monday $100,000,000 Government of the French Republic 25-year 7% sinking fund gold bonds at 94% and accrued interest, to yield approximately 7.53%, without giving consideration to the operation of the sinking fund, which amounts to $4,200,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments beginning Jan. 1 1925, and being sufficient to retire annually one-twenty-fifth of the entire issue at 105%.

Finance Minister Clementel's letter to J. P. Morgan & Co. follows:

REPUBLIC OF FRANCE.
Office of the Minister of Finance.
Paris, November 22 1924.

Messrs. J. P. Morgan & Co.,
23 Wall Street, New York City.

Dear Sirs—In connection with your purchase of $100,000,000 Government of the French Republic external loan of 1924 25-year sinking fund 7% gold bonds, I beg to advise you as follows:

The proceeds of the loan are to be applied to the reduction of the Government's indebtedness to the Bank of France, which will hold and use the proceeds as it may deem wise for the protection and stabilization of the franc. The Government's indebtedness to the Bank has already been materially reduced since the peak of such borrowings, reached at the end of 1920.

Great progress has been made in diminishing the excess of budget expenditures over budget revenues and the proposed budget for 1925, as presented to and now under consideration by the Chamber of Deputies and Senate, indicates that the Government's program of accomplishing complete budget equilibrium will be realized in 1925. The following table shows in a striking way the progressive betterment of the budgetary situation:

	Expenditures.	Revenues.	Excess of Expenditures.
1919	35,345,000,000	11,586,000,000	23,759,000,000
1920	39,523,000,000	20,130,000,000	19,303,000,000
1921	35,603,000,000	22,840,000,000	12,763,000,000
1922	34,386,000,000	22,903,000,000	11,483,000,000
1923	32,583,000,000	24,200,000,000	8,383,000,000
1924 (estimate)	31,891,000,000	27,708,000,000	4,183,000,000
1925 (proposed budget)	33,195,000,000	33,203,000,000	Excess of Revenues. 8,000,000

In the foregoing figures of expenditures are included all of the annual charges of the State, comprising not only administrative expenses, but also war pensions and the service on all items of the public debt, contracted for reconstruction and for all other purposes. They further include important items of capital reconstruction expenditure (railways, canals, roads, etc.), carried directly in the State accounts, but do not include the capital reconstruction expenditure covered by Credit National and other special reconstruction loans contracted or to be contracted, the interest and amortization of which are, however, included in the above figures. The service charges include regular amortization of debt, which in the 1925 budget amounts to approximately Fcs. 850,000,000. The budget position has been materially aided by the return to productivity of the devastated regions of France, the fiscal receipts from which have increased steadily from Fcs. 964,000,000 in the year 1919 to Fcs. 2,372,000,000 for the first six months of 1924.

The plan of the First Committee of Experts (Dawes Plan), now in operation, provides for periodical payments to be made by Germany to the Agent General for reparation payments. The receipt by France of her share of these payments will enable the Government to accelerate the execution of its program of full financial rehabilitation and to proceed to the rapid amortization of the public debt.

The debt of the French Government, French cities and French railways, excluding inter-Allied debt, on Nov. 1 1924 aggregated only $697,500,000, converting other foreign currencies into dollars at current rates of exchange. The service charges on this debt total $46,160,000 per annum. The corresponding amounts as at June 30 1919, immediately after the signing of the treaty of peace, were $1,069,400,000 principal amount and $69,000,000 service charges. In addition, hte French Government is paying $20,367,000 annually to the United States Government, representing interest on the purchase price of the surplus war supplies left by the American armies in France.

To meet her requirements for foreign currencies, France has turned to the intensive development of her foreign trade. This effort has been most successful. During the years before the war the foreign trade of France normally resulted in an excess of merchandise imporst over exports, which was offset chiefly by the expenditures of tourists in France and by the income from French foreign investments. Since 1920 the excess of merchandise imports has greatly declined and in the first ten months of the current year has changed into a surplus of exports totaling approximately $73,000,000 at the current rate of exchange. This is exclusive of the important favorable balance resulting from such sources as tourists' expenditures and income from foreign investments.

The recent development of France's export trade is in large measure due to the return to productivity of the great industrial centres devastated during the war. For example, the average monthly production of coal, exclusive of Alsace-Lorraine, which in 1919 had declined to 48.5% of the 1913 production, has reached during the first nine months of the current year 96% of the 1913 monthly average. The output of iron ore, excluding the important production of Alsace-Lorraine, has more than doubled since the conclusion of peace. Similar progress has been made in the finished steel, textile and chemical industries.

Reconstruction of the devastated areas has been a heavy charge upon the resources of the French people, but the great bulk of this work has been done. This is evidenced by the fact that on July 1 1924 of 4,800 km. of railroad destroyed, only 100 km. remained to be rebuilt; of 23,000 factories destroyed only 2,000 remained to be rebuilt; of 742,000 houses destroyed, less than one-fifth remained to be replaced; and of the area rendered unfit for cultivation as a result of war damage, which at the time of the armistice covered 8,150,000 acres, all but 815,000 acres had been restored to productivity.

The improvement in the French economic situation since the armistice is shown, in a general way, by the improving results of operation of the railway systems. The average ratio of operating expenses to gross revenues of the six great railway systems, which in 1920 was 130%, has been steadily reduced to 91% in 1923, and to an estimated ratio of 78% for the current year.

It will be noted from the above that the foreign debt of France, excluding inter-Allied debt, has been materially reduced since the conclusion of peace, while great progress has been made in reconstruction, industrial productivity and foreign trade.

Yours very truly,

CLEMENTEL.

The new bonds were admitted to trading first on the New York Curb Market and later on the New York Stock Exchange on Monday on a "when, as and if issued basis," the high selling price of the day being 94¾. The amounts due on allotments will be payable at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. in New York funds to their order Dec. 9 1924. Temporary bonds or interim receipts, exchangeable for definitive bonds when prepared and received, will be delivered. Subscriptions to the loan have been scaled down to the extent of from 20 to 40% of the amount subscribed. Incidentally, we quote the following from the New York "Times" of Nov. 25:

The bankers in the syndicate made no extra effort, so far as could be seen, to "sell" the bonds. They sent out word that they had some French bonds for sale, without reference to their value or a recommendation as to their purchase, and orders from customers began coming in. And in keeping with this policy of seemingly reluctant salesmanship, the underwriting syndicate restricted the size of its selling organization to less than 900 firms as compared with more than 1,100 who participated in the German bond sale.

This policy was adopted because of the expectation that the bonds would find a ready market, and after the heavy over-subscription of the $110,000,000 German loan the underwriters did not want to be embarrassed with the problem of scaling down allotments. In the German deal allotments were trimmed to as low in some cases as 5% of the amount asked.

French loan allotments will also have to be pared down, but not so severely. This was indicated in the open market when to fill orders in excess of the amount of bonds awarded to them, bank buyers forced the market price up three-quarters of a point. In the German transaction the price ran up two to three points.

It is noted that with the extension of the present loan, the $100,000,000 credit advanced to the Bank of France in March for the stabilization of the franc will not be renewed at its expiration on Dec. 12.

Approval by French Parliament of French Loan Bill.

The floating in this country this week of the $100,000,000 bonds of the French Government, referred to elsewhere in this issue, followed the passage on Nov. 21 by the French Senate and Chamber of Deputies of the bill authorizing the loan. The bill was passed by the Chamber of Deputies by a vote of 535 to 29, while in the Senate the vote was unanimous, viz., 290 to 0. The Associated Press accounts from Paris on the 21st stated:

The Herriot Government was able to rush the loan bill through both Houses of Parliament in a few hours. The bill authorizes the borrowing of the $100,000,000 for a term of 25 years at 7% interest. The issue price of the loan will be 94.

There was much discussion of the measure, but opposition to it was confined to the Finance Committees of both Chambers. The open debate on the bill on the floors of the Senate and the Chamber was tame and subdued. The 29 votes cast against the bill in the Chamber came from Communist Deputies.

The reasons given by the Government for urgent need for prompt action on the bill were an effort to prevent speculation and a cable dispatch received from the Morgan interests saying the loan could be floated next Monday if Parliament ratified the agreement to-day.

Time Record Made in Big French Loan—Details for $100,000,000 Flotation Here Completed in 24 Hours.

The following is from the New York "Times" of Nov. 23:

What is believed to be a record in the time required for putting machinery into motion for a big international loan has been accomplished by the French Government and by American bankers, headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. Starting late Thursday night (New York time) the two parties to the loan negotiations began their work of arranging details and 24 hours later the French Cabinet and the French Parliament had approved of the loan text, and American banks had been organized into a nation-wide syndicate to handle a loan of $100,000,000 to be offered in this country to-morrow for the French Government's account.

It has seldom been the experience of American industrial and railroad companies to get new loans of only a fraction the size of the big French loan under way within less than two or three days. Domestic loans are regarded as simple arithmetic compared with trigonometry alongside the work of getting international Government loans under way.

While secrecy ordinarily is maintained concerning undertakings of this sort, bankers associated with J. P. Morgan & Co. were able yesterday to throw some light on the personalities figuring in the negotiations. In Paris the preliminary discussions were held by J. P. Morgan in behalf of the American underwriters with Premier Herriot and Finance Minister Clementel. Mr. Morgan had intended to remain in or near Paris until the loan contract was ready for signature, but the illness, and finally the death of his mother caused him to change his plans.

Details by Cable and Radio.

As a result, there was no Morgan partner on hand at the scene of negotiations in Paris. Instead, all details were worked out via cable from Paris to the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. here; and then, for confirmation, were sent by radio to Mr. Morgan, who throughout the negotiations was crossing on the Berengaria. George Whitney, one of the younger Morgan partners, shouldered the burden of arranging the syndicate, of keeping in touch with Finance Minister Clementel, and Mr. Morgan, and of sounding out the American investment market to select an opportune time for the offering.

British Conversion Plans Announced—£135,000,000 Exchequer Bonds 5¾% to Be Exchanged for 4½% Description.

From London, Nov. 17, the New York "Journal of Commerce" reported the following special cablegram:

Winston Churchill's first public action as Chancellor of the Exchequer has given satisfaction. His conversion scheme for £135,000,000 5¾% Exchequer bonds includes alternative offers, first, into 4½% conversion loan, reimbursible in 1944 at par, plus 2¼% cash, which will appeal to ordinary investors, and, second, into 4½% Treasury bonds redeemable in 1934, which can be repaid as early as February 1927, or in any subsequent February at one year's notice at the Government's or the holder's option.

This will be acceptable to banks and other professional dealers who hold the bulk of Exchequer bonds. The Government saves nearly £1,750,000 per annum in interest. The offers are to remain open until Dec. 6, and it is expected that no other important transaction will be permitted meanwhile. It is possible even that the Greek loan will be postponed.

Re-election of Montagu Norman as Governor of Bank of England Recommended.

The directors of the Bank of England have unanimously recommended that the proprietors re-elect Montagu Norman Governor of the bank for the coming year, this to make his sixth consecutive year in office. Such an honor is unprecedented, says an Associated Press cablegram from London, Nov. 14, which likewise states:

The Governorship is nominally limited to two years, a previous rare exception being Lord Cunliffe, who served five years.

While it is recognized that the directors have paid a high compliment to Mr. Norman, it is also pointed out that the post-war financial problems such as the funding of the British debt to America and participation in European reconstruction schemes, have made continuity of the Governorship almost a necessity. It is understood that the customary two-year limit will be resumed when the situation becomes normal.

Leonid Krassin Says Bank of England Allowed Soviets Credit of $88,000,000.

The Associated Press reported the following from Moscow, Nov. 20:

Leonid Krassin, who will leave next week for his new post as Soviet Ambassador to France, to-day told employes of the Commissariat of Foreign Trade that despite the refusal of the British Government to grant Russia a loan the Bank of England has allowed the Soviet Government credits amounting to $88,000,000.

Ambassador Krassin also said that the Government was carrying on extensive financial operations with other British and American banks. He predicted that next year's foreign trade would amount to approximately 1,000,000,000 gold rubles, even allowing for the non-export of grain. The Soviet Government, he said, would never yield in its policy of retaining a monopoly of foreign trade, no matter how many attempts were made abroad to obtain this control.

Experiment With a Mint in South Africa—to Coin Gold There, So as to Overcome Exchange Market Difficulties—Transvaal Gold Output.

Through a New York "Times" copyright cablegram from London, Nov. 22, it is learned that the experiment of minting gold in South Africa is being undertaken in order to secure a guide as to the cost of coining. These accounts add:

The test is being made, apparently, because of present exchange difficulties between England and South Africa. According to cables from Johannesburg, mines will send their gold to the mint when it pays them to do so.

This at present depends on a continuance of the present high exchange rate and a fall in the price of gold. If gold falls another two shillings per ounce and realization costs remain at current high figures of £3 8s. 9d. per ounce, the mines may decide to mint most of their gold. This would compel the banks to accept as many sovereigns as were offered to them.

They would, of course, get whatever premium existed on gold but it would cost them approximately 15 shillings per cent. to send it abroad and they would no longer credit themselves with exchange profit on gold. The excess of South Africa exports over imports and the consequent accumulation of big balances in London explains the difficult exchange position.

The Transvaal gold output in October was 827,523 ounces, or 28,163 ounces above September, and only 1,854 ounces below last July's 829,437, the district's high record. Actually the highest monthly output ever recorded was 830,723 ounces for March 1912, but that total included large reserves put in for the first time and therefore did not actually represent the month's output.

Purchase of Approximately $10,000,000 Stock of Deutsche Bank by Speyer & Co. and J. Henry Schroeder & Co. of London.

Cable advices received this week from Berlin announce that 40,000,000 gold mark shares (approximately $10,000,000) of the Deutsche Bank, Berlin, which this institution had at its disposal since the last increase of its capital, have been sold to J. Henry Schroeder & Co., London, and Speyer & Co., New York. At the office of Speyer & Co. the purchase of these shares was confirmed and it was stated that no decision had been arrived at as to whether and when the shares will be offered for public subscription in London and New York. The total capital of the Deutsche Bank now amounts to 150,000,000 gold marks, with reserves or surplus of 50,000,000 gold marks, or a total of about fifty million dollars. The New York "World" of Nov. 25, referring to the position of the Deutsche Bank, said:

The Deutsche Bank has now published its balance sheet per Jan. 1 1924, figured on a gold basis. The share capital is reduced (at the rate of ten old shares to one new share) to 150,000,000 gold marks. The new balance sheet shows a surplus of 50,000,000 gold marks, indicating a capital and surplus of 200,000,000 gold marks, equal to approximately $50,000,000. Its deposits figure in the balance sheet per Jan. 1 1924 at 349,288,000 gold marks ($85,000,000), and have since had a very appreciable growth.

The Deutsche Bank is Germany's foremost private bank, leading all others both as regards capital and reserves. The shares have of late had a substantial rise on the German stock exchanges and are now quoted at approximately 125.

The Deutsche Bank, which was organized in 1870 with a capital of 15,000,000 marks, has had remarkable development. At the outbreak of the World War its capital had grown to 250,000,000 marks, with reserves of approximately 160,000,000 marks, equal in the aggregate to over $100,000,000. It has paid dividends from the first year of operations, and every year thereafter except 1923; for the years 1909-1913, preceding the World War, dividends were paid at the rate of 12½%, and the shares sold as high as 250.

In its fifty-four years of existence the Deutsche Bank has contributed to a large extent to building up German trade, both domestic and foreign. Through merger with or acquisition of a controlling interest in a number of German provincial banks, it covers with its network of branch offices and affiliated banks practically every important city in Germany. It is closely connected with and represented on the boards of some of the largest industrial and shipping concerns in Germany. The German Overseas Bank (Deutsche Ueberseeische Bank), which the Deutsche Bank organized and in which it owns a controlling interest, has offices in the principal cities of South America and in Spain.

German Railways (Organized Under Dawes Plan) Obtain Large Credit in United States and England.

It was made known on Nov. 27 that an agreement has been entered into between the German State Railway Co. (organized in accordance with the Dawes plan) and a New York banking group composed of Speyer & Co., Chase Securities Corporation, Blair & Co., Inc., the Equitable Trust Co. of New York, Bank of the Manhattan Co. and J. Henry Schroder Banking Corporation and a London banking group headed by J. Henry Schroder & Co., under which the bankers grant to the railway company a credit of $15,000,000, of which amount about one-third will be in pounds sterling. The railway company will have the right to avail itself of this credit any time prior to Jan. 31 1926 if desired temporarily for additional working capital. In indicating that there would be no public offering, the following statement was issued:

In answer to inquiries, it was stated at the office of Speyer & Co. that no public offering of the $15,000,000 German railway credit could be made. It was explained that this business was suitable only for large banks and trust companies, a number of whom had already indicated their desire to participate. It is understood that the credit is to run for a little over a year with interest at 7% per annum.

The following information regarding the German railway system, summarized from the report made to the Dawes Commission by Sir William Acworth, English railway expert, and Monsieur G. Leverve, French railway expert, from the law giving effect to the railway provisions of the Dawes plan and from other sources, has been made public along with the announcement of the extension of the credit:

The German State Railway Co. was organized (under the law of Aug. 30 1924) to take over the operation of the German railway system under private management. The system, comprising about 33,000 miles of road, is the largest in the world and the construction of lines, stations, yards and buildings is of a high standard. The equipment, consisting of approximately 31,000 locomotives, 70,000 passenger cars and 750,000 freight cars, is superior both in quality and in quantity to that in use before the war; two-thirds of the rolling stock is less than ten years old.

The original cost of the system was about $6,200,000,000, and the present value is estimated by English and French railway experts to be fully equal to the cost.

Capitalization.

Funded Debt:
First (closed) mortgage (40-Year) reparation bonds, guaranteed by the German Government. Annual charge beginning with fourth year (1928), 5% for interest and 1% for cumulative sinking fund; lower charges for first three years as stated below. (Issued to trustee appointed by Reparation Commission)	$2,620,000,000
Second mortgage 15-year 7% gold bonds, to be issued and pledged as security for a credit of $15,000,000 (up to $22,500,000)
Capital Stock:
Common stock (issued to the German Government or the German States)	3,095,000,000
Preferred stock—authorized	$476,000,000

Cumulative dividends not to exceed 7% per annum; issue price to be not less than par. Three-fourths of the proceeds of the sale of preferred stock is to accrue to the railway company and one-fourth to the German Government; one-fourth of the preferred stock is to be sold within two years and, if the Government requires, the proceeds of such sales are to be paid to it.

The first mortgage reparation bonds are secured by a first lien on all the railway property, fixed and movable, now owned or hereafter acquired by the German Government or by the railway company. The second mortgage bonds will be secured by a mortgage, subject only to the lien of the first mortgage reparation bonds.

Except for the above first mortgage reparation bonds, the total amount of bonds and secured loans which the company may issue is limited to a maximum of $60,000,000 until the amount of preferred stock issued is $238,000,000.

Earnings.

Pre-war net earnings of the German railways, before deducting interest and sinking fund payments, were as follows: 1910, $219,000,000; 1911, $251,000,000; 1912, $252,000,000; 1913, $238,000,000.

The experts in their report to the Dawes Commission stated that the gross revenues amount to approximately $1,000,000,000 per annum. They estimated that the net earnings, available for interest and sinking fund payments, after provision for adequate reserves, would be as follows: First year, $95,000,000; second year, $131,000,000; third and fourth years $167,000,000 to $179,000,000; fifth and subsequent years, $190,000,000.

The annual payments to be made for interest and sinking fund on the first mortgage reparation bonds are $48,000,000 for the first year, beginning Sept. 1 1924 and ending Aug. 31 1925, increasing to $157,000,000 for the fourth year and thereafter.

According to the latest information, the above estimates of earnings will be exceeded and it is now estimated that for the 15 months beginning Oct. 1 1924 and ending Dec. 31 1925 the net earnings available for debt service and reserves will be about $250,000,000.

The approximate dollar amounts given above are on the basis of 4.20 gold marks to the United States dollar.

Management.

The management of the company is entrusted to an administrative board of 18 members, all of whom are to be experienced business men or railway experts: one-half are to be nominated by the German Government and one-half, including at least four foreigners, by the trustee for the first mortgage reparation bondholders. M. Delacroix, formerly Prime Minister of Belgium, has been appointed such trustee. The foreign members nominated by the trustee are as follows: Sir William Acworth (England), Signor Giuseppe Bianchini (Italy), M. Jules Jadot (Belgium) and M. Maurice Margot (France). The German members nominated by the trustee are as follows: Messrs. Bergmann, Von Muller, Munchmeyer, Stieler and Sarre.

The New Reichsbank Law.

The following is from the November Bulletin of the Federal Reserve Board:

The New Reichsbank Law.

Laws providing for liquidation of the Rentenbank and for establishment of a new bank of issue in Germany were passed by the Reichstag on Aug. 30. These laws, drafted in compliance with the Dawes committee plan of financial reorganization and currency stabilization, had previously been submitted to the Reparations Commission for approval. After the flotation of the 800,000,000-mark loan an executive decree giving effect to the new legislation was issued in the second week of October 1924.

Organization Committee.—A complete plan for organization of a proposed new bank of issue embodied in the Dawes report provided for appointment of an organization committee which should supervise the writing of a new bank law, carry the organization through its initial stages, and decide in its discretion whether an entirely new institution should be created or the old Reichsbank be reorganized. This committee, consisting of Sir Robert Kindersley and Dr. H. Schacht, determined to transform the Reichsbank; the new bank of issue has, therefore, been legally created by amendment of the Reichsbank law of March 14 1875, which has been extensively rewritten, although important sections have been taken over intact from the old law. While the new law follows the Dawes committee plan closely, important deviations from the plan are found in provisions fixing reserve percentages (above those proposed in the plan), and in provisions relating to the distribution of profits. Taken as a whole, although its operations have been more specifically delimited by law, the fundamental character and functions of the Reichsbank are to remain unchanged. It is to continue to operate as a commercial bankers' bank and as practically the sole bank of issue, whose function it will be to regulate the supply of currency and credit.

How soon the condition of the new Reichsbank will justify it in undertaking full performance of all functions assigned to it remains to be seen. At the moment one can but examine the provisions of the new law. The new Reichsbank is an autonomous institution independent of the German Federal Government, It possesses the attributes of a corporate body. It is located in Berlin, as heretofore, and its name remains unchanged.

Note Issue.—The note-issue function will be one of the principal functions of the new as it has been of the old Reichsbank. Practically exclusive right of note issue for a period of 50 years is given to the new Reichsbank.a The Rentenbank may not increase its note circulation and the issue privilege of the Gold Discount Bank is revoked. Notes to be issued by the Reichsbank will be denominated reichsmarks. The Reichsbank will call in all its present circulation and convert it into reichsmarks at the rate of one trillion marks for one reichsmark. This exchange must be completed within such period as may be determined upon by the managing board.b Outside of gold currency the notes of the Richsbank will be the only unlimited legal tender in the country. Notes will not be issued in denominations smaller than 10 reichsmarks. Foreign bank notes or other non-interest bearing bearer obligations may not be used in making payments within Germany.

Capital.—According to the law, the capital of the new Reichsbank must amount to at least 300,000,000 and may not exceed 400,000,000 gold marks. From present reports, it appears that the new bank is expected to begin operations with a capital of 300,000,000 gold marks. Shares in the new bank must be paid for exclusively in gold or exchange, excepting those shares of stock which will be issued in exchange for the shares in the old Reichsbank and for the shares in the Gold Discount Bank. In making these exchanges the shares of the Gold Discount Bank c will be accepted at par at the current rate of exchange. As to the old Reichsbank shares, the law provides that not more than 100,000,000 marks of new shares may be issued against the capital stock of the old Reichsbank. Before this exchange could take place, therefore, it was necessary for the old Reichsbank to reduce its capital of 180,000,000 to 100,000,000 or less. At a meeting of the stockholders of the old Reichsbank held on Oct. 4, it was decided to reduce the capital of the old bank from 180,000,000 to 90,000,000, so that 90,000,000 gold marks of new shares will be issued to the stockholders of the old Reichsbank. Finally, it is provided that stockholders shall not be personally liable for the obligations of the new Reichsbank—a provision taken over from the old law.

Organization.—The organization of the new Reichsbank will be closely analogous to that of the old bank. Its administration will be in the hands of a board of directors, or managing board, as was true of the old bank. Until 1921, when the Reichsbank became autonomous, Government supervision was carried out through the Reichsbankkuratorium, and under the present program certain foreign Powers—in place of the German Government—will henceforth exercise supervision, acting through the general board, which replaces the Reichsbankkuratorium. In modified form the functions of the annual meeting of stockholders and of the council chosen from the ranks of the stockholders have been embodied in the new law. The only real innovation, which is adopted from the Dawes report, is the addition of a foreign commissioner of note issue.

The plan proposed in the Dawes report was specific in its provisions as regards methods to be followed in electing the commissioner of note issue, the members of the managing board, and the members of the general board. Furthermore, the powers, functions and inter-relations of these three agencies were clearly defined. All of these provisions, which were designed to insure efficient administration and at the same time adequate control, have been embodied in the new law with insignificant changes. (See Dawes report, annex 1, Sections IV-VIII, inclusive.)

Managing Board.—The managing board, whose members must all be of German nationality, will as heretofore exercise predominating influence in the administration of the bank. Not only is the practical management entirely in its hands, but the exclusive control of the currency, discount and credit policy also is vested in it. The managing board may submit its plans or proposals to the general board for an opinion, but this is not obligatory. In three instances only is assent of an outside body essential. One of these is found in the provision that the affirmative vote of every member but one of the general board is necessary if the reserve ratio is to be reduced below the legal minimum of 40%, a provision taken over from the Dawes report draft. A second is the requirement of consent not only of the general board but also of the Federal Government before redemption of the Reichsbank's notes in gold or its equivalent may be resumed. The third instance relates to collateral loans and will be discussed below.

Transfer Committee.—Neither the Agent-General of Reparations nor the transfer committee is given any positive control over the administration or the policy of the bank. The law states merely that in handling the reparations account, the relation between the Agent-General and the Reichsbank shall be that of a customer and bank. On this point the Dawes plan itself went to farther than to state that: "When the committee (transfer committee) is of the opinion that the bank's discount rate is not in relation to the necessity of making important transfers, it shall inform the president of the bank" (Dawes report, annex 6, to the report of the first committee of experts, Section VII). Nor are the London protocols more specific. So that the powers of the Agent-General and of the transfer committee over German currency and crdit ploicy will be limited to those inherent in their control over the reparations account.

President.—The chairman of the managing board, who is also chairman of the general board, will be the president of the bank and its managing director. He must be of German nationality. On recommendation of the managing board he will appoint the officials of the bank, and he will have full charge of the bank's technical organization. The first president of the new bank will be the present incumbent, Dr. Hjalmar Chacht.

General Board.—The general board, composed of seven foreigners d and seven German members, will exercise its control over the Reichsbank chiefly through its electoral powers. By a majority vote of nine members, six of whom must be German, it will elect the president of the bank, subject to the approval of the President of the German Republic. The president of the bank in turn will appoint the members of the managing board. These appointments, however, will require the approval of the general board in the form of an affirmative vote of at last nine members, six of which must be Germans.e Finally, the general board, by a vote of at least nine members, six of which must be foreign, will elect from the members of the board, or outside the board from the citizns of a country represented on the board, the commissioner of note issue, who in case he is not already a member, becomes a member of the general board, to the exclusion of that one of the forign members of the same nationality as himself.

The administrative function of the general board will for practical purposes be advisory only. This has already become apparent in the discussion of the relation of the managing board to the general board. Nevertheless, the gneral board's actual influence may in practice exceed its theoretical powers. It is not unlikely that conditions may arise which will make it seem desirable to the managing board to seek the assent of the general board, even if such assent is not legally essential.

Council.—The council of stockholders, which even before the war was becoming of less and less importance, will be reduced to a merely advisory body with whom the managing board may from time to time discuss questions of policy.

Annual Meeting.—The annual meeting of stockholders will have power to determine upon the distribution of profits in so far as this distribution is not already determined by provisions of the law. Furthermore, the election of the council of stockholders and the German members of the general board will devolve upon them. Finally upon proposal by the managing board, the meeting of the stockholders may with the consent of the general board amend the statutes f of the bank.

Commissioner.—The commissioner of note issue will have no control over the administration or the policy of the bank. His function will be merely to enforce compliance with the provisions of the law in regard to the issue of notes and the reserves. His responsibility will be signified by the fact that each note issued will bear his signature. Prof. G. W. J. Bruins (Netherlands) has been designated as the first commissioner of note issue.

Scope of Operations.—Although closely following the Dawes report draft, the sections referring to the scope of operations of the new bank are so important as to justify their reproduction in full:

> The bank is authorized to transact the following types of business:
> (1) To buy and sell gold and silver coins or bullion as well as exchange.
> (2) To buy, sell or discount bills of exchange maturing in not more than 90 days, bearing at least three names of known solvency, and checks bearing at least three names of known solvency. The requirement of the third name may be dispensed with provided satisfactory collateral is substituted.

a Existing issue privileges of the Bayerische Notenbank, the Wuerttembergische Notenbank, the Sacchsische Bank and the Badische Bank are not invalidated; the combined issues of these four institutions may not, however, exceed 194,000,000 marks, and will, therefore, continue to be insignificant items in the total circulation.

b According to the latest reports, this exchange will have to be completed within three months after call, but no call date has yet been fixed.

c Although there has been some discussion recently of continuing the Gold Discount Bank as an independent institution, both the Dawes report bank draft and the new Reichsbank law contemplate the absorption of this institution into the new bank.

d One member of each of the following nationalities: United States, British, French, Italian, Belgian, Dutch and Swiss. The foreign members of the first general board were appointed by the organization committee. The appointments are: Gates McGarrah (United States), Sir Charles Stewart Addis (Great Britain), Charles Sergeant (France), Carlo Feltrinelli (Italy), Professor G. W. J. Bruins (Netherlands), M. E. Jansen (Belgium) and Professor Bachmann (Switzerland).

e According to the latest reports, the directorate of the old bank has become the managing board of the new bank practically without change.

f The statutes of the bank are relatively unimportant; they deal in the main with the requirements for the meetings of the various boards and committees and lay down certain principles of valuation for the annual balance sheet. The first set of statutes was drawn up by the organization committee.

The volume of such paper, however, may not exceed 33 1-3% of the total bills held. All bills must relate to bona fide commercial transactions.g

(3) To grant interest-bearing loans up to 90 days against the following collateral:

(a) Gold and silver, minted or unminted.

(b) Fully paid common or common priority stock or priority obligations of German railroads whose lines are in operation, as well as debentures of agricultural, communal or other German land credit institutions under Federal supervision, and debentures of German corporate mortgage banks, up to 75% of the market value. Obligations of public land credit institutions, as well as bearer obligations of the above-mentioned institutions and banks, issued on the basis of loans granted to domestic, communal corporations or guaranteed by such a corporation, are given the same status as debentures mentioned above.

(c) Bearer obligations of the Federal Government, of a German State or a domestic communal corporation or interest-bearing obligations, the interest on which is guaranteed by the Federal Government or by one of the States, up to 75% of the market value. The maturity on the above-mentioned obligations must not exceed one year. Loans guaranteed by such collateral may be granted to banks of known solvency only.

(d) Interest-bearing bearer obligations of foreign States as well as State-guaranteed foreign railway priority obligations, up to 50% of the market value.

(e) Bills of exchange bearing names of known solvency with a discount of at least 5%.

(f) Merchandise warehoused within the country up to two-thirds of its value. The bank may with special authorization of the general board h take as collateral long-term obligations of the Federal Government for loans maturing in 90 days or less if there are two guarantors liable for the obligations outside of the collateral, both of whom must be doing business within Germany, one of whom must be a bank. It is, however, stipulated that secured loans for which long-term obligations of the Federal Government are collateral may not exceed the paid-up capital of the bank plus its reserves.

(4) To buy and sell the securities mentioned under 3(c); the purchase of such securities for its own account is permitted only in so far as it is essential to maintain its current business with its customers.

(5) To handle collections for institutions, official bodies and private persons; to make payments and transfers for their account, provided the bank has received countervalue.

(6) To buy for customers' account securities of any kind as well as precious metals, provided the countervalue has been received, and to sell the same provided delivery has been made.

(7) To receive money without interest on deposit or in giro (transfer account).

The law further provides that the bank may not accept time bills of exchange drawn against it. It may not grant loans against mining property, oil fields, or stock, unless they be secondary security, nor may it buy or sell real estate, stocks, or goods, except for the purpose of liquidating assets or carrying on its own banking business.

These provisions show that within the specified limits the Reichsbank will be empowered to transact essentially all kinds of banking operations except those of an investment house. This is no innovation as compared with pre-war conditions, except that the present law is somewhat more rigid in respect principally to its provisions devised to prevent excessive amounts of Government paper from getting into the bank (sections 3 (c) and 3 (g)).

Clearance.—Another important function of the Reichsbank, after note issue, will be that of clearance. This function arises out of paragraph 7 of the above provision. Through its branches situated all over the country the Reichsbank will continue as heretofore to conduct the country's clearing system (Giroverkehr).

Discount Market.—Paragraphs 2 and 3 of the provisions indicate the relation that the Reichsbank is to have to the money market. These sections contemplate that the Reichsbank shall in the future engage in market operations of the same general character as before the war, i. e. that it shall act not primarily as a credit-granting agency, but rather as the pivotal factor in the discount market by standing ready to rediscount any good commercial bill running 90 days or less.i The control of the money market by its discount policy will, as formerly, be one of the more important, if not the most important, function of the new Reichsbank.j Fiscal Agency.—A fourth function of the new bank will be to serve as fiscal agent of the Federal Government. It will execute free of charge all operations connected with the flotation, redemption, and payment of interest on Government bonds. On all other transactions, the Reichsbank may make the same charges as to any other customer. The granting of credit to the Government will be strictly limited. The Reichsbank may extend to the Government credit for working capital up to 100,000,000 marks for 90 days, but there must be no indebtedness at the end of the fiscal year. It is further authorized to grant credits up to 200,000,000 marks to the railroads and the post office system. With these exceptions, the Reichsbank may not extend any credit directly or indirectly to the Government, or to the States, or the communes, or to any foreign Government.

These provisions will not, however, affect the loans extended to the Government by the agreement made between the Government and the Reichsbank relative to the liquidation of the old Reichsbank. This agreement was approved by the meeting of the stockholdrs mentioned above. In lieu of the granting of the note-issuing privilege for 50 years, and in lieu of relinquishing its claim to any residue arising out of the liquidation of the old Reichsbank, the Government received the following considerations: The Reichsbank assumed liability for the repayment of the dollar loan, amounting to 252,000,000 gold marks, due April 1926; furthermore, the floating debt of the Government with the Reichsbank, amounting to 235,000,000 gold marks, and arising presumably out of exchange payments made by the bank on behalf of the Government to support the mark early in 1923, will be funded. The Reichsbank will grant the Government a permanent loan of 100,000,000 gold marks at 2%, repayable with the recall of the note issue privilege, and a loan of 135,000,000 gold marks at 3%, repayable in equal installments over a period of 15 years.

Reserves Against Notes.—As noted above, the new law differs from the Daws report draft in respect to its provisions fixing the reserve percentages. The new bank will be required to maintain a 40% k reserve against its notes in circulation. At least 75% l of this reserve must be in the form of gold, in vault or with foreign banks of issue at the free disposal of the Reichsbank, the pound of fine gold m being reckoned at 1,392 Reichsmarks. The balance of the 40% reserves may be in the form of exchange, exchange being defined as (a) foreign bank notes, (b) bills of exchange running not more than 14 days, (c) foreign checks, or (d) deposits with any bank located in a foreign financial centre and known to be solvent. Against the balance of 60%, the Reichsbank will be required to hold eligible bills of exchange or checks.

Under special circumstances and with the consent of the general board the reserve percentag may be allowed to drop below 40%. In case the reserve percentage remains below 40% for more than a week the Reichsbank will be required to pay a deficiency tax to the Government, according to a sliding scale similar to that embodied in the Federal Reserve Act. Whenever a deficiency tax is to be paid, the discount rate must be raised by one-third of the tax rate to be paid and to at least 5%.

Reserve Against Deposits.—Against its total deposits, exclusive of the account of the Agent-General, the bank is required to hold a special cover of 40%. This reserve is to consist of deposits in other banks or abroad, checks on other banks, bills of exchange maturing in not more than 30 days, or callable secured loans. The old Reichsbank law required no reserves against deposits. The Dawes draft, however, called for a reserve of 12% in gold or its equivalent, in addition to a reserve of 30% instead of 40% in the form of liquid assets. In comparison with the Dawes draft, therefore, the present law is considerably less rigid as regards its requirements of reserves against deposits. The type of assets which may be legally employed as cover seems in fact so comprehensive as to admit assets of almost every kind.

Convertibility.—The bank is required to purchase any gold offered by the issue of its notes at the fixed rate of 1,392 reichsmark to the pound of fine gold. This makes the gold content of the new reichsmark equivalent to that of the old mark. Furthermore, the bank is compelled to redeem its notes to any bearer upon presentation in gold or gold coin at par or in foreign exchange at the current rates of exchange. Foreign exchange is defined as checks on or transfers on the books of specified foreign banks. If redemption is made in the form of foreign exchange a charge not exceeding the expense of shipping gold may be made. None of these provisions, excepting those referring to the purchase of gold, go into effect with the rest of the law. As intimated above, they will require the assent of the managing and general boards, and, according to present indications, the definite return to a working gold standard is not contemplated at this time.

Profits.—The bank is to maintain a reserve fund, and so long as this fund amounts to less than 12% of the notes in circulation, up to 20% of the net profits each year are to be added to it. Shareholders are entitled to a cumulative annual dividend of 8%, which will be paid after the reserve fund requirements have been met. Of the balance of the net profits, the Government will receive an important share in lieu of taxes. Of the first 50,000,000 gold marks, one-half is to go to the Government, and one-half to the shareholders; of the second 50,000,000 marks, three-quarters is to go to the Government, and one-fourth to the shareholders; of any balance nine-tenths is to go to the Government and one-tenth to the shareholders.

The first statement of the new Richsbank is given below. The various items of the statement represent assets and liabilities taken over from the old Reichsbank converted to a gold basis. A recent statemnt of the old Reichsbank appeared in the "Bulletin" for August 1924, page 637. The liability for notes in circulation is on old Reichsbank notes to be redeemed at a trillion to one. The reserve against notes, according to this statement, is 43.9% in gold and 58.6% in gold and foreign currency.

g The old law required "at least" two signatures to make bills of exchange eligible for discount. Under the new law an additional signature is required supposedly with the purpose of eliminating finance bills.

h This is the third instance in which the assent of the general board is required before action may be taken by the managing board. See above.

i Actually the average maturity of bill held is likely to be considerably less. Until recently when it relaxed its restrictions, the Reichsbank was confining itself to the discounting of very short maturities, preferably 10 days or less. The volume of agricultural paper held was, however, so great that it is improbable that the pre-war average of about 30 days was attained.

j At the moment the discount market is still practically non-existent in Germany, and the recent efforts to re-establish one have not been successful. The prime essential of a discount market is that some institution be prepared at any time to rediscount any amount of paper at its rediscounting rate. In order to preserve the stability of the currency, the Reichsbank was forced to ration its volume of rediscounts, beginning April 7; furthermore, it began to discriminate in favor of bills of exceptionally short maturities. The recent decision to raise its volume of rediscounts by 10%, and to accept longer maturities has not contributed much toward re-establishing a discount market. One result of this situation has been that individual banks have been compelled to rely on themselves for reserves. Incidentally it may be noted that this throws light upon the discrepancy between long-term and short-term interest rates in the money market.

k The draft in the Dawes report called for 33 1-3% only.

l No such requirement was embodied in the Dawes plan draft.

Thomas L. Robinson of American Exchange National Bank on Dawes Plan—Says Plan Will Work Out Although Modifications May Later be Necessary.

At a luncheon at the Bankers' Club, this city, tendered by the American Exchange National Bank on Nov. 11, Thomas L. Robinson, Vice-President of the bank, who recently returned from Germany, where he has been associated with Owen D. Young and Henry M. Robinson in the setting up of the operation of the Dawes plan, reviewed the Dawes plan as it was finally adopted, carrying with it the modifications agreed upon in the London Protocol.

He pointed out that under the new system which is now in operation, the charge upon Germany is a fixed amount per annum which is to be inclusive of all charges of every sort. Even deliveries in kind of coal and other materials are paid for out of these funds by the Agent-General for the account of the Allied countries. As a result, many annoying features of the reparations tangle which have obtained during the past five years have been completely eliminated. Mr. Robinson also discussed the character of the organization which has been set up to carry out the Dawes plan and remarked particularly upon the high character and broad experience of the men who have been chosen as the various commissioners, trustees and board members.

As to whether the Dawes plan will succeed, Mr. Robinson said that he considered it to be the consensus of opinion among those best informed on the other side that the situation is a great deal more than merely hopeful. In fact, there is a growing feeling that the plan will work out, although it may be necessary to modify it in some particulars later on.

The burdens which have been placed on the German railways and on German industries do not seem out of reason when compared with the burdens existing in other countries. For example, the provisions of the mortgage placed on the German railways are no more onerous than the requirements of the total bond issues now outstanding on the railways of England. Similarly, the burden on industry is by no means excessive, the problem there being to get adequate working capital. Generally speaking, the German industrial plants are in excellent condition and most of them have been relieved of their former debts during the depreciation of the old mark.

Mr. Robinson called attention to two difficulties facing the Dawes plan. First, the problem of handling the exchange between Germany and the Allies in order to allocate to the Allies the reparations payments as collected from Germany. It is evident that these large transactions must be handled with the greatest care by the Transfer Committee to avoid frequent upsetting of the world's exchange markets. This problem, however, may be taken care of under the plan by an investment of excess funds in German bonds or loans until a more appropriate time arrives for converting into the Allied exchanges. Second is the possible political problem which may come later on if German competition proves to be disastrous to certain of the Allied countries. Mr. Robinson expressed it as his opinion that this danger is perhaps not as great as many believe and that, for some time to come. Germany may keep her industries busy without seriously interfering with the trade of Great Britain, France and others.

Mr. Robinson gave some interesting descriptions of the conferences in Paris and Berlin during the last days before the final adoption of the Dawes plan on Oct. 13. He spoke in the highest terms of the remarkable achievement of Mr. Owen D. Young in bringing the plan to its final consummation. He said that Mr. Young's standing in every capital of Europe is of the very highest and few men have ever had greater actual power than he exercised during the recent months.

Owen D. Young on Working of Dawes Plan.

Owen D. Young, Chairman of the General Electric Co., who temporarily served as Agent-General for Reparation Payments, with his return from Europe on the steamer Homeric on Nov. 20, declared that the Dawes plan "has been put through with the greatest ease," and he expressed the view that Germany will be able to meet the requirements of the plan "without any new financing." Mr. Young, who with Charles G. Dawes and Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, assisted in the working out of the Dawes plan, was accompanied on his trip from Europe by Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Dawes, and Mr. and Mrs. George P. Auld. With regard to what Mr. Young had to say concerning the plan and its working, we quote the following from the "Wall Street Journal" of Nov. 20:

All the German revenues to date have been higher than the estimates, which is a very encouraging sign. This includes railroad earnings. The increased earnings have resulted in increased taxation on railroads.

The taxes that have been assigned include revenues from customs, taxes on all alcoholic drinks, tobacco and sugar. In each case these taxes go through the Commissioner appointed for the purpose and are deposited in the Reichbank. Checks are drawn by him to the account of the German Government after the reparation requirements have been taken out.

Cash on Hand.

The reparation requirement for the present year, which began on Sept. 1, is 1,000,000,000 gold marks and this money is practically in hand. Before the German loan which amounted to 800,000,000 gold marks was paid in, I collected 140,000,000 gold marks and deposited it in the Reichsbank to the credit of the German Government, so there is at present in the Reichsbank under this credit 940,000,000 gold marks, which is under the control of the Agent-General. This leaves outstanding, according to the Dawes plan, 60,000,000 gold marks which will be paid by Germany for French and Belgian expenses of occupation.

I had handed to me as Agent-General over $2,500,000,000 worth of first mortgage bonds on German railroads, and $1,250,000,000 worth of first mortgage debenture industrial bonds on German industries. These bonds are now in the hands of the Agent-General.

The plan has been put through with the greatest ease. The German people all along the line have shown willingness to co-operate. France and Belgium, by their representatives in the Ruhr, have been equally helpful in putting the plan into effect. Two things surprised me regarding the plan. First was the ease with which it was installed and the second was the simplicity of operation. Excluding stenographers and clerks the staff will not exceed 20 people.

Confidence Returning.

I am much encouraged by the reduction of unemployment since last February, when the Dawes Commission went to Germany. Conditions have improved beyond almost conception. Returning confidence has been due to increased industrial activity. Discussion of a steel or trade combine between France and Germany have had no effect yet.

The drift of politics in Germany has been steadily toward the centre of the Reichstag, which is democratic, and away from the Communist and Nationalist bodies. This is a very encouraging sign for the German people.

I think Mr. Herriot believes the greatest security for France lies in the development of a more complete democracy within Germany. The Ruhr people are happy because their industries are being returned to them.

S. Parker Gilbert and his associates made a most excellent impression in Paris and Berlin and I am sure Mr. Gilbert will handle the situation as well as possible.

Mr. Robinson had charge of the organization of the Bank of Issue and the organization for the issuing of the industrial debentures and railroad bonds. Rufus Dawes, brother of the Vice-President-elect, headed the Berlin office of the Agent-General. In this office the money collected for the German Government was deposited in the Reichsbank and expended to German markets for deliveries in time. In the Berlin office was also Mr. Auld, now with Haskins & Sells accountants. He organized an accounting service for the Agent-General's office.

I think Germany will be able to meet the Dawes plan requirements without any new financing.

The same paper quoted Mr. Robinson to the following effect:

There has been a noticeable return of expartiated capital to Germany, said Henry M. Robinson, member of the Dawes Commission. Since May 250,000,000 gold marks had been deposited in the Reichsbank before the German loan went through. The money principally came from the German stocking and from abroad. The committee decided less liquid capital had been expatriated than was popularly supposed.

Reference to the turning over of the duties of Agent-General of Reparations by Mr. Young to S. Parker Gilbert, Jr., was made in these columns Nov. 8, page 2126. On Dec. 11 Mr. Young will be the guest of honor at a dinner to be held at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Reichsbank Wants Loan at Home—Vice-President Kauffmann Says Bank Needs Larger Reserve for Notes in Own Vaults as Stabilizing Measure.

Special advices to the "Wall Street Journal" from Berlin were published by that paper on Nov. 22 as follows:

We are converting a good part of the German loan into gold, and intend putting it in the vaults of the Reichsbank," Vice-President Kauffmann of the Reichsbank says. "We cannot say as in the past that bank notes are as good as gold, and we must look to gold as our most stable value. By our efforts we increased our gold reserve from 422,000,000 marks to 614,000,000 marks.

"After the Dawes program has been in operation for a time and when our gold reserve is ample we hope to put our currency on a real gold basis with a free market for gold. For the time being, however, we are obliged to maintain the arbitrary rate of 4.20 reichsmarks to the dollar.

"The German loan is bound to have a salutary effect on our money market and should tend to relieve any strain, and permit a lowering of money rates. The Reichsbank discount rate will be kept in accord with the general market rate. At present we do not intend to lower the rate. In some six weeks we propose to make a survey of money conditions.

"We are gradually liquidating the Gold Discount Bank. It has been useful to us to acquire foreign moneys from exporters who needed German marks to meet their home production costs. From now on the Gold Discount Bank is giving no further credits, and no extensions except in rare cases. It will probably take us a year to wind it up entirely.

"The Reichsbank is contemplating seeking no further loans abroad, nor does it intend to act as intermediary in loans to German concerns.

"In general we are much more hopeful than at the beginning of the year. We welcomed the Dawes plan because we believed it to be based on sound principles. Our one great concern now is how foreign markets will receive the big exports we will be obliged to make in order to get the surplus earnings we must have in order to make reparations payments."

Many German Taxes Cut—Reduction in Sales Tax and Stock Exchange Transfer Impost.

A special cablegram (copyright) from Berlin Nov. 16 is taken as follows from the New York "Times":

The Government has reduced the Bourse transfer taxes by an average of 55%. It has also come to an agreement with the States whereby the sales tax, of whose yield the States received 20%, is reduced from 2% to 1½%.

Simultaneously the income tax, of which the States get 90%, is reduced in the case of heads of large families. Quarterly income tax payments made in advance by industry are also reduced on the ratio of 25%.

Increase in Wages of Employees of German Railway Corporation.

The directors of the German Railway Corporation on Nov. 25 approved the proposed increase in wages of employees, amounting to 125,000,000 gold marks, said Berlin press advices under date of Nov. 25.

Hungarian Revenues Show Steady Gain—Commissioner Smith Points Out, However, That October Was Exceptional Month.

The pledged revenues for the service and the amortization of the State loan for October show great progress has been made in Hungarian reconstruction work under Commissioner-General Jeremiah Smith, says a copyright cablegram from Budapest Nov. 22 to the New York "Times" from which we quote further as follows:

The Commissioner's monthly report published to-day shows improvement in general conditions, but points out that the October receipts were abnormally high, due to the high tariff and the harvest.

For the provisional October budget Mr. Smith released to the State 18,965,520 gold crowns for expenses, leaving a balance of 2,296,552 gold crowns. Instead of a deficit, the Treasury should show a surplus of 2,000,000 gold crowns for October. The estimated deficit for the quarter of July to October was 38,500,000 gold crowns. Mr. Smith explained that while this was encouraging, the Hungarian State was not yet in a position to increase its expenditures, as they already exceed the reconstruction program outlined for this period. The chief purpose, says the report, is to balance the budget, and even if the revenues continue at the present favorable rate for the rest of the fiscal year, there will be a substantial deficit which must be eliminated before Hungary can be put on a sound economic basis.

The report states that the revenue from direct taxation does not reach the estimated figures. Mr. Smith holds that all the revenues up to the present date cannot be taken as a basis for the remainder of the fiscal year, and it would be extremely imprudent to assume that the position of the Treasury has reached a point where it would be safe to undertake any modifications in the reconstruction plans.

Several State liabilities to France, England and Czechoslovakia which fell due this month have been paid off by sums released from the loan for this purpose.

Regarding financial conditions, the report states that the metal reserve continues to increase. Notes in circulation are now 50 gold crowns per person. In foreign commerce both imports and exports during September were the largest of any month yet recorded and the trade balance is the smallest of the year. Prices continue very high, often higher even than in the United States and other countries.

Cost of Living at Brussels at Highest Level Since War.

Taking 100 as the number for 1914, the index number of the cost of living in Brussels has reached its highest level since the beginning of the war, standing at 553, says a press cablegram from Brussels Nov. 25, which adds:

The index for the whole country on the same basis is 520.

The question is receiving close attention from the Government and was the subject of a long discussion at yesterday's Cabinet meeting.

Must Not Invest Abroad—Penal Prohibitive Measures to be Enforced in Italy.

The Italian Government has announced more severe application of certain financial protective measures of 1917 and 1920, says a copyright cablegram from Rome Nov. 16, which adds:

These provide penalties for the investment of Italian money in foreign private or public securities.

The action appears to have been suggested by symptoms of a campaign for the depression of the lira on the foreign markets with political purposes.

Persian Tax Stirs Trouble—Proposed by American Mission it Sets Class Against Class.

A Chicago "Tribune" copyright cablegram from Teheran, Persia, Nov. 16, appeared as follows in the New York "Times":

The American financial mission here has become the unintentional cause for a clash between capitalists and the lower classes.

In order to create a surplus fund for road repairs the mission presented for approval an income tax bill which met the disapproval of a majority of the members of Parliament, who are wealthy aristocrats, or their partisans. The people's organ has taken up the mission's cause and in guarded language seeks to incite the poor against the capitalists.

The mission proposal, however, seems assured of victory.

Chilean Brokers Checked—New Law is Enforced Providing Drastic Control of Dealings.

A Santiago (Chile) cablegram Nov. 14, appearing in the New York "Times", said:

The free and easy life of Chile's stock brokers was rudely shaken when the new law on stock transactions, which becomes effective Jan. 1, was published to-day. It decrees that all stock transactions must detail the serial numbers of the shares dealt in.

All term transactions must be guaranteed by 15% of their total value, and the term must not exceed 45 days. Otherwise the guarantee must be doubled, besides a deposit being made on the Stock Exchange securities involved in the transaction. Government inspectors will be appointed for the stock exchanges at Valparaiso and Santiago to control the new law.

It is understood that regulations will be issued soon to control speculation in foreign currency drafts which affect Chilean exchange. The first result of the new stock law was noticed to-day in the greatly reduced transactions here and at Valparaiso.

Terms for Refunding of Polish Government's Debt to United States.

Plans for the refunding of the Polish Government's debt to the United States have been agreed to by the Treasury Department and representatives of Poland. It was announced at Washington on Nov. 14 that with the signatures of Secretary Mellon and President Coolidge and that of Minister Wroblewski, for Poland, the agreement, together with one with Lithuania siged some weeks ago, is ready for submission to Congress. The agreement, the fifth among the Powers to whom funds have been loaned, is similar in essential particulars to that of the settlement made by the United States with Great Britain, and calls for the refunding of the obligation of $178,560,000 over a period of sixty-two years. According to a Treasury statement the indebtedness of Poland is computed as follows:

Principal amount of obligation to be funded	$159,666,972
Interest accrued and unpaid thereon to Dec. 15 1922 at the rate of 4¼% per annum	18,988,053
Total principal and int. accrued & unpaid as of Dec. 15 1922	178,565,025
To be paid in cash by Poland Nov. 14 1924	5,025
Total indebtedness to be funded into bonds	178,560,000

Regarding the terms of the settlement the Treasury Department said:

The basis of the settlement is substantially the same as that of the settlement made by the United States with Great Britain, except for a provision under which Poland shall have the option to liquidate amounts due under the agreement prior to 1930 in part by certain semi-annual payments aggregating $10,000,000, the balance in bonds of Poland similar in terms to those originally issued.

The $178,560,000 principal amount of the bonds of Poland to be issued under the refunding agreement mature serially over a period of sixty-two years and bear interest at the rate of 3% per annum up to Dec. 15 1932, and at the rate of 3½% per annum thereafter.

Minister Wroblewski, commenting on the refunding plans, was quoted on Nov. 14 as saying:

The funding of its American debt is an essential part of the work of economic and financial rehabilitation of Poland. The Government of Poland, irrespective of men or parties, realizes that a full rehabilitation means fulfilling financial obligations as well as balancing the State budget.

Thus, if any special credit is to be given to Poland, it would be on account of the seeming rashness shown by Prime Minister Grabski, who is also in charge of the Polish Treasury, in taking the initiative in asking the United States Government for debt funding negotiations within five months of the stopping of currency inflation, and only six weeks after establishing a new currency on gold parity basis. It may be seen that Poland has refunded its American debt at the earliest practicable moment.

Of course, the basically strong and healthy organism, which Poland is, deserves credit for its pace of recovery, which has broken all records. It was left at the end of 1918 without one ounce of gold, swamped with Russian rubles, German marks and Austrian crowns. Poland was not permitted to rest like other countries involved in the World War until two years later when it finally repelled, in the fall of 1920, the Bolshevist menace from Poland and Europe.

During the next three years it had to wrestle with domestic and economic troubles of all kinds. From these Poland has emerged in 1924 with a budget balanced by taxes, with State railways operating on a paying basis, and with a new currency which, from the beginning, has maintained its gold parity without a trace of weakening. Poland's new currency, the zloty, is quoted at par in the world's markets because it is covered up to 80% by gold and gold assets, chiefly American dollars.

The public debt of Poland, of which its American debt constitutes a large part, when viewed in comparison with the public debts of other European States, is small. The total State debt amounts to the equivalent of but about $15 per capita, and the total sum is but slightly in excess of the Polish Government's revenues for 1925.

American Holders of Polish Internal Bonds Urged to Present Them for Conversion.

Under date of Oct. 31 the New York "Commercial" had the following to say in a Washington dispatch:

The Department of Commerce issued a statement to-day to the effect that American holders of Polish internal bonds expressed in Polish marks, should present the bonds for conversion into zloty certificates prior to Jan. 1 1925, if the loss which will be incurred by delay is to be avoided.

A decree of the Polish Government dated March 17 1924 of this year, provided for the exchange of old loans into bonds expressed in zloty at conversion rates, which were based on the exchange value of the Polish mark, on the date that the issue in question was floated. The par value of the zloty is 19.3 cents in U. S. currency and its exchange value has never varied appreciably since its introduction. The Union Bank of Co-operative Societies, 953 Third Avenue, New York City, has been designated to effect conversions in this country.

If these bonds are not presented for exchange prior to Jan. 1 1925, the holders will not benefit from these conversion rates. Bonds presented after that date will be paid in cash in Polish marks, or if in zloty, on the basis of the nominal exchange rate of Polish marks into zloty. At present this is 1,800,000 marks to the zloty, whereas the conversion rate for bonds varies between 25 Polish marks per zloty and 500 Polish marks per zloty, depending upon the issue. These figures serve to illustrate the large loss that will be sustained through failure to make conversion, officials said.

Reduction by Japanese Government in Expenditures for Current Fiscal Year—Proposed Loan to Be Kept to Minimum Requirements.

A resume of a cable message received from Tokio of the speech delivered by the Japanese Minister of Finance Hamaguchi, at a mass meeting of members of the Clearing House throughout the Empire of Japan, outlining his financial policy, has come to us as follows from Tadao Wikawa, Acting Financial Commissioner to U. S. A.:

1. In pursuance of the policy of retrenchment in governmental finance, the present Cabinet already reduced the expenditures for the current fiscal year to the extent of about 30,000,000 yen in the general account, and about 17,000,000 yen in the special account. It has further decided on the drastic reduction in the expenditures for the coming fiscal year (April 1925-March 1926).

According to the financial programme of the former Cabinets, the expenditure in the general account for the coming fiscal year was to amount roughly to 1,628,000 yen. But it has been decided to reduce about 152,000,000 yen from the above amount, consisting of 66,000,000 yen by curtailment and 85,000,000 yen by postponement.

In spite of some new items of cost, it is estimated that the expenditures in the general account for the coming fiscal year will be as follows, showing a reduction of about 82,000,000 yen from that of the current fiscal year:

	Yen.
Ordinary	1,009,000,000
Extraordinary	524,000,000

Though the reduction of the expenditure in the special account is yet to be decided, the total reduction in both accounts will probably amount somewhere around 250,000,000 yen.

The amount of loan to be floated for the sake of various government enterprises, etc., will also be reduced as far as possible. Anyhow, loan flotation in the open market will be avoided.

2. The improvement in the operating and administrating methods of the fund belonging to the Government Deposit Section, which has been a problem pending for many years, the Cabinet has decided to introduce a bill to the coming session of the Diet, with the aim of establishing a Board of

Advisory Committee composed of the best knowledge both in Governmental and business circles.

3. Realizing the far-reaching effect to the economic field of the fall of external value of yen, the Government will resort to every measure suitable for its recovery and stabilization, and, if necessary, will utilize the specie holdings both abroad and at home for this purpose.

Of course, deliberate consideration will be given as to their time and method, so that they may cause least undesirable effect to the home market.

The Government is, however, of the opinion that the fundamental thing for its recovery is the improvement of our trade balance. To attain it, it is necessary to take various methods, and the Government expects the whole nation's co-operation and support for this purpose.

Tokio Seeking Terms for Loan of $65,000,000.

Under date of Nov. 10 an Associated Press cablegram from Tokio stated:

The Finance Department is inquiring abroad regarding the terms of a loan of 130,000,000 yen ($65,000,000), contemplated by the City of Tokio for construction purposes.

Japan to Protect Yen by Gold Export.

An Associated Press cablegram from London Nov. 23, published in the New York "Journal of Commerce," says:

In the event there is a further decline in the dollar exchange value of the yen, the Government proposes to release specie reserves abroad for cotton and other imports, replacing them by the export of gold coin as required.

Extreme Currency and Credit Stringency in Rumania —Renewal of Moratorium.

The financial situation in Rumania has reached an acute stage, with a consequent paralyzing of business activities, according to cable to the Department of Commerce from Acting Commercial Attache, Van Norman, Bucharest. This situation, says the Department of Commerce, is thought to be largely due to the constantly rising exchange value of the lei, the heavy increase in export taxes and increased transportation charges. There has been a very considerable increase in export taxes in general, while the tax on wheat is now the prohibitive figure of £44 per carload of ten metric tons. Both passenger and freight transportation charges have been raised 25%, effective Aug. 1. Under date of Nov. 14 the Department also says:

A commission has been constituted for the funding of some portion of the internal floating debt of the State, which includes post-war debts owing to private industrialists, and debts to miners as a result of the decision of an Arbitration Commission which awarded an increase in wages to the miners in the State gold and coal mines of Transylvania. The increase due from Jan. 1 1923 has not been paid and miners complain that without this increase they are unable to live.

The moratorium affecting foreign obligations contracted by Rumanian merchants prior to Jan. 1 1922, which was created on June 2 1923, and which has been renewed from time to time, expired on Sept. 15 and was on Oct. 2 renewed for a period of three months, the renewal to date back to Sept. 15.

There was during the month of September a daily average of only eighty carloads passing through the ports for export and import together, as against a daily average of 1,000 carloads in September 1913, for the Old Kingdom alone. On Nov. 5 there were reported to be 25,000 carloads of lumber lying at the port of Galatz unable to move. Industrialists estimate that the manufacturing industries of Rumania are working at only 50% capacity, with the consequent laying off of workmen.

An intensive sales campaign is being made in Rumania by French automobile makers. French machines arrive in Rumania by overland routes and are sold very largely for cash, with credit terms only in exceptional cases.

Government preliminary figures for 1923 show an export surplus of 4,600,000,000 lei. Final figures are available for 1922, and show an export surplus of 1,700,000,000 lei. Preliminary export figures for August show cereals 115,000 metric tons as against 97,000 for July; petroleum, 55,000 metric tons as against 34,000 for July; lumber, 85,000 metric tons as against 116,000 for July; firewood, 186,000 metric tons as against 176,000 for July. Cattle exports for August amounted to 27,000 head. Petroleum production for September was 166.000 metric tons as against 164,000 in August.

Preliminary estimates indicate a wheat production of only 67% of that of 1923, with less variation from normal in other cereal crops.

George F. Redmond, Former Treasure of the Defunct Boston Firm of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., Sentenced to Ten Years in Atlanta Prison.

In the Federal District Court at Boston on Monday, Nov. 3, George F. Redmond, former Treasurer and owner of the bankrupt brokerage firm of G. F. Redmond & Co., Inc., was sentenced by Judge Lowell to ten years' imrpisonment in the Federal Prison at Atlanta. Redmond was convicted on July 18 last of conspiracy and illegal use of the mails on 14 counts of two indictments. Immediately following the imposition of sentence the defendant's counsel, Leo A. Rogers, entered an appeal of the case. Since June 24 last Redmond has been closely confined in the East Cambridge jail, to which he was committed by Federal Judge Morton for contempt of Court in refusing to turn over to the receivers $300,000 of the failed firm's assets. Redmond maintains, it is said, that he has not a penny of the $300,000 or any other money and that it is impossible for him to obey the Court's order. In this regard the Boston "Herald" of Nov. 4 said in part:

The situation was called to Judge Morton's attention yesterday after Judge Lowell had imposed sentence, and after some discussion between the bench, attorney Rogers, and Asst. United States Attorneys Essex Abbott and Joseph V. Carroll, the Court took under consideration on a motion made by Rogers that Redmond be purged of contempt and admitted to bail pending trial of his appeal.

If Judge Morton refuses to purge Redmond, a situation perhaps unprecedented here, will arise, as it is the consensus of opinion that Redmond cannot begin his 10-year term from now until purged, and in the interim he remains in jail a prisoner for contempt.

The schedules in bankruptcy for the firm of Redmond & Co., Inc., were filed in the United States District Court at Boston on Nov. 18 and disclosed liabilities of $2,891,915 and gave the assets as "unknown." The schedules contained 188 pages and included creditors from all parts of the country, numbering about 9,200.

Our last reference to the affairs of Redmond & Co. was in the "Chronicle" of Aug. 2 last, page 538.

Aemilius Jarvis Sr., Former Toronto Broker, and Peter Smith, Ex-Provincial Treasurer of Ontario, Convicted of Conspiracy to Defraud the Ontario Government and Heavily Sentenced—Aemilius Jarvis Jr., and H. G. Pepall Acquitted.

On Oct. 24 Aemilius Jarvis Sr., former head of the Toronto banking and brokerage house of Aemilius Jarvis & Co., Ltd., and Peter Smith, ex-Provincial Treasurer for Ontario, were convicted of conspiracy to defraud the Government of Ontario by a jury in the Supreme Court at Toronto before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith. At the same time the jury found Aemilius Jarvis Jr., and H. G. Pepall, former General Manager of the Jarvis firm, "not guilty," and further found all four defendants "not guilty" of stealing on all charges. Immediately following the verdict, Judge Meredith sentenced Aemilius Jarvis Sr., to six months' imprisonment in the County Jail and to pay a fine of $600,000 with further imprisonment until the fine is paid. In the case of Peter Smith the judgment of the Court was imprisonment for three years in the Provincial Penitentiary and to pay a fine of $600,000 with further imprisonment until the amount was paid. The sentence, as given in the Toronto "Globe" of Oct. 25, was as follows:

The judgment of this Court upon you, Peter Smith, for the indictable offense of which you have been found guilty is that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary of this Province for a term of three years.

The judgment of this Court upon you, Aemilius Jarvis Senior, for the indictable offense of which you have been found guilty is that you be imprisoned in the County Jail of this county for a term of six months.

And the further judgment of this Court upon you, Peter Smith, and upon you, Aemilius Jarvis, and upon each of you, is that you pay a fine of $600,000, and that you be further imprisoned until this is paid.

The "Globe" declared that the fine of $600,000 imposed by Chief Justice Meredith upon the defendants has never been even approached in Ontario, and one legal authority states that he knows no parallel case in the annals of British jurisprudence. The sentencing of the former broker and the ex-Provincial Treasurer was reported in part as follows by the "Globe":

His Lordship looked at the former Provincial Treasurer. "Peter Smith, stand up."

"Have you anything to say against the judgment of the Court being now imposed upon you upon the indictable offense of which you have been found guilty?"

The prisoner took a step forward to break the impassive silence that he has maintained since his plea of "not guilty."

"Your Lordship," he began, "I have only this to say, and it's not very much. As I said when I came into this Court and was asked to plead, I said I was not guilty. I adhere to that statement. I am not guilty of any conspiracy. I still plead not guilty. I never saw Aemilius Jarvis but twice in my life, and only once in connection with this deal. When the Cabinet made the arrangement I was at home, sick in bed with the flu. The jury have found me guilty, and I am content to abide by that, but I will take the case to a higher court where I shall get forgiveness." Here he halted, and then turned again toward the Bench.

"Tell me," responded his Lordship, in even tones. "Did you get $130,000 from Aemilius Jarvis?" Pleading gave place to an indignant "No."

"It does not matter how much—a large sum—over $100,000?"

"I never got that money."

"Nobody said you did. I am asking you about where you got those coupons."

"I got them from Andy Pepall."

"What for?"

"Because he owed me some money and he asked me to get them cashed. They were not due at the time. He was going away."

"Your counsel said you got them in trade."

Peter was silent.

The Judge turned to the other prisoner—Aemilius Jarvis the elder—and ordered him to stand. The formal query was repeated.

Jarvis's loud voice broke upon the court with startling effect. As denial followed denial, his tones crescendoed. "I never saw Peter Smith. I never had any connection with him. I never gave him a dollar or sanctioned giving him a dollar. Nor had I any agreement with A. H. Pepall to defeat or influence the Government of the Province of Ontario. I never dealt with Peter Smith—only with Mr. Drury and with the Cabinet."

"May I ask you why you took half a million dollars for the petty services you performed?"

Mr. Jarvis—I don't call it petty services when you stake your whole fortune for signing a hypothecation in London in which you don't put any credence at all—when you have become liable for eight million dollars and staked your whole fortune. As Sir John Ferguson said: "The first person to repay me if the Province of Ontario fails to take up your note in thirty days is you." I was the borrower. As they came in they were paid for by Lloyd's, and I had to borrow the money—you say that is a petty thing?

But his Lordship was adamant and his voice was stern.

"You know, Aemilius Jarvis, you did not run the risk of one dollar."

"I ran the risk of everything."

"You knew the Province was behind you and was to pay everything."

"Of course the Province was, as in every transaction, behind me. If Great Britain borrows in the United States she has to put up collateral, and Ontario had to put up collateral, and I put up collateral, as is done in every transaction of the sort."

His Lordship turned aside to ask counsel when the money had been received. He was told, on April 28 1920.

"Four years ago," murmured the Chief Justice, as if to himself, and then he turned again to the former Treasurer.

"Peter Smith, it is neither my right nor my duty to recount your misdeeds, or to say one word that will add to your punishment. But, in order that you may not think there is any disparity between the penalty which is to be imposed upon you and that which is to be imposed upon your co-conspirator, let me say to you: you were chosen by the people of the constituency in which you live to serve them and to serve the Province honestly. Aemilius Jarvis was not so chosen. You were made a Minister of the Crown. You were made what is commonly known as the 'watchdog of the Treasury.' You made a solemn oath which you violated."

The arrest of the defendants was reported in the "Chronicle" of May 24 1924, page 2517.

Indictment of John Farson, Former Member of the New York Stock Exchange, Held Invalid.

In an opinion handed down on Nov. 17, Judge Morris Koenig of the Court of General Sessions sustained a demurrer to the indictment for alleged "stock-rigging" against John Farson, formerly a member of the Stock Exchange firm of John Farson, Son & Co., 115 Broadway, this city. The court, according to the New York "Times" of Nov. 18, held that allegations of spurious purchases and sales of stock must be specifically mentioned in the indictment. The "Times" went on to say:

Farson was indicted last summer on the allegation that he manipulated the prices of stock in the Hercules Petroleum Co. by means of pre.ended purchases and sales and other fictitious transactions. Several days ago Robert J. Johnstone and Saul S. Myers, representing Farson, argued the demurrer before Judge Koenig and were opposed by Assistant District Attorneys Maloney and Henry.

Farson's lawyers contended the indictment was defective because it did not contain a "plain and concise statement of the act constituting the crime." They also contended that for each purchase or sale of stock a separate indictment should have been returned by the Grand Jury, but Judge Koenig decided this contention was unsound.

Mr. Farson's indictment was noted in the "Chronicle" of April 26, last, pages 1985 and 1986 and also referred to in the "Chronicler" of June 21, last, pages 3034 and 3035.

He was a director of the Corn Exchange Bank and of Hagedorn & Co. Mr. Schaefer was 67 years old. Trading on the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange was suspended yesterday (Nov. 28) at 1 p. m. as a mark of respect to Mr. Schaefer's memory.

Trust Fund of $500,000 Created in New York Community Trust by Mrs. Felix M. Warburgin Behalf of Visiting Nurse Service.

Mrs. Felix M. Warburg has created in the New York Community Trust a fund of $500,000 whose income will be used in support of the Visiting Nurse Service of New York, according to an announcement made on Nov. 24 by ex-Senator William J. Tully at a luncheon in the Bankers Club and confirmed that afternoon at the offices of the Community Trust, 120 Broadway. The meeting began a campaign by a committee headed by ex-Senator Tully and Paul D. Cravath to provide support for 200 visiting nurses. The fund established by Mrs. Warburg through the Community Trust will, it is stated, keep 16 nurses constantly on duty. It is a memorial endowment in celebration of her mother's 70th birthday and in commemoration of the attachment her father, the late Jacob H. Schiff, had for the Henry Street Settlement, the headquarters of the Visiting Nurse Service. The terms of the benefaction are defined in a trust agreement. Mrs. Warburg designated the United States Mortgage & Trust Co., one of the trustees of the Community Trust, as custodian of the fund.

The gift is noteworthy in employing the elements of administrative flexibility in the Community Trust plan, to safeguard it against obsolescence. By this arrangement, the trust company is responsible, as trustee, for keeping the principal of the fund productively invested. The accruing income, however, is disbursed by the company only upon authorization from the Distribution Committee of the Community Trust. This committee—to prevent possible future paralysis of the endowment—is empowered to make any adjustments required in the event that it should become impossible or impractical to execute in literal detail the specific purposes now described.

The Distribution Committee is named in part by the corporate trustees of the Community Trust and in part by the senior Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and by the Presidents of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, the Academy of Medicine, the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences and the Association of the Bar. Eleven banks and trust companies of Manhattan and Brooklyn act as trustees for the Community Trust. Ralph Hayes, Director of the Trust, had the following to say on the 24th inst. regarding Mrs. Warburg's gift:

> We are instructed by the terms of this memorial to use its income in support of the Visiting Nurse Service of the Henry Street Settlement unless, under circumstances we cannot now foresee, a rigid and inflexible adherence to the letter of our instructions becomes destructive of their spirit. If, at some distant time, the Settlement should become non-existent, or its visiting nurse service should be greatly curtailed, or it should be taken over by the municipal Government and supported by taxation, or adequately financed through other agencies, the then existing Distribution Committee, in the light of conditions at that time, will exercise its discretion regarding the wisest use of available income in furtherance of Mrs. Warburg's general directions.

Thomas Williams, senior partner of Ichabod T. Williams Sons, and Chairman of the Distribution Committee of the Community Trust, said:

> This memorial perpetuates a great name and a great ministering service. Through Mrs. Warburg's gift the soul and spirit of Jacob Schiff will remain forever abroad in this city—heeding the calls of the helpless and distressed, as he did through all his life. Anyone who has examined the dismal array of ancient and outworn endowments, will rejoice that Mrs. Warburg has guarded against the grip of the "dead hand." Her example will serve as a model to others who wish to give to their benefactions the assurance of lasting usefulness.

Jacob Henry Schiff, who died in 1920 at the age of 73, achieved world-wide renown as a financier and philanthropist. His gifts for public purposes exceeded $50,000,000. The precise amount is unknown, because of his frequently anonymous benefactions. Harvard, Barnard, the Baron de Hirsch Fund and the Montefiore Home for Chronic Invalids were among the beneficiaries of his philanthropy. The present personnel of the Community Trust's Distribution Committee includes: John G. Agar, Mrs. August Belmont, Homer Folks, Ernest Iselin, Dr. Walter B. James, Clarence H. Kelsey, Judge E. Henry Lacombe, James H. Post, Felix M. Warburg and Thomas Williams. The institutions associated as trustees of the Community Trust are:

> The American Trust Co., the Chase National Bank, the Coal & Iron National Bank, the Equitable Trust Co., the First National Bank of Brooklyn, the Kings County Trust Co., the Manufacturers Trust Co., the Seaboard National Bank, the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative Trust Co.

The New York Community Trust began in July the second year since the establishment of its offices at 120 Broadway. Clarence H. Kelsey, Chairman of the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., one of the trustees of the Community Trust, made the following statement concerning the development of the organization:

> The various institutions sponsoring the Community Trust are building for all time. It will not have a sudden growth or early affluence. But though a considerable period will intervene before substantial funds become available, the sources of these resources begin to become apparent from the operations of the past several months. These sources, in the main will be four:
> 1. Gifts inter vivos for permanent administration in trust. For example, a lady sailing for the Orient some weeks ago directed one of the companies co-operating in the Community Trust to hold permanently in trust a sum whose income is to be used annually for certain awards in one of the public schools of the city.
> 2. Gifts inter vivos with instructions for the expenditure of principal. A fund, for instance, was placed with a trustee of the Community Trust to be expended—both principal and income—in furthering the exhibition in America of art material produced by students of the Vienna School of Arts and Crafts. With the aid of those funds, this Austrian Art Exhibition, after being shown at the Metropolitan Museum, the Art Centre and the Brooklyn Institute here, has been sent also to Philadelphia, Washington, Baltimore, Harrisburg, Syracuse and various other cities. Though the original principal sum was consumed, it has happened that receipts from the sales of reproductions of the art material has practically reconstituted now the fund that was first available.
> 3. Receipts from policies of life insurance placed in trust for public purposes. An example of this is the fund being collected to perpetuate the machinery of commercial arbitration of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. With the assistance of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, one-third of a million dollars worth of insurance is being written on the life of the Chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The principal of these various policies will be placed in trust with the trustees of the Community Trust to constitute a permanent fund whose income shall support the Chamber's secretariat for arbitration. Approximately $125,000 worth of this insurance has been written.
> 4. Wills. The great bulk of the Community Trust's resources in the future will come from this source. During the last few months a number of such wills have been drawn and more are in preparation.
> During the past year the number of trustee companies has been increased from seven to twelve and is likely to be enlarged still further. These institutions are the American Trust Co., the Chase National Bank, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Co-operative Trust Co., the Coal & Iron National Bank, the Equitable Trust Co., the Fidelity-International Trust Co., the First National Bank of Brooklyn, the Kings County Trust Co., the Manufacturers Trust Co., the Seaboard National Bank, the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. and the United States Mortgage & Trust Co.
> The people of the city are coming increasingly to realize the simplicity and efficacy of the Community Trust plan. A dozen institutions receive and hold funds in trust, whether those funds are large or small, temporary or permanent. A central Distribution Committee chosen in part by the trustees and selected in part from public sources, supervise forever the use of income so as to carry into execution and keep in effect the spirit of the donor's gift.

The Community Trust announced on April 13 a working arrangement for the permanent support of civic and philanthropic agencies, through the co-operative effort of a number of financial institutions, life insurance companies and a central committee containing representatives of the general public. The project is already in operation in all its essential parts, though on a miniature scale. The plan, it was stated, contemplated:

> (1) The utilization of life insurance as a source of future income for civic and philanthropic agencies.
> (2) The designation of one of the trustees associated in the Community Trust, to administer as trust funds the proceeds of insurance policies.
> (3) The supervision of the Community Trust's Distribution Committee over expenditures of income, with authority to prevent future obsolescence.

Named among policy holders under the new plan were Frederick P. Keppel, President of the Carnegie Corporation, and Lawson Purdy, formerly President of the Municipal Department of Taxes and assessments, and now General Director of the Charity Organization Society. Dr. Keppel's policy, it was stated, was for the eventual benefit of the permanent alumni fund of Columbia University, where he was formerly Dean of the college, before becoming Assistant Secretary of War in 1917. Mr. Purdy named the Charity Organization Society as ultimate beneficiary. In the former instance the Seaboard National Bank will act as trustee and in the latter case the Equitable Trust Co. Charles L. Bernheimer, Chairman of the Arbitration Committee of the New York State Chamber of Commerce, has taken a policy, whose proceeds will constitute the first unit of an endowment fund to perpetuate the arbitration work of the Chamber's committee.

Directors Meeting of Federal Reserve Bank of New York to be Held on Thursday Instead of Wednesday.

Announcement is made that the regular weekly meetings of the directors of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York will be held until further notice at 2 p. m. on Thursday, instead of 10 a. m. on Wednesday as heretofore.

Resignation of Shepard Morgan as Assistant Federal Reserve Agent of New York Federal Reserve Bank.

Shepard Morgan has resigned as assistant Federal Reserve Agent at the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to accept an appointment on the staff of S. Parker Gilbert Jr., Agent General for reparation payments under the Dawes plan.

The departure of Mr. Morgan for Europe, at the request of Mr. Gilbert, was referred to by us a week ago, page 2364. Mr. Morgan has been associated with the Federal Reserve Bank of New York since January 1918, first as comptroller of the Government Loan Organization, and since May 1919, as assistant Federal Reserve Agent. In that position he has had supervision of the relations of the bank with its members and the public, of its statistical service, and of its various published reports. Mr. Morgan was graduated from Williams College in 1906 and took an M. A. degree in 1907. From 1908 to 1914 he was on the reporting staff of the New York "Sun," and from 1914 to 1917 was with the Department of Finance of the City of New York, serving during the last year as Deputy Comptroller. For a year prior to Oct. 1 Mr. Morgan was on leave of absence from the bank and traveled abroad, devoting considerable time to a study of economic and financial conditions in different countries.

New Federal Reserve Bank Branch Sought at Charlotte, N. C.

Charlotte, N. C., has been recommended as the site for a branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, according to a dispatch from the latter city, remarks the "Baltimore Sun" of Nov. 19, which goes on to say:

The Federal Reserve Board at Washington has received informal notification that the Richmond bank directors had decided in favor of the establishment of such a branch and acting on this information the board informed the Richmond bank that it would grant a hearing when the proposal is ready. The question of the establishment of a branch at some point in the two Carolinas has been pending since 1921.

The question was recently reopened and a committee from the directors of the Richmond bank was appointed to discuss the matter with the bankers of North and South Carolina. Briefs were prepared by bankers in Charlotte, Wilmington, Greensboro, Spartanburg, Greenville and Columbia, all of which were contenders for the location of the branch. The final outcome was that the directors of the Reserve Bank voted to recommend that the proposed branch be established in Charlotte.

Ruling of Federal Reserve Board on Right of Member Bank Having Trust Powers to Deposit Uninvested Trust Funds in Its Savings Department and Treat Them as Time Deposits for Reserve Purposes.

Under the above head the Federal Reserve Board announces the following ruling:

The questions were recently raised whether a member bank which is authorized to exercise trust powers may deposit trust funds awaiting investment or distribution in its savings department and, if so, under what circumstances such deposits may be treated as time deposits for purposes of reserve requirements. With regard to these questions the Board ruled as follows:

A member bank legally authorized to act as trustee, executor, etc., may deposit trust funds awaiting investment or distribution in its savings department, as well as in its strictly commercial department, provided that the terms of the trust permit and that appropriate collateral security is deposited in the bank's trust department, as provided in Section V of the Board's Regulation F, Series of 1924. In this connection, the phrase "commercial department," as used in Section V of the Board's Regulation F, is intended to refer generally to the banking department of the trustee bank, as distinguished from its trust department, and to include its savings and other time accounts departments.

Deposits of trust funds thus made in the trustee bank's savings department may be treated as time deposits for reserve purposes, provided they conform to the relevant provisions of the Board's Regulation D, Series of 1924. Whether or not deposits of uninvested trust funds in the banking department of the trustee bank give rise to demand, or to time deposit liabilities, will depend upon the conditions under which such deposits are made, and this question is to be determined in the light of the Board's rulings and regulations defining demand and time deposits.

It is to be remembered, of course, that deposits of trust funds should not be permitted to remain in the savings or commercial department of the trustee bank for an unreasonable time, since the law clearly contemplates and the Board's regulation F provides that only trust funds awaiting investment or distribution may be employed in the trustee bank's banking department. All such deposits should, therefore, be withdrawn from the banking department when ready for distribution or as soon as an opportunity to invest the m in more appropriate and remunerative channels arises. In view of these considerations, it would seem inappropriate in most cases to make deposits of trust funds subject to notice of withdrawal.

Federal Reserve Board Requires State Banks Which Contemplate Exercising Trust Powers to Secure Permission Therefor from Board.

The Federal Reserve Board announces a ruling to the effect that every State bank whose business consists of commercial banking, and which has been admitted to membership in the Federal Reserve System subject to the Board's regulations governing admission of State banks to the Federal Reserve System, issued under date of Aug. 15 1924, must obtain the permission of the Reserve Board before engaging in a trust business. The following is the Board's regulation:

The Board recently ruled that the opening of a trust department by a State member bank, which had theretofore exercised only the general powers of commercial banking, constituted a material broadening in the functions of the bank within the meaning of the Board's general condition of membership to which the bank had agreed upon becoming a member. The substance of this condition is now contained in the Board's Regulation H, Series of 1924, as condition No. 1 of Section IV, and is as follows:

Except with the permission of the Federal Reserve Board, such bank or trust company shall not cause or permit any change to be made in the general character of its assets or in the scope of the functions exercised by it at the time of admission to membership, such as will tend to affect materially the standard maintained at the time of its admission to the Federal Reserve System and required as a condition of membership.

The Board rules, therefore, that every State bank which has been admitted to membership subject to the terms of this general condition or which has been or may be admitted to membership subsequent to the effective date of the Board's Regulation H, Series of 1924, viz, Aug. 15 1924, must obtain permission of the Federal Reserve Board bfore such bank opens a trust department or engages de novo in trust business.

New York Sub-Treasury Not to Be Used as Prohibition Offices—To Be Preserved as Historic Structure.

It appears that it has been decided not to convert the New York Sub-Treasury Building, at Wall and Nassau streets, into an office for the prohibition forces for New York and Northern New Jersey, as had previously been intimated, and as was noted in these columns Oct. 25, page 1908. It has developed that it is proposed to retain the building as an historic structure, the New York "Times" of Nov. 19 having the following to say in the matter:

Prohibition headquarters for New York and the offices of Federal narcotic agents will not be moved to the old Sub-Treasury at Nassau and Wall streets. Announcement was made yesterday simultaneously by Chief R. Q. Merrick of the local enforcement unit and the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society that the famous old building, rich in American history, would not be put to any such use.

An announcement made by the preservation organization embodied part of a letter written on behalf of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in which it was made plain that the Government would adhere to its policy of saving the old building. No definite use for it has been determined.

It was early in October that prohibition headquarters here made known its intention of moving from the present quarters at 1107 Broadway to the Wall Street address, in order to save rent and get more commodious quarters. There was an instant protest from patriotic individuals and organizations, who felt that the use to which it was about to be put was unworthy and that because of the character of the prohibition department's clients, the removal would bring into the Wall Street district a host of undesirables. The Sub-Treasury has been closed since the removal of the Federal Reserve Bank to its new building at Nassau and Liberty streets.

Just what will be done with it now is uncertain, but it was expected that some of the organizations which bestirred themselves to keep the prohibition people out would seize the opportunity to press for putting the building to some fitting and dignified public use.

The announcement by the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society said:

"In correspondence with the Treasury Department on the subject, suggesting the use of the building as an historic headquarters, the American Scenic and Historic Preservation Society called Secretary Mellon's attention to the many traditions which endeared the site to the hearts of the American people, and said:

" 'On account of the many historic events which have occurred on this site—the razing of the City Wall in 1699, including the inauguration of Washington as first President of the United States, the meeting of the First Congress and the enactment of laws fundamentally affecting the future history of the nation, the Sub-Treasury has come to be a sort of Faneuil Hall and meeting place for patriotic gatherings of the highest value in conserving our best national traditions.' "

Several months ago it had been announced that the Treasury Department at Washington had no intention of disposing of the Sub-Treasury Building at New York when the Federal Reserve Bank of New York vacated the building, advices to this effect from Washington, July 28, appearing in the New York "Journal of Commerce" stating:

The Treasury intends to maintain the New York Sub-Treasury Building, discontinued as a sub-treasury two years ago, as a "national historic monument," and will under no conditions dispose of it, Acting Secretary Winston announced to-day as a result of reports that the famous building was to be sold by the Government.

As soon as the New York Federal Reserve Bank vacates the structure, the Treasury will place in it some of the Federal offices in New York, which are badly congested now due to lack of adequate space.

The New York "Herald-Tribune" in a dispatch from Washington July 28 quoted one of the Treasury officials as saying:

There never has been any intention of getting rid of the Sub-Treasury either through sale, lease, or otherwise. This department is unable to account for the large number of letters that have been received protesting against the reported disposal.

Annual Report of Secretary of Commerce Hoover—Elimination of National Waste Keynote of Report—Trade Associations, &c.

"Elimination of national waste" is the keynote of Secretary Hoover's annual report, made public at the Department of Commerce on Nov. 28. Under this head Mr. Hoover reviews the accomplishments of the Department during the first three years of the present Administration, notably in the fields of unemployment, seasonal construction, coal, super-power, standardization, simplified practice, co-operative marketing and the reduction of housing costs. Trade association activities are discussed from the same angle. The Conference on Street and Highway Safety, to be held at the Department next month, is referred to as an effort to cope with "the most challenging of all wastes—the waste of human life." Secretary Hoover says:

A definite constructive national program has been developed for the elimination of waste in our economic system. The need is plain. The American standard of living is the product of high wages to producers and low prices to consumers. The road to national progress lies in increasing real wages through proportionately lower prices. The one and only way is to improve methods and processes and to eliminate waste. Just as 20 years ago we undertook nation-wide conservation of natural resources, so now we must undertake nation-wide elimination of waste. Regulation and laws are of but minor effect on these fundamental things. But by well-directed economic forces, by co-operation in the community, we cannot only maintain American standards of living—we can raise them.

We have the highest ingenuity and efficiency in the operation of our industry and commerce of any nation in the world. Yet our economic machine is far from perfect. Wastes are legion. There are wastes which arise from widespread unemoplyment during depressions, and from speculation and over-production in booms; wastes attributable to labor turnover and the stress of labor conflicts; wastes due to intermittent and seasonal production, as in the coal and construction industries; vast wastes from strictures in commerce due to inadequate transportation, such as the lack of sufficient terminals; wastes caused by excessive variations in products; wastes in materials, arising from lack of efficient processes; wastes by fire, and wastes in human life.

Against these and other wastes the Department, acting always in co-operation with the industries, has for the past three years developed an increasingly definite program. As these manifold activities of the Department are based upon co-operation with industry and commerce, none of them leads to paternalistic ends.

At the outset the Secretary reviews briefly the work of the National Conference on Unemployment in 1921, and says that the report on "Unemployment and the Business Cycle" did much to curb the beginnings of a dangerous boom in the spring of 1923. In response to the need for more adequate industrial statistics, stressed in the Business Cycle Committee's report, the Department inaugurated the publication of the monthly "Survey of Current Business" which has been steadily expanded until it now covers 1,400 separate items. A second committee from the Unemployment Conference undertook the study of seasonal operation in the construction industries. This committee made its report last July. As to this, Secretary Hoover says:

The report showed conclusively that custom, not climate, is mainly responsible for the seasonal ups and downs in building, and that these evils are largely unnecessary and can be eliminated. For most types of construction it is now possible to build the year round in all parts of the United States. The elimination of these wastes would strengthen the entire business structure, for construction is the balance wheel of American industry. The value of yearly construction in the United States is more than $5,000,000,000. If building falls off, there is always a slackening in many other lines of industry, resulting in unemployment, decreased purchasing power of employees, and further depression.

The annual report then turns to the bituminous coal industry. Investigations made early in the present administration revealed the high instability of this industry and the fact that it was functioning at great national loss. Of accomplishments in this field Mr. Hoover says:

Through co-operation of trade associations of the principal industrial consumers, through Chambers of Commerce and public utilities a large amount of regular summer storage has been induced. Through the fine co-operation of the railways greater equipment and terminal facilities have been provided and car shortages have been largely eliminated. Through co-operation by the Department with the unionized operators and with the leaders of the United Mine Workers a long-term agreement has been entered upon, which insures industrial peace in the industry.

It is true that during the past few months the industry has been somewhat demoralized by the large stocks of coal accumulated in anticipation of a possible strike last spring, and by the lessened demand during the summer. The broad result of gained stability, however, has been that the public has received its coal during the last fiscal year at the lowest price of any year since before the war. The past year, as compared to the year 1920, shows a saving to the consumer of about one billion dollars, which must be reflected in decreasing costs of production in every avenue of industry and commerce.

The program of the Northeastern Super-power Committee, under Mr. Hoover's chairmanship, is discussed as another effort in the direction of waste elimination. Revision of Federal and State purchasing specifications, under the auspices of the Bureau of Standards, is still another. Industrial research work undertaken by the Bureau, in co-operation with the industries concerned, and with a view to improvement in technical processes, is still another. There was also established in the Bureau a Division of Simplified Practice, to help eliminate the wastes arising from unnecessary diversification. The Secretary continues:

Soon after the division was established the national brick manufacturers brought to its attention the need for simplifying the number of sizes of paving bricks. It developed that no less than 66 sizes were actually being manufactured and sold. This Department promptly called a conference of all interested parties, with the result that varieties of paving brick were reduced by mutual consent from 66 to 11. Since then there has been a further reduction to five varieties. This is but a sample of the accomplishments of this division. During the year under review varieties of files and rasps were simplified from 1,351 to 498; range boilers from 130 to 13; sizes of bed blankets from 78 to 12, etc.

The Department of Commerce has also moved in the direction of eliminating distribution waste, the report reveals, by conducting an exhaustive investigation into the processes of marketing perishable produce. After summarizing the wastes of the present-day system, Mr. Hoover concludes:

It has been the Department's view that the best remedy for these evils lies in the extension of co-operative marketing and in the better organization of the distributers at the terminal markets. The Department has already proposed a definite plan which I believe will mobilize economic forces to reduce these wastes with a minimum of Governmental intervention.

Under the head of reducing housing costs, Mr. Hoover makes the following comments:

The high cost of housing construction brought to the front the necessity for the elimination of waste in that field as a contribution to lowering costs within the purchasing power of the community, and so maintaining activity. Aside from the work of the Department upon the simplification of building materials, the Division of Building and Housing was established to attack such problems as the development of uniform municipal building codes, the investigation of losses and wastes in financing home building, and the study of city and town zoning.

With the co-operation of those directly concerned, the Division has prepared a standard municipal building code for small house construction, a recommended plumbing code and a standard State zoning enabling Act which has already been adopted by 13 States. During the past year officials of the Department joined with private endeavor to form "Better Homes in America" as an organization for education and public service, under the presidency of Mr. Hoover. The report tells how the Department recently took the lead in an investigation of the tremendous human and physical losses due to traffic accidents. A number of committees of representative men from all parts of the country have been at work on preliminary studies, and will make their reports to a National Conference on Street and Highway Safety to be held in Washington, Dec. 15. A committee on statistics has already brought in a report indicating that the deaths in 1923 were not less than 22,600, the number of people injured not less than 678,000, and the total economic loss not less than $600,000,000.

In the section of the report dealing with trade associations Mr. Hoover says:

One of the most important agencies through which the elimination of waste may be promoted is the trade association. It is true that a small minority of these associations have been in the past used as cloaks for restraint of trade by such activities as open-price associations and other attempts to control distribution or prices. It is equally true that the vast majority of trade associations have no such purpose and do no such things. The dividing line, however, between what activities are in the public interest and what are not in the public interest is not to-day clearly defined either by the law or by court decision.

In consequence of recent decisions of the courts many associations are fearful of proceeding with work of vital public importance, and we are losing the value of much admirable activity. At the same time we are keeping alive the possibility of wrongful acts. It is imperative that some definition should be made by which an assurance of legality in proper conduct can be had, and by which illegality or improper conduct may be more vigorously attacked.

Any collective activity can be used as a smoke screen to cover conspiracy against the public interest, but that is no reason for condemning all collective activities. Just because automobiles are sometimes used by bootleggers for the illegal transportation of liquor we do not prohibit their manufacture or their legitimate use.

Part I of the report consists of a reprint of the statement on "Economic Progress," given out for release on Nov. 17 and published in our issue of last week, page 2373.

Annual Report of the Director of the Census—Census of Agriculture Proposed.

In his annual report to the Secretary of Commerce, made public on Nov. 18, William M. Steuart, Director of the Census, describes the census work during the fiscal year ended June 30 1924. The statistical subjects concerning which data were collected and compiled during that year included, among others, the following: Inmates of institutions, including prisons and reformatories; births and deaths; marriage and divorce; electrical industries; manufacturing industries; wealth, public debt and taxation; State and municipal finance; current industrial and business conditions; cotton and cotton seed and leaf tobacco stocks.

Preparations are being made for a census of agriculture, to be taken in January 1925. This census, at which will be collected data in regard to acreage of farm land, acreage and production of principal crops, number and value of domestic animals, etc., will be the first census of agriculture ever taken except in connection with a decennial census of population. During the fiscal year the Bureau issued 217 printed reports, bulletins, etc., with a total of nearly 17,000 pages and an aggregate edition of more than 3,000,000. In addition, more than 1,000 multigraphed and mimeographed press releases, with a total edition of more than 1,500,000, were distributed to the press and to organizations and individuals. A statement from the Director's office also says:

During the fiscal year a number of improvements and economies in the census work were put into effect, and others already in effect were further developed. These included, among others, the bringing about of closer and more effective co-operation between the Bureau and industrial and commercial organizations, manufacturers and State and local officials; the reoragnization and simplification of the tabulation of industrial statistics; greater promptness of publication and reduction in printing costs. As one result of these economies, the Bureau was able to return to the Treasury between $20,000 and $30,000 of the amount appropriated to carry on the census work during the fiscal year.

The census statistics in regard to the Bureau's numerous inquiries are published with a minimum of delay and the preliminary summaries, which are issued in some cases a year or more in advance of the publication of the final reports, now present a greater amount of detail than formerly. The Monthly Survey of Current Business, the publication of which was begun in July 1921, covers more than 1,000 indexes of commercial and industrial activity and is sent to a mailing list comprising approximately 8,500 paid subscribers, in addition to newspapers, trade associations, representatives of the United States Consular Service and commercial attaches.

With the view of avoiding delay and duplication of work, the Director recommends legislation transferring the collection of data as to quantities of leaf tobacco held by certain classes of manufacturers and dealers from the Bureau of the Census to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The census force at the close of the fiscal year 1924 comprised 792 employees. During the past 10 years the increase in the census work has been relatively much greater than the increase in the Bureau's force.

Reclassification, although raising the census salaries to some extent, nevertheless did not remove in its entirety the handicap under which the Census Bureau has always labored as a result of its relatively low salary scale.

Mark Sullivan, Praising Address of Sir Auckland Geddes, Says America Also Enjoys Economic and Industrial Dominance—Washington Official Circles See Britain Ready for New Arms Conference.

Praising the utterance of Sir Auckland Geddes (given elsewhere in this issue) in which the former British Ambassador declared that Great Britain conceded world leadership to America, Mark Sullivan, in a copyright article published in the New York "Herald-Tribune" on Nov. 13, said that America's acquisition of world leadership included "economic and financial dominance." In his opinion conditions in the United States are set for an "era of great activity," and "we have in America," he continued, "an industrial equipment sufficient when going full to supply more than twice our own population." In furtherance of his statement that foreign countries, even when producing on the basis of lower labor costs, will not be able to undersell us, he said: "When we are geared up to supply our own hundred millions, the cost of the unit of output for export will be lower than in any other country, because no other nation has so large a home market with which to absorb its first costs and its overhead expense." Mark Sullivan feared that reprisals might be taken in the shape of an industrial alliance among the nations of Europe with the view of keeping out American goods. The article read:

Among several other aspects this passing of leadership to America was discussed in Washington in the light of that economic and financial dominance which many of our own people do not yet realize is ours. The question was asked: How can we so conduct that dominance as to cause all other nations and their spokesmen to be as gracious as Sir Auckland Geddes was, and so as not to give rise to motives for just attempts at reprisal?

Vast Expansion Ahead.

This aspect of the question is tied up with the era of prosperity and expansion of industry that is just ahead of the United States. As one leader of American business, now in the government service, analyzed it to-day, we have in America an industrial equipment sufficient when going full to supply more than twice our own population. That means that we shall be selling or trying to sell about half our output abroad. If we try to sell abroad, we shall probably be able to do so. As to many lines, foreign countries will not be able to undersell us, even with their lower costs of labor, because with us the factor of quantity production enters. When we are geared up to supply our own hundred millions, the cost of the unit of output for export will be lower than in any other country, because no other nation has so large a home market with which to absorb its first costs and its overhead expense.

In these circumstances the fear is that as soon as we get going in the cycle of immense production now ahead of us, there will arise first the temptation on the part of other countries to set up the tariff barriers against us. Thereafter, there will arise in the judgment of one thoughtful leader, a motive for all Europe to combine into industrial units for the sake of effective competition against us. For example, if this foresight is right, the entire steel business of Europe, in France, Germany, England and elsewhere, will have a motive and a pressure to combine into one great integrated unit such as the United States Steel Corporation is. Politically, this kind of combination by the business interests of nations hostile to each other may seem fantastic, but on the economic side it seems inevitable to one of the best business minds in the writer's acquaintance.

Little Discontent Here.

Whatever such eventualities as this may later happen, the belief is universal in Washington that America is all "set" for a period of expansion of industry probably never before equalled. To this judgment the writer is unable to find any thoughtful person who fails to assent. Persons who have checked up carefully all the conditions say they find none operating against an era of great activity. Not the least of these conditions favorable to business is the comparatively small amount of political discontent in the country, as shown by the recent election. Substantially all the vote of discontent was deposited with La Follette. The aggregate of La Follette's vote appears to be less than five millions, or about 13 to 14% of the whole.

But by no means all of that is a vote of discontent. La Follette's vote included much more than the discontented. It included, for example, much of the German vote, which is among the most conservative vote we have. When the Steuben Society indorsed La Follette their leaders said they would give him 6,000,000 votes. That figure, it turns out, was more than all the vote La Follette got. If we assume that half of La Follette's vote represented discontent, we should have about 7% as the proportion of discontent in America.

Carter Field, also writing to the New York "Herald-Tribune," Nov. 13, discussed in another light the impression produced in Washington circles by the address of Sir Auckland Geddes. He said:

President Coolidge and Secretary of State Hughes, both of whom are eager to call a second international armament limitation conference at the earliest opportune moment, were greatly encouraged by the speech in London yesterday of Sir Auckland Geddes, former British Ambassador here, dwelling on the close relations between the British dominions and the United States.

It is believed in official circles that the speech of Sir Auckland demonstrates that Great Britain is ready for the move, which is another way of saying that the British statesmen have concluded that certain obstacles which prevented the Washington conference from achieving the maximum hoped for it, particularly on land armaments and on submarines and anti-submarine craft, have now been at least softened, if not removed.

Sir Auckland Geddes, Former British Ambassador, Concedes World Leadership to America—Pleads for Co-Operation between the two Countries in Interests of World Peace.

Delivering the first of a series of Walter Hines Page memorial lectures at London, England, on Tuesday (Nov. 11), Sir Auckland Geddes, formerly British Ambassador to the United States, took as his text the late Ambassador Page's question to President Wilson, "What will the United States do with England and her colonies when the leadership of the world falls to her?" and said: "We know we have yielded the position of leadership to America in connection with the work designed for the hig er service of humanity." As an example of this, the lecturer instanced the Washington Arms Conference. Discussing the relations between Britain and her colonies and between America and British colonies, Sir Auckland Geddes said that "it often happens that when our dominions look to us here there is no sympathetic answer, no understanding, and they look to Washington. And Washington," continued the speaker, "is not devoid of eyes and will look back at them." He declared there was an instinctive understanding in Washington of the difficulties of some of the British commission, "particularly those who look out on the Pacific." Sir Auckland Geddes proceeded to plead for closer co-operation between the United States and Great Britain in the interests of world peace, adding that this co-operation in the future will be comparatively easy, "provided only we have wise statesmanship in London as well as in Washington." We give the subjoined extracts from the lecture:

The dominions speak of us as the motherland and of our Parliament as the mother of Parliaments. I think that the insistence on the word "mother," which is affectionate in intention, makes that a tribute to something of old age, if not senility, in regard to our in titutions.

They look upon the Government of Washington as of their own generation, and any one who knows of what the people of our sister dominions are thinking knows that some of them, particularly those who look out on the Pacific, feel that in Washington there is an instinctive understanding of difficulties which, when they come to London, they have laboriously to explain to Downing Street.

In Canada American newspapers, magazines and goods are all there; an invicible border divides the territories under the British flag and the flag of the United States. They pass and repass that border and play the same games with one another without knowing anything of the difference in nationalities.

It often happens that when our dominions look to us here there is no sympathetic answer, no understanding, and they look to Washington. And Washington is not devoid of eyes and will look back at them.

Walter Page, before the war was able to see that this great Empire, owing to its conscious diversity, was likely to yield more and more to a compact empire. It is no use to pretend that America does not at this time profoundly influence us and the Empire. We know we have yielded the position of leadership to America in connection with the work designed for the higher service of humanity.

Pleading for co-operation between the two countries, Sir Auckland said:

Close co-operation between the two countries a few years ago may have been impossible. Now it is not only possible, but in many cases a fact of history. Co-operation in the future will be comparatively easy, provided only we have wise statesmanship in London as well as in Washington.

I believe that throughout the United States there is a desire to co-operate with all parts of the British Empire, with an occasional exception, which I think is rather vague, of co-operating with England.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who also spoke, declared there were three reasons for the emigration of British people to the United States—to obtain complete freedom of conscience; to make a new start; to be quit of Europe. Mr. Baldwin also said that "the greatest lesson we as a country ever learned, we learned from America 150 years ago. She taught us how to manage our colonies happily." The Prime Minister concluded by saying that in future the sea must be a highway, not a separator.

American Investments Abroad Put at Five Billion Dollars by John E. Barber of the First National Bank of Los Angeles.

American investment abroad of $1,000,000,000 prior to the World War has increased until it now totals $5,000,000,000, exclusive of advances to foreign countries by the United States Treasury during and since the war, aggregating an additional $10,000,000,000. This was the statement made by John E. Barber, Vice-President of the First National Bank of Los Angeles, in an address entitled "American Investment Abroad," delivered on Oct. 24 before the Arizona State Bankers' Convention, held in Prescott, Arizona. Mr. Barber served as confidential assistant to Henry M. Robinson, one of the three United States experts appointed by the Reparation Commission which committees evolved the Dawes plan now in operation. Investment abroad is being added to at present by more than $500,000,000 annually, the largest rate of increase of any country in the world, Mr. Barber stated. A return on this present investment, he declared, means an annual income to investors here from interest alone almost as great as the total amount of foreign securities held by Americans in 1914.

Foreign investment stabilizes our money market and credit structure, Mr. Barber explained, by creating for the United States credits in foreign countries which can later be availed of, as well as utilizing some portion of our excess gold supplies and reducing the danger of gold inflation. He pointed out that half of the monetary gold of the world is in this country, giving the United States a position of unprecedented strength in extending foreign credits without curtailing in the slightest degree domestic requirements. Increased national income from from foreign securities held here is a relatively new revenue in our national experience, he said, and is of great value, especially in times of stringency at home. Foreign investment promotes expansion of our world trade by stimulating production abroad and thus creating greater purchasing power for American products, he added. Mr. Barber voiced a word of warning against undiscriminate or careless foreign investment, which might easily prove disastrous. The American investor, he said, should have accurate, comprehensive and continuous information concerning actual or prospective foreign borrowers in American markets, whether governmental, municipal or corporate. The proposal of the Investment Bankers' Association to create such a Bureau of Information was favorably commented upon by the speaker. Mr. Barber's address, in full, follows:

The achievement within a few years by the United States of a position of financial ascendency which in the normal course of events would have taken from 50 to 100 years to accomplish raises some interesting questions concerning the best utilization of our newly acquired wealth and influence.

One of these relates to the investment abroad of American capital. Such investment, although relatively new in our national financial experience, offers this country a two-fold opportunity: First, to make an appropriate and helpful contribution to the post war reconstruction of the world; and, secondly, to serve the country's own self-interest.

Extent of American Investment Abroad.

Prior to the war American investment abroad, which according to the best estimates amounted to only about $1,000,000,000, was almost negligible in proportion to our national wealth. To be compared with this are England's foreign investment at the end of 1913, estimated by Sir George Paish to be about $18,000,000,000, and Germany's investment abroad in July 1914, estimated by the McKenna Committee appointed by the Reparation Commission to be approximately $7,000,000,000.

Our former limited investment abroad was due to prejudice on the part of American investors, owing to their lack of knowledge of foreign conditions and unfamiliarity with foreign securities and also to the fact that sound domestic issues yielding good returns were obtainable for our investment capital as it accrued.

However, since 1914 the situation has completely changed. Through necessity and education our old prejudice has been overcome to an amazing extent, until it is probable that American private investments abroad at this time exceed $5,000,000,000. This is exclusive of advances to foreign countries by the United States Treasury during and since the war, aggregating about $10,000,000,000. This is being added to at present by over $500,000,000 each year, the largest rate of increase of any country in the world. If our $5,000,000,000 invested abroad averages a return of 7%, and most foreign advances do carry a high rate, our annual income from interest alone is almost as great as the total amount of foreign securities held by Americans in the middle of 1914 as estimated by the Federal Reserve Board.

The total amount of securities being placed at this time in American financial markets, according to figures presented recently to the Investment Bankers' Association, aggregates between 4 and 5 billions of dollars annually. This includes all manner of public offerings, bonds or stocks, State, county, city and other municipal bonds, public utility, railroad and industrial securities, as well as foreign government, municipal and corporation issues.

The amount of foreign capital flotations, including Canadian securities, in American markets in 1923 was over $500,000,000. For the first nine months of 1924 such foreign flotations had already amounted to nearly $700,000,000 and will probably aggregate for 1924 close to one billion dollars. In other words, foreign capital flotation now comprise approximately 20% of our total national investment each year.

Different Types of Foreign Investment.

There are three types of foreign investment on capital account:

First, direct investment in mining, trading and exploitation enterprises. England has been the great exponent of this method of building up the national fortune. While the risks are great, the rewards are commensurate. Yet this is a type of foreign investment in which the initiative may be more properly taken by large private aggregations of capital than by inexperienced investors unable to distribute their risks so skillfully. A substantial investment of this character has already been made by American business interests in power, lumber and mineral enterprises in Canada, in oil and mining development in Mexico, in copper mines in South America and in trading companies operating in the Orient and on the West Coast of South America. There will probably be many tempting opportunities in the future for American capital to participate in shipping, banking and other industrial and commercial enterprises overseas. In fact, American financial interests have just organized a $25,000,000 financing corporation to supply working capital to German and other foreign concerns. This latest American enterprise is formed on a participating or partnership basis, in that American capitalists participate with foreign bankers and business men in the ownership and management of the properties they finance.

Under this heading should be noted also the purchase by American investors of $12,000,000 bonds of the industrial Mortgage Bank of Finland and $22,000,000 bonds of Industrial Bank of Japan, Ltd., and $19,900,000 bonds of the Oriental Development Co., Ltd., Japan, all companies formed to accelerate the industrial development of their respective countries.

Second, the supplying of capital to foreign utility and industrial corporations. Development in this field is rapid at this time, and American investors, through their purchase of dollar securities of the borrowing corporations, are to-day financing leading railroad systems and steel plants in France; chemical companies in Belgium; tramways in Norway; telephone and telegraph companies in Central and South America; hydroelectric enterprises in Japan, Norway, Austria and Italy; railroads, street railways, electric light and power systems, paper and lumber companies in Canada; and sugar companies and railways in Cuba.

Third, loans to foreign governments and municipalities. The absorption by the American investing public of such securities on any extensive scale dates with the beginning of the war and the placing of loans of allied and neutral powers in this market. The American market has continued to take loans of foreign governments and municipalities on a constantly broadening scale, until to-day the listing of such securities in New York City reveals American investment of this type in practically every quarter of the world.

It includes all of the leading countries of Europe; Great Britain, France, Germany, Belgium, Holland, Italy and Switzerland; all of the Scandinavian countries; Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Finland; the countries of Southeastern Europe: Austria, Hungary, Czecho-Slovakia and Jugo-Slavia; countries as widely separated in type and racial characteristics as Russia, Japan, China and Palestine; the leading States of South America and Central America; Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, Uraguay, Bolivia, Bahia, Ceara, Rio Grand do Sul, Santa Catharina and San Paulo; Colombia, Santa Domingo, Haiti, Panama and Salvador.

Dominions, provinces and colonial possessions are much in evidence: e. g., the Dominion of Canada and the leading provinces of Nova Scotia, Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Manitoba and British Columbia; The Dutch East Indies, Cuba and Australia.

Many leading cities of the world are included in the roster: e. g., Copenhagen, Christiania, Rotterdam, Lyons, Bordeaux, Marseilles, Soissons, Berne, Zurich, Prague, Carlsbad, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Montevideo, Bogota; and on the North American continent, Quebec, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Calgary and other Canadian cities.

All told, there are over one hundred different borrowers represented in this list.

On the whole, our experience with such foreign loans (if we exclude Russia) has been quite satisfactory, not only from the standpoint of regular payment of interest and principal installments, but in the maintenance of price levels. Although fluctuations in foreign securities have often been wider than with domestic securities, the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York recently pointed out that the present market value of foreign securities issued since 1914 and now listed and traded in on the New York Stock Exchange shows an average advance over and above the original issue price of more than 4%, or $40 per $1,000 bond.

Short Term and Acceptance Credits.

To be distinguished from the above investments abroad on capital account, are private short term commercial and acceptance credits, which are being extended in considerable volume by commercial banking institutions to foreign industrial borrowers. Such private credits are designed primarily to facilitate the importation of essential raw materials into Germany and other countries for re-export in manufactured form.

The largest of these credits is that extended by a syndicate of American banks headed by the International Acceptance Bank, Incorporated, to the German Gold Discount Bank in the amount of $25,000,000. This American credit parallels similar credits established by the Bank of England and by a syndicate of London banks each for 5,000,000 pounds sterling. The operation of this credit provides for the discounting with American institutions of German trade bills of not to exceed 90 days' maturity, which are first endorsed by a responsible German bank and then, in addition, by the German Gold Discount Bank. Such German bills are drawn in dollars and are payable in the United States, and are eligible for rediscount with the Federal Reserve Banks.

There have also been a number of acceptance credits arranged by American banks for German industrial borrowers where the basic security has been an actual commodity. Typical of this group is the six months' credit of $4,000,000 extended to German sugar producers for purposes of financing during the current year the production, refining and eventually the exportation to world markets of a part of the German sugar crop. The bills are drawn by German sugar mills on German sugar refineries and accepted by the latter. They are then endorsed by important German banks and forwarded to New York for re-discount with the American banking syndicate which established the credit. No money is advanced until the borrower is able to produce warehouse receipts showing the sugar securing the loan to be ready for market and also an exportation license from the German Government permitting its shipment. As the sugar is exported and paid for, the proceeds are used to retire in dollars the advances made by the American banking syndicate. The sugar itself is continuouly pledged as security at a price sufficiently low to offset average fluctuations in price, while in utilizing the commodity itself as the basis for the loan, the risk of fluctuating German exchange values is eliminated.

Other credits resembling this in essential particulars have been reported as granted or under consideration to the German potash industry, to a syndicate of important German dye-stuff manufacturers, to leading German coal operators and to the textile industry in Russia. Characteristic of all such credits is the fact that the actual commodity, whether sugar or potash or coal or cotton, serves continuously as the underlying security throughout all stages of production or purchase, importation and manufacture, and until sold. Under such financing German industry deals largely with its own German banks, whose endorsement of the bills makes possible their ultimate eligibility for sale or re-discount with the Federal Reserve Banks.

The advantages of acceptance credits are chiefly their lower rate as compared with bonds and their liquidity. Such credits may be thoroughly protected from the standpoint of the lender and are particularly helpful in re-establishing foreign production where it has been crippled through lack of working capital. The credits already established by our institutions aggregate a large sum and will doubtless be augmented substantially if experience proves satisfactory.

The Advantages of Foreign Investment.

The advantages of foreign investment are not confined by any means, as some would maintain, to the commissions of bankers underwriting foreign securities. In the first place, foreign investment, by adding to the volume of our invisible exports, increases our national income by the amount which we receive from other countries in payment of interest and dividends on their securities held here. This is an important source of revenue relatively new in our national experience and of great value especially in times of stringency at home.

Foreign investment promotes expansion of our foreign trade by stimulating production abroad, which creates greater purchasing power for American products. The United States is over-expanded, agriculturally and industrially. We need outside markets. The war and resultant depression have so affected our trade with Europe, our largest customer, that whereas our foreign trade in this direction in 1913 constituted 55% of the total, it amounted to only 41% in 1923. It is obvious that anything which will promote the recuperation of Europe will improve our foreign trade.

Foreign investment stabilizes our money market and credit structure by creating for the United States credits in foreign countries which can later be availed of. This was exemplified in the case of France which met a substantial portion of the war indemnity of 1871 through the sale of foreign securities held by Frenchmen; and again in the case of France, England and Germany which, in 1914, realized huge sums for the sinews of war from the sale of foreign securities held by their nationals. Furthermore, annual payments due on account of dividends and interest on investments made abroad provide additional protection to any country against sudden demands upon her gold supply.

But of perhaps paramount importance to our country at this time, foreign investment will utilize some portion of our excess gold supplies and reduce the danger of gold inflation.

With half of the monetary gold of the world in this country, the United States occupies a position of unprecedented strength with respect to extending foreign credits without curtailing to the slightest degree domestic requirements. Due largely to our favorable trade balances, recent years have witnessed an unparalleled flow of gold toward our shores, the total accumulation here having exceeded $4,500,000,000 on Aug. 1 of this year, as compared with less than $3,000,000,000 three years ago. Ten years ago (July 1 1914) the total stock of gold coin and bullion in the United States was $1,890,000,000—only 40% of the total to-day—yet this was sufficient to support our currency and credit structure, although the Federal Reserve system was not yet in operation. As compared with the per capita gold holding of the world, including the United States, which the "Wall Street Journal" estimates at $5 60, the per capita gold holding of the United States alone on Aug. 1 1924 was $40 04.

This excessive supply of gold would support credit facilities far and above those which could safely be utilized in the normal growth and expansion of our domestic business, including the requirements of our municipal, railroad, public utility and industrial corporations. It constitutes a constant temptation to overuse of our superabundant credit facilities through speculation.

Our huge gold importations having created an enormous potential credit expansion, it is easy to understand why many of our bankers have feared the peril of gold inflation and why they and those officially in charge of our national monetary system have done what they could to avoid it. But with human nature so susceptible to cheap money and the banks under the necessity, caused by the double pressure of increasing deposits and decreasing rates, of using their credit facilities to maintain earning power, it is possible that the situation may get out of hand and the country be exposed again to the disastrous results of a period of inflation.

No better protection from this danger could be found than to place some portion of our excess gold supplies at the disposal of other countries which are suffering for the lack of it. This may be accomplished by the export of gold itself or by utilizing gold already here as a basis for credits extended to other countries.

Dangers and Safeguards of Foreign Investment.

Nevertheless, indiscriminate or careless foreign investment may easily prove disastrous. The experience of France before the war in loans to Russia and various Balkan countries involved a loss of billions of francs. It is not enough to rely blindly on the faith and credit of a foreign borrower against whom in case of default the investor may have little or no recourse. If the American investor is to have a satisfactory experience with foreign investment, so earnestly urged upon him from many quarters, he must have accurate and comprehensive and continuous information concerning actual or prospective borrowers, governmental, municipal and corporate in American markets.

In the case of a loan to a foreign government, the prospective purchaser should know the origin and history of its people and their religious, social and other national characteristics. Is it a homogeneous nation like England or France, or a polyglot nation like Jugo-Slavia? Is the government socialistic or paternalistic? Is it well established? Is the populatino mainly agricultural as in Hungary, or industrial as in Germany, Austria and Czecho-Slovakia? What are labor conditions at home? Is there a surplus as in Italy, unemployment as in England, long hours or low wages as in Germany and Japan? Labor conditions vitally affect the competitive position of a nation and hence the security of its external loans.

What is the geographical location of the nation and the type of its boundaries? Are they natural or artificial? All important in time of war. Is the country favorably situated in these respects, e. g., Canada—or unfavorably, e. g., Poland? What is the country's proximity to neighboring nations and what racial antagonisms exists?

What natural resources does the country possess, such as timber, coal, oil, iron, potash, nitrate and other raw materials or hydro-electric energy? Are such resources nationalized or wisely administered by private capital? To what extent is the country self-sufficient? Is it practically self-sustaining, e. g., United States and France, or is it dependent upon other nations for essential raw materials for its industries, e. g., Germany—or for foodstuffs as is England? What is the nature of the imports? of exports? What is normally the balance between them?

The financial condition of a foreign government or municipality, however, is equally important. What is its per capita wealth and debt? The proportion of income to the interest and amortization charges on its internal and external debt? Is the national income increasing or decreasing? What is the proportion between its borrowings abroad and at home? Is its currency stable and convertible into gold? What has been its financial and monetary history, particularly as regards repudiation? The ultimate security in foreign government and municipal loans is the taxing power and the difficulties of collection in case of a default are far greater than with domestic loans where tangible property is pledged.

The purpose for which the loan is issued is vital. Is it for productive or revenue producing improvements, such as railroads, harbor facilities, hydro-electric developments, etc., or for the purpose of stabilization of currency or restoring sound financial and economic conditions at home? Or, are loans desired for purposes of increasing armaments? or carrying on war? How will the loan be repaid or is sole reliance for meeting installments of principal placed on new borrowings?

Such information in simple readable form should be constantly available and sponsored by responsible and qualified financial interests which command public respect and confidence. Much excellent work along such lines has already been done by individual banking houses offering particular issues, but the proposal of the Investment Bankers' Association to create such a Bureau of Information relating to foreign securities marks a distinct advance.

Conclusion.

How large American investment abroad will eventually become, and what our ultimate experience in such fields will be, time alone can tell. One significant fact, however, is already apparent, viz.: that our national attitude toward other countries can be expressed quite as potently through financial as through political channels.

To appreciate this one needs only to observe the influence which American bankers and business men are lately exerting in international affairs, particularly those centering in Paris, Berlin and London; also to note the variety of foreign loans being successfully floated in American markets, and to realize the character and the significance of the widespread absorption of such securities by tens of thousands of American investors throughout the country.

It is reasonable to expect, however, that if American investment abroad is properly directed and made for productive purposes, it will constitute a financial anchor thrown out now in the time of our greatest financial strength to steady our credit structure and monetary system in time of future stress or emergency.

Necessity for continuing the policy of close co-operation between the railroads and the shippers in order to bring about continued adequate transportation service for the industries of the country was urged by Donald D. Conn, Manager, Public Relations Section, Car Service Division of the American Railway Association, in a speech on Tuesday, Nov. 11, before the National Association of Railway and Public Utilities Commissioners, now in session at Phoenix, Ariz. "The railroads of the United States this fall," said Mr. Conn, "have handled the greatest peak movement of freight in history. It was accomplished without car shortage, without congestion, without complaint and with an increase in the number of serviceable locomotives and freight cars in storage compared with one year ago. There are three reasons for this accomplishment:

(a) A vast improvement in physical facilities of the carriers, together with large additions to their plant made at tremendous cost.

(b) Universal and complete co-operation between the carriers themselves and with the American Railway Association in car distribution.

(c) Co-operation of the public through the various Shippers' Regiona Advisory Boards now located in all parts of the country, with a membership representing all phases of agricultural and industrial production, including the smallest farmer and the largest industry.

Mr. Conn continues as follows:

Every element of trade and commerce has, and must continue, to contribute its share toward the continuance of this record of public service. In the complexities of our economic life to-day, where all territories and all shippers are inter-dependent upon each other, no single railroad is self-sufficient unto itself and no problem of transportation concerns only a few, but rather affects directly or indirectly the shippers of every phase of production. The time is past when any one industry can disassociate itself from the prosperity and welfare of others—all expect like consideration from the common utility and all must harmonize public demand concerning what the railroad obligation is and how it should be met. Its solution is equally dependent upon all factors of production and distribution, and upon the adequacy of industrial facilities, all of which are controlled by industry and agriculture itself. It is a task for common unity and purpose of all forces of trade and commerce. The Regional Shippers' Advisory Boards afford the channel for carrying forward these purposes.

In spite of the fact that much refinement is still necessary in the various Regional Board organizations, and while the oldest has only been in operation two years, their practical accomplishments thus far justify them as having made the greatest single contribution to the welfare of the country since the war.

It has been possible through these channels of voluntary co-operation to settle every question and complaint concerning transportation service, except one which still remains on the docket of the Board committees. Perhaps the greatest element of good which has come from this association is the establishment of those intimate human relationships between shippers and receivers of different commodities andthe railroad officers so necessary for a proper understanding of common problems in every district.

Regulation of the railroads is a good thing, over regulation equally as bad. The hand of government should not be extended into the relationships between shippers and carriers on questions which it is perfectly possible for them to adjust between themselves.

There is a place where the law of co-operation may fail, in which case we fall back on the positive law which we write into statutes and which is absolute. We cannot deviate from the positive law. It is rigid in its application. It prescribes definite limitations. The law of co-operation, however, is enforceable only when people recognize it by their obligations to each other, the dependence of one business upon another, the realization that no one can meet with lasting success in one line of endeavor without contributing something, aside from that prescribed in statutory laws, to the problems and advancements of others. But this process of falling back on the positive law should be discouraged and only used in case of aggravated emergency. This is the basic principle of the Regional Boards—it is a common measure which can be applied to all industries and agriculture. It is an attempt to arrest the process in a practical way of the constant trend of government in business.

I want to express the appreciation of the railroads for the large part which you have played in making these results possible. We must go forward and perfect these regional organizations, the railroads must be kept constantly ahead of the game in their effort to perpetuate and enlarge upon the results of the past two years and we must never return to the days of uncertainty when car shortages were a habit and periodical transportation disabilities constantly confronted us. This is a very possible objective to reach. There is plenty of room for initiative and private enterprise in the railroad business especially when we remember that this rehabilitation of transportation has been brought about since the passage of the Transportation Act. The railroads have done an excellent job and they have no apologies to make to anyone. What they, the farmers and industries need henceforward more than anything else is a rigid enforcement of the so-called law of co-operation.

Samuel O. Dunn Says Country Is Not Yet Through with the Question of Government Ownership of the Railroads.

"We are not, as many people believe, through with the question of Government ownership of the railways of this country, in spite of the results of the recent election," declared Samuel O. Dunn, Editor of the "Railway Age," in an address at Mason City, Iowa, on Nov. 12, before the convention of the National Creamery Association. "The reason is that those who advocate Government ownership also advocate a certain policy of railway regulation which they will continue to support. The actual purpose of this policy of regulation is to make it impossible for the railways to be successfully managed under private ownership and thereby to force them into Government ownership. Unfortunately, many persons who oppose Government ownership are in sympathy with the policy of regulation in question and favor it because they do not recognize its true purpose and the effect which its adoption would produce." Proceeding along these lines, Mr. Dunn added:

The policy of regulation in question receives its main backing from the railway labor leaders, Socialists and radical public men who supported the La Follette-Wheeler ticket in the recent political campaign.

It includes, first, the passage of the Howell-Barkley bill. The true purpose of this bill is to destroy the provisions of the Transportation Act which created the Railroad Labor Board and under which any dispute between the railways and their employees which may result in a strike must be submitted to the Labor Board for arbitration.

If the Howell-Barkley bill should be passed there could be no arbitration of any wage dispute between the labor unions and the railways unless the labor unions voluntarily agreed to it. It has been the uniform policy of the labor leaders for years to refuse either to agree to any reduction of railway wages or to agree to arbitrate the question of any such reduction. There can be no serious question that their policy will continue to be the same in future. Therefore, if the Howell-Barkley bill should be passed, and the time should come when conditions would justify a reduction of railway wages, it would be impossible to settle the question by arbitration. The principal purpose of the Howell-Barkley bill is to make it forever impossible for any reduction of railway wages to be made, however justifiable, without strikes. Although the only party that advocated the Howell-Barkley bill in the recent political campaign polled less than one-seventh of the votes cast, a meeting of labor leaders to renew efforts to secure the passage of this bill at the next session of Congress already has been called.

The second important feature of the radical's policy of regulation is, while maintaining railway wages, to bring about reductions of railway rates and a large reduction of the net return which the railways may earn. This is to be accomplished by securing the repeal of the rate-making provisions of the Esch-Cummins Transportation Act, and especially by securing legislation which would reduce by at least $7,000,000,000, or about one-third, the valuation placed upon the railways by the Inter-State Commerce Commission. The Inter-State Commerce Commission is a body which was created by the public, which represents only the public and the members of which are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. There is no reason whatever for believing that the valuation made by it is excessive, although the radicals by skilful and persistent propaganda have succeeded in convincing many people to the contrary.

The certain effect of such a reduction of the valuation as is advocated would be to cause only a comparatively small reduction of rates, but such a large reduction in the net return that the railways may earn that the railways as a whole would be unable to earn merely the interest on their bonded indebtedness. A large part of the railways of the country would be bankrupted. The railways would be unable after the passage of any such legislation to raise a dollar of capital with which to buy new equipment and make improvements necessary to handling the increasing commerce of the country. The whole railway situation would be thrown into chaos. Those who advocate this policy know this, and their true purpose is to create conditions which would force the railways into Government ownership.

The results of the recent election show that the people are overwhelmingly opposed to Government ownership. The only alternative policy which will not be destructive of the prosperity of the country is one under which the railways will be allowed to earn on a fair valuation a net return sufficient to enable them to raise new capital to buy new equipment and make other improvements in their plants essential to the rendering of good and adequate transportation service.

United States Chamber of Commerce Urges Repeal of Income Tax Publicity Provisions—National Tax Commission Urged—Other Recommendations to President Coolidge.

The position of American business on important current national economic questions has been put before President Coolidge by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in a statement setting out principles upon which the Chamber lays emphasis as especially timely. The subjects dealt with include:

Repeal of income tax publicity.
Creation of a National Tax Commission.
Declaration of a policy regarding trade associations.
The establishment and carrying out of a merchant marine policy.
Development of waterways.
The Railroad Labor Board.
The setting up of an immigration commission, to recommend and administer legislation.
Extension of the budget system.

It is stated that in each instance the Chamber's proposals are the result of action by the organization's membership. They were presented to the President in person by Richard F. Grant, President, and Elliot H. Goodwin, resident Vice-President of the Chamber. In expressing hope for immediate repeal of the provisions in the Revenue Act providing for the publicity of income tax returns the Chamber says:

Against the position of the President, and his insistence that American institutions guarantee to citizens sanctity in their private affairs, Congress left in the Revenue Act of 1924 a part of the proposals which it had earlier debated and which were intended to make public information divulged on returns for the Federal income tax. The exact extent of publicity required by the provisions which actually became law is now a matter of some controversy, but into this controversy the Cham ber of Commerce of the United States has no desire to enter. Whatever the merits of the controversy, the United States Chamber is on record as earnestly opposing any publicity in regard to returns or the amounts of tax that are paid.

The membership of the Chamber has declared that "fairness to citizens who act in perfect good faith should characterize such legislation as the income tax laws, under which all details of business transactions must be disclosed to administrative officials," and that the proposals for making returns open to the public, and for publication of figures appearing in returns, "violate the good faith which the Government owes to its citizens, to protect them in their private affairs."

In view of the unfavorable reaction caused in all parts of the country by the steps which have been taken with respect to publicity under the Revenue Act of June 1924. the Chamber hopes for immediate repeal of the new provisions contained in the law of 1924.

A summary of the other recommendations of the Chamber follows:

Tax Commission.

There are many fundamental questions of Federal taxation which, according to the conviction of the Chamber, the public interest requires should receive the thoroughgoing study and investigation possible only for a body of a public nature. Such a body might be a joint committee of Congress, with members from both Houses and also representatives of the public. It should study the entire tax structure of the Federal Government, give attention to the inequalities which affect taxpayers, devise means for simplifying the law, and leave nothing undone to shape up such an administration as the importance of the law makes appropriate and necessary.

The work of such a commission should result in recommendations made in the light of American experience and the experience of other countries using forms of taxes comparable to those in this country. Through success in the efforts of such a commission taxpayers would get relief from burdens that no law should cause and the government would obtain increased and more dependable revenues at a less cost of collection.

Trade Associations.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States has a special interest in trade associations because they form about one-third of the constituent membership of the Chamber. It thoroughly believes that trade associations, legitimately conducted, are an essential element to the promotion of American business and that legislation which would make them impossible, or make it impossible for them to function properly, would hinder not only industry but also the prosperity of the nation.

In connection with the Sherman Act prosecuting authorities of the Government have proceeded in such a way as to cause doubt in the public mind, not only as to the trade associations against which action has been instituted, but as to trade associations against which apparently no action whatever has been contemplated. The consequences are serious. Organizations and individuals against whom no accusation under existing law has been brought or is in contemplation are subjected to the injustice of being viewed with suspicion by the public. This is destructive of trade organizations. It takes constant effort to keep trade associations representative and vigorous. When suspicion is unjustifiedly directed at an association its members leave it. There is rapid disintegration.

The Chamber holds no brief for trade associations that infringe the law, nor is it desirous of criticizing the action of the authorities in regard to these offenders. It is simply recognizing and pointing out the facts with a desire of remedying a situation which is already tending to hinder the development of business.

Trade associations serve a very useful purpose which is generally overlooked. In the prosecution of trade associations the public, and perhaps to some extent the authorities, regard the trade associations as representing corporations with huge accumulations of capital. The fact is that the larger and richer the corporation the less it needs for a trade for a trade association. It has, in itself, the means of obtaining all of the information which it needs in order successfully to compete. Not so with the smaller concerns. They cannot afford, except through pooling their interests through a trade association, to secure this business data at their own expense.

The membership of the National Chamber, through a referendum vote, has made the following recommendations regarding the use of statistics by trade associations:

"Statistics of capacity, production, stock and sales, and statistics of actual prices in closed transactions, should be collected by a trade association for its industry or branch of commerce.

"Such statistics should be distributed without any comment or interpretation which could induce or facilitate concerted action on the part of members.

"The statistics should be made as available by a trade association to the public and Government agencies as to the members of the association."

It is the duty of the Chamber's board of directors to advocate the carrying into effect of these recommendations. In so doing it has to consider, not its own opinion of the legality of the activities which are included, but the attitude of the Government and its officials who have relations to the question. If it is forced to a conclusion that the view is held in Government circles there is illegality in activities the Chamber's members have declared are desirable it must consider seeking from Congress such minor amendments as will affirmatively permit the activities it advocates. Parenthetically, it may be added that obviously the Chamber does not seek repeal of the Sherman law.

Merchant Marine.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States does not feel that present policies and administration of the merchant marine are on a sound basis calculated to promote the growth of an American merchant marine.

It stands committed to policies of subsidy, mail subvention, private as against Government ownership and operation and most strongly against Government operation in competition with private operation which depresses private investment and initiative in this important field.

It is unable to find, in existing law, warrant for policies of operating ships for purposes of competition or otherwise at a continuing deficit while on the contrary it finds explicit statement of policies of transfer to private ownership as quickly as practicable, and for operation in the meantime only where there is profit or where continued operation holds out a fair prospect of future profit.

To make possible the transfer of the Government fleet to private ownership the Chamber is convinced that the war cost of this fleet must be marked off and that its real value is not to be arrived at by original cost and application of depreciation, but by what the ships will bring in the market.

It finds present policies undetermined and vacillating, making extremely difficult any dependence on American bottoms for shipping abroad because of uncertainty regarding the future plan of operation, and it believes that more definite authority in regard to policies and their maintenance than that now furnished by the Shipping Board as at present constituted with seven members would materially advance the stuation which the present confusion of executive and regulatory functions hinders.

Inland Waterways.

The Chamber believes that Congress should be asked to direct the UnitedUnited States Army engineers to make a comprehensive survey of the waterways of the country as a whole in their relation to other transportation agencies, and to recommend a definite plan and schedule of priorities for waterway development.

Despite a rapid growth of population and a more rapid growth of commerce and transportation needs, the inland waterways of the United States, once a main reliance, are as a whole carrying little more traffic than 25 years ago.

This fact leads to the question why the waterways are not taking a proportionate share of the rapidly increasing traffic of the country. It is because river improvement has been piecemeal instead of on a continuous and comprehensive plan. Congress has in the past from time to time called upon the Corps of Engineers of the United States Army for separate reports upon specified individual waterways. As a result of these reports and the action taken upon them, the country has many thousand miles of commercially navigable inland waterways. Congress has never yet, however, authorized a comprehensive survey and report upon the waterways of the country as a whole with a plan and order of priority for the development of the several waterways as parts of the national transportation system.

The Railroad Labor Problem.

The Chamber early recognized the paramount interest of the public in the settlement of railroad labor disputes and, prior to passage of the Transportation Act of 1920, formulated principles which it believed should be followed in such settlements. It did not go so far as to advocate power in the Government to enforce decisions, but maintained that the public should have the decisive vote, and that thorough investigation of issues would so inform the public as to the rights in any controversy that a public opinion would crystallize which would make it impossible for the party in the wrong to continue its opposition over any considerable length of time.

These principles were realized in the Railroad Labor Board, which has now been functioning for more than four years to the great advantage of the public. In this Board the public, represented by three members appointed by the President, has the paramount voice, both because the representatives of the railroads and of the employees find themeslves opposed to each other on all major issues, and because of the provision in the law requiring that at least one public representative must concur in the findings in any wage dispute.

This plan, and the fundamental principle of the paramount interest of the public, is threatened by the Howell-Barkley Bill, which was before the House at the last session and was reported in an amended form by the Senate committee.

The bill is based on the opposition of railroad employees and their organizations to the Railroad Labor Board, and seeks to turn the clock backwards to the resumption of the former and weaker principles of mediation and conciliation.

While there are provisions in the bill, particularly as amended by the Senate committee, providing a certain degree of public representation, it is by no means on a par with the existing provisions of law. The bodies which it provides with public representation and the power of fact finding need not be resorted to by the parties. It gives no public body the authority, contained in the present law, to suspend and review any decision arrived at by agreement between the parties if such decision is likely to necessitate a substantial increase in railway rates. It contains other objectionable features.

Without assuming to pretend that the present construction or composition of the Railway Labor Board is in all respects perfect, the Chamber finds that the principles embodied in the labor provisions of the Transportation Act establishing the Board are sound; that the record of the past four years has justified those principles; and that the changes proposed in connection with the Howell-Barkley Bill not only do not offer any prospect of improvement over the existing system, but would be a long step backwards.

Immigration Commission.

The disturbance of world conditions occasioned by the World Wa probably make impossible, at the present time, the 3stablishment of an immigration policy that will be accepted as permanent and in recognition of this fact Congress has been legislating largely on a temporary basis to meet the conditions as they exist at the time.

While this is in no sense unwarranted and indeed may be the only practical way of proceeding at present, steps should be taken, in the Chamber's opinion, during this period of unsettled conditions, for the development of a permanent policy for the future.

The Chamber does not believe that this question, any more than the tariff question, can be adequately handled by a law rigid in its detail provisions, thus largely preventing the use of administrative discretion, and adjustable only by Congress at long intervals.

The Chamber advocates the creation of a United States Immigration Commission which shall study the operations of the law and make recommendations to Congress for future legislation and which shall also administer a flexible quota provision similar to the flexible provisions of the tariff law.

Congress should be induced to grant a certain leeway, both above and below the fixed quota, which this Commission, in connection with the President, should administer in relation to social and industrial conditions, placing the quota as low as possible in periods of business depression, with its consequent result in large unemployment, and reversing this process when conditions are highly prosperous and production is hindered through lack of available employees.

Such a commission should also devise and supervise tests of selective immigration.

The Budget System.

The Chamber began advocacy of a national budget system in 1912. It vigorously campaigned for the accomplishment of this principle until the budget law was passed and since its passage has watched with extreme interest its administration and development.

The budget system has worked a vast improvement, not only in the business administration of the Government, but also—and far more important—in informing the public regarding the use of the money drawn from the taxpayers for the administration of Government.

The National Chamber has within the past year presented to the Director of the Budget, and now wishes to present to the President, an extension of the present operation of the budget which it believes requires no further legislative authority, which will go far towards the completion of the objects of a budget system.

Up to the present, the policy has been that the executive budget should contain estimates and recommendations for appropriations only in regard to those items which are provided for by statute. It is the Chamber's conception that the executive budget should cover the entire financial program of the Executive for the year in question, so that the public may visualize and understand the President's program and what it will cost to carry it out, and not merely that part of his program which is already provided for by statute. Thus the President, advocating as he frequently does and should, new lines of activity to be established by legislation, would not merely present such advocacy in his annual or special message to the Congress. He would also state these recommendations in some part of his budget message, with the proposed cost thereof either under the regular headings or in some form of appendix thereto, thus advising the public of the entire extent of the expenditure which the Executive of the Government recommends to the Congress, and permitting the public thereby to weigh the legislative action and expenditure in comparison therewith.

Relation of Railroad Transportation Charges to Price of Potatoes—Freight Rates Not the Controlling Factor.

Transportation costs permit a wide distribution of potatoes from the various producing areas to the great consuming centres. The range in the prices received by the producer and in the prices paid by the consumer for potatoes varies without reference to transportation charges. In fact, freight rates are not the controlling factor in the marketing of potatoes. These facts were brought out in a study just completed by the Bureau of Railway Economics into the relationship of prices paid to producers, wholesalers and retailers of potatoes to transportation costs and made public to-day. The Bureau of Railway Economics in a bulletin, which is one of a series of studies made as to the relationship of commodity prices to transportation costs, reaches the following conclusions:

1. That prices paid to producer, wholesaler and retailer of potatoes show a marked fluctuation for the various kinds and grades, although the freight rate remained unchanged.

2. That the fluctuations in prices paid to the farmer are as high as 225% of the minimum price. These fluctuations in some cases exceed the freight rates even to distant markets.

3. That freight rates are not controlling in the marketing of potatoes, because the product is frequently distributed to consuming centres located far distant from producing sections at higher freight rates than to nearby markets.

4. That prices in the retail markets are often higher on potatoes produced in nearby territories than on those shipped from far distant points on higher freight rates.

5. That the spread between retail and wholesale prices in consuming markets varies without reference to transportation charges.

6. That in the marketing of potatoes, whether at the point of production or in the wholesale or retail trade, supply and demand, variety and grades, methods of grading, storage and marketing practices are the primary factors influencing the price to producer and consumer—not transportation costs.

The study covering the year ending Oct. 1 1924 was based upon prices secured from 37 points of production and retail prices in 32 cities from more than 3,000 retail stores. The prices at point of origin were obtained by railway agents, wholesale prices from the official reports of the United States Bureau of Markets, and retail prices by railroad agents in 32 important representative centres. Results are outlined as follows:

The study shows that in the marketing of potatoes, fluctuations in prices were due entirely to causes beyond the influence of freight rates, which remained stationary during the period studied. To the shipper of potatoes, the principal factors of primary concern relative to transportation are that railway service and car supply shall be adequate to enable him to transfer his products into the markets promptly and that freight rates shall be such as will permit him to ship his products into a wide range of territory.

The bulletin shows that during the year ended Oct. 1 1924, the range in prices paid to producers was several times as great as the total freight rate to markets. For instance, at Bloomer, Wis., the price fluctuated 75c. per hundred pounds, or more than three times the freight rate to Chicago, while the fluctuation at Traverse City, Mich., was 65c. per hundred pounds or more than twice the freight rate to Detroit and nearly twice the freight rate to Chicago. At Caribou, Me., prices fluctuated $1 07 per hundred pounds which was more than twice the freight rate to Boston and nearly twice the freight rate to New York, while at Twin Falls, Idaho, there was a fluctuation of 85c. per hundred pounds which was more than the freight rate to Chicago, Los Angeles and Kansas City.

Retail prices at representative consuming markets such as St. Paul, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Chicago also showed wide fluctuations during the year despite the fact that freight rates from producing centers to those points remained stationary. This study shows that although freight rates from points in Pennsylvania to Philadelphia were less than those from Maine, potatoes from Pennsylvania were sold at a higher price than potatoes from Maine.

Similar fluctuations in the wholesale prices paid on the same day for the identical kind and grade of potatoes were also developed by the study.

"This clearly indicates," the bulletin said, "that factors other than freight rates, such as nature of package, vareity, grade and other conditions are the controlling elements in establishing prices in the wholesale market."

In respect to the assertion that transportation costs do not restrict the movement of potatoes to nearby markets, the bulletin said:

"During the calendar year 1923, there were only 562 carloads (or 2.9% of total carlot shipments from the State) of Michigan potatoes unloaded in Chicago, while at the same time 881 carloads were shipped from Michigan to Washington, D. C., 431 carloads to New York and 1,504 carloads to Pittsburgh, although the freight rate to Chicago was less than to the other cities. During the same period there were shipped into Chicago 1,538 carloads from Idaho on a higher freight rate and 1,865 carloads from Minnesota, from which State freight rates were generally higher than from Michigan. There were also more carloads of Michigan potatoes unloaded in Cincinnati (580 cars) than at Chicago, although the freight rate was higher. There were unloaded at Cincinnati 948 carloads of Minnesota potatoes or 368 cars more than were shipped from Michigan, while at the same time Michigan was shipping into distant markets such as Pittsburgh, New York and Washington, D. C.

It is apparent that greater progress must be made within the potato industry toward more orderly and efficient marketing if producers are to realize better prices for that commodity.

The custom for years has been for one producing section to raise and market this commodity without relation to or knowledge of conditions in other producing districts, whose competition is met in central markets. To-day a shipper of potatoes in one territory rarely, if ever, has knowledge of the competition he will encounter when his car arrives at destination. Carloads of potatoes originating in one territory are often peddled from place to place seeking a favorable market.

Much can be gained by the establishment of definite points of contact between producers in different regions, and such dissemination of information regarding market conditions as will be of immediate and current value to shippers and receivers in promoting an even flow of this commodity to markets in relation to demand. Unlike other perishable products, this commodity enjoys almost a uniform consumption, consumers' demands permitting of more even distribution to markets and greater stability of price.

Whatever the final remedy may be to effect the results desired, the initial step is that of a closer relationship between shippers in one producing area with those of another and an expansion of the services of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the Department of Agriculture.

THE WEEK ON THE NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

Speculative activity in stocks lost none of its buoyancy the present week, though the sales on the New York Stock Exchange on some days dropped under the high average of the past three weeks. Railroad issues continued in the foreground, closely followed by industrial stocks. Many new high records were registered, particularly on Monday, when more than 50 new high points were established. Trading continued at a high pressure on Saturday, more than a million shares changing hands in the two-hour session. Low-priced railway stocks were the noteworthy feature of the trading, gains of one to three or more points being recorded by several prominent members of this group. Rock Island was in special demand, and scored a five-point advance to a new high for the year. Other railroad stocks in both the high and low-priced groups made advances of from two to four points. United States Steel common continued well up in front. Many railroad issues lost ground in the early downward reaction on Monday, but improved before the closing hour. The volume of business again passed the two-million mark. Seaboard Air Line, pref., was in strong demand at advancing prices, and Ches. & Ohio was especially conspicuous, selling at 91¾ and recording a substantial gain from its early low. Under the leadership of the railroad issues, the market resumed its upward movement Tuesday, numerous individual issues advancing a point or more. Sales fell below the two-million mark, and the trend of the market was somewhat uncertain in the morning session. Union and Canadian Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Reading were conspicuous by their advance of one to three points. United States Steel common made a new high at 117½. Union Pacific crossed 150 and Canadian Pacific also reached a new high for the year. United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry closed 7 points up from its morning low, and Corn Products made a new high at 41. Trading again passed two million shares on Wednesday, though considerable irregularity prevailed during the early part of the day. United States Steel common advanced to 119⅛, and made another new high for the year, and also reached its highest level since 1917. In the final hour, it declined to 118¼. The buoyancy of United States Steel rapidly extended to other steel industrials, Crucible Steel moving up 7 points, closely followed by Republic, Gulf States and Bethlehem. Railroad stocks were in brisk demand at advancing prices, particularly Pittsburgh & West Virginia, which advanced more than three points during the day. New York Central and Canadian Pacific were especially active, and a vigorous forward movement occurred in St. Louis-San Francisco, Lehigh Valley and Rock Island. In observance of Thanksgiving Day, all exchanges were closed on Thursday, Nov. 27. Speculative interest centred largely in steel industrial shares on Friday, United States Steel common leading the upward movement. The buoyancy of this group stimulated buying in other parts of the list until practically every section of the list had joined the upward movement. New high records for the year were made all around. The final tone was buoyant.

THE CURB MARKET.

Trading in the Curb Market continues active and the volume of business heavy. Price changes were mixed for a while, but the market soon resumed its upward trend. New high levels were reached in a number of instances. Standard Oil (Ohio) com. made a sensational advance from 328 to 377½; the close to-day was at 372 ex-dividend. The advance is reported due to expectation of a stock dividend and a split up of the par value of the stock. Other oil issues were strong. Borne, Scrymser & Co. advanced from 226 to 234. Galena-Signal Oil com. gained two points to 57. Humble Oil & Ref. rose from 38⅛ to 42. Magnolia Petroleum improved from 134 to 140. Prairie Oil & Gas dropped from 209 to 205, recovered to 209½ and moved downward again to 204. The close to-day was at 206½. Solar Refining advanced from 208 to 224 and reacted finally to 214½. Standard Oil (Neb.) moved up from 242 to 260. Vacuum Oil rose from 80⅛ to 83½ and ends the week at 83. Internat. Petroleum gained over three points to 24⅝, the close to-day being at 24⅛. Among industrials Goodyear Tire com. was conspicuous for an advance from 18½ to 23½, but reacted to 22, the close to-day being at 22⅜. Public utilities registered important gains, Amer. Gas. & Elec. selling up from 102¾ to 115½, the close to-day being at 111½. Commonwealth Power pref. ran up from 80½ to 90 and reacted finally to 82¼. Middle West Utilities com. gained five points to 78 and finished to-day at 77¼. National Power & Light rose from 170 to 186. Radio stocks were strong. De Forest Radio advanced from 22⅜ to 26⅝, with the final figure to-day 26¼. Freed-Eiseman advanced from 27¾ to 29⅜ and rested finally at 28⅛. Hazeltine Corp. improved from 35 to 37⅜ and reacted to 36¾. Childs Co. com. rose from 37½ to 40¼ and finished to-day at 39¾, ex-dividend. Continental Baking, Class "A" com. moved up from 107¼ to 111¾ and down finally to 111¼. United Bakeries, after early loss from 149⅜ to 145, advanced to 155, resting finally at 153. Ward Corp. com. "A" sold up from 125 to 129.

A complete record of Curb Market transactions for the week will be found on page 2519.

* Estimated.

Complete and exact details for the week covered by the foregoing will appear in our issue of next week. We cannot furnish them to-day, inasmuch as the week ends to-day (Saturday), and the Saturday figures will not be available until noon to-day. Accordingly, in the above the last day of the week has in all cases had to be estimated.

In the elaborate detailed statement, however, which we present further below, we are able to give final and complete results for the week previous—the week ended Nov. 22. For that week there is an increase of 22.2%, the 1924 aggregate of the clearings being $9,985,162,086, and the 1923 aggregate $8,169,815,124. Outside of New York City, however, the increase is only 13.6%, the bank exchanges at this centre having recorded a gain of 29.9%. We group the cities now according to the Federal Reserve districts in which they are located and from this it appears that in the Boston Reserve District there is an expansion of 24.0%, in the New York Reserve District (including this city), of 29.2%, and in the Philadelphia Reserve District of 11.8%. In the Cleveland Reserve District the totals are larger by 5.6%, in the Richmond Reserve District by 16.9%, and in the Atlanta

Reserve District by 3.4%. The Chicago Reserve District has a gain of 14.5%, the St. Louis Reserve District of 9.8%, and the Minneapolis Reserve District of 43.4%. In the Kansas City Reserve District there is an improvement of 18.1%, in the Dallas Reserve District of 22.5%, and in the San Francisco Reserve District of 6.5%. It should be noted that every one of these Federal Reserve districts shows an increase as compared with the corresponding week last year.

In the following we furnish a summary by Federal Reserve districts:

THE ENGLISH GOLD AND SILVER MARKETS.

We reprint the following from the weekly circular of Samuel Montagu & Co. of London, written under date of Nov. 12 1924:

GOLD.

The Bank of England gold reserve against its note issue on the 5th inst. amounted to £126,663,330 as compared with £126,662,245 on the previous Wednesday. The moderate amount of gold available in the market here this week was readily absorbed on account of India. Large purchases of gold shipment from Durban, have also been made on behalf of that country. Gold valued at $3,000,000 has arrived in New York from Holland. The Transvaal gold output for October 1924 amounted to 827,583 fine ounces as compared with 799,422 fine ounces for September 1924 and 793,842 fine ounces for October 1923.

SILVER.

Again the market has been dominated by the exchange with the United States, and appreciation of sterling has been accompanied with free selling from that quarter. A sympathetic influence is exerted also in other ways, for the readiness of bears to take advantage of the opportunity to take profits is checked by rapidly falling prices, and China and India attach much importance to the cross rate. On Monday the quotation reached 33 13-16d. for cash and 33 15-16d. for two months' delivery—the lowest fixed since Aug. 18, when the prices for cash and forward delivery were both 33 13-16d. The Continent has bought and sold, and both India and China have placed silver in the market, though the latter has also been a small purchaser. No applications were received yesterday for the 100 lacs of India Council bills and T.T.'s for which tenders were invited. This amount will again be offered next week.

We have also received this week the circular written under date of Nov. 19 1924:

GOLD.

The Bank of England gold reserve against its note issue on the 12th inst. amounted to £126,665,485, as compared with £126,663,330 on the previous Wednesday. There was a keen Indian demand for the small amount of gold on offer here this week, and all available supplies were taken for that quarter.

Gold valued at $3,500,000 has arrived in New York from Paris, and is said to be part of a consignment of $15,000,000 expected from Europe in the near future. A large parcel of gold is expected to arrive there shortly in connection with the installment of the British debt to the United States Government due on the 15th proximo.

The following figures show the United Kingdom imports and exports of gold during the month of October 1924:

	Imports.	Exports.

The "Times" correspondent at Johannesburg cabled on the 17th inst. as follows: "Six hundred ounces of gold have been sent by the Chamber of Mines to the Pretoria Mint to be cointed on behalf of the mining industry. This experiment is intended to serve as a guide to the cost of minting gold. No real decision seems to have been reached by the mines regarding the minting of gold except that they will pass their output to the Mint when it pays them to do so, which depends on a continuance of the present high exchange rates and the fall in the price of gold. If the latter falls 2s. lower and exchange and realization costs remain at the high figure of 3s. 9d. per ounce, the mines may decide to have the greater part of the gold output coined."

CURRENCY.

On the 17th inst. a new bill was introduced to the Danish Parliament by the Premier with the object of stabilizing the Danish currency. The bill authorizes the Government to seek a loan of $40,000,000 from the United States, the proceeds of which are to be deposited with the National Bank as a special currency reserve. The project will be strengthened by the formation of a special finance council and by the imposition of a currency tax.

SILVER.

Owing to lack of any special demand, and further rises in the dollar value of sterling, prices have dropped further and quotations were fixed on Nov. 14 at 33 7-16d. for cash and 33 11-16d. for two months' delivery—the lowest price fixed for cash since May 8 last, and for forward delivery since Aug. 16 last. China and India have been rather sellers than buyers, and America has sold with some freedom.

The SS. Majestic brought to London from New York this week 2,183 silver bars, weighing 2,324,671.65 ounces, worth $1,620,073 43. This is a record arrival in recent times. The actual record is still held by the Royal Mail steamship Tasmanian, which delivered, on Sept. 28 1860, silver valued at £1,186,760 13s. 1d., weighing over four and three-quarter million ounces.

The undertone of the market, owing to the apathy of the Far Eastern and Continental demand, is not promising, and depreciation of sterling with America, should it arise, would probably have to be considerable before the position of silver could be rendered really healthy. To-day, after a temporary rally, prices again relapsed and 33½ and 33 11-16 are quoted for the respective deliveries.

No allotments were made this week of India Council bills and T. T's. Applications totaling 38 lacs were received for deferred and immediate T. T's, the highest tenders being at 1s. 5.29-32d and 1s. 5 15-16d., respectively. One hundred lacs will be offered again next week.

No fresh Indian currency return has come to hand.

The stock in Shanghai on the 15th inst. consisted of about 51,700,000 ounces in sycee, 43,500,000 dollars, and 640 silver bars, as compared with about 50,700,000 ounces in sycee, 44,500,000 dollars, and 2,650 silver bars on the 8th inst.

New York Curb Market.—Below is a record of the transactions in the New York Curb Market from Nov. 22 to Nov. 28, both inclusive, as compiled from the official lists. As noted in our issue of July 2 1921, the New York Curb Market Association on June 27 1921 transferred its activities from the Broad Street curb to its new building on Trinity Place, and the Association is now issuing an official sheet which forms the basis of the compilations below.

United Railways of St. Louis.

(Report of Receiver to Chairman of Reorganization Committee.)

Rolla Wells, receiver, in a report to Frank O. Watts, Chairman of reorganization committee, dated St. Louis, Oct. 1, says in substance:

Property, &c.—United Railways Co. of St. Louis (including the Missouri Electric RR., controlled through stock ownership) owns and operates 483 miles of track, of which 346 miles are within the city limits of St. Louis and 137 miles in the adjacent St. Louis and St. Charles counties. Approximately 1,650 passenger cars are owned and employed for the maintenance of service on these lines.

United Railways Co. furnishes practically all the street railway transportation in the City of St. Louis and the adjacent suburban territory in St. Louis County, and through Missouri Electric RR. serves the territory between Wellston on the western city boundary of St. Louis and the City of St. Charles, St. Charles County. The property is at present in excellent physical condition.

Capital Expenditures.—From April 12 1919 (the beginning of the receivership) to Aug. 31 1924, capital expenditures for way and structures have aggregated $1,571,027, for equipment $3,217,809, for power plant $336,682—a total of $5,125,517. This, less property retired amounting to $626,918, makes a net addition to the capital plant of $4,498,599.

Maintenance and Replacement.—During the same period there have been expended for maintenance and replacement of way and structures $11,580,159, of which $4,813,587 was charged against "depreciation account," and for maintenance and replacements of equipment $8,565,077 was expended, of which $3,417 was charged against "depreciation account." This makes a total of $20,145,235 expended for maintenance and replacements.

During this period 152 miles of track have been thoroughly reconstructed; 261 new passenger cars have been built; 7 new sub-power stations of the very latest type have been constructed; new terminal plant and divisional shops of modern character have been constructed at Broadway and Taylor; estensive additions have been made to main shops; large mileage of additional transmission and feeder lines have been installed; and many other extensive improvements carried out.

Fares and Wages.—On April 10 1920 the rate of fare was reduced from an 8-cent cash fare, with two classes of tickets at 7½ and 7c., to a straight 7-cent fare; and material advances in wages were made in 1923.

* It is estimated that for year 1924 based on 10 months actual results this gross income will amount to $2,954,850.

Bus Competition.—The traffic in 1924, as in other large cities, has been seriously affected by business depression, and has also been materially affected by bus competition. It is believed that with more favorable conditions during the coming year business will improve again.

Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit Corporation.

(First Annual Report—Year Ended June 30 1924.)

Chairman Gerhard M. Dahl says:

Organization.—Corporation was organized in May 1923 in New York as the successor to and upon the reorganization of Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co., which had been in receivership for some years. Corporation is a holding company, which, through ownership of stocks, bonds and other obligations of its subsidiary companies acquired on its organization, controls a transit system located in the Boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens and Manhattan in the City of New York. The system is, from the standpoint of both operation and financial structure, divided into three parts, namely: Subway and elevated rapid transit lines, street surface lines, and power plant facilities. The operating companies thus controlled are:

(a) Rapid transit lines: New York Rapid Transit Corporation.

(c) Power plant facilities: Williamsburgh Power Plant Corp.

Rapid Transit Lines—Contract with City.—Through its ownership of substantially all the stock and bonds of New York Rapid Transit Corp., corporation is vitally interested in the operation of the rapid transit lines under the contract arrangements with the City of New York generally referred to as Contract No. 4. This contract was made with the city in March 1913. Under this contract the company agreed to contribute certain funds towards the construction of new subway and elevated lines to be built and owned by the city, to equip those lines, to reconstruct, extend and equip the then existing company-owned rapid transit lines, and to operate on a 5-cent fare all of such lines as a single system under the terms of the contract for the period of 49 years from the effective date of the lease. It was originally estimated that the company's participation in this contract would require for construction and equipment approximately $60,000,000. As a result, however, of conditions brought about by the World War and by the city's delay and refusal to complete its part of the contract, the company's investment in the new lines and equipment provided under this contract, exclusive of the original investment in the company-owned elevated lines, now stands at $88,116,269. The city's investment to date in the new subway lines built under the contract is approximately $150,000,000.

The obligations of the company under this contract have been fully performed, but the city has not yet completed its portion of the contract. Some of the lines which were to have been finished years ago are not yet completed. The shop facilities which were to have been provided by the city have not been provided. The 14th St. Eastern Line, an important connection between East New York and Union Square, Manhattan, has not been completed, although the western half was finally completed and placed in operation on June 30 1924. The Nassau Street line, which was regarded as a very important part of the new subway system from the standpoint of public convenience and operating efficiency, has not been commenced by the city. In fact, the City of New York, through its present administration, has publicly repudiated its obligation to construct this line. A suit is pending against the city to compel it to live up to its contract and to collect damages for its failure to do so in the past. Every possible effort has been made to bring this matter to an early hearing before the court, but the city has repeatedly imposed technical objections for the obvious purpose of avoiding a hearing on the merits.

Results of Operation under Contract with City.—The contract with the city provides that the revenues derived by the company from the operation of the city-built and the company-owned rapid transit lines are to be pooled and from such pooled earnings certain deductions are to be made in the order specified, the balance being divided between the city and the company in equal parts.

The contract provides that the company is to receive out of the pooled earnings the stipulated interest and sinking fund on its investment before the deductions are made in favor of the city.

The deductions stipulated in the contract are, in condensed form, and in the order of priority, as follows:

(1) Operating deductions, including rentals, taxes, operating expenses, maintenance and depreciation.

(2) The company's first preferential of $3,500,000, representing the average annual income for 1911 and 1912 from the operation of the company-owned rapid transit lines contributed to the pooled system, out of which the company must pay interest on its capital investment in such rapid transit lines.

(3) The company's second preferential of interest and sinking fund on its contribution to the cost of construction and equipment of the new lines and on cost of reconstructing and adding to existing lines.

(4) The city's preferential of interest and sinking fund on its contribution to the cost of constructing the new lines.

Each of these deductions is to be made in the order given and deficits in any period are to be cumulative and paid out of subsequent earnings before any deductions are made on succeeding items.

RESULTS OF OPERATIONS UNDER THE CONTRACT WITH THE CITY FOR THE YEAR ENDED JUNE 30 1924, AND 11-YEAR PERIOD FROM THE COMMENCEMENT OF THE CONTRACT, NAMELY, AUGUST 4 1913 TO JUNE 30 1924.

Period.	Year Ended June 30 '24.	Aug. 4 '13 to June 30 '24.
Operating deductions and company's First Preferential	23,463,471	170,443,917
Balance available for return on new money invested under contract	4,244,481	12,041,523
Company's Second Preferential representing interest and sinking fund on company's contribution to construction and equipment under contract	5,316,510	27,667,841
Deficit representing amount by which revenue failed to equal interest and sinking fund on company's contribution to construction and equipment under contract	1,072,029	15,626,318
City's Preferential representing interest and sinking fund on city's contribution to construction under contract, unearned and unpaid	4,076,919	32,917,232
Deficit representing amount by which revenues failed to equal company's and city's interest and sinking fund on contributions to construction and equipment	5,148,948	48,543,550

The above figures indicate the extent to which, both for the year just closed and the period from the commencement of the contract, the operations of the Rapid Transit Lines, under the contract with the city on a 5-cent fare, have failed to earn the stipulated return of interest and sinking fund on the company's and the city's contribution to the construction and equipment of the new lines. They show:

That in the year ended June 30 1924 the revenues failed by $1,072,029 to earn the annual interest and sinking fund on the company's investment;

That in the 11-year period from Aug. 4 1913 to June 30 1924 the revenues failed by $15,626,318 to earn interest and sinking fund during the period of the company's investment

That in the year ended June 30 1924 the revenues failed by $5,148,948 to earn the annual interest and sinking fund on the company's and the city's investment;

That in the 11-year period from Aug. 4 1913 to June 30 1924 the revenues failed by $48,543,550 to earn the interest and sinking fund during the period on the company's and city's investment.

As under the provisions of the contract the cumulative deficits in the company's preferentials must be paid out of future revenues before any deductions are made in favor of the city, it will be some time before the city commences to receive a return upon its investment. It is expected, however, that, as operating conditions improve and as the lines still to be built by the city are placed in operation, the net revenues will be immediately increased and the company's deficits proportionately diminished.

Street Surface Lines.—The operating street surface railway subsidiaries of the corporation own and operate in the aggregate approximately 300 miles of single track, exclusive of trackage rights accross the East River bridges, the greater part of which are located in the Borough of Brooklyn. This trackage is divided among the several operating companies as follows:

The Nassau Electric RR.	144.013
Brooklyn Queens County & Suburban RR.	67.522
The Coney Island & Brooklyn RR.	52.488
South Brooklyn RR.	24.516
Coney Island & Gravesend Ry.	7.697
Total	296.236

The relative volume of traffic handled on the rapid transit lines and the street surface lines of the corporation is indicated by the number of passengers carried for the year ended June 30 1924, namely: on the rapid transit lines 439,069,076, and on the street surface lines 266,421,409.

Power House Facilities.—The power plants and some of the substations and other facilities producing power for the operation of the rapid transit and street surface lines of the corporation are owned and operated by Williamsburgh Power Plant Corp., all of the capital stock and bonds of which are owned by the corporation. The power plants have a rated capacity of approximately 204,000 k. w. These facilities are fully able to meet the requirements of the system, as well as to take care of the needs of Brooklyn City RR., which the corporation supplies with power under contract. Power is purchased from Interborough Rapid Transit Co. for the operation of the rapid transit lines in the Borough of Manhattan.

STATEMENT OF TRAFFIC STATISTICS (PASSENGERS CARRIED) FOR THE LAST SEVEN YEARS.

[Excluding Brooklyn City Railroad Co.'s Lines.]

Fiscal Year—	Surface.	Rapid Transit.	Totals.
1918	255,569,584	265,400,020	520,969,604
1919	251,893,227	313,933,642	565,826,869
1920	278,832,742	380,190,890	659,023,632
1921	223,006,425	406,695,310	629,701,735
1922	250,412,364	446,384,508	696,796,872
1923	262,992,795	482,584,090	745,576,885

This shows a notable increase in the number of passengers carried on the lines embraced in the system. In 1924, 805,490,485 passengers were carried, as compared with 520,969,604 in 1918, an increase of over 50%.

The big problem confronting the corporation is that of providing adequate facilities to handle the tremendous increase in traffic which is bound to result in the future under the limitations and restrictions imposed nuder the contract with the city. Through the constant reiteration of the facts, the management of the corporation hopes to impress upon the responsible elements in the community the importance of immediately providing for the future and the serious consequences which will follow if a constructive program for the future is not shortly adopted.

Canadian Car & Foundry Co., Ltd.

(15th Annual Report—Year Ended Sept. 30 1924.)

President W. W. Butler, in his remarks to the shareholders, says in part:

The output of all plants for the year amounted to $20,426,876, as compared with $20,689,638 for the preceding fiscal period, while the final net profit, after charging against operations the cost of plant maintenance, depreciation, interest on outstanding bonds and negotiable scrip, and after providing for all contingencies, including Government income tax, amounted to $1,124,221, in comparison with the net profit for the preceding period of $1,427,573.

The surplus of current assets over liabilities carried forward amounted to $6,770,083, which includes inventories of manufactured and partly manufactured product, materials and supplies amounting to $1,926,257. In this connection it is interesting to note that after the elimination of all materials necessary to complete existing business, the inventory remaining represented in quantity and value an amount lower than at any period in the history of the company.

The value of unfilled business carried forward to the ensuing year amounted to $1,262,407. The directors hope that business conditions will improve to the extent that the Canadian railways will find it desirable in the near future to place orders for additional equipment.

Close attention has been given during the year to the physical condition of the various plants of the company, and the expenditures incurred on improvements and upkeep have maintained your various properties in a very satisfactory condition.

Pittsburgh (Pa.) Brewing Co.

(Annual Report—Fiscal Year Ended Oct. 31 1924.)

Pres. C. H. Ridall, Pittsburgh, Nov. 12, wrote:

The gross earnings for the year amounted to $418,246; subtracting from this sum interest on bonds, allowance for depreciation, doubtful accounts, closed plant expense, loss from sale and disposition of assets, plus the sum reserved for taxes accrued and unpaid, aggregating $620,688, shows a loss of $202,442.

A total of $148,000 bonds were retired during the year.

Since beginning operations 3½ years ago, the business of the Tech Food Products Co. has justified expectations, considering surrounding circumstances and conditions. The statement shows that the business was conducted at a profit during the year.

Surplus Cars.—Despite the fact that loading of revenue freight for that week was in excess of 1,000,000 cars, the railroads on Nov. 14 had 145,589 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service if necessary. This was an increase, according to reprots filed by the carriers with the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association, of 29,141 over the number reported on Nov. 7, at which time there were 116,448. Surplus coal cars in good repair on Nov. 14 totaled 79,111, an increase of 19,014 over the number reported on Nov. 7 while surplus box cars in good repair totaled 45,304, an increaes of 8,570 within a week. Reports showed 7,785 surplus stock cars, an increase of 1,303 over the number reported on Nov. 7, while there was an increase during the same period of 728 in the number of surplus refrigerator cars, which brought the total for that class of equipment to 4,096. Practically no car shortage is being reported.

Data from Letter of President Samuel Rea, Nov. 12.

Company.—Owns extensive station and terminal properties in Chicago, now approaching completion, including the property heretofore used as a terminal by the guarantor companies, and properties adjacent thereto. The entire development extends for about 11 blocks from Carroll Ave. to West 12th St., principally between the Chicago River and North and South Canal streets, and including the present city block bounded by West Adams, West Jackson, Clinton and North Canal streets. The terminal properties have in larger part continued in use during the construction period, and work upon the station and appurtenant facilities is progressing satisfactorily and it is expected will be completed early in 1925.

As the work progressed it became necessary to add to the original plans, including the construction of a large building for handling United States mail, which is leased to the Government for 20 years, and an office building over the station head-house, which together cost upwards of $5,000,000.

Purpose.—To complete the construction of the terminal properties on the enlarged plans.

Security.—Bonds are not to have any specific security but the guaranty of the above named companies.

The indenture under which these bonds will be issued will contain appropriate provisions to the end that the company shall not create any mortgage in addition to its First Mtge. dated July 1 1915 for $60,000,000, upon the properties owned by it at the date of such new mortgage, or upon any part thereof, without making effective provision in such mortgage that all the bonds of this issue then outstanding and unpaid or thereafter to be issued shall be secured under such new mortgage by a lien ranking pari passu with any bonds issued under such new mortgage.

Issuance.—Subject to the approval of the I.-S. C. Commission.—V. 118, p. 2437, 1664.

Denver & Rio Grande Western RR.—Distributive Share of Proceeds of Sale.—Time for Deposits Extended.—

The reorganization managers, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Equitable Trust Co., New York, in an announcement to holders of 1st & Ref. Mtge. 5% gold bonds and 7% Cum. Adjust. Mtge. gold bonds of Denver & Rio Grande RR. Nov. 28 say in substance:

Pursuant to the decree of the U. S. District Court (Colorado) entered Sept. 18 1924, the properties constituting the Denver & Rio Grande Western RR. System were on Oct. 29 1924 sold in foreclosure. By order entered Nov. 20 1924 the sale was confirmed by the Court. Proceedings will promptly be taken to complete as rapidly as possible the reorganization plan dated June 15 1923 as modified Feb. 29 1924 and to issue the new securities in accordance therewith.

The distributive share of the proceeds of the aforesaid sale of the mortgaged properties which bondholders will be entitled to receive under the foreclosure decree will be approximately only $290 for each $1,000 refunding bond with the Feb. 1 1922 and subsequent coupons, and $242 for each $1,000 adjustment bonds with the Oct. 1 1921 and subsequent coupons. Accordingly bondholders who have not already become entitled to participate in the benefits of the reorganization by depositing their bonds under the plan are urged to do so immediately for their own protection. Deposits may be made with any of the depositaries named below, or with their respective sub-depositaries.

In order to permit such deposit, the time for the deposit of bonds under the plan is extended to the close of business on Dec. 30 1924. After Dec. 30 1924 bondholders, as a condition of deposit under the plan, will be required to pay in cash $50 for each $1,000 bond deposited. The reorganization managers, however, reserve the right at any time after said date, in general or in particular instances in their discretion, to refuse to permit the deposit of bonds or to permit such deposit without such payment or on such special or general terms as they see fit.

Depositaries.—Bankers Trust Co., 16 Wall St., New York; Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 22 William St., New York; American Exchange National Bank, 128 Broadway, New York.—V. 119, p. 2407.

Georgia Southern & Florida Ry.—Equipment Trusts.—
The I.-S. C. Commission on Nov. 17 authorized the company to assume obligation and liability in respect of $1,280,000 4½% Equip. Trust certificates, Series "F," to be issued by the Pennsylvania Co. for Ins. on Lives & Granting Annuities, under an agreement dated Nov. 1 1924, and sold to Spencer Trask & Co. at not less than 96½ and divs., in connection with the procurement of certain equipment. (See offering in V. 119, p. 1952.)

The I.-S. C. Commission on Nov. 17 authorized the company to issue a promissory note in the face amount of $350,000. Under an equipment trust agreement the company is required to pay in cash $320,000 in connection with the procurement of 1,000 40-ton 36-ft. steel centersill box cars. The discount on the certificates to be issued under the agreement amounts to $44,800.

The company represents that it is unable to make the entire payment at once, and has therefore arranged to borrow $350,000 from the United States Trust Co. of New York, and to issue to that company its unsecured promissory note for that amount. The note will be dated Nov. 15 1924, will mature 6 months from date, and will bear int. at the rate of 4% per annum.—V. 119, p. 1952, 194.

Henry Schroder Banking Corp., and a London banking group headed by J. Henry Schroeder & Co., under which the bankers grant to the Railway company a credit of $15,000,000, of which amount about one-third will be in pounds sterling. The Railway company will have the right to avail itself of this credit any time prior to Jan. 31 1926, if desired temporarily for additional working capital. For further details see under "Current Events and Discussions" on a preceding page of this issue.

Indian Railways.—Report for Fiscal Year 1923-24.—
The report of the Indian Railways (Government of India) for the year ended March 31 1924 has just come to hand.

An introductory note says: "Revised statistics were introduced on all railways from Oct. 1 1923 and for this reason many of the statements show figures for the second half of the financial year only. The revised figures for the full year will be available for the first time in the report for 1924-25."

The report, containing financial and statistical summaries of the Indian Railway Systems which have been classified in three groups according to gross earnings per year, is published by the Government of India Railway Department at Calcutta.

Kansas City Southern Ry.—Control of Kansas & Missouri Ry. & Terminal Co.—
The acquisition by the company of sole control of the Kansas & Missouri Railway & Terminal Co., by purchase of 4,000 shares of the latter's capital stock, in addition to the 4,000 shares now owned, in the event the Kansas City Kaw Valley & Western Ry. is unable to acquire said stock, was approved and authorized by the I.-S. C. Commission on Nov. 18.

The report of the Commission says in substance:

By our order entered Feb. 16 1924 we authorized the Terminal company to issue 8,000 shares of capital stock without nominal or par value, and $800,000 1st Mtge. 6% gold bonds. The stock and $379,000 of bonds to be delivered to Emil Metschan, or his assigns, in full payment of the purchase price of the Terminal company's property, and not exceeding $421,000 of bonds to be delivered from time to time to the Kaw Valley and (or) the applicant to reimburse them for advances to be made in connection with the completion of the Terminal company's railroad property. The Terminal company has issued $379,000 of bonds in part payment for its property and $328,000 of bonds in reimbursement of advances made for construction purposes. Just what part of the stock has been issued does not appear.

Prior to the entry of our order of Feb. 16 1924, the Kaw Valley, the applicant, the First National Bank of Kansas City, Mo., and the Terminal company had entered into a contract under date of June 30 1923, providing for joint control of the Terminal company by the Kaw Valley and the applicant. An application was filed by the Kaw Valley, and a separate application by the applicant, for an order approving and authorizing the acquisition of control provided for in this contract; and on April 2 1924 we entered an order authorizing the Kaw Valley to acquire control of the Terminal company by purchase of its entire capital stock, consisting of the 8,000 shares, the issue of which was approved by our order of Feb. 16 1924, and authorizing the applicant to acquire equal and joint control of the Terminal company by purchasing one-half of said stock from the Kaw Valley.

Pursuant to the terms of the contract of June 30 1923 the applicant paid the Kaw Valley the agreed purchase price for half of the stock and bonds which the Terminal company was to issue in payment for its property and the Kaw Valley caused one-half of its securities to be issued and delivered to the applicant. The Kaw Valley was unable, however, to secure the money with which to pay for the other half of the securities and has paid only the amount received from the applicant. In view of this situation the Kaw Valley entered into a contract with Emil Metschan and J. J. Heim, for whom Metschan was acting, whereby it was agreed that Heim was entitled to receive from the Terminal company one-half of the 8,000 shares of stock and of the $379,000 of bonds and that the Kaw Valley should have six months from the date of the contract to pay the amount due for the securities. Funds for completing the construction of the Terminal company's properties were advanced by the applicant and Heim. The latter has received, or is entitled to receive, 4,000 shares of the Terminal company's stock and $346,000 of its bonds, including one-half of the $379,000 of bonds issued in part payment for the Terminal company's property.

On July 11 1924 the applicant, Heim, and the bank entered into an agreement providing, among other things, that if the Kaw Valley is unable to purchase the securities owned by Heim within six months from May 13 1924, Heim will sell and the applicant will buy the securities for the sum of $333,768. On the same date the Kaw Valley, the applicant, the bank, Heim and Metschan entered into a contract reciting that the Kaw Valley is unable and may continue to be unable to purchase the Terminal company's securities and providing that the contract dated June 30 1923 shall remain in abeyance, but shall go into effect if the Kaw Valley is able to consummate the purchase of the securities.

On or about July 18 1924 a receiver of the properties of the Kaw Valley was appointed in a suit brought by a creditor of that company in the United States Court for the District of Kansas, it being alleged that the Kaw Valley would not be able to pay its First Mortgage bonds which became due Aug. 1 1924. The receiver applied to the Court for instructions as to purchasing the Terminal company's securities.

A protective committee, formed in the interest of certain holders of the Kaw Valley's First Mortgage bonds, intervened and protested against the receiver borrowing any money to exercise the option of the Kaw Valley to acquire the Terminal company's securities. On Oct. 13 1924 the Court entered an order authorizing and directing the receiver to disclaim any further right or interest to carry out the contract on behalf of the Kaw Valley; and to notify interested parties that the right to purchase the one-half interest in the Terminal company's securities under the contract of May 13 1924 would not be exercised by the Kaw Valley or the receiver, and that upon expiration of the option it would be forfeited and no further action taken under the contract.

[L. F. Loree, Chairman of the Executive Committee, is quoted in substance: "The company is beginning to enjoy the benefits of the expenditures we have made on it. Over $10,000,000 out of earnings has been put back into the property within a few years.

"The road has benefited a great deal from oil developments in its territory. There has been a very large movement of oil this year over the road. Port Arthur, Texas, served by our lines, has become the largest refining point in the country.

"Net earnings this year are somewhat less than last year. We have been carrying on a very heavy construction program."]—V. 119, p. 1952, 197.

Keokuk & Des Moines Ry.—Exchange of Securities, &c.—
The bondholders protective committee for the 5% 1st Mtge. bonds (F. J. Lisman, Chairman) announces that pursuant to reorganization plan dated July 15 1924, holders of certificates of deposit for bonds of the $1,000 denomination, on presentation and surrender of their certificates of deposit at the office of the Farmers Loan & Trust Co., depositary, 22 William St., New York, will receive for each $1,000 of bonds represented by said certificates: $1,000 1st & Ref. 4% bonds of Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry., with coupon due April 1 1925 and subsequent coupons attached; and $40 in cash.

Holders of certificates of deposit representing bonds of the denominations of $500 and $100 respectively are entitled under the plan to receive, in addition to $20 in cash for each such $500 bond and $4 in cash for each such $100 bond, a participation certificate for each such $500 or $100 bond, or a 1st & Ref. 4% bond of Chicago Rock Island & Pacific Ry. of $1,000 with coupons as above for each $1,000 aggregate of bonds represented by their certificates of deposit, together with participation certificates for any excess of bonds represented by their said certificates of deposit over $1,000 or multiples thereof.

For the convenience of holders of such certificates of deposit, and in order to provide them with a market, the committee has arranged with Chicago Rock Island & Pacific RR. for payment by the latter through the depositary to the holders of such certificates of deposit of cash in lieu of such participation certificates, as follows: $82 for each $100 of bonds represented by the certificates of deposit, together with accrued interest on said $100 at the rate of 4% per annum from Oct. 1 1924.

Holders of certificates of deposit for bonds of the $500 and $100 denominations are therefore requested to inform the depositary at the time when they surrender their certificates of deposit which of the above courses they desire to pursue.

Any cash advances heretofore made by way of interest to holders of certificates of deposit will be deducted from the payments of cash above set forth.—V. 119, p. 2407.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Refunding of European Loan of 1907 Announced—Company to Issue $23,000,000 15-Year 6% Bonds—Earnings for 1924 Will Show a Surplus.—The company announced Nov. 25 that it plans to refund and pay off the $22,997,766 European Loan Debentures, bearing 7% interest, due April 1 1925, through the issuance of $23,000,000 15-Year 6% Gold bonds. Assurances of subscriptions to the new issue, it is announced, have been given by large industrial concerns, financial institutions, company's stockholders and directors.

The statement issued by the company Nov. 25 says in substance:

Debentures to Be Refunded Through $23,000,000 6% Secured Bonds.—The outstanding debentures of the company's 15-Year European Loan of 1907 aggregate $22,997,766, which become due April 1 1925. To refund or to obtain funds for their purchase and retirement the company proposes to issue $23,000,000 15-Year Secured 6% Gold bonds.

Description of New Bond Issue.—Dated April 1 1925, payable April 1 1940, but red. at 105% on any int. date by operation of a sinking fund of 2% annually, or by call, or both, at the option of the company. These secured gold bonds will bear interest at the rate of 6% per annum, payable April 1 and Oct. 1 in each year without deduction for any tax or taxes which the company may be required to pay or deduct therefrom under or by reason of any present or future law of the United States or of any taxing authority therein. These bonds will be issued in the form of coupon bonds of the denomination of $100, $500 and $1,000, and of such other denominations as the company may determine, also of registered bonds of the denomination of $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000; the coupon and registered bonds being interchangeable.

Security.—These bonds are to be issued under a collateral indenture with a trust company whereunder the railroad company will pledge as security $23,000,000 1st & Ref. Mtge. 6% Gold bonds, Series F, dated April 1 1925, payable April 1 1940, issued under and secured by the 1st & Ref. Mtge. of the railroad company dated Dec. 9 1920.

Sinking Fund.—Beginning Nov. 1 1925, and on each semi-annual int. date thereafter, the railroad company will pay to the trustee as a cumulative sinking fund to purchase the bonds at not exceeding 105% and accrued interest or to the redemption of bonds selected by call at such price, 1% of the principal sum at any time issued, and in addition an amount equal to the interest upon the bonds acquired for the sinking fund by purchase or call. It is calculated that this will retire over half of these bonds before their maturity on April 1 1940.

First and Refunding Mortgage.—In the meantime the entire $23,000,000 of 1st & Ref. Mtge. bonds, Series F, will remain with the trustee as security for the remaining bonds. These bonds will be part of the company's 1st & Ref. Mtge. which covers all of its physical property, its entire ownership of the stock and bonds of New England Steamship Co., of the stock of the Hartford & New York Transportation Co., of the Harlem River & Portchester RR. which owns the valuable freight terminals at Harlem River in the Bronx, and of all but 6 shares of the stock of the Central New England Ry. owning the Poughkeepsie Bridge route. The mortgage also covers the company's leasehold of the Old Colony Boston & Providence and Worcester Norwich & Worcester and Holyoke & Westfield RR. and their respective properties, also the perpetual right to enter New York City over the tracks of the New York & Harlem between Woodlawn Junction and 42d St. and to use and occupy the Grand Central Station up to one-half of its capacity; also the perpetual right to enter and use the South Station at Boston jointly with the Boston & Albany; also the right to enter New York City over the Hell Gate Bridge route to the Pennsylvania Terminal, and to operate via the Hell Gate Bridge route its freight trains by rail and carfloat via Fresh Pond Junction, Bay Ridge and the New Jersey Shore Terminals.

Earnings Improving.—The income of the property is steadily improving. The current year will show a substantial surplus over all fixed charges. The company during the last 8 years has expended over $65,000,000 in additions and betterments, with an increased efficiency and economy in operation, as shown by an operating ratio which has decreased from 102.29% in 1920, the last year of Federal control, to 77.45% for the period ending Sept. 30 of the present year.

Assurances of Subscriptions.—Assurances of subscriptions have been given by large industrial concerns whose continued prosperity is inseparably linked to and dependent upon a policy of improvements and betterments which will insure a continuation of adequate transportation facilities. Subscriptions have also been made by financial institutions and the company's own stockholders and directors who are confident of the soundness and value of the security offered and of the ability of the company to meet all of its obligations.

Debenture Holders to Be Asked to Take Bonds.—The holders of the European loan will be invited to take a portion of their respective holdings in the debentures at par.

In due course the company will issue a circular to the holders of the European loan, inviting them to deposit their debentures under a plan by which the company will offer the holders part cash and part 15-year secured bonds for their holdings.

The proportion of cash available for such payment will be stated when the offer is made, but can only be determined when the actual amount of subscriptions received from others is known. The plan will be effective only upon its acceptances by practically all the bondholders.—V. 119, p. 2407, 1845.

Norfolk & Western Ry.—Sells $6,000,000 Bonds.—
The company has sold $6,000,000 Divisional 1st Lien & Gen. gold 4% bonds of 1944, which are expected to be offered by the Guaranty Co. at about 89¾, to yield about 4.80%.—V. 119, p. 2283, 2064.

Pennsylvania RR.—Number of Stockholders—Guaranty.
The number of stockholders on Nov. 1 were 146,440, an increase of 3,913 over Nov. 1 1923. Average holdings on Nov. 1 1924 were 68.29 shares, a decrease of 1.87%. The foreign holdings totaled 3.74% of the stock.

Pere Marquette Railway.—Outlook.—
President Frank H. Alfred is quoted in substance: "Our gross in November will be about 10% under the same month last year but our net will be much better. Traffic continues to run about 10% below last year, largely on account of falling off in coal loadings. Automobile traffic is off somewhat, while movement of other industrial traffic is also slightly under last year. I do not expect our November or December traffic to quite equal the same period last year. We will earn about the same on the Common stock this year as in 1923, when we showed almost $9 a share. Next year should be at least as good as 1924."—V. 119, p. 1173.

Pittsburgh Youngstown & Ashtabula Ry.—Bonds.
Holders of temporary 1st Gen. Mtge. 5% gold bonds, Series "B," due Feb. 1 1962, and 1st Gen. Mtge. 5% gold bonds, Series "C," due June 1 1974, are advised that they can now exchange their temporary bonds for definitive bonds at the offices of the Pennsylvania RR. Co., 85 Cedar St., N. Y. City, or Broad Street Station, Philadelphia. See V. 119, p. 1065.

Portland Terminal Co.—Bonds.—
The company has applied to the I.-S. C. Commission for authority to issue $1,800,000 1st Mtge. 5% bonds, which it proposes to sell to Kidder, Peabody & Co. at 91 and use the proceeds to retire $1,800,000 one-year 5½% coupon notes, due April 1 1925. The Maine Central RR. has asked permission to guaranty the issue.—V. 118, p. 1521.

Southern Pacific Co.—Think Company Will Take Rock Island Lines.—Tucker, Bartholomew & Co. say:

There have been all kinds of rumors regarding Rock Island and its probable absorption by the Southern Pacific. That there is a real basis for such rumors is evidenced by the statements of Chairman Kruttschnitt and Director Spence of the Southern Pacific at recent hearings before the I.-S. C. Commission in Washington when the El Paso & Southwestern was taken over. . . . Since that time we have had the strongest possible evidence that interests identified with the Southern Pacific have acquired in the open market between 200,000 and 300,000 shares of Rock Island stock. We make this statement in the face of denials that the Southern Pacific has been acquiring the Rock Island stock, believing that such denials are technical.

Now, as a matter of fact, high officials of the Rock Island deny that any negotiations are on for the purchase of Rock Island by Southern Pacific—and this may be technically correct—but we have the highest authority notwithstanding for the statement that, while official negotiations may not have been opened, unofficial intimations have been received that 4% would be paid by the Southern Pacific for the Rock Island property and that Rock Island interests have as strongly intimated that 4% would not be acceptable. They maintain that Rock Island, with a Government valuation of $123 per share, in the best physical condition in its history and in position to earn next year well in excess of what it will show this year, would not be justified, in the eyes of its stockholders, in recommending any such guarantee —V. 119, p. 2177.

New Development.—Atlantic City Electric Co. has contracted with the Electric Co. of New Jersey for the delivery to it of 5,000 k. w. initially increasing to 10,000 k. w. of electric energy and station capacity and has constructed an extension to its high-tension transmission line for the purpose of delivering this power. The Electric Co. of New Jersey serves the southern portion of New Jersey, which includes the east bank of the Delaware River, a district which is becoming highly industrialized, and the rapidly developing territory lying between Wilmington and Atlantic City. The Electric Co. of New Jersey is now interconnected with the electric generating station of the Wilmington & Philadelphia Traction Co. at Wilmington, Del., through a high-tension transmission system, so that the Atlantic City Electric Co., together with the Electric Co. of New Jersey, is now serving the entire southern part of the State of New Jersey. It is anticipated that the contract, as a result of the economies effected, will give a substantial increase in the gross earnings and create a material saving in plant operation. Digest of Letter of President Ronald Ross, Oct. 1.

Company.—Owns and operates a hydro-electric power plant at Beaverton Mich. Company has been in successful operation since March 1919 and owns a modern reinforced concrete dam which holds a 20-foot head of water. There are two power houses of fireproof construction, housing two of the latest type vertical generators of 1,000 h.p. and 395 h.p., respectively. Company owns approximately 3,582 acres of land and water flowage rights, also an 11-mile transmission line extending from Beaverton to Coleman which joins the Consumers Power Co. transmission line at the latter point. Company has a lease for transmission right of way along the Pere Marquette RR. at a nominal price.

Contract for Power.—A contract extending beyond the life of the bonds has been made with the Consumers Power Co. for the entire electrical output of the Beaverton Power Co. excepting only such power as is necessary for the company to retain for retail distribution in the village of Beaverton. Under the terms of this contract, current is billed to the Consumers Power Co. monthly and it is estimated that there will be approximately $21,000 per year available for bond interest after taxes and operating expenses, or about 2.7 times the maximum annual interest charges of this issue.

Security.—A first lien on all of the property now or hereafter owned. The present property has been appraised by Gardner S. Williams, consulting engineer, Ann Arbor, Mich., as of Sept. 30 1924 at $380,000.

Sinking Fund.—As provided in the mortgage, beginning Nov. 15 1924, company will deposit with the trustee monthly a proportionate amount of the next maturing interest and beginning Oct. 15 1926 the payments will be increased by an amount sufficient to retire the entire issue of Series "A" bonds which are now outstanding, by maturity.

Earnings of Consumers Power Co. for Three Years Ending Aug. 31.

Payments to the Beaverton Power Co. from which interest and sinking fund requirements on this issue will be met, are an operating charge against the Consumers Power Co.

Purpose.—To reimburse the company for a part of the construction costs and improvements which have been made up to the present time.

Central Jersey Power & Light Corp.—To Issue Bonds.—The New Jersey P. U. Commission has authorized the company to issue $135,000 1st Mtge. 30-Year 6% bonds. The Commission has also approved the issuance of $12,000 Lakewood Water Co 1st Mtge. 20-Year 6% bonds, $335,500 Consolidated Gas Co. of N. J. 1st Ref. Mtge. bonds; $163,500 Lakewood & Coast Electric Co. 1st Mtge. 20-Year 6% bonds. —V. 118, p. 911.

Cincinnati (O.) Street Ry.—Fare Plan is Rejected.—The directors on Nov. 22 authorized the following statement:

"The company absolutely declines to accept that portion of the Citizens' Traction Committee report which recommends that the company should guaranty unconditionally for three years the 7½-cent fare. The company has been willing, if necessary, to dedicate one-sixth of its return on capital for three years for the purpose of maintaing the 7½-cent fare, but it will go no farther than this and therefore states unqualifiedly that if the recommendation of the Citizens' Committee with reference to the unconditional guarantee of 7½-cent fare for three years is insisted upon by the city the Cincinnati Street Ry. Co. will go no father with the negotiations and the responsibility for the failure of the proposed new franchise must rest squarely upon those insisting on such a provision."

In its report to the Mayor of Cincinnati, Ohio, the Citizens' Committee, says in substance that "the ordinance as drafted is much superior to the present ordinance; that there was an agreement as to fundamentals, and that the ordinance should be sent to City Council for passage after it is modified to provide for an absolute guatantee of a 7½cent rate of fare for the initial three-year period of the grant." It is this provision to which the directors of the railway company take exception.—V. 118, p. 1519.

Cities Service Co.—Acquires Kansas Properties.—The gas distributing systems in Wichita, Hutchinson, Newton and Pittsburgh, Kan., have been sold by the Kansas Gas & Electric Co. to the Cities Service Co. for, it is said, $6,000,000.

The Cities Service Co. will immediately organize a distributing company to take over the distribution of natural gas in these four Kansas cities. The Kansas Gas & Electric Co. will continue strictly as an electric utility. —V. 119, p. 2409.

Columbia Gas & Elec. Co.—Recent Acquisition—Earns.—Pres. Philip G. Gossler, Nov. 20, states that continuing its general policy of taking every advantageous means of protecting the supply of gas for its consumers, the company has recently acquired practically all of the Preferred and Common stocks of the Huntington (W. Va.) Development & Gas Co. The Huntington company has a natural gas transmission and distribution system and is the owner of a large acreage of gas and oil rights and 22,000 acres of coal lands. It serves directly 5,900 gas consumers. The economical operation of these properties, in conjunction with the other producing properties already owned by Columbia system, will provide further assurance to the communities served with natural ags by Columbia system companies of the continuation of the best gas service obtainable.

The earnings for the six months of the current year 1924 were made notwithstanding the most severe bus competition in the history of the railway. This motor bus competition resulted in the lowering of rates on a number of the railway lines to 1 cent per car miles and the maintenance of a frequency of service that was out of proportion to traffic requirements. This competition has now been overcome and the laws of the State of Michigan provide that the railway is entitled to put into effect rates that will bring a return of 7% on its investment after operating expenses (this will include rental for this equipment), maintenance and 2% depreciation. The Commission has placed a valuation for rate making purposes on the railway property of approximately $30,000,000.—V. 119, p. 2410.

(a) From the commencement of operations under Contract No. 3 and the related certificates, respectively, it has been the practice to include in all reports of operating expenses 14% of the gross operating revenue upon the Manhattan Division and 17% of the Subway Division, to cover maintenance and depreciation. These are the percentages fixed for the first year of operation in each case. Negotiations have been pending between the company and the Commission ever since the end of the first year to determine what, if any, changes in these percentages should be made for subsequent years. Prior to July 1 1923 the amount expended in excess of 14% upon the Manhattan Division was approximately offset by the amount under 17% expended upon the Subway Division. The net expenditures for maintenance in excess of the amounts therefor, included in "operating expenses, taxes and rental paid city for the old subway," are shown hereinabove as "maintenance in excess of contractual provisions."

(b) Under the plan of readjustment payment of the sinking fund is deferred undtil July 1 1926 on condition that, prior to that date, an amount equal to the deferred sinking fund be expended on additions or improvements to the property.—V. 119, p. 2287, 2172.

Data from Letter of Edgar Knapp, President of the Company.

Company.—Company, in addition to its own properties and franchises, has acquired the business and properties of the Middleport Gas & Electric Light Co. and the Newfane Electric Co. These companies have been distributing electric energy to various localities in the towns of Hartland, Newfane and Royalton, in Niagara County, N. Y.

Security.—Bonds are secured by a direct first closed mortgage on all the tangible and physical properties, plants, transmission lines, improvements, water and other rights, franchises, &c., now or hereafter owned.

Company has under construction a dam and hydro-electric power plant on Eighteen Mile Creek, at Burt, N. Y. This development when completed (early in 1925) will consist of a concrete dam about 325 ft. long, capable of delivering water under a 50 ft. head to two 1,650 h. p. units, with space reserved for a third unit of larger capacity. The power house will have a present capacity of 3,300 h. p.

Value of Properties.—An appraisal of the properties made by Stone & Webster, Inc., as of Sept. 1 1924, gave the cost to reproduce new, less depreciation, as $886,600, or a valuation of nearly $3,000 for each $1,000 bond.

Earnings.—Due to increasing demands of customers, the system has been purchasing additional power, above the power supplied under contract with the Niagara Lockport & Ontario Power Co., at a much higher price than that supplied under contract. This additional power will be supplied from the new hydro-electric plant at Burt, N. Y. On the basis of the earnings for the 12 months ending Aug. 31 1924, this will represent an annual saving of over $11,600, which, with earnings from present contracts, and additional business in sight, Mr. Knapp estimtaes will make the annual earnings of the system, applicable to interest charges, approximately $50,000 in 1925, or practically three times interest requirements on these bonds.

Sinking Fund.—On or before Sept. 1 1925 and on or before each succeeding Sept. 1, company will pay to the trustee a sum equal to at least 3% of the principal of all the bonds issued under this mortgage, which amount is to be applied to the retirement of these bonds. Bonds retired by the sinking fund shall be cancelled.

Purpose.—Proceeds will provide funds for the construction of the dam and power house at Burt, N. Y., and for other additions, improvements, &c.

Commenting on the balance sheet an official statement says in substance:
The balance sheet evidences the continuance of the remarkable growth which the company has enjoyed for several years.
On Sept. 30 1924 property and plant account amounted to $274,333,512, an increase of $32,312,960 during the 12 months. The company issued $10,002,800 additional Pref. stock and $4,259,520 Common stock; and its subsidiary companies issued $23,346,268 bonds and $13,767,300 Pref. stock.
Of the $4,259,520 additional Common stock issued by the North American Co., $1,618,000 was issued upon the exercise of subscription rights and $2,641,520 in payment of dividends on the Common stock. The subscription rights offered to the Common stockholders in December 1921 expired on Dec. 31 1923, and there are no subscription rights now outstanding.
The increase of $13,767,300 in Preferred stock of subsidiary companies represented issues sold by them in the territories in which they operate; $10,676,500 of such Preferred stock bearing dividends at 6% and the balance at 7%.
The chief items of property enlargement were new turbines which added 155,000 kilowatts to the generating capacity, and further extensions to the transmission and distribution systems. These additional facilities were required to meet the rapidly growing electric business of the subsidiaries, which added 62,526 new electric customers during the 12 months ended Sept. 30 1924; 635,645 electric customers being served on that date.
The more important bond issues of the subsidiaries during the 12 months included the following: $8,000,000 6½% bonds of North American Edison Co., to provide part of the funds required for the purchase of the securities of the Wisconsin subsidiaries formerly owned by Wisconsin Edison Co.; $10,000,000 5½% First Mtge. bonds of Union Electric Light & Power Co. of Illinois, to finance the construction of its new Cahokia super-power station on the Mississippi River opposite St. Louis, placed in operation in December 1923; $9,000,000 First Mtge. 5% bonds of Wisconsin Electric Power Co., to provide for additions to its Lakeside super-power station at Milwaukee, and to refund $4,550,000 7½% bonds; and $5,000,000 First Mtge. 7% bonds of West Kentucky Coal Co., to retire its $1,363,000 First Mtge. bonds and to finance part of the cost of its purchase of the properties of St. Bernard Mining Co. and Kentucky Block Coal Corp. With the acquisition of these properties West Kentucky Coal Co. is now the largest in the western Kentucky field. The $6,500,000 of 10-Year 6% Debenture bonds of Wisconsin Edison Co. were paid at maturity on May 1 1924.—V. 119, p. 2411, 2179.

Franchises.—The franchise situation is, in the opinion of counsel, eminently satisfactory. The franchises in Iowa and Illinois are, with few exceptions, for long periods of time or are indeterminate. In Missouri and Kansas the franchises are, with minor exceptions, perpetual.

The electric light and power franchises in Columbus are without limit of time. Important street railway lines extending through the centre of Columbus and aggregating over 18 miles, are operated under franchises which are without time limit. The remaining mileage is operated under franchises expiring in 1925 and 1926.

The franchises of the remaining properties are satisfactory. There is no pending rate or franchise litigation and excellent public relations prevail in all communities served.

Plants and Operation.—The physical properties of the United Light & Power group include 10 central stations with a total generating capacity of 81,000 k. w.; 659 miles of high tension transmission lines; 3,745 miles of distributing lines; 11 gas plants, 9 of which are equipped with coal gas and water gas apparatus permitting operation of whichever is more advantageous under prevailing conditions. The gas plants have capacity for an annual output of over 2,250,000,000 cu. ft. The distributing mains are 762 miles in length. The street railway properties include 147 miles of track; are well equipped with modern rolling stock and have car barns of ample capacity together with exceptional shop facilities. The high speed interurban lines which have a trackage totaling 123 miles are located on private right of way.

The properties of the subsidiaries of Continental Gas & Electric Corp. will increase the facilities of the system to the following aggregates: 330,000 k.w. of generating capacity, 2,436 miles of transmission lines, over 6,230 miles of distributing circuits, 18 gas plants, 931 miles of gas mains, 416 miles of street railway and interurban track and over 494 passenger and freight cars.

Further details regarding business and territory served, &c., was given in V. 119, p. 1734, 1627.

United Railways Company of St. Louis.—Reorganization Plan.—

A plan of reorganization dated Oct. 1 1924 has been adopted and is being promulgated by the reorganization committee (F. D. Watts, Chairman), Newman Saunders & Co., Inc., being the managers for the committee. The several protective committees (below) have also approved and adopted the plan, and recommend its adoption by their respective depositors.

Holders of the bonds and stocks (below) who have not heretofore deposited their securities with the respective protective committees may become parties to the plan by depositing their securities with the depositories, as specified, on or before Dec. 24 next.

Holders of certificates of deposit or receipts issued under the respective deposit agreements representing the bonds or stock who shall not exercise the right of withdrawal under the deposit agreements under which such certificates of deposit or receipts were issued, will, in the event that the plan and agreement shall become binding and conclusive upon them, become parties to the plan and agreement without the issue of new certificates of deposit or receipts.

Holders of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. 1st Mtge. 5% (8%) bonds may become parties to the plan by depositing their bonds with the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., St. Louis.

Newman, Saunders & Co., Inc., has agreed to form a syndicate of which it will be manager to underwrite the 245,745 shares of new Common stock provided in the plan to be offered to Preferred and Common stockholders.

Action to hasten the reorganization was taken Nov. 21 by Federal Judge Faris when he handed down an order consolidating all litigation pending in the U. S. District Court against the company and several of its component companies.

An introductory statement to the plan says:

Since April 12 1919 the company has been in the hands of Rolla Wells, receiver.

The reorganization is intended to accomplish (a) the termination of the receivership; (b) the reduction of fixed charges to an amount safely within the earning capacity of the property; (c) settlement of the litigation and controversies which heretofore prevented reorganization of the properties; (d) a fair adjustment of the respective interests of the various security holders; (e) an adequate provision for present and future capital requirements; and (f) to place the property in a position to render the highest standard of public service.

In particular, the reorganization is intended to prevent separation of the properties and to continue under one management all of the properties now comprising the United Railways system.

(V.) Method of Reorganization.—The reorganization is to embrace, except so far as the reorganization committee shall otherwise determine, the various properties (or securities representative thereof) now included in the United Railways system. It is intended that these properties shall be sold under foreclosure decrees, subject to the lien of the 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s, which are to remain undisturbed in the reorganization, and also subject to any bonds or other obligations having a prior lien or liens on the property or any part thereof securing the 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s.

A successor company or companies will be organized or utilized wherever the reorganization committee in its discretion may determine (hereafter called the new company).

It is further intended that the properties (or securities representative thereof) now subject to the lien of the two mortgages securing respectively the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. 1st Mtge. 5s (8s) and the Gen. Mtge. 5s of that company shall be sold on foreclosure or otherwise dealt with and the title thereto vested in the new company or in a new subsidiary company (hereinafter called the new suburban subsidiary).

The reorganization committee shall also be empowered to effect such mergers or consolidations of subsidiary companies with each other or with the new company and to organize or utilize one or more subsidiaries for the purpose of acquiring or holding any of the properties or securities subject to the reorganization or acquired under the plan.

(VI.) Securities to Be Authorized by New Company.

Bonds of New Company.—The reorganization committee may provide for the creation of an issue of bonds of the new company to be known as its 1st & Ref. Mtge. Gold bonds, limited to such amount as the reorganization committee may determine, issuable from time to time in series, in such amounts, with such maturities, rates of interest, sinking fund and other provisions as may be stated in the mortgage or determined from time to time by the board of directors of the new company at the time of the creation of any series (subsequent to Series A).

The bonds may be issued under a mortgage or deed of trust which will constitute a lien (subject to the mortgage securing United Railways Co. of St. Louis 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s, to the extent that said mortgage is a lien thereon, and to any bonds or other obligations having a prior lien or liens on the property or any part thereof securing the 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s) on all, or substantially all lines, francnises and equipment, terminals and other property (including stocks and bonds of subsidiary companies), which may be vested in the new company pursuant to the plan and also all additional property of like character (including stocks and bonds of subsidiary companies) at any time thereafter acquired by the new company; subject, however, as to the property then or thereafter acquired, to existing liens thereon so far as such liens extend by the terms of the instruments creating them or as such liens may be extended thereto, and, as to after acquired property, to any purchase-money liens thereon created in connection with such acquisition.

The reorganization committee may provide that all or any part of the bonds and securities (or obligations in lieu thereof) listed under I. (b) of the plan and or 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s which may be taken down by reaon of the payment or retirement of such or other bonds or securities, shall be pledged as security under this mortgage.

Bonds of this issue (in addition to Series A bonds issued in reorganization) may be issuable from time to time under restrictions to be contained in the mortgage, for the purpose of providing for the capital requirements of the new company, for the acquisition or to reimburse the new company for the acquisition of additional equipment, improvements, betterments, additions, additional mileage, or stocks or bonds representative of additional mileage, whether constructed or acquired by the new company or by some subsidiary company, and for the refunding, retirement or acquisition of any bonds previously issued and outstanding under this mortgage or under the United Railways Co. of St. Louis 1st Gen. Mtge. 4s, or any bonds or obligations constituting a prior lien on the mortgaged property and (or) previously issued and outstanding under any mortgage of any subsidiary company and for other proper corporate purposes. Further provisions of the mortgage are to be determined by the reorganization committee.

Broad Powers to Reorganization Committee and New Company.—It is intended to give to the reorganization committee and to the new company broad powers to deal with or provide for the refunding and payment of the debts of the new company and for the development, improvement and addition to its street railway and appurtenant properties, including the installation and operation of motor coach lines and other transportation facilities.

To Issue 1st & Refunding Bonds and (or) Collateral Gold Notes.—The reorganization committee shall have power in its discretion to authorize for issuance in reorganization not exceeding $8,000,000 1st & Ref. Mtge. Gold bonds, Series A of this issue to bear interest at such rate (not exceeding 7% p. a.), to be payable at such date (not later than July 1 1955), and to be redeemable, all or part, on such terms and at such time or times as the reorganization committee may determine.

In the discretion of the reorganization committee there may be issued in reorganization, in lieu of all or any part of Series A bonds, an issue of Collateral Gold notes of the new company which, together with the amount of any Series A bonds issued, shall not together exceed $8,000,000. The collateral gold notes, if issued, shall bear interest at such rate (not exceeding 7% p. a.), shall be payable on such date, shall be red. all or part on such terms and at such price, and may be secured by such of the Series A bonds and (or) any other bonds or securities, all as determined by the reorganization committee.

The reorganization committee may, pending or in lieu of the issuance of all or any part of the 1st & Ref. Mtge. Series A bonds and (or) the Collateral Gold notes which the plan provides may be issued in reorganization, borrow, or cause the new company to borrow, for the purpose of carrying out the plan, all or any part of the sums provided in the plan to be raised by the sale of such bonds and (or) notes and as security for such loans the reorganization committee may pledge or cause to be pledged all or any part of the Series A bonds.

Preferred Stock.—Preferred stock will be authorized to such an amount as the reorganization committee may deem advisable, the shares to be without par value, or of $100 par value. The Preferred stock is to be issuable in series, each series (subsequent to Series A) to be entitled to dividends at such rate, not exceeding $7 per share per annum, and cumulative from such date, and to be red. on such terms and at such price (not less than $100 per share) as may be determined by the directors of the new company at the time of creation. The Preferred stock will be preferred as to assets on distribution to the amount of not less than $100 per share and accrued and unpaid dividends.

Amount of Preferred Stock to Be Issued.—There is to be authorized for issuance in reorganization: Preferred Stock, Series A, entitled to dividends at the rate of $7 per share per annum, but no more, cumulative without int. from and after such date as the reorganization committee may determine, and red. all or part at $100 per share and all arrears in cumulative divs.

Preferred stock, Series A, is to be issued in reorganization: In respect of St. Louis Transit Co. Impt. 20-Year 5s ..... 53,845 shs.

Prior Preference Stock.—If the reorganization committee shall so determine, the charter of the new company may authorize the issuance of Prior Preference stock to provide for further capital requirements or to provide such additional money as may be required to carry out the plan.

Common Stock.—Common stock will be authorized to such an amount as the reorganization committee may deem advisable, the shares to be with or without par value as the reorganization committee may determine. Holders of Common stock shall be entitled to one vote for each share held.

Amount of Common Stock to Be Issued.—Common stock is to be issued in reorganization: To be sold for cash to procure funds required in reorganization at $12 50 per share ..... 343,645 shs.

Common and (or) Preferred stock of the new company may also be issued and utilized in reorganization in effecting such other readjustments, or may be sold to provide such additional cash as may be required to carry out the plan, all as the reorganization committee may deem advisable.

(VII.) Authorized Bond Issue of New Suburban Subsidiary.

If the plan is declared operative with respect to the properties of the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. Co., the new suburban subsidiary is to authorize an issue of not to exceed $7,500,000 1st Mtge. bonds at any one time outstanding. These bonds may be issuable in series in such amounts, with such maturities, rates of interest, &c., as determined by the directors of the new suburban subsidiary at the time of the creation of any series (subsequent to Series A). These bonds are to be equally and proportionately secured by a first mortgage which is to embrace all, or substantially all, of the properties (or securities representative thereof) now subject to the lien of either of the two mortgages securing respectively the St. Louis & Suburban Ry. 1st Mtge. bonds and the Gen. Mtge. bonds. The mortgage will provide that bonds in addition to those authorized for issuance in reorganization may be issued up to 80% of the cost of new equipment, improvements, betterments or additions becoming subject to the lien of the mortgage.

Bonds to Be Issued in Reorganization.—Under the mortgage there shall be authorized for issuance in reorganization to the extent required for the purposes of the plan: First Mortgage 5% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, Series A, of this issue, payable July 1 1934; to bear int. from Oct. 1 1924; red. all or part at 102 and int. (except that bonds red. from sinking fund are red. at the principal amount thereof and int.); and entilted to the benefits of a sinking fund guaranteed by the new company of $100,000, p. a. payable in equal monthly installments, the new company to have the right to tender bonds for purchase by the sinking fund at the cost thereof to it.

In exchange for St. Louis & Suburban Ry. Gen. Mtge. 5s, not exceeding ..... x$4,500,000 x These bonds may be eliminated and 2d Pref. stock issued in lieu thereof on the basis of 10 shares of such stock for each $1,000 of St. Louis & Suburban Ry. Gen. Mtge. 5s, should such adjustment be made with the holders of the Gen. Mtge. bonds.

Agreement of New Company with New Suburban Subsidiary.—For the benefit of the holders of Series A bonds of this issue the reorganization committee will cause the new company to enter into a lease, operating contract with the new suburban subsidiary whereby, unless and until the trustee under the mortgage securing this issue by reason of default thereunder with respect to the Series A bonds enters and (or) forecloses on the property or any part thereof subject to the lien of the mortgage, the new company will agree for the term of the Series A bonds to keep the properties subject to the mortgage free from the lien of all taxes and charges that would be superior to the rights under the mortgage of the Series A bonds in regard to such properties, and to operate and maintain the properties in good operating condition properly equipped, and to pay to the trustee in cash, in monthly installments, an amount equivalent to the total amount of interest accrued for such monthly period on the Series A bonds of this issue then outstanding.

(VIII.) Adjustment of Deferred Mill Tax Obligation.

The reorganization committee shall be empowered to effect such arrangement with the City of St. Louis to settle the company's deferred mill tax obligation as the reorganization committee may determine.

(IX.) Treatment and Rights of Holders of Securities.

Holders of certificates of deposit for the bonds listed below (with coupons, if any, as stated) who shall be entitled to the benefits of the plan and shall have complied with the conditions thereof, will, subject to the conditions of the plan, be entitled to receive new securities and (or) cash at the rate hereinafter stated for each $1,000 of principal amount.

Unpaid interest if, and to the extent payable in accordance with the provisions of the plan, will be paid out of the general funds. If, pending the completion of the reorganization, payment shall be made of or on account of any of the coupons or claims for interest listed below, the amount of such payment will be deducted from any cash or securities otherwise distributable. Any cash received by the reorganization committee in respect of coupons or claims for interest on deposited securities maturing after Oct. 1 1924 may be retained by the committee.

Preferred and Common Stock of United Railways Co. of St. Louis.

The reorganization committee will, out of the 343,645 shares of new Common stock provided under the plan, to be sold for cash for reorganization purposes, offer to sell for cash at $12 50 per share, within such time and in conformity with such regulations as it may prescribe, 245,745 shares of such stock to such holders of Preferred stock of the United Railways Co. who deposit under the plan, on the basis of 1½ shares of such new Common stock for each share of Preferred stock so deposited, and also will offer to sell at $12 50 per share, pro rata to such holders of Preferred stock any new Common stock offered to but not subscribed for by the holders of St. Louis Transit Co. Improvement 20-Year 5s. Any of the shares of new Common stock not so purchased by the holders of the St. Louis Transit Co. bonds and (or) by the Preferred stockholders will, within such time and in conformity with such regulations as the reorganization committee may prescribe, be offered pro rata at the price of $12 50 cash per share to the Common stockholders of United Railways Co. who deposit under the plan.

Non-Assenting Security Holders.

The plan makes no provision for payment in cash under the terms of any bid at foreclosure or other sale to any holders of bonds secured by mortgages foreclosed (or not foreclosed) who do not participate in the plan. Any securities which would be deliverable under the plan to such holders had they participated may remain unissued or be disposed of by the reorganization committee for the purposes of the reorganization.

The reorganization committee may underwrite or cause to be underwritten the participation in the plan of the holders of St. Louis Transit Co. Improvt. 5s and (or) the holders of St. Louis & Suburban Ry. Gen. Mtge. 5s, or if no such underwriting is provided as to either or both of such classes of bonds, the reorganization committee may provide the cash (if any) necessary to be paid to any such non-assenting bondholders (upon sale of the properties upon which such bonds constitute a lien) through the sale of prior preference, preferred or common stock.

The reorganization committee may make adjustments of indebtedness and (or) offer to unsecured creditors (including creditors whose security has been sold in enforcement of their debt or of a debt constituting a prior charge on such security) and may call for the deposit of any such claims or provide otherwise for their participation or adjustment. For the purposes of adjustment it may use any of the securities presently issuable in the reorganization and not required for delivery to depositors, or in its discretion it may procure the present issue of, and may use, additional securities of any class or character contemplated by the plan.

General.—The bonds and stocks of the new company and the bonds of the new suburban subsidiary to be issued under the plan in exchange, or in partial exchange, for existing securities or claims, so far as not used in such exchange, may be reserved for that purposr under restrictions to be fixed by the reorganization committee. In the event that the reorganization committee shall determine that it would facilitate the carrying out of the plan or would enhance the value of the securities, or that the securities should be offered to local interests, or if the reorganization committee should for any other reason deem it advisable to provide cash for the purposes for which the plan provides the bonds and stocks are to be presently issued and delivered in exchange or a partial exchange for existing securities, it may sell such bonds (other than bonds of the new suburban subsidiary) and stocks in whole or in part to such person or persons upon such terms and for such consideration as it may in its discretion determine.

Pending such sale and (or) delivery the reorganization committee may withhold from distribution all or any part of such bonds and stocks for a period not longer than 6 months after consummation of the plan. The amounts of the proposed issues of new securities, as set forth, are estimated, and are based upon the amount of securities and claims outstanding in the hands of the public, no account being taken of inter-company holdings. The ultimate amount of each issue will depend upon the extent to which the reorganization committee may conclude to readjust any securities or claims and also upon the extent to which and the manner in which the reorganization committee exercises the various powers conferred under the plan and agreement, including the power to effect adjustments and to exclude issues of securities or claims from the plan, or modify the provisions for them.

It is understood that for the purpose of providing additional money or for any other purpose in connection with the reorganization, the reorganization committee may as part of the plan authorize and direct the issue of either (a) 1st & Ref. Mtge. bonds, (b) Collateral Gold notes, (c) Prior Pref. stock, (d) Preferred stock and (e) Common stock in addition to and beyond the amounts contemplated by the foregoing statements and estimates, and may arrange for the sale of any securities or shares of stock so issued as the committee may deem advisable.

A statement of the receiver to the reorganization committee, together with a table of present and estimated capitalization and annual fixed charges are given under "Financial Reports" on a preceding page.—V. 119, p. 2181, 1735.

Beaubien & Co., Ltd., Geoffrion & Co., and Dominion Securities Corp., Montreal, are offering at 103 and divs., to yield over 5.80%, $2,500,000 6% Cumulative Preferred shares. The Montreal Light Heat & Power Consolidated and the Shawinigan Water & Power Co. have agreed to jointly and in equal amounts furnish United Securities Ltd. with funds necessary to pay the dividends at the rate of 6% per annum on its Preferred shares should the earnings of United Securities Ltd. be insufficient to do so, Dividends payable Q.-J. Red. in whole or in part on any div. date at 105 and divs. after 30 days' notice. Transfer agent, Montreal Trust Co., Montreal and London. Registrar, Canadian Trust Co., Montreal.

Data From Letter of Pres. Julian C. Smith, Montreal, Nov. 18.

United Securities, Ltd., was incorp. by letters patent issued under the provisions of the Quebec Companies' Act 1920 on June 14 1924. Authorized capital of the company is $20,000,000, divided into 60,000 6% Non-Voting Cumulative Preferred shares and 140,000 Common shares, all of the par value of $100.

Under the by-law creating the presently authorized $6,000,000 of Pref. shares, provision is made that further issues of Pref. shares may be made by the company from time to time up to a maximum of $4,000,000 and that such additional shares if issued shall rank pari passu with the first $6,000,000 of Pref. shares presently authorized.

Undertaking of Guarantor Companies.—By agreement entered into between United Securities, Ltd., and Montreal Light Heat & Power Co., Consolidated and Shawinigan Water & Power Co., dated Sept. 30 1924, the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated and Shawinigan Water & Power Co. jointly agree that should United Securities, Ltd., have insufficient earnings properly available for the payment of quarterly dividends at the rate of 6% per annum on the Pref. shares of the issue of $6,000,000 while all or any of the Pref. shares of such issue are outstanding they will jointly and in equal amounts furnish United Securities, Ltd., with the funds necessary to pay such quarterly dividends. The foregoing obligation is irrevocable during the whole of the period during which all or any of the said Pref. shares are outstanding.

Earnings of Guarantor Companies.—The joint obligation of Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated and of Shawinigan Water & Power Co. with respect to the furnishing of moneys necessary to pay the dividends on the entire authorized issue of $6,000,000 of Pref. shares cannot in any event exceed the sum of $360,000 per annum.

Should United Securities, Ltd., fail in any year to earn the moneys necessary to meet these dividend requirements, the financial ability of Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated and of Shawinigan Water & Power Co. to meet their joint obligations as guarantors can be appreciated from the fact that the earnings of Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated for the fiscal year ended Dec. 31 1923, and after payment of all fixed charges amounted to more than $7,800,000 and that the earnings of Shawinigan Water & Power Co. for the same period and after payment of all fixed charges amounted to nearly $2,000,000.

Stock Holdings.—At and prior to Nov. 15 1924 United Securities, Ltd., had acquired: (a) 160,000 shares of Common stock of Montreal Tramways & Power Co., Ltd., out of a total of 175,778 shares issued and outstanding; (b) 35,050 shares of Common stock of Quebec-New England Hydro-Electric Corp. constituting the entire issued capital stock of such company.

Should an offer of exchange made by the company to holders of the Common shares of Montreal Tramways & Power Co., Ltd., be accepted the issued capital stock of United Securities, Ltd., will be:

Preferred shares ($100 each)	$5,169,000
Common shares ($100 each)	5,169,000

Montreal Tramways & Power Co., Ltd., was incorp. in Great Britain. It holds and owns 21,000 shares of the Common stock (par $100) of Montreal Tramways Co. out of a total of 40,000 of such shares presently issued and outstanding.

Montreal Tramways Co. owns the only street railway system operating in the city of Montreal and in all other municipalities on the island of Montreal. The estimated population of the district so served is 900,000. The company pays dividends at the rate of 10% per annum on its Common stock. The franchise rights of Montreal Tramways Co. are established under a contract with the city of Montreal, dated Jan. 28 1918. The franchise extends to the year 1953. This contract has been ratified by an Act of the Legislature of the Province of Quebec.

The capital value of the company's properties is fixed through this contract and provision is made that after payment of operating expenses and maintenance and renewal payments the company must receive an annual return of 6% on such capital value. It is also provided that the company's right to receive this return has priority over any claim of the city of Montreal to receive a stipulated amount of $500,000 as an annual rental for the streets and highways of the city.

Quebec-New England Hydro-Electric Corp. distributes electric current for lighting and power purposes in the city of Montreal and its suburbs and United Securities, Ltd., owns the entire issued capital stock of this company.

The Canadian Light & Power Co. is controlled by Quebec-New England Hydro-Electric Corp. by an ownership of a majority of the issued shares of the said company. The Canadian Light & Power Co. operates a hydro-electric plant with an installed capacity of 20,000 h.p. This plant is located at St. Timothee, on the St. Lawrence River, about 30 miles from Montreal.

Capital Issue.—Preferred and Common shares of United Securities, Ltd., have been issued in exchange for shares of Montreal Tramways & Power Co., Ltd., and for shares of Quebec-New England Hydro-Electric Corp. Payment for such shares has been made one-half in the fully paid Common shares of United Securities, Ltd., and one-half in the fully paid Preferred shares of the said company.

In addition to the shares of United Securities, Ltd., issued for the purposes of such exchange, Montreal Light, Heat & Power Consolidated and Shawinigan Water & Power Co. have subscribed in equal amounts for approximately $4,545,600 aggregate par value of the Preferred and Common shares of United Securities, Ltd. The subscriptions so made are for equal amounts of Preferred and Common shares and all such shares have been paid for in cash at par. The moneys so paid in to the Company have been used to discharge current liabilities of Montreal Tramways & Power Co. and of Quebec-New England Hydro-Electric Corp.—V. 119, p. 1747, 706.

Valley Rys.—Offer to Bond and Stockholders.—An offer of $44 a share for all Common stock of the company, has been made by New York capitalists, according to a press dispatch from Philadelphia. The offer, it is said, includes all bonds at par and Common stock at a price $10 to $12 higher than any sales in last few years. M. C. Kennedy, Chairman of committee of directors, who has considered the proposal, sent letters to the stock and bondholders. The offer of $44 holds good only if stock is delivered to Commonwealth Trust Co. of Harrisburg, Pa., by Dec. 29, provided the option of 90 days from Nov. 24 is granted for the bonds of the company at par and int.—V. 112, p. 2085.

Western Power Corp.—Companies May Merge.—

The New York "Times" Nov. 25 says: Discussions are being carried on between officials of the Western Power Corp. and the San Joaquin Light & Power Corp. looking to the acquisition of the latter company by the former. Both are large California properties. According to H. P. Wilson, President of the Western Power Corp., however, the negotiations have not proceeded far enough to warrant an announcement. Mr. Wilson said: "We may buy San Joaquin Light & Power if the terms are satisfactory, and we may not. We have had discussions on this subject for about three years."—V. 119, p. 1293.

Western Union Telegraph Co.—Sale.—

The company has sold to Canadian interests all the shares it owns in the Dominion Telegraph Co. of Canada, approximating 29% of the capital stock. The Dominion Telegraph Co., which owns some lines in Canada, leased all of its property to the Great North Western Telegraph Co. and the Western Union Telegraph Co. until 1978. The Chase National Bank has been appointed Registrar for 250,000 shares of Common stock.—V. 119, p. 813.

American Bank Note Co.—Extra Dividend of $7 50.—

The directors have declared an extra dividend of $7 50 a share on the Common stock, par $50, payable Dec. 31 to holders of record Dec. 15. An extra dividend of 15% in cash was paid Dec. 31 1923, while on Dec. 29 1922 the company paid 20% in cash and 10% in Common stock on the Common stock.

The directors also declared the regular quarterly dividend of 75c. a share on the Preferred stock, payable Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 15.—V. 119, p. 2066.

American Beet Sugar Co.—Acquisition.—

An agreement to purchase three Minnesota and Iowa beet sugar companies with headquarters in Minneapolis for $4,437,841 has been announced by R. Walter Lee, Chairman and President.

The purchase will be a cash transaction, about $2,900,000 for the Northern Sugar Corp. (V. 106, p. 302) and $1,500,000 to $1,600,000 for the Minnesota Sugar Co. (V. 118, p. 2581). The Red River Sugar Co., a newly formed concern with undeveloped properties owned jointly by Northern and Minnesota, will be included in these prices.

Negotiations for the merger have been under way for several weeks. As far as the shareholders of the two companies are concerned, it is stated that the terms call for the payment of $117 a share for the Preferred stodk (par $100) and $49 a share for the Common stock shares (no par value) of the Northern Sugar Corp. and $10 for the Preferred (par $10) and $21 for the Common shares (par $100) of the Minnesota Sugar Co. These figures, it is stated, are minimum amounts.

President Lee said: "As yet the directors have not decided definitely on how the purchases will be financed, but in view of the strong cash reserves and surplus and the large working capital which alone amounts to nearly $5,500,000, the details are not of prime importance."

The Northern Sugar Corp., which was incorporated in June 1916, in New York, has constructed at Mason City, Iowa, a modern beet factory with a capacity of 14,000 tons of beets daily and can produce 3,000,000 tons of granulated sugar annually. The corporation has contracted for acreage in the vicinity of the factory sufficient to afford a steady supply of sugar beets. The Minnesota Sugar Co., which was incorp. Oct. 1911 in Michigan, acquired the property of the Carver County Sugar Co. at Chaska, Minn., where it has a factory with a daily capacity of 1,000 tons of beets.

The properties of the newly established Red River Sugar Co. are all undeveloped and therefore still in the experimental stage. The company has started to erect a factory at East Grand Forks, Minn., and has had a railroad spur built into the property.—V. 119, p. 2289, 1845.

American Can Co.—To Redeem Debentures.—

Chairman F. S. Wheeler says:

The directors have decided to call for redemption at the Bankers Trust Co., trustee, on Feb. 1 1925, the outstanding debentures due in 1928. This will require about $5,500,000 in cash in addition to the debentures already owned by the company. As the money is on hand for this purpose, the privilege is given to holders to present their debentures for redemption before Feb. 1, if they so desire, receiving the call price of 102½ and accrued interest to the date of presentation at the First National Bank of New York.

While complete figures for 1924 are not yet available, present indications point to about the same earnings as last year.

The question of dividends on the Common stock will be acted upon at the December meeting, but no plans for stock dividends or changing the company's capitalization are being considered.

[The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the Preferred stock is payable Jan. 2 1925 to holders of record Dec. 17 1924.]—V. 118, p. 2181.

American Hide & Leather Co.—Ratification Assured.—

Sufficient proxies, it is said, have been received by the company to assure the adoption of the proposed recapitalization plan outlined in V. 119, p. 1955, 2066.

American International Corp.—Listing—Recapitalization Plan Approved.—

The New York Stock Exchange has authorized the listing on or after Nov. 28 of temporary certificates for 490,000 shares of Common stock without par value on official notice of issuance share for share in exchange for outstanding Common shares, par $100 each (which prior to the exchange are to be reduced to $30 par value).

Atlas Portland Cement Co.—12½% Stock Dividend—Rights to Subscribe to Additional Common Stock—To Pay Off All Outstanding Bonds.—

The directors have declared out of the surplus a Common stock dividend of 12½%, payable Dec. 22 to Common stockholders of record Dec. 15 1924, being at the rate of 1-8 of one share of Common stock on each share of Common stock outstanding.

Where this dividend will result in fractions of shares the company, for the convenience of the stockholders, will purchase such fractions at the rate of $100 per full share. Unless otherwise advised prior to Dec. 22 1924, the company will assume that the stockholders entitled to such fractional shares desire to dispose of them to the company on this basis, and checks in payment for such fractions of shares will be mailed to stockholders entitled thereto.

In case any stockholders do not wish to dispose of their fractions of shares as above provided, scrip certificates for the fractional shares will be issued, which, when accompanied by similar scrip certificates representing in the aggregate one or more full shares and when presented, properly endorsed for transfer, at the office of the company, 25 Broadway, New York City, may be exchanged for a stock certificate or certificates for a like number of full shares of Common stock.

Subscription Rights to Holders of Preferred Stock.—

In view of the stock dividend to holders of Common stock above provided for, the directors have also decided to allow any holder of Preferred stock of the company of record Dec. 15, to subscribe at par ($100 par share) for Common stock, if he desires to do so, upon application to the company at its office, 25 Broadway, N. Y. City, up to an amount not exceeding the same proportion that such stock is to be issued by way of a stock dividend to Common stockholders, namely, at the rate of ⅛ of one share of Common stock for each share of Preferred stock held by such Preferred stockholder. These subscription rights are in addition to the 10% subscription right given to all stockholders (see below).

Payment for any such subscriptions must be made in cash or by certified check or bank draft, payable in New York funds. Such additional subscription rights will expire unless exercised on or before Jan. 7 1925. Common stock subscribed for under such additional subscription rights will not be entitled to participate in the stock dividend (above).

Rights to All Stockholders to Subscribe to Common Stock.—

Each stockholder of record Nov. 12 (both Preferred and Common) is given the right to subscribe on or before Dec. 5 at par ($100) for Common stock up to an amount not exceeding 10% of the number of shares held. Stock subscribed for in accordance with this offer will participate in the stock dividend declared on Common stock (referred to above). Payment must be made at the office of the company, 25 Broadway, N. Y. City, in New York funds.

The 1st Mtge. bonds become due March 1 1925. There will remain at that time $3,100,000 of these bonds which will be retired by money that has been set aside from earnings over a period of time.

This will leave as the sole funded debt of the company the $4,500,000 Gen. & Ref. Mtge. bonds, due in 1939, callable at 105.

We have in our treasury $2,000,000 of these Gen. & Ref. Mtge. bonds, which have been purchased from time to time at par or better.

The money which will be received from the new issue of Common stock now offered to stockholders at par, will be used to retire all of these outstanding Gen. & Ref. Mtge. bonds at the call price. When this has been done company will be free from any funded debt.—V. 119, p. 459.

Data from Letter of Vice-Pres. Sam'l C. Redman, Nov. 15.

Company.—Chapin-Sacks (Inc.) was incorporated in Delaware Nov. 19 1924. Company was formed to hold a minimum of 90% of the voting stock of Chapin-Sacks Corp. and to supply that company with additional working capital

The Chapin-Sacks Corp. was started in 1901 as the Chapin-Sacks Mfg. Co., with the object of entering the commercial field in the manufacture and sale of ice cream, it being one of the pioneers in this industry on a large scale and grew rapidly and extended its operations throughout the State of Maryland and portions of Virginia. In 1910 two creamery stations located in Woodstock, Va., and Buckeystown, Md., were purchased. The next year the company became interested in the City of Richmond, Va., and established a plant at that point under the name of the Purity Ice Cream Co. of Richmond, Va. This company, like the parent, grew rapidly and established branches in Suffolk and Petersburg, Va.

The Chapin-Sacks Mfg. Co. opened a plant in Jacksonville, Fla., in 1914, which was operated under the name of the Purity Ice Cream & Dairy Co. of Jacksonville, Fla., and which soon showed a healthy growth. It later acquired the Macon and Savannah territory, and in 1921 the business at Macon was consolidated with that of the Kinnett Ice & Coal Co., in which the Chapin-Sacks Corp. is a large stockholder.

In 1916 the controlling interest was secured in the Hanover (Pa.) Creamery Co. and in 1917 the company acquired the East Berlin (Pa.) Dairy Co

In 1917 another link was added to the chain by establishing a plant at Charlotte, No. Caro., under the name of the Purity Ice Cream Co. of Charlotte, No. Caro. In 1920 many of these companies were consolidated under the name of the Chapin-Sacks Corp., some retaining their own corporate entity but with their entire capital stock vested in the new corporation. The Chapin-Sacks Corp. is the largest manufacturer of ice cream in the South

In addition Chapin-Sacks Corp. owns 75% of the stock of the Chapin-Sacks Jersey Co. of Birmingham, Ala.

Chapin-Sacks Corp. and its subsidiaries operate 17 plants, 8 distributing stations, 4 creameries and 14 milk supply stations in the following States: Virginia, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Security.—Secured by a pledge of a minimum of 90% of the voting stock of Chapin-Sacks Corp. as follows: 7% Gen. Pref. (par $100), 24,322 shares; Class "A" Common (par $100), 11,796 shares; Class "B" Common, (no par), 25,000 shares.

(which will include over 90% of the 7% Gen. Pref. stock) and will provide the corporation with additional working capital.

Sinking Fund.—Indenture will provide for a semi-annual sinking fund beginning Dec. 1 1925 of $30,000 (or $60,000 per annum). General Electric Co.—Orders—Outlook.—

President Gerard Swope in a talk to employees of the Lynn works of the company said in part: "Orders for the first 9 months of this year were some- thing like 12% less than for the first 9 months of last year. For the past 6 weeks, or since Oct. 1, our orders have increased over what they were in previous months of this year. They are not up to last year, but they are distinctly better than the average rate at which they were running in the earlier part of this year.

"We are looking forward with optimism to the year 1925.

"The General Electric Co. undoubtedly receives a large amount of busi- ness—it will be something like $260,000,000 or $270,000,000 this year, com- pared with $300,000,000 last year. That is a large amount, but when you think that notwithstanding the size of that business, three times that amount has been given to other electrical industries, you can see what a small part of the total electrical business we are doing."—V. 119, p. 2415.

Gera Mills, Passaic, N. J.—Germans Sue for Mills.—

A Federal court suit to regain control of the Gera Mills has been filed in Newark, N. J., by Wilhelm, Rudolph and Fritz Mayer, of Gera-Reuss, Germany, owners of German mills. The property involved in the litigation was seized by the Alien Property Custodian during the World War and was later acquired by American interests.

The complaint declares the present company was organized by Christian Bahnsen, of Passaic, President, in January 1919, and that he acquired interest in the mills by the payment of $1,675,620 to the Alien Property Custodian and thus obtained assets worth $3,361,620. Bahnsen, the com- plaint states, was American agent for the German concern before its seizure by the Government, and served as General Manager.

The plaintiffs ask the Federal court to determine and enforce an equitable lien on stock of the Gera Mills which is said to be standing in the name of the New Jersey Worsted Mills, Garfield, and to appoint a receiver to con- duct the business of the Gera Mills and the New Jersey Worsted Mills, and to prevent both from disposing of any property.—V. 118, p. 557.

Hazeltine Corp.—Sue Over Patents.—

A complaint filed Nov. 25 in the Federal Court by the corporation, the Independent Radio Manufacturers, Inc., and 13 associated companies accuse the Radio Industries Corp. of infringing the neutrodyne radio re- ceiving patents, having "aided and encouraged acts of infringement" against the inventions of Professor L. A. Hazeltine. The plaintiffs ask for a permanent injunction restraining the defendants from making or selling apparatus which infringe the neutrodyne patents, and that the defendant be compelled to pay "all such lawful gains, profits and advantages had by said defendant," as well as three times the total damages sustained by the plaintiffs.—V. 119, p. 1848.

The capital stock was recently increased from 10,000 shares to 15,000 shares (par $100)).

Pres. Charles H. Holland, in letter of Nov. 14, says in substance:

The company commenced businses in March 1923 with a paid-in capital of $3,000,000 ($1,000,000 capital, $2,000,000 surplus) to engage in a general indemnity and casualty business. The company's growth has been unusual, the premium income during 1923 being $2,708,998 and for the first nine months of 1924, $3,940,178, approaching double the 1923 rate. During that time it has established 918 agencies and has qualified to do business in 42 States, and the District of Columbia.

Due to the large portion of premium income required by law to be set aside as reserves during the first few hears of an insurance company's existence, no dividends have as yet been paid upon the company's stock, but the present premium income is running at a rate of over $5,000,000 per annum, upon which an eventual underwriting profit of 4% may be reasonably anticipated, to which should be added income from securities now at the annual rate of about $125,000.

The present additional issue of 5,000 shares is to enable the company to take advantage of a large amount of desirable new business which is offered to it, including agencies in territory where it is not represented and which it cannot handle with its present capital and surplus. This new business can be handled with relatively smaller increaess in overhead expenses, and accordingly increase the proportion of earnings eventually available for stockholders.

The directors of the company are as follows: Warren Bicknell, R. E. Breed, George W. Childs, Ralph L. Freeman, Clarence H. Geist, R. P. Grant, F. B. Hitchcock, R. A. Mansfield Hobbs, Clarles H. Holland, W. H. Hutt, Wm. H. Kingsley, C. Stevenson Newhall, George R. Packard, W. A. Rowan, G. V. Smith, Hon. Wm. C. Sprou., Joseph Wayne Jr., J. M. Willcox.

Independent Breweries Co.—To Pass Interest.—
The directors have decided that the interest on the $1,996,720 General Mortgage 6% bonds due Dec. 2 shall be passed.
In a statement to the bondholders Hugo A. Koehler, President, stated that after a thorough study by a special committee of the financial position of the company, it was the unanimous opinion of the board that this step is in the best interest of the bondholders and essential if the security of the bonds is to be conserved and sales of the plants and other equipment of the company, so far as this may be deemed advisable, effected in the most advantageous manner.
A bondholders' committee is being organized.—V. 116, p. 2643.

Indiana Board & Filler Co.—Bonds Offered.—Porter, Skitt & Co., Chicago, are offering at prices ranging from 98.59 and interest to 100.28 and dividend, to yield from 6% to 6.70%, according to maturity, $350,000 First Mtge. Serial 6½% Gold bonds.

Data from Letter of Pres. Stephen B. Fleming, Vincennes, Ind., Oct. 18:

Company.—Incorp. in October 1911 in Indiana. Is one of the largest manufacturers and distributors of all products entering into the packing and shipping of eggs and poultry and also the products of biscuit and cracker manufacturers. Company is one of the three largest in the United States engaged in this business. Company owns and operates straw board mills at Vincennse, Marion and Delphi, Ind., and filler plants at Vincennse and Decatur, Ind., and Memphis, Tenn., and has distributing warehouses at Evansville, Ind., and Urbana, Ohio. The paper mills have a daily capacity of 132,000 lbs. of straw, chip and news board, which supplies all the company's needs and leaves a surplus which is sold on the market. The egg case filler plants have a capacity of 6,000,000 sets per annum, which is sufficient to pack 180,000,000 dozen eggs and in addition 40,000,000 of the one-dozen box fillers which are used by all retail grocers. Company manufactures also corrugated paper flats and paper fillers used by all the biscuit and cracker manufacturers in packing their products, and is in a position to fully supply the demand for these goods.

Earnings.—Average annual net earnings for the past seven years and ten months after depreciation were $113,046, or approximately five times the greatest interest charge on this issue. Company's net sales for the same period averaged more than $1,300,000 per annum.

Purpose.—Proceeds will be used to retire present bank loans which were made to finance plant additions and improvements now completed, and for other corporate general uses.

Sinking Fund.—Company covenants to deposit with the trustee monthly a sum sufficient to pay the next maturing interest beginning Jan. 1 1925. Company also covenants to deposit monthly with the trustee, during the months of January to June, both inclusive, in each year, a sum sufficient to meet the next maturing principal.

International Combustion Engineering Corp.—Rights—Earnings.—
The stockholders of record Dec. 1 will be given the right to subscribe to 27,372 additional shares at $33 per share in the ratio of one new share for each 15 shares held. Rights expire Dec. 16. The issue has been underwritten.

President Geo. E. Learnard in a letter to stockholders, says in substance:

The directors are pleased to report that the net profits for the first six months of this year amounted to $518,379, after all reserves for depreciation and taxes, as against net profits of $265,926 for the corresponding half-year in 1923. Reports for the quarter ended Sept. 30 1924 from some of the company's European subsidiaries have not been received, but it is estimated from reports already in that the net profits for the quarter ended Sept. 30 will be over $400,000 after all reserves for depreciation and taxes.

The new company formed in England in December of last year jointly by Vickers Limited and this company, with the name Vickers & International Combustion Engineering, Ltd., has already booked and is working on $2,000,000 of orders. The business of that company is the building of complete power plants in England and its colonies from the ground up, making one unified guarantee as to the efficiency of the plant.

The Carbo-Union Co., formed jointly last year with the late Hugo Stinnes, is now getting actively under way and has prospects of closing a large volume of business in Germany.

The company in this country has continued its very active development work in perfecting economic methods of generating steam from coal, with the result that a very large expansion of the business in this country is now taking place. Because of the expansion, both in this country and in Europe, it is deemed advisable by the directors at this time to obtain additional working capital.—V. 119, p. 203.

International Paper Co.—Expansion Program, &v.—.
A current report believed by the "Chronicle" to be based on fact, says:
Plans for the extension of the company's newsprint mill at Three Rivers, Quebec, are in the final stages and work will probably be begun in the very near future. These plans call for the addition of two newsprint machines, increasing the daily capacity by 150 to 160 tons, and bringing the total of the plant to over 480 tons of newsprint. The construction will extend over about a year.

This expansion will cost approximately $3,500,000, which can probably all be paid out of current earnings and depreciation reserves as work progresses. Depreciation reserve set up this year will approximate the $3,145,000 charged off to that account in 1923. The same rate of depreciation charges is to be continued in 1925. The company also expects to release some additional capital through scaling down of inventories of pulpwood, the main raw material. Inventories last year were carried at $21,733,000.

The acquisition of properties now held by the bondholders' committee of the former Riordon Co. is under consideration by the International Paper Co., and if the company decides to interest itself in these properties negotiations will be opened with the bondholders' committee. The International Co. is not likely to make any offer of cash to the Riordon committee, if and when it decides to negotiate.

The International Paper Co.'s mills are running at present at about 75% of capacity. Business has shown some increase in the last quarter and outlook for 1925 is considered good.—V. 119, p. 2186.

International Petroleum Co., Ltd.—Dividend No. 7.—
A dividend of 25c. per share (in U. S. currency) has been declared payable Nov. 29 to holders of record Nov. 28 upon presentation and delivery of the coupons No. 7 attached to the bearer share warrants at the following banks: The Royal Bank of Canada, 60 Church St., Toronto, Canada; the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., 16-22 William St., New York; the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., Ltd., 15 Cockspur St., London, S. W., England; or at the offices of the International Petroleum Co., Ltd., 56 Church St., Toronto, Canada. A dividend of like amount was paid June 30 last.—V. 118, p. 3085.

International Silver Co.—Accumulated Pref. Dividend.—
The directors have declared a dividend of ¼ of 1% on account of deferred cumulative dividends and the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾% on the Preferred stock, both payable Jan. 2 to holders of record Dec. 15. Like amounts were paid quarterly since April 1923.—V. 119, p. 2295.

Invincible Oil Corp.—Liquidation Recommended—To Distribute Assets, Consisting of Louisiana Oil Refining Corp. Stock.
In a special report of the Invincible Oil Corp., the directors recommend the liquidation of the company and the distribution to its stockholders of its only asset, the stock of the Louisiana Oil Refining Corp. To effect the plan of liquidation proposed by the directors, a special meeting of Invincible Oil Corp. shareholders has been called for Dec. 11 to vote on the proposition.
The report states that by various exchanges of stock of former subsidiaries of Invincible for Louisiana Oil Refining stock, all the subsidiary companies are now held by Louisiana Oil Refining Corp.
The report adds: "To make this distribution convenient, it is proposed to convert the present Preferred stock of the Louis ana Oil Refining Corp. into Common; to change the shares from $50 a share to no par value, and to increase the number of shares so as to permit the distribution of Louisiana Oil Refg. Corp. stock to Invincible Oil Corp. stockholders share for share."
Under the plan of liquidation, 8,236 shares of Louisiana Oil Refining Preferred (par $50 a share) will be converted into Common stock. This, together with 116,037 shares of Common held by the Invincible Oil Corp. and 633 shares of Common constituting the minority holdings, or a total of 124,906, will be changed to no par value. The total stock outstanding will then be increased to 1,098,148 shares, corresponding to Invincible Oil Corp. stock outstanding, to permit the distribution of Louisiana Oil Refining Corp. stock to Invincible Oil Corp. stockholders share for share. The amendment to the charter making these changes has been approved by the stockholders of the Louisiana Oil Refining Corp. (see below).
The report states that all of the Preferred and 99.46% of the Common stock of the Louisiana Oil Refining Corp. is owned by Invincible Oil Corp. The Louisiana company has sufficient surplus to enable the directors to pay dividends if and when same are earned.
Steps looking to the liquidation of the Invincible Oil Corp. and giving its shareholders stock in the Louisiana Oil Refining Corp., which is now the operating company, were induced by conditions which the new management found and which, the report says, made it necessary to reorganize the entire corporate structure.
The report outlines the appraisals of the several subsidiary companies, which showed much smaller valuations than they had previously been carried at on the books. As a result of these changes the balance sheet of Invincible Oil Corp. would show a deficit of $12,153,527. The directors, say it is readily apparent that with this deficit existing no dividends could be paid and the plan of liquidating Invincible and changing its stock for Louisiana Oil Refining, which has a surplus, was decided upon. It is pointed out that the balance sheet showing such deficit did not give recognition to the unearned surplus and the appreciated value of producing properties, shown by appraisals, inclusion of which would have increased the net worth by $7,232,266.
It is proposed that the small minority interest in Louisiana Oil Refining Common receive approximately 8.08 shares of new no par stock for each share of present Common. Application will be made to list the new Louisiana Oil stock, when exchange is completed, on the New York Stock Exchange.
In concluding, the directors state their belief that the liquidating plan will benefit the shareholders and recommend it in order that it may hasten the date on which dividends may be paid. "In effecting the liquidation and distribution," the report adds, "no commissions or bonuses in cash, stock, or any form whatsoever, have been or will be paid. It will eliminate the existing deficit with its resultant complications and will give us a single operating company whose stock will be held by you directly without the intrusion of a holding company."

This company does not purchase accounts receivable.

The business, started in 1918 by the present management with a paid-in capital of $100,000, now has a capital and surplus in excess of $1,250,000. Obligations purchased for the current year are at the rate of over ten times those purchased in the company's first fiscal year.

Business is principally the manufacture of complete radio sets, although due to a continued demand, some of its well-known parts are still produced, especially couplers, variometers and transformers. The Sleeper "Monotrol" is well known and has established itself as one of the leading radio receivers on the market. Company is the original licensee under the Grimes Inverse Duplex System of amplification. Two basic United States patents have been granted on the Inverse Duplex System, and these will issue on Nov. 25 1924. This system of amplification, resulting as it does in a material reduction in the number of tubes required as well as improved quality of tone reproduction, is adaptable for use in conjunction with most of the outstanding recent improvements in the radio art and is not likely to be displaced by any future improvements in the art which can be anticipated at this time.

Company, in addition to holding an irrevocable license under the Grimes Inverse Duplex patents (about to issue), has a right to a license under all future radio inventions and patents of David Grimes and has also a license under the Hogan patent covering the characteristic feature of single control which is signified by the Sleeper trade-mark "Monotrol."

The company's manufacturing is carried on in a building constructed in 1922 of modern fireproof steel and concrete, protected by a sprinkler system, and located in Astoria, Long Island. The company has 20,000 ft. of floor space under favorable lease, with renewal privileges, which gives adequate facilities for expansion.

Capitalization—	Authorized.	Outstanding.
Common stock (without par value)	110,000 shs.	104,000 shs.

After completion of this financing, there will be only one class of stock outstanding, and the only indebtedness of the company will be current indebtedness incidental to the business. The company's credit is excellent and it enjoys a reputation for high-grade production not only in this country but throughout foreign lands.

Net quick assets, upon completion of this financing, which includes the retirement of the present outstanding Preferred stock, will be over $350,000.

Earnings and Production.—The present business has been built up from a small initial investment. Last year the gross business amounted to over $400,000. Although September is a poor month in the industry, the gross business was $30,000; for October, over $66,000, and for the first 18 days in November shipments alone totaled $52,000. The net earnings for October were over $28,000 and are now running at over $40,000 per month and showing a steady and substantial increase. The activities of the compnay have been limited, due to the lack of adequate working capital.

Purpose.—Proceeds should supply ample working capital which should considerably increase the present rate of earnings. This financing is being done in order to enlarge plant production to meet the constantly increasing demand for our machines.

Markets.—Company deals almost entirely through wholesale jobbers and has trade connections with over 1,500 authorized dealers, and this list is constantly growing. National distribution is handled through 72 leading wholesale companies and the company itself maintains branch offices in Chicago and San Francisco.

U. S. Realty & Improvement Co.—Control.—
There has been more or less of an internal struggle going on in the U. S. Realty & Improvement Co. which has been straightened out during the last few days. Some financial interests were endeavoring to acquire control of the company but failed, owing to the acquisition of the Gates interest by Harry S. Black, Chairman of the board of directors.
Mr. Black acquired from the trustees of the estate of the late John W. Gates all their holdings, which, together with a block of stock he already owned, gives him absolute control of the company. Immediately following the acquisition of control, Mr. Black had R. G. Babbage elected President, succeeding James Baird. He also caused the appointment on the Finance Committee of Charles E. Venezuelan Petroleum Co.—Standard Oil Co. of California to Develop 25,000 Acres of Company's Properties.—
Vice-Pres. H. R. Kunhardt Jr., New York, Nov. 24, says:
The company has recently closed a contract with the Standard Oil Co. of California, which provides for development of approximately 25,000 acres in exploitation on its two concessions located on the west side of the Lake of Maracaibo, south of the La Paz and Concepcion fields. The contract provides that the Standard Oil Co. will start immediately to do the geological work necessary to select proper locations for an initial four wells and that drilling will begin as soon as practical. It also provides for additional wells to be drilled as conditions may warrant.
After deducting the Venezuelan Government's taxes and royalty of 10% from all production obtained, the company and the Standard Oil Co. will divide the net remainder equally.
This company has adopted the policy of contracting portions of its acreage for development by the important oil companies, as by so doing it avoid the risks and heavy expense of carrying on its own field operations. It now has under contract with the Venezuelan Gulf Oil Co., a subsidiary of the Gulf Oil Corp., 24,374 acres and with the Standard Oil Co. of California 25,000 acres, making a total of 49,374 acres. In addition it has 17,036 acres for which it is now carrying on negotiations for similar development.—V. 119, p. 1967.

Three monthly dividends of 21 cents were declared payable Feb. 2, March 2 and April 1 1925 to holders of record of the 20th day of the preceding months.
Explaining the action of the board, John Hertz, President, said that it was the management's intention to divest the stock as much as possible of the speculative aspects which heretofore have caused it to fluctuate widely, and, by building up a more substantial surplus, to attract buying for investment purposes.
Net earnings for October were $201,000. This brings the net for the 10 months ended Oct. 31 1924 up to $2,542,000.—V. 119, p. 2077.

Friday Night, Nov. 28 1924.

COFFEE on the spot was in fair demand, though trade was naturally disturbed by the violent fluctuations in futures. Rio No. 7 early in the week was 20 to 20¾c. Santos No. 4, 25 to 25½c.; fair to good Cucuta, 25½ to 25¾c. Honda, 28 to 28½c.; Medellin, 29 to 30c. On the 24th inst. another revision of mild coffee prices by the Green Coffee Association of New York, Inc., established declines of ½ to 1c. on some grades of Maracaibo and Colombian coffee. But of other growths stocks are generally the smallest for years past, so much so that it is difficult to quote them. There were very few offerings at irregular prices. Prompt shipment and Bourbon 4s-5s here were at 24¾c. Part Bourbon or flat bean, 2s-3s, 27c.; 3s-4s, 25.65 to 26c.; 4s at 25¼ to 26c.; 7s-8s at 20½c. Santos peaberry 4s-5s, 24½c.; 5s-6s at 26½c. Rio 7s at 19.70 to 20¼c. Future shipment January sold at 19.15c. Later Rio No. 7 was 21¼ to 21½c. and Santos No. 4, 25¾ to 26¼c. with futures up. To-day's spot demand was fair and prices firm. Rio No. 7 was held at 21½ to 22c., and Santos No. 4 at 25¾ to 26¾c. Firm offers were higher, with No. 7 Rio 20¼ to 20½c.; Santos No. 3, 26.90c.; No. 4, 26 to 26.15c.; as against sales on Wednesday at 25 to 25.30c.

Futures have still fluctuated within spectacular violence, even if the swings have not been quite so gigantic as last week. The technical position here and abroad in consuming countries is considered better. But at Rio and Santos the position is believed to be still heavily long. And on the 25th inst. Rio was 1,175 reis to 1,650 reis lower, with exchange off 1-32d. and the dollar rate the same. Santos was 400 reis higher to 775 reis net lower and exchange and the dollar rate were unchanged. Private cables reported irregular firm offers and rumors that an increase of 1c. might be named in the export duty on coffee by Brazil. This caused a sharp rally. All sorts of bullish rumors come from Brazil. All of an early loss of 20 to 35 points on the 25th inst. was regained and a net advance followed of 40 to 75 points. There was short covering and new long buying here. The sales were 93,000 bags, inclusive of switches from December to May at 150 points, March to July at 110 and 105 points, March to May at 65 and 60 points and July to September at 70 points. On the 26th inst. prices advanced 50 to 55 points with reports of private bullish cables from Brazil. Cost and freight offers from Santos were generally firm with sales of Rio 7s reported at 19.50c. to 19.60c. The spot market was said to be more stable. The public cables showed Santos as 150 reis lower to 300 reis higher, with exchange up 1-32d. and the dollar rate 50 reis lower, and Rio 325 reis lower to 425 reis higher with exchange up 1-16d. and the dollar rate off 80 reis. The market acted rather oversold. Shorts covered. Discussion of the technical position brings out the opinion in some quarters that the very heavy liquidation has eliminated many weak holders and put the market upon a much sounder basis. New York exchange prices, it is contended, do not register actual replacement costs on the Street. This state of things curiously enough, has existed for months. Yet as every month reaches delivery it advances close to the spot price and must, it is contended, continue to do so as long as the present unnatural condition exists.

The Department of Agriculture of Brazil was said to have put the present Santos crop at 6,187,000 bags, which with a carryover of 4,000,000 bags would bring the total to 10,187,000 bags. Last year's Santos crop was 10,325,000 bags, and receipts at Santos so far this season have reached 4,108,000 bags, against 3,946,000 a year ago. Receipts to Nov. 22 include 2,084,000 bags of Rio, against 1,727,000 last year; 4,108,000 bags of Santos, against 3,946,000 bags last year; 2,327,000 bags of Jundiahy; 4,091,000 bags of Sao Paulo. The total in sight for America is 1,117,852 bags, against 1,456,950 a year ago. At Rio the stock is 462,000 bags, against 418,000 last year; at Santos, 1,594,000 bags, against 570,000 a year ago. American warehouse deliveries for the week ending Nov. 22 were 217,768 bags, against 167,303 for the same week last year.

To-day futures advanced sharply on bullish cables and covering of shorts. Brazil both advanced its prices and bought heavily here. European houses were also buying, especially the nearby deliveries. They sold the distant months. Trade interests here were buying with a more promising market on the spot. Santos advanced 1,325 to 1,345 reis and Rio 1,775, with exchange on London 1-16d. higher. It was 6 3-32d. The dollar rate was 100 reis lower at 8$500. Santos cabled: Flowering in the larger part has failed. Optimistic price outlook growing; crop disappearing, owing to drought and insects; holders firmer." Final prices here showed a rise for the week of 159 to 200 points, the latter on December. Prices closed as follows:

SUGAR has been firm largely on reports of a late season. Sales on the 25th inst. included some 18,000 bags of Cuban raw sugars for prompt shipment at 4¼c. c. & f. basis, 600 tons of Philippines now due at 6.03c. delivered, 270 tons of Peru due this week at 3 13-16c. c. & f. equal to 4½c. c. & f. for Cubas, 15,000 bags of Cubas for prompt clearance this week basis of 4½c. c. & f., 11,000 bags Cuban raw sugars for prompt clearance at 4¼c., 700 tons of Brazil centrifugal (24th inst.) due about Dec. 15th at Boston at 3⅝c. c. i. f. equal to 4 1-16c. c. & f. basis for Cubas. Refined advanced to 7.50c. Havana cabled: "Labor strike continues affecting so far 18 centrals." The strike is understood to include not only plantation laborers but also mechanics employed in repairing and assembling mill machinery. Other private cables reported a settlement of the strike at Porto Tarafa which is understood to have released between 15,000 and 20,000 tons of sugar already sold to refiners. An official report on the French sugar crop puts it at 648,000 tons refined value which is equal to 750,000 tons raw value. On Tuesday the general comment was that continued heavy rains in Cuba were delaying the crop and the harvest and that grinding would be delayed possibly 10 days to two weeks. This, some added, does not mean that the crop prospects are less favorable to a big output than a few weeks ago, or that the new crop position is any stronger, but that arrivals at Atlantic ports during January will be small. Delayed arrivals during the early season probably will mean, it is suggested, a greater pressure to sell raw sugar during March.

Havana cabled Nov. 25: "President Zayas was informed to-day by the Secretary of State that the measures adopted for settling the strikes at the sugar mills were proving effective and that the situation would be fully in hand by about the end of the week. The workers at the Toledo sugar central went out on strike yesterday after four of their number accused of fomenting unrest had been arrested." Another cable from Havana on the 25th inst. reported the strike at Tarafa Terminal Nuevitas settled. This settlement, it is reported, will release in the engihborhood of 175,000 bags, but indications are that the major portion of this sugar is due refiners on contracts previously made, so that the quantity still to be marketed is probably comparatively small. Also the following: "Heavy rains were reported to-day from all parts of the island. No damage is thus far reported, but any further rainfall at this period would delay the sugar crop." Sugar mill interests in Cuba have been authorized to bring in 3,000 natives of the Antilles to work in the sugar mills. It is believed that recent rains in Cuba have caused the cane crop to be later than usual and that only about half the usual number of centrals will be grinding by Christmas. The strike among sugar mill workers in the eastern part of the island now affects approximately 25 mills and, it is said that dissatisfaction among workers at other centrals is increasing. New crop arrivals at Atlantic ports during January will be lighter, it is contended, than usual.

Himley reported exports for the week North of Hatteras 36,785 tons, against a little more than 15,000 tons for the same period last year. It looks more and more as though Cuba may end the selling year with no carryover. The quantity of raw sugar in Cuban hands is rapidly diminishing. Willett & Gray's figures show an increase in receipts, a decrease in exports and a sharp falling off in stocks. The receipts at Cuban ports for the week were 12,962 tons, against 8,863 tons in the previous week, 7,140 in the same week last year, and 10,525 two years ago; exports, 30,372 tons, against 33,806 in the previous week, 15,531 in the same week last year and 39,186 two years ago; stocks, 67,261, against 85,113 in the previous week, 47,034 last year and 80,000 two years ago. Of the exports 26,087 tons were shipped to U. S. Atlantic ports, 2,856 to Savannah and 1,429 to Galveston. Havana cabled at one time, "Weather favorable." It was said that Europe is showing steadily increasing interest in new crop granulated and improvement in business shortly is anticipated. So far actual sales have been small. The United States Department of Agriculture said: "While no official estimates are yet available as to the probable world sugar production for the coming season, reports from the sugar associations of several countries indicate that the total production will show a considerable increase over the 1923-24 crop. The greatest increase will be in European beet sugar, but as the beet sugar season has just begun, no very definite estimate of probable production can be made. Judging from figures already received, the increased acreage as also the general condition of the sugar beet crop in other countries, and the decrease in sucrose content, the European beet sugar crop may be from 1,500,000 o 2,200,000 short tons larger than last year, when the total roduction according to latest reports was 5,423,000 short ons." Receipts at U. S. Atlantic ports for the week ended ov. 26 were 29,500 tons, against 25,871 in the previous eek, 15,535 in the same week last year and 23,096 two ears ago; meltings, 41,000 tons, against 40,000 in the revious week, 28,000 in the same week last year and 50,000 wo years ago; stock, 19,700 tons, against 31,200 in the revious week, 48,044 in the same week last year and 38,380 wo years ago. To-day prompt Cuban raws advanced -16c. to 4 5-16c. Sales of some 14,000 bags of Cuba being ade at that price. At the close 4⅜c. was asked. Full uty, second half of December arrival was quoted at 4⅛c., ith little demand. Cooler weather was reported in some arts of Cuba with rains in the Oriente. Twelve mills are xpected to begin grinding during the first half of December. ondon quoted prices 3d. to 4½d. lower. British refiners ere said to be buying Polish beets at 19s. December eets, according to one dispatch, were reported offered at 6s. 6d. and spot at 16s. 9d., as against the last previous le of 16s. 10½d. Refined was in fair demand at 7.40c. oston advanced to 7.60c. for Revere. Futures sympathized ith the increasing strength of the prompt market, together ith bad wea her in Cuba, and reports in some dispatches hat the strike situation was unpromising. Last prices here howed an advance in futures for the week of 6 to 11 points.

LARD on the spot was steady with a fair business. Lard elivered on November contracts at Chicago on the 25th nst. totaled 500,000 lbs. The Missouri Department of griculture reports: "Hog prices have declined since October, but still remain at a somewhat higher level than t this time last year. Increased marketing and a lack f buying support seem to have been the main contributing ause of the decline." Prime Western at New York was 5.35c.; refined Continent, 15.75c.; South American, 17c.; razilian, 18c. Futures advanced after reacting for a time n large hog receipts. They were offset by the smallness f the lard supply and an expectation of a better export demand. The reaction in corn was something of a damper, ut for all that the undertone in the fore part of the week as hopeful. Many are bullish with a good demand for efined lard. It is pointed out, too, that a large percentage f the hogs are of light weight and the output of lard is small. ackers complain that there is a heavy shrinkage in the hogs nd that total yields are 4 to 5% below normal. Later rices advanced with hogs stimulated by smaller receipts. o-day futures were sharply higher. Hog products were ctive and tending upward. New "highs" were reached for he season. It is true that hog receipts were large, but this act was offset by the poorness of the quality. Commission ouse demand was good. Offerings were at once snapped p. Cash lard business, though not active, was large nough to prevent any burdensome increase in supplies. Export demand, to be sure, was only fair. And the Western un of hogs was considerably larger than that of a year ago. evertheless the undertone was strong and final prices how a rise for the week in lard futures of 53 to 78 points, he latter on May.

PETROLEUM.—A feature early in the week was an dvance of 1c. in the gasoline tank wagon price throughout ew York and New England by the Gulf Refining Co. he new price is 16c. This advance, it is said, was followed other leading refiners. For new Navy, 10c., is quoted compared with 8½c. a few weeks ago. Foreign demand as improved a little and export prices are firmer. There as a better demand for kerosene and foreign buyers were quiring for several cargoes for January and forward shipent from the Gulf. Prices are firmer, with leading refiners king 7c. for water white Gulf and 7 to 7¼c. in tank cars at local refineries. The tank wagon market was firm at 13c., with a good consuming demand. Water white delivered to trade was quoted at 8½c. Demand for bunker oil is more spirited at $1 75 to $1 80, the latter price being quoted by the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. Production of crude oil last week in this country averaged 1,947,354 bbls. daily, according to the Oil City "Derrick." This is an increase for the week of 8,108 bbls. daily. The United States Geological Survey estimated net pipe line and tank farm stocks of crude petroleum were reduced in October more than 1,000,000 bbls. This is the first reduction reported since Jan. 1924, prior to which the only decrease in these stocks since 1920 was in Nov. and Dec. 1922. The daily average production and imports, amounting to less than 2,100,000 bbls., were materially less in October than in any month since Feb. 1923, except Jan. 1924, the Survey stated. Deliveries and exports were maintained at a point near the highest record—more than 2,100,000 bbls. a day. Decreased production was reported for all States except Louisiana and a few Eastern States. Imports were less than in any month since Aug 1921. New York prices: Gasoline, cases, cargo lots, U. S. Navy specifications, 26.40c.; U. S. RUBBER, although higher here, has not kept pace with the advance in London, where prices advanced ¼d. on the 24th inst. and 1⅜d. on the following day. Singapore advanced in sympathy with the stronger London cables and on covering of shorts. The London stock decreased 1,047 tons to 34,539 tons. Here ribbed smoked sheet spot-December was 34½c.; January-March 34¾c.; April-June 34⅝c. The failure of the market to respond more readily to the sharp advances in London was attributed partly to the reports from manufacturing centres to the effect that one or two large plants would curtail operations owing to the falling off in shipments. Yet the statistical position is stronger.

HIDES have been rather weaker. River Plate prices have declined. Offerings of hides here have increased. Common dry hides have been in somewhat better demand at times and at others quiet. Wet salted have been dull. There is evidently plenty of room for improvement in this branch of buying. At Chicago packer hides were in moderate demand with sales of heavy native cows at 16c., failing to reach 16½c. which was asked. Light native cows were 15½c., not 16c. at one time asked. Skins were quiet with asking prices checking sales. Buff weights continue the firmest in country hide stocks at 13c. for good quality. Country extreme weights are now 15c. for best with pig packer light native cows to be had at 15½c. Some country 25 to 50-lb. extremes sold at 14½c. Heavy country stocks over 60 lbs. remained held at 13c. asked for best. Patent leather trade is rather better for cheaper selections, but the top grades are still rather slow.

OCEAN FREIGHTS have been in moderate demand with rates yielding, it seems, here and there. Later in the week petroleum tonnage was the most active.

CHARTERS included grain, 10%, from San Lorenzo to United Kingdom 20s., prompt; from San Lorenzo to London-Liverpool-Avonmouth, 19s. 6d., Nov. 15; from San Lorenzo to United Kingdom, 19s. 6d., to Avonmouth-Antwerp-Rotterdam, 19s., Nov. 25-Dec. 10; from Atlantic Range to Bordeaux-Hamburg range, 15½c. one port, and 16c. two ports, Jan. 1-20; petroleum and products from Gulf to United Kingdom-Continent, 22s. to 23s., December; lubricating oil from Philadelphia to Hamburg, 26s., December; crude oil from Gulf to Philadelphia, 28c.; coal from Hampton Roads to Rio, $3 05; from Hampton Roads to Barbadoes, $1 75, December; from Hampton Roads to West Italy, $3 10, December; from Hampton Roads to Italy, $3, December; from Hampton Roads to West Indies, $1 50, early December; lumber from Gulf to Rio, 145s., January; grain from San Lorenzo to United Kingdom-Continent, 19c., November; coal from Hampton Roads to Italy, $3; from Hampton Roads to West Italy, $3 10, prompt

TOBACCO has been in somewhat better demand. No decided increase in business has occurred, but manufacturers are said to be a little more inclined to buy and not to confine themselves quite so rigidly to immediate wants as they have done for so prolonged a period. Connecticut broad leaf was in fair demand. Se were Port Rico fillers. Finally prices were generally steady. The tobacco centre hereabouts is said to be shifting to New Jersey, where labor is cheaper. The industry has reached its peak and perhaps has begun to decline in such places as Jersey City and Newark, but it has been gaining at Perth Amboy and New Brunswick. Factories making expensive cigars for local consumption are likely, it is believed, to continue in New York City. Factories using machines will remain in those parts of New Jersey where cheap women labor is to be had. A report on the tobacco industry shows that the number of cigarettes manufactured annually in the United States has increased from 3,000,000,000 to more than 50,000,000,000 during the last two decades. This, in addition to some 400,000,000 lbs. of smoking and chewing tobacco produced annually. The number of cigars manufactured in the United States, on the other hand, has not kept pace with the growth of population. Some 58% of the workers in the cigar and cigarette branches of the tobacco industry are women and girls, as compared with an average of 19.5% for all industries in the United States. Cigar manufacture seems to be declining. The labor situation, together with increasing land values and rents in New York, explains the decline of cigar manufacturing in New York and the great increase of this industry in New Jersey. In 1900 Manhattan alone produced six times as many cigars as northern New Jersey; to-day the New Jersey district produces more cigars than Manhattan, the two combined manufacturing approximately a billion cigars a year, or about one-seventh of the entire output of the United States.

COAL has been rather weaker at Hampton Roads on bituminous coal. And anthracite has also been, if anything, rather less steady. That is due to the recent mild weather. To give a fillip to the coal trade a cold snap is needed, one that will last. Some Hampton Road operators have been selling at below circular prices. Meanwhile, however, with larger operations in the cotton mills of New England and the steel plants in Pennsylvania, the movement of coal in those directions has shown some tendency to increase. It is not on a large enough scale, however, to lift prices.

COPPER has been firmer. Business is not all that could be expected, but there were some sales reported at 14c. for December-January shipment. London has been higher.

TIN declined in sympathy with a break in London and lower sterling exchange. Straits tin was quoted at 54¼c.

LEAD showed little change. Business has been quiet. Spot New York 8.65 to 9c.; East St. Louis 8.40 to 8.80c. The lead output for the first half of 1924 was 75,000,000 lbs. out of a Canadian total of 79,000,000 lbs. compared with 96,000,000 for the whole of 1923.

ZINC advanced 50c. on the 25th inst. on a better demand from galvanizers. London was also higher on that day. Export business, however, was small. Spot New York 7.15 to 7.17½; East St Louis 6.85 to 6.87½c. The British Columbia zinc mines output increased for the first half of 1924 to 29,500,000 lbs. compared with 58,000,000 lbs for the year 1923.

STEEL trade shows a tendency to expand, though sales of late have not been so large as they were recently. Prices show an upward trend. Ingot output in the Pittsburgh and nearby districts is up to nearly 70%, a rise of 10% within two weeks. There is a gain in the number of furnaces in blast this month of eight. In the Chicago district output is up to 75%, and in one case is 80%. Railroads are still buying tonnage in the shape of rails, bridge work, cars and freight cars. Building is active. Mild weather has favored it. Big orders for tin plate have been taken at recent prices, and present quotations for sheet bars and billets will hold for the first quarter business. Cleveland has sold some 30,000 tons, mostly sheet bars, at prices subject to the market at the time of shipment. Bars and sheets sell the most readily. Structural material is in fair demand. Concrete bars are dull. Galvanized sheet prices, however, are still inclined to yield. They do not keep up with the rest of the market. Chicago reports sales of 15,000 tons of billets at $34 per gross ton. Fabricated structural steel business has been stimulated by the favorable weather, especially in New England, which has taken large quantities. Jobbing business in November compares favorably with that of October, which is perhaps rather remarkable. Pittsburgh reports the trend of business upward. The output of iron and steel in 60 days has increased in that section, it is stated, 33%. There is a gradual increase in business in agricultural implements. Automobile concerns are buying on a rather liberal scale. But the outstanding features are the purchases by railroads and building contractors.

PIG IRON, though far from dull, has shown less activity as a reaction from the big business of last week, but to all appearance not less firmness. Eastern Pennsylvania is quoted at $22 50, though it is intimated that on big tonnages $22 would be accepted. Several Eastern furnaces are not offering. One big concern is said to be selling with some hesitation at $22 50. There is no Continental pig iron to be had for January shipment. European prices have risen and that has eased the tension on this side. In other words, European competition is not so menacing. The sales last week in New York of American iron were said to have been 40,000 tons or more. There were inquiries from New York, Connecticut, and New Jersey for moderate amounts. Buffalo is quoted at $22 to $23. It is stated that differentials now ruling in the East average $1. Some it is pointed out ask $1, others quote 50c. between No. 2 plain and No. 2-X, and $1 50 between No. 2-X and No. 1-X. Philadelphia is very bullish. In fact, the tone everywhere is hopeful; it is not limited to any one centre. Coke is firmer, but it lags behind pig iron in any improvement. Foundry coke is still quoted at $4 50 to $5 25 Connellsville, though some consider $4 50 rather doubtful. Ferro-manganese is reported firm at $105, but is rather quiet, at the rise.

WOOL has been advancing under the lead of foreign markets. Mill output is increasing; mills buy rather more freely. And dealers show more interest. Eastern interests have been buying in Chicago. With goods in better deman the situation is gradually clearing. A shortage of wo threatens. Persistent British, Continental and Japanes buying add to the tension. Americans are buying mo freely in New Zealand. New York prices are rising. Recen quotations have been:

In Boston world scarcity has been spurring prices upwar notably, as the latest instance the rise in New Zealan South American and British advances give added impetus the upward trend. At the River Plate the Continent h been an active buyer. Rising prices are expected at the con ing London sales. In the United States consumption rising; the woolen industry is in better shape. Western co tracting is on a moderate scale. It is elsewhere that t growing activity stands out as an increasingly conspicuo factor. To the surprise of not a few prices advanced 1d. the Napier wool sale in New Zealand on Nov. 21, implyi on the clean basis clean costs, landed in Boston bond, som thing like $1 for 48-50s, 90c. for 46-48s, 84c. for 44-46 and 78c. for super 40-44s. The closing at Melbourne a Sydney, Australia, showed stronger prices. America a Japan were buying freely at Melbourne. American buye were understood to be operating on a considerable scale Sydney, especially Forstmann Huffman, the Botany Worste Co. and Beaumont & Wenz importing agents. Bradford r ported Nov. 22 a very sharp advance in crossbreds, while t New Zealand sales quite unsettled the market. Quotatio on tops were raised 1d. to 3d., the latter on medium a lower qualities. Considerable business is second hands w done, realizing below top makers' quotations. Crossbr kinds were in good demand. Some sold their entire outp for a couple of months ahead. Woolen piece goods were f a time withdrawn awaiting the London wool sales this wee Prices on heavy weights, including overcoatings, are expect to rise sharply, especially in Saxony cloths favored by Am ica. In London on Nov. 25 the first of the fall auctions b gan with sales of 10,800 bales. Some 120,000 bales are be offered. Prices were up 5 to 15% higher than the la sales. Details:

COTTON.

An important event in the cotton world is the inauguration of trading in cotton on the Chicago Board of Trade, beginning the coming Monday, Dec. 1. That Chicago is in good earnest about the matter is evident from the number of Chicago houses that use our advertising columns—pages 2562, xxxv, xxxvi, xxxvii—to announce their readiness to execute orders for the purchase or sale of the staple. In an earlier part of our paper to-day, in our department headed "Indications of Business Activity," we print the Board of Trade view of the venture and also give the rules under which trading is to be conducted.

Friday Night, Nov. 28 1924.

THE MOVEMENT OF THE CROP, as indicated by our telegrams from the South to-night, is given below. For the week ending this evening the total receipts have reached 370,024 bales, against 432,208 bales last week and 373,602 bales the previous week, making the total receipts since Aug. 1 1924, 4,584,760 bales, against 3,735,977 bales for the same period of 1923, showing an increase since Aug. 1 1924 of 848,783 bales.

NOTE.—Exports to Canada.—It has never been our practice to include in the above table exports of cotton to Canada, the reason being that virtually all the cotton destined to the Dominion comes overland and it is impossible to get returns concerning the same from week to week, while reports from the customs districts on the Canadian border are always very slow in coming to hand. In view, however, of the numerous inquiries we are receiving regarding the matter, we will say that for the month of October the exports to the Dominion the present season have been 23,314 bales. In the corresponding month of the preceding season the exports were 8,000 bales. For the three months ending Oct. 31 1924, there were 38,547 bales exported, as against 28,244 bales for the corresponding three months in1923.

In addition to above exports, our telegrams to-night also give us the following amounts of cotton on shipboard, not cleared, at the ports named.

* Estimated.

Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been in the main quiet. It has been largely a professional affair, and although prices advanced early in the week when notices for about 180,000 bales were promptly stopped on Nov. 24, and 42,000 bales in New Orleans, there was a downward turn the next day. The market hesitated and stocks and grain were either irregular or lower. Back of it all, however, is the lack of speculation. It is bound to wake up sooner or later. It may be expected to do so after the final report this year is issued by the Bureau of Agriculture on Dec. 8. There need be no blinking the fact that the bimonthly reports are largely responsible for driving out speculation in cotton. And it is hoped that at the coming session of Congress something may be done to remedy this matter, which is very generally regarded as a serious evil. Meantime, however, it keeps the trade in a constant state of agitation and turmoil. Things have come to a strange pass when the Exchange has to adjourn five minutes before the Bureau report is received and remain adjourned for 15 minutes thereafter. It had to be done to enable people to get their bearings after the last report was issued. Report after report this season has been a shock to the trade and caused violent and disconcerting fluctuations either upward or downward. In the absence of speculation there is a lack of aggressive support for any advance in prices. Outside trading has fallen off sharply. But it is fair to add that the lack of business is partly attributable to the failure of the textile industry of this country thus far to show any very decisive improvement. It has undoubtedly improved. But it has improved very gradually. The tendency, it is true, is to increase working time in the mills both in New England and the South. The other day a Massachusetts mill went on full time at a reduction in wages of 10%. This was following the example of some mills in Maine. Other mills in Massachusetts and also some in Rhode Island, it is understood, would like to reduce wages. It would give them a better chance in the competition with the South. As the case stands Fall River's trade has latterly fallen off. Last week its sales of print cloths were only 60,000 against 300,000 in the previous week. Worth Street business has decreased also. The spot cotton business at the South has fallen off. The Liverpool market has been sluggish. Speculation there has shown less activity. That market has been more or less disturbed by the Egyptian crisis. On this side there has been to all appearance a liquidation of straddles which were originally made in many cases by selling December and buying March. The straddle business is said to have reached large proportions. Some of the estimates run into hundreds of thousands of bales. In the nature of the case it is impossible to tell just how large this business has been in the last month or six weeks. The common impression is that it is very large. Also, it is believed that in the fore part of the week some of these straddles were closed out. They involved the buying of December and selling out of March. The December was at a carrying charge. Indeed, there was a charge practically up to May. Singular to say, however, December here has been 45 to 50 points under December in New Orleans. New York, indeed, is considered one of the cheapest markets in the world. Meanwhile there is a tendency to increase crop estimates. Whether they are overestimated remains to be seen. The last Bureau report put the yield at 12,922,000 bales. But some private reports run as high as 13,300,000. Informal estimates of late have in some cases ranged from 13,000,000 to 13,500,000 bales. They are based on the remarkably large ginning up to Nov. 14, namely 11,147,000 bales. This total has not been equaled, much less exceeded, in the last ten years. Ten years ago, with a crop of 16,000,000 bales, or more, the ginning was only 510,000 bales larger than this year up to Nov. 14.

On the other hand, many believe that cotton is too cheap; that it is lagging behind for the time being, largely for the lack of speculation and partly because of what some believe is a tendency to over-estimate the crop. They think that the ginning up to Nov. 14 was illusory as an indication of the real size of the crop. They think it furnishes no real warrant for estimating the yield at over 13,000,000 bales, and they express the conviction that the final outcome may prove to be something under 13,000,000. They attribute the heavy ginning up to Nov. 14 to a long period of extraordinarily fine weather this fall over pretty much the whole South. Even now there are reports that in parts of Texas some of the fields are still white with cotton; the first picking has not been finished, it is said, everywhere in Texas. Such reports encourage large estimates of the crop. Many look for a very illuminative report by the Bureau on Dec. 8. They think it will make it plain beyond dispute that the crop has been over-estimated. They look for a disappointing total of the ginning as compared with the last period. They believe that it will warrant crop estimates of a good deal less than some of the extreme totals latterly suggested. On Dec. 8, indeed, the Bureau will give another crop estimate. Not a few express the opinion that it will show no great increase over the last estimate of 12,992,000 bales. Meanwhile the basis at the South has been firm. The Orient and the Continent have been buying as well as other parts of the world. At any rate, wires from Texas have reported the highest basis of the season. Exports have been large. The total compared with this date last year is approximately some 700,000 bales larger than then. It is said that export interests stopped a good many of the notices on the 24th inst. and will ship out the cotton. The grade and staple here are attractive. Meanwhile some Chicago reports of the dry goods trade are very favorable. Business is increasing in different parts of the West. Silk and wool have recently advanced noticeably. As already intimated, mills here and there are increasing their time or adopting full time in New England and at the South. Lancashire will go on 38½ hours per week on American cotton. The reduction of weekly working time of 16 hours, which prevailed for a long period, has been reduced to 8¾ hours. At times, too, during the week Manchester has reported a better demand for cloths. Bremen cables state that business is improving in German textiles and that the mills in some cases are working at 97%.

To-day prices declined 40 to 50 points on increasing crop estimates, a large into-sight movement and the fact that the demand was not large enough to offset these factors. One crop estimate was 13,410,000. This is the highest yet issued. It gave rise to fears that the Bureau report on Dec. 8 may increase its estimate of Nov. 14 of 12,992,000 to something perhaps considerably above 13,000,000 bales. Mill "calling" is good, but speculation lags. There is thus a big gap between the buying and the supply. Spinners' takings made a very good showing. And the exports were very large, approximating to-day 93,000 bales. They are, as already stated, in the neighborhood of 700,000 bales larger for the season than they were thus far last year. The extraordinarily favorable fall this year and the late date of killing frost have in the estimation of an increasing number of people lifted the crop to something approximating that of 1920. Final prices to-day were 23 to 35 points lower than a week ago. Spot cotton ended at 23.85c. for middling, a decline of 30 points within a week.

The above figures for 1924 show an increase over last week of 64,642 bales, a gain of 911,543 from 1923, an increase of 27,254 bales from 1922, and a falling off of 1,170,928 bales from 1921.

AT THE INTERIOR TOWNS the movement—that is, the receipts for the week and since Aug. 1, the shipments for the week and the stock to-night, and the same items for the corresponding periods of the previous year—is set out in detail below:

SUSPENSION OF TRADING SUCCESSFUL.—The experiment of suspending trading on the New York Cotton Exchange for a period of twenty minutes at the time of the publication of the government crop report, which was tried for the first time on Friday of last week, worked very satisfactorily, it was announced by President Edward E. Bartlett Jr., brokers and the cotton trade generally commected very favorably upon the new plan. Said Mr. Bartlett:

The closing of the Exchange for five minutes before and fifteen minutes after the time the government report was released, in order to give the trade time to digest the figures, worked perfectly. It was a great improvement over the old system and was well received by the brokers, and so far as I heard, by the trade itself.

While trading was fairly active the market was orderly and there was none of the confusion which has followed the receipt of some of the previous government reports. During the time between the publication of the report and the resumption of trading, brokers had ample time to get their orders in shape.

The test was by no means a rigid one, however, owing to the fact that there was very little market change caused by the government figures. It remains to be seen how the plan will work out in a case where the government report compels radical redjustment in the market, as frequently happens. Personally, however, I see no reason why the plan should not work satisfactorily under severer conditions.

President Bartlett said that the experiment would be continued and that if it worked as well on other report days, it probably would be made permanent.

OKLAHOMA COTTON REPORT.—The Department of Agriculture of Oklahoma issued on Nov. 21 its monthly cotton report as of Nov. 14. The report follows:

On the basis of facts available as of the date of Nov. 14, the Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture estimates a total production of lint cotton for Oklahoma for the year 1924 of about 1,390,000 bales of 500 lbs. gross. Last year the production was 656,000 bales; two years ago, 627,000 bales; three years ago, 481,000 bales, and four years ago, 1,336,000 bales. The average production for the five years 1910 to 1914 was 1,014,000 bales; for 1915 to 1919, 803,000 bales; for 1919 to 1923, 823,000 bales, and the ten-year average, 1914 to 1924, was 838,000 bales.

This estimate is based upon reports of voluntary crop correspondents who reported on condition, probable yield, per cent of acreage abandoned, per cent of the crop picked and ginned, actual ginnings to Nov. 14, as determined by the U. S. Census Bureau, and all other facts available.

The U. S. Census Bureau report shows 1,129,162 running bales (counting round as half bales) ginned in Oklahoma from the crop of 1924 prior to Nov. 14, compared with 368,562 bales for 1922, 461,926 bales for 1921 and 612,960 bales for 1920 to the same date.

The weather during the period from Nov. 1 to Nov. 14 was very favorable for picking and ginning. The rain on the 14th delayed picking somewhat and also damaged the grade slightly; however, most of the cotton was already picked before the rains. Many fields in the south, southeast and east are picked clean and a few gins have already shut down. Picking is later in the western part of the State than in any other section. In the southeast only a small percentage remains to be picked. For the State as a whole, it is estimated that about 81.2% of the crop was ginned prior to Nov. 14.

NORTH CAROLINA COTTON CROP REPORT.—The Department of Agriculture of North Carolina issued on Nov. 25 its monthly cotton crop report as of Nov. 14. The report follows:

Of the 760,000 bales estimate as a total crop in North Carolina, 540,593 had been ginned to November, leaving 29% of the crop yet to be ginned. This estimate is 260,000 bales less than was produced last year although the acreage was substantially increased. Due principally to extremely wet weather during the season, the condition fell constantly until the first of November. The reports were as follows: (Condition compared to normal or full crop prospect) May 25, 73%, June 25 73%, July 25 58%, August 25, 58% Sept. 25 47%, and Oct. 25, 49%.

CENSUS REPORT ON COTTON SPINNING IN OCTOBER.—This report, complete, will be found in an earlier part of our paper in the department headed "Indications of Business Activity."

FOREIGN COTTON CROP PROSPECTS.—The United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, in giving its report on Nov. 21 on the cotton crop condition in this country, also added the following:

A report of the latest available information as to cotton production in foreign countries has been compiled by the Foreign Service of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, and is submitted herewith as being of interest to cotton producers in the United States.

RUSSIA.—The cotton crop of Russia for 1924 is estimated at 397,000 478-lb. bales of lint cotton, according to a report of our Agricultural Representative in Berlin quoting "Economic Life" of Russia. This would be an increase of 76,000 bales or about 24% over the stimated production of 321,000 bales last year.

CHINA.—The estimated cotton crop of the Chinese Provinces of Hupeh and Hunan is placed at approximately 795,000 bales of 478 lbs., or an increase of 25%, according to a report of Consul Heintzleman. These two Provinces contain 25 to 30% of China's cotton-growing area.

GREECE.—The probable 1924 Greek cotton crop is between 9,840 and 11,808 bales of 478 lbs., according to a report of the Trade Commissioner of Athens, quoting the Ministry of Agriculture. Last year's crop is given as 13,250 bales.

SUDAN.—Prospects for the area of the new cotton crop in the Sudan are favorable, indicating a 20% increase in acreage, according to incomplete reports received by the International Institute of Agriculture.

COTTON CROP PROSPECTS.—The Crop Reporting Board of the United States Department of Agriculture, in giving out its cotton condition report on Nov. 15, also made public the following:

Weather favorable to cotton picking during most of the time since Nov. 1 has prevailed throughout the cotton belt and reports indicate that the picked cotton has gone promptly to the gin. There has been less weather damage since Nov. 1 than is commonly expected.

As has been previously reported, the quality of the lint and seed is not as good as usualy in most of the Atlantic States. The lint in these States is reported to be shorter than usual, a result of drought following a cold, wet, late spring. In the Atlantic States north of Florida, September rains damaged many of the bolls and the lint from them is stained. Damage on this account in North Carolina is reported to be greater than that caused by the boll weevil. In Tennessee, Arkansas, and Oklahoma, however, the quality of the lint seems to be about as good as usual, both with regard to discolorations and to length of fibre, although in these States there will be a small quantity of stained and low-quality cotton picked from immature bolls.

All along the northern border of the cotton belt there were many green bools on the plants at the time of the first killing frost. In northeast Arkansas many of these are expected to open, but in Tennessee and North Carolina only a small proportion will yield any lint.

In Texas weather conditions have been unusually good for picking and for maturing the top crop as well as the late planted. Freezing temperatures have not been general in Texas and this some top crop has had opportunity to mature. Although the seaon in Texas is about over and young bolls are badly infested with weevils, there is still some scattering cotton to be picked in seven of the nine districts.

ACTIVITY IN THE COTTON SPINNING INDUSTRY FOR OCTOBER 1924.—The Department of Commerce announced on Nov. 22 that according to preliminary figures compiled by the Bureau of the Census, 37,833,252 cotton spinning spindles were in place in the United States on Oct. 31 1924, of which 31,078,804 were operated at some time during the month, compared with 30,122,384 for September, 28,945,603 for August, 28,710,359 for July, 29,216,486 for June, 30,493,165 for May and 34,335,930 for October 1923. The aggregate number of active spindle hours reported for the month was 7,592,569,221. During October the normal time of operation was 26¾ days (allowance being made for the observance of Columbus Day in some localities), compared with 25½ days for September, 26 for August, 26 for July, 25 for June, 26½ for May and 26¾ for October 1923. Based on an activity of 8.78 hours per day, the average number of spindles operated during October was 32,327,376, or at 85.4% capacity on a single shift basis. This percentage compared with 76.1 for September, 62.8 for August, 60.3 for July, 64.6 for June, 67.5 for May and 95.8 for October 1923. The average number of active spindle hours per spindle in place for the month was 201. The total number of cotton spinning spindles in place, the number active, the number of active spindle hours and the average spindle hours per spindle in place, by States, are shown in the following statement:

WEATHER REPORTS BY TELEGRAPH.—Reports to us by telegraph from the South this evening denote that with the exception of the northeastern portion of the cotton belt the weather has continued favorable for picking and ginning. Where rain has fallen, precipitation has been generally light. In Texas picking has been practically completed except in the extreme western and northwestern parts of the State.

BREADSTUFFS

Friday Night, Nov. 28 1924.

Flour was firmer, owing to the rise in wheat, but this did not stimulate buying. Daily purchases are still to meet actual requirements. There is little if any disposition to buy ahead. At the advance a moderate amount of re-selling has been done, at less than mill prices, but there is not enough of this to make it a conspicuous feature. The export trade was still quiet. Clearances from New York last week were 150,159 sacks. Kansas City wired early in the week: "Flour business continues quiet and limited to occasional small lot sales to bakers and jobbers for immediate needs. Prices unchanged for the week. Millers are selling ahead 90 days in a few instances, but some have limited future bookings to 60 days, due to the belief that higher wheat premiums will prevail. Many mills in this territory have curtailed production. Export trade was quiet. Mills ran 70.9%, against 75 the week before." Later New York prices eased somewhat, it was said, with trade still quiet, though somewhat better than recently. Export trade is light, but Europe's general trade is increasing. It may soon reach flour as the financial conditions across the water steadily improve.

Wheat advanced on Monday 1½ to 2c. at Chicago and 1¾ to 2¼c. at Winnipeg. One signal event was a decrease in the American visible supply. That is the first in many weeks. Moreover, May and July went to a new high. Cables were higher. Argentine crop news was bad. Australia had heavy rains at this harvesting time. New buying came with the visible supply decrease. Shorts covered. Export demand took 750,000 to 1,000,000 bushels. The world's shipments fell to 14,000,000 bushels, but this caused a decrease of 4,000,000 bushels in on-passage stocks. Gulf wheat was in demand, and was sparingly offered. Chicago stocks showed a decrease of over 500,000 bushels for the week, but the important decreases in the visible were at Duluth and at New Orleans. December, after averaging about 7½c. under May, closed at 7¾c. Kansas City reported three cargoes of hard wheat exported from that market recently to Turkey. Chicago, it is of interest to note, was still several cents the lowest of the world's markets. The American visible supply last week decreased 1,234,000 bushels, against an increase in the same week last year of 1,455,000 bushels. The total is now 96,926,000 bushels, against 75,000,000 a year ago. Export sales on the 22d inst. of 1,500,000 bushels were accompanied by a rise of 2½ to 4c. in Chicago and at the Northwest. England, France, Germany and Italy were among the principal buyers. Europe is a buyer steadily, especially on reactions. Liverpool was slightly higher. Yet there were reports that stocks are increasing rapidly in the United Kingdom. Large arrivals from North America are even said to have caused reselling. There have been fears of a wet harvest in Argentina and Australia. The movement of wheat from the farms has continued large. Primary receipts aggregate 348,000,000 bushels, or 134,000,000 bushels more than last year. Shipments have also been largely in excess of last year. Exports of wheat and flour from July 1 to Nov. 1 aggregate 121,000,000 bushels. Imports of duty-paid Canadian wheat into the United States in the week ended Nov. 22 amounted to 25,000 bushels and imports of bonded Canadian wheat during the same week aggregated 159,567 bushels, the Commerce Department reports. There were no imports of Canadian wheat of either class during the preceding week. Indications of a fair export business and reports of unfavorable weather in harvesting districts of the Argentine brought increased buying at times. The Missouri weekly report said: "Wheat generally in satisfactory condition for coming of winter." Chicago wired that St. Louis will move out 450,000 bushels this week to the Gulf, while Kansas City is said to have sold 750,000 bushels the past few days for shipment to Germany. Kansas City wired: "The situation confronting grain men and millers when premiums change their basis from one delivery to another is causing much comment. The trade here is of the opinion that 14% protein, used as a basis of illustration, which is now commanding a premium of 12c. over Kansas City December, will remain close to this basis over May. There is a difference of 6½c. between the two months. One elevator man estimated elevator stocks of 12% protein or better at 4,000,000 bushels. It was also estimated that 3,500,000 bushels of wheat in store is sold ahead." Minneapolis wired: "Clear and 20 degrees. Many spreaders are buying Minneapolis May wheat against sales of Chicago around 4c. difference, also switching hedges from Minneapolis futures to Chicago May wheat. This buying is taking care of profit taking and hedging sales—latter are getting lighter each day. Our stocks of wheat show a decrease for the first time since the movement started." To-day prices ended with only trifling changes at Chicago and Winnipeg. Trading was active, but prices were irregular. At one time they were ½ to 1¼c. higher. There were reports of frost damage in Argentina. The advance in corn had some effect. Cash markets were steady. Export premiums are firmer as the time approaches for the closing of navigation. Exports for the week were smaller, but this would tend to lighten the selling in Europe. A rally at one time on covering of shorts raised the price to very near the season's peak for May. But on the other hand, there was liquidation later. Foreign markets were weaker over the holidays. Export sales were nothing remarkable, i. e. 550,000 to 650,000, about half of which, too, was Canadian. Receipts were rather large. The latest advices about the new winter wheat were favorable. But the last prices show a rise for the week of 3⅛ to 5c.

Indian corn advanced a fraction early in the week, but found it hard to stand up against steady selling by commission houses. Cash demand was fair. The visible supply decreased a little. Chicago stocks fell off somewhat. The market is gradually, some think, shifting from an old to a new crop basis. The crop is, of course, a small one. The country is inclined, it seems, to sell cash corn on upturns coincident with the enormous hog receipts. Prices declined at one time on good weather for moving the crop. The clear cold conditions are excellent for drying the corn. Receipts sharply increased and consignments were also larger. The American visible supply decreased last week 272,000 bushels, against an increase in the same week last year of 556,000, a difference of 828,000 bushels. The total is still 7,013,000, against 1,654,000 a year ago. Husking returns more than confirm the low yields suggested by the Government crop report, says a Chicago dispatch. A decrease of about 14% from last year's corn crop is reported in the aggregate production in the eleven countries that produce most of the crop in the Northern Hemisphere, according to the Department of Agriculture. Hutchinson, Kan., wired: "Dealers still finding it hard to get some place to dispose of their corn. Wires sent to all nearby States bring no reply. This office again bought five cars of spot corn Saturday that has been on the tables for a day or two. Under these circumstances we don't know what will happen when we get our first run of new corn about Dec. 1. All the new corn that has arrived is grading No. 2 or No. 3." The Missouri weekly report said: "Weather was favorable for corn husking and cribbing. This work has made good progress everywhere." The "Price Current" report said: "Special reports indicate very little of this year's corn crop will be moved to terminal markets, as the feeding values of the crop as a whole is not more than 50% that of good grain. It must also be remembered that 80% of a normal crop of corn is fed on the farms within the county lines in which it is produced." To-day prices sagged at one time, but rallied later on and closed 1¼c. higher. On reactions during the day the country bought. Commission houses covered. This had a noticeable effect. Also, the receipts were only fair. Country offerings were small. There were reports of a larger cash demand. The deliveries on December next Monday are expected to be not much over 500,000 bushels. Crop reports from the country were unfavorable. Poor husking returns continue to be received. Some of them are very gloomy as to the quality. Much of the corn is still said to be chaffy; some of it is not good enough even for feeding to hogs. Final prices show a rise for the week of 1⅛ to 2c.

Oats were stronger early in the week, especially July, owing to complaints of dry weather. The American visible supply, it is true, increased last week 245,000 bushels. A fair demand for low grade Canadian oats prevailed at one time. On the 25th inst. 50,000 bushels were sold. Later selling of July was very noticeable, in sharp distinction from the noticeable demand for it earlier in the week. The American visible supply increase last week of 245,000 bushels compares with a decrease in the same week last year of 852,000 bushels, a difference of 1,097,000 bushels. Moreover, the total is now 67,848,000, against 18,917,000 a year ago. There was a small export trade reported. Receipts were moderate. Chicago stocks fell off last week 90,000 bushels, offsetting in a measure an increase in the visible supply. Prices were held back early in the week by the hesitant tone in corn. Clear cool weather made it easier to move the crop and prices yielded with those for corn. To-day prices were at one time lower, but they rallied later with those for corn, after which there was again something of a setback, leaving the closing prices practically unchanged for the day. There was a certain amount of switching from December to May. With moderate receipts and small country offerings the tone was in the main steady. Professionals were inclined to buy on setbacks in prices. Unfavorable reports, too, are being received in regard to the start of the new crop in the South. Next Monday, it is believed, however, that 2,000,000 bushels will be delivered on December contracts. Last prices are ⅛ to ⅜c. higher than a week ago.

Rye advanced 1¼c. on Monday on buying partly to cancel hedges against foreign business. On that day export sales were 200,000 to 250,000 bushels, mostly to Norway. Stocks in all positions increased nearly 800,000 bushels last week and the total visible of over 20,500,000 bushels was a feature. Chicago rye stocks increased 780,000 bushels, and total 6,695,000 bushels, all of which, it was believed, will be delivered on December contracts. German rye bids were within 2c. of asking quotations. Germany, according to some reports, bought January shipment. German buying of this grain is believed to be imperative. Export buying of rye was more liberal and clearances from the seaboard were large. Stocks are ample and rye is going from the Northwest to Chicago. The American visible supply increased last week 787,000 bushels, against 570,000 last year. The total is now 22,530,000 bushels, against 18,022,000 a year ago. A cargo for Norway was sold on Wednesday and prices ended ½ to 1¼c. higher for the day, although there was rather heavy liquidation in December delivery. Duluth wired. "It is figured that about 95% of the rye crop is now in and there will be about 2,500,000 bushels left in store at the close of navigation." To-day prices closed ¼ to ½c. higher, though at one time 1c. lower. For a time there was liquidation. And export demand was poor. The later rally was traceable to buying by commission houses, covering of shorts and sympathy with a rise in wheat. July led the upturn. Next Monday, however, it is expected that 5,000,000 bushels will be delivered on December contracts. Concluding prices show a rise for the week of 1⅛ to 3⅜c., the latter on July.

ARGENTINE WHEAT CROP SMALLER THAN LAST YEAR'S.—The first official forecast of the Argentine wheat crop is 190,000,000 bushels, compared with 247,000,000 bushels produced last year, according to a cablegram received by the United States Department of Agriculture from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, and released by the Department on Nov. 19. About 70,000,000 bushels, including seed, feed and grain milled for food are needed for domestic requirements, it is stated, and there will be available for export and carryover during the year Jan. 1 to Dec. 31 1925 some 120,000,000 bushels from the current crop, provided the final returns of the crop bear out the estimate given, the Department says. Stocks of wheat on hand Oct. 1 were reported at about 27,000,000 bushels, and allowing 15,000,000 bushels for consumption during the remaining three months of the year, the quantity of old crop available for exports and carryover would be about 12,000,000 bushels.

LARGER WINTER WHEAT AREA IN CANADA.—The area seeded to winter wheat in Canada up to Oct. 31 is reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics to the United States Department of Agriculture at 832,200 acres compared with 767,200 acres on the same date last year, and with a harvested area of 773,945 acres in 1924. The condition of the crop is reported to be average. The winter rye acreage is reported at 758,116 compared with 770,416 harvested in 1924. The total Canadian potato crop is estimated at 96,782,000 bushels compared with a total harvested crop of 92,495,000 bushels last year. The acreage this year is placed at 563,899 compared with 560,943 last year. Total production of sugarbeets in Canada this year is estimated at 333,000 short tons compared with 216,200 short tons harvested last year. The total acreage is 36,080 compared with 22,450 in 1923.

WORLD CORN CROP FORECASTS BELOW LAST YEAR.—A cut of about 14% from last year's corn crop is reported in the aggregate production in all countries that produce most of the crop in the Northern Hemisphere. Late dispatches from the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome to the United States Department of Agriculture and made public on Nov. 21 bring the figures for the 11 countries up to 3,087,348,000 bushels compared with 3,594,098,000 bushels last year, and 3,384,063,000 bushels the average production estimated for the same countries for 1909–13. Practically all of this cut is the result of the poor crop in the United States. Countries of minor importance showing decreases are Canada, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. Italy, Hungary, Yugoslavia and Rumania which are the four largest corn producers of Europe report considerable increases, production being given as 439,242,000 bushels compared with 371,206,000 last year, and 468,595,000 the 1909-13 five-year average. The crop in Rumania is forecast at 154,440,000 bushels compared with 151,405,000 bushels last year, and 193,209,000 bushels the five-year average.

WEATHER BULLETIN FOR THE WEEK ENDING NOV. 25.—The general summary of the weather bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture, indicating the influence of the weather for the week ending Nov. 25 follows:

A high pressure area overspread the Southeastern States at the beginning of the week, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature, with freezing weather extending as far south as south-central South Carolina and the central portions of Alabama. It continued cold also in the Northeast with zero temperatures reported from points in the interior of the New England States. At the same time a depression was advancing eastward over the Central-Northern States and adjoining Canadian Provinces, which caused a general rise in temperature in all sections east of the Rocky Mountains during the following few days. It was especially warm for the season about the middle of the week in the interior and Northern States, though temperatures continued near normal in the South.

Warm weather for the season prevailed in the more western States until the 23d when much lower temperatures overspread central portions of the Plateau and Rocky Mountain areas, and the latter part of the week was considerably cooler in the central and eastern portions of the country. The weather was much colder in the South at the close of the week when freezing occurred to northern Louisiana and frost extended to the east Gulf Coast. The week, as a whole, averaged warmer than normal in much the greater portion of the country, as shown by Chart I. It was especially warm from the upper Mississippi Valley westward to the Rocky Mountains where the weekly mean temperatures ranged from 6 to 12 degrees above normal. The averages were somewhat subnormal from the central Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and Middle Atlantic States southward, except locally. Freezing weather extended to the central portions of the east Gulf States and in the west Gulf area to Taylor, Tex. Zero temperatures were reported only at a few points in the interior of the Northeast.

Fair weather was the rule the first part of the week, except for moderate to heavy general precipitation in the far Northwest and local rains in the Southwest. Precipitation was widespread about the middle of the week, however, in Eastern States, while the latter part was cloudy and showery in most sections east of the Mississippi River. Chart II shows that the weekly totals were substantial to rather large in all of the more eastern States, except in the extreme Southeast, and that generous rains fell in much of eastern Texas. Elsewhere, except in the far Northwest and western upper Lake region, precipitation was very light with none reported from the far southwestern districts. Much cloudy weather prevailed from the Ohio Valley northward, but there was a generous amount of sunshine in the South and West.

The outstanding feature of the weather during the week in its relation to agriculture was relief from the long drought that had prevailed in the Atlantic area. The rainfall was very beneficial in improving the soil condition, especially for meadows and winter grains, and in replenishing the water supply. While rainfall was general throughout the Atlantic Coast area, it was mostly light in southern districts and more rain is needed there for further softening of the soil to facilitate plowing and seeding; there was sufficient moisture to materially benefit fall truck and early seeded grains. The cooler weather in the Florida Peninsula favorably affected winter truck and citrus fruits.

In the central Gulf States the continued absence of rainfall was very unfavorable. The persistently droughty conditions here have materially reduced fall crops and delayed the seeding of fall grains and truck, while stock water is scarce. In the west Gulf area the drought was largely relieved in the eastern third of Texas, which very materially improved the outlook in that section, but in other districts unfavorable dryness continued.

The weather was mostly favorable in the interior States where the usual fall work made good progress, except that it was too dry for plowing in much of the Ohio Valley. Conditions vary considerably in the Great Plains area, being favorable in the northern and southern portions, but too dry in some central sections, especially in Nebraska and northern Kansas. The first general killing frost of the season occurred in Oklahoma, being the latest of record in some sections.

The mostly mild weather and absence of storms over the great western grazing districts were favorable, in general, for stock interests, though the lack of moisture was pronounced over the southwestern range. The soil is now well supplied with water in the far Northwestern States where fall-planted crops are advancing favorably and springs have resumed their normal flow. In the south Pacific section further substantial improvement in crop conditions was reported, especially in California where the rainfall of recent weeks has been very beneficial.

SMALL GRAINS.—Wheat and other fall-seeded grains were favorably affected by the rainfall of the week in the middle Atlantic area, and there was sufficient rain to be helpful in upper Ohio Valley districts, but more moisture is needed in some of the latter areas. The crop is generally good in Illinois, though it is too dry in the southern portion, and is good to excellent in Missouri, except in the dry southeast. Wheat needs moisture in Iowa, Nebraska and northern Kansas, but it is in excellent condition in the southern half of the last-named State where advanced fields show luxurious growth. Some wheat remains to be seeded in Oklahoma. Conditions were generally favorable from the Rocky Mountains westward, especially in the far Northwest where wheat is doing well. It is much too dry for fall grain crops in most of the Southern States.

CORN.—The weather was generally favorable for husking and cribbing corn in the principal producing areas and this work made rapid progress; damp weather in the upper Ohio Valley section was especially helpful in shredding and husking, but considerable corn was too soft and damp to crib. Husking has been about three-fourths completed in both Iowa and Missouri and is well advanced in Nebraska. Corn is reported as soft and poor generally in Michigan.

COTTON.—There was some interruption by rainfall to picking cotton in the northeastern portion of the belt, particularly in North Carolina and Virginia. Otherwise, where any of the crop remained ungathered, the weather continued very favorable for picking and ginning, as rainfall was light with moderate temperatures prevailing. Harvest has been practically completed generally, except in extreme western and northwestern Texas and in the more northeastern districts.

The Weather Bureau also furnishes the following resume of the conditions in the different States:

Virginia.—Richmond: Weather mostly cool and clear. Cotton picking progressing; some ginned. Corn being gathered; husking continues. Bulk of wheat and oats seeded and germinating nicely. Except locally, poor season in handling tobacco; little marketed. Pastures average fair; stock doing well

North Carolina.—Raleigh: Killing frost in south on 19th; later than usual and practically no damage. Rainfall beneficial to wheat, oats, rye, clover, fall truck and setting out winter cabbage. Some interruption to picking cotton and housing corn; still considerable cotton to be gathered; plowing under stalks in south.

South Carolina.—Columbia: Generous rains 21st and 22d broke the drought, improved truck and winter cereal germination and softened soil for further plowing. Oat planting quite general. Not much cotton remains unpicked. Fall cabbage, spinach and turnips doing well and some lettuce being seeded on coast. Good apples plentiful.

Georgia.—Atlanta: Week mostly fair with heavy to killing frosts 19th, 20th and 24th to central Georgia; some rain latter part favorable for germination of cereals, but insufficient to soften soil for plowing. Many oats still to be planted. Harvesting pecans and cutting sugar cane drawing to close.

Florida.—Jacksonville: Showers benefited strawberries, truck and citrus, but more rain needed, except in Everglades where lowlands too wet. Moderately cool, favorable for cabbage, celery, lettuce and citrus fruits. Oats good progress on lowlands; slow growth on uplands. Truck fair and small shipments made. Citrus maturing slowly; shipments increased.

Alabama.—Montgomery: Scattered, light showers insufficient. Drought materially reducing yield of fall crops and delaying planting of oats, wheat and winter vegetables. Farmers hauling water in some sections. Woods on fire in many sections of western portion. Corn and sweet potato harvesting nearly finished. Pastures and truck crops mostly poor. Sugar cane grinding continues in south.

Mississippi.—Vicksburg: Generally moderate sunshine with light, local precipitation in east and south. Drought unabated. Unseasonably cool 19th and 25th; otherwise temperature near normal. Cotton and corn harvested, except in isolated localities. Progress of gardens, pastures, truck and seasonable plowing and seeding poor.

Louisiana.—New Orleans: Light to moderate showers one or two days, but insufficient to materially relieve drought. Warm until end of week when freezing in north and frost in south, but no damage. Cane grinding in full progress and some fall planting done despite dry soil. Strawberry beds badly killed by drought and too dry to replant; fall truck scanty. Citrus good. Pecan crop very light.

Texas.—Houston: Moderate temperatures; good rains over eastern third of State, except on lower coast; no relief from drought elsewhere. Soil continued too dry for plowing, small grain germination and growth of grains and pastures, aside from rainy area where much benefited. Livestock fair with water scarce in many grazing districts. Cotton practically out of fields, except in extreme west and northwest where excellent progress. Amarillo: Ranges and livestock mostly fair, except range dry at Encinal and San Antonio; livestock being fed at Uvalde and shipped out at Carlsbad.

Oklahoma.—Oklahoma City: Cool close of week with killing frost general; latest first killing frost of record for some sections. Light to moderate scattered showers fell middle of week. Good progress made in picking and ginning cotton and harvest practically completed with good yields. Some wheat remains to be planted. Pastures short.

Arkansas.—Little Rock: Weather very favorable for gathering crops and threshing rice. Sowing wheat and oats; large acreage of latter. Corn and cotton about gathered. All work further advanced than usual. Winter crops doing well.

Tennessee.—Nashville: Normal temperature and moderate rainfall helped germination and progress of wheat, oats and other crops. Wheat stands fairly good. Favorable for gathering corn. Hogs killed under favorable conditions.

Kentucky.—Louisville: Soil again becoming dry in many districts. Growth of late grain slow. Stock water short. Early wheat good. Corn gathering well advanced. Rye furnishing less than usual grazing. Rain to fill streams badly needed.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

Friday Night, Nov. 28 1924.

One of the outstanding features in markets for textiles is the competition for business. It is resulting in a continuation of close prices, while the movement of merchandise is broadening and production increasing. During the past week business has been a little less active owing to the return of milder weather and the approach of the inventory period. Most of the business transacted has been confined to fabrics for special use. Reports from the retail trade stated that while sales were holding up fairly well there had been no vigorous buying movement. Sentiment, nevertheless, remains optimistic. Supplies in consuming channels, according to reliable authorities, are not burdensome and it is generally believed that as soon as the weather turns colder an active buying movement will develop. Not worthy efforts are being made in retail channels to clean up stocks before the holidays, and some of the values are called exceptional. It is said that the lower prices are helping to liquidate many lines of goods that have not sold freely in the past few weeks. The gains in production have become very impressive of late, this being particularly true in the cotton goods division. Silk mills are also running very well, while hosiery and knit underwear mills are busier than they have been for some time. Although reports of production in wool goods lines vary greatly, the average output is substantially higher than it has been for nearly a year. This development has also had a tendency to make buyers less anxious about placing deferred business. The requests for more novelties in American dress goods production continue, and it is claimed that in no year in the history of the dry goods trade has there been such a wide variety and volume of fancies and novelties shown.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS: Although markets for domestic cotton held steady, orders were not quite as numerous as the week previous. However, there has been considerable business in specialties of one sort or another for converting and manufacturing, and commission houses have experienced a broader demand for some of their standard lines. In many instances, the scarcity of gray cloths of special constructions has been very noticeable. The Government cotton crop report, issued on Saturday last, showed ginnings to the middle of November 3,000,000 bales in excess of a year ago, while the estimate of the total crop was only 8,000 bales short of 13,000,000 bales. This assures an ample supply of cotton for the mills for the remainder of the current crop year, and while it no doubt will fail to check speculation, it should do away with all talk of cotton scarcity. Supply and demand conditions are affecting many cloth prices directly. Some of the odd print cloth numbers are found to be very scarce as a result of the curtailed output during the summer, and prices for these are held relatively high. Sheetings have been less active, but it does not appear difficult for agents to maintain prices in a quiet period, as they are well sold ahead and stocks are no longer burdensome. Percales and some of the ginghams are being purchased moderately and steadily by the wholesale trade, and cutters are taking in goods as fast as they become due. In a number of instances they have displayed a desire to anticipate, which is taken to indicate that their trade is buying better. Sales of napped cottons at wholesale and retail centres have been held back by the mild weather. Some of the blankets have not moved out as freely as expected. Drills have been rather neglected, although there were a few sales reported of good makes and some seconds. Print cloths 28-inch, 64 x 64's construction, are quoted at 7⅝c., and 27-inch, 64 x 60's, at 6⅞c. Gray goods, 39-inch, 68 x 72's construction, are quoted at 10⅜c., and 39-inch, 80 x 80's, at 13

WOOLEN GOODS: Although further price advances have been registered on women's wear merchandise for next spring, due to the rising cost of raw material, it is doubtful whether the jobbers and cutters-up will accept the advance without strong resistance. In fact, it is claimed that there is considerable pressure in retail channels for lower prices. The rising cost of raw wool in both foreign and domestic markets has forced mills to choose between the prices asked or curtail production. This situation has prompted some of the selling agents to freely predict that goods for next fall will sell at prices ranging from 10 to 25% higher than prices asked a year ago. In the meantime, business in fall fabrics has been dull. The question as to whether the public will buy at higher levels will not be settled for some time. The general opinion in the markets, however, appears to be that by the time the higher values reach retail counters, business in general will have improved.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS: While household linens continued to drag along in an uninteresting fashion, other descriptions of linens displayed activity. Due to the stimulus of holiday buying there has developed a keen demand for embroidered huck towels. The supply has not been overlarge, with a shortage reported in several descriptions. Dress linens have been in good demand with some of the orders calling for delivery as far ahead as April 1. Merchandise of a novelty character has been in particular request. Linen furniture tickings have begun to be contracted for in satisfactory volume with the usual run of awning stripe as well as narrow stripe. Burlaps have ruled quiet and easier. Light weights are quoted at 8.90c. to 8.9 and heavies at 10.50c. to 10.60c.

Bloomington, Ind.—Water Bond Case to Be Argued in State Supreme Court.—From the Indianapolis "News" of Nov. 22 we take the following:

The State Supreme Court Friday afternoon (Nov. 21) granted a writ of supersedeas to John C. Harris, Mayor of Bloomington, preventing the Owen Circuit Court from enforcing its order to the Mayor to sign a bond issue for the erection of a new water works at Bloomington until the Supreme Court has heard Mayor Harris's appeal to it. Harris's bond was fixed at $10,000, and it must be given by Wednesday. The Mayor, having lost legal fights to prevent the water works erection, has refused to sign the bond issue, which prevents sale of the bonds and acquiring of money for the project.

The ruling was made on an appeal from the action of Cyrus Davis, Special Judge in the Owen Circuit Court, mandating Harris, as Mayor, to sign the bond issue.

Bonds in question are evidently those reported to us as having been sold in V. 118, p. 1817.

Elizabeth City, No. Caro.—City to Take Over Properties of Local Utility Corporations.—The Raleigh "News and Observer" of Nov. 20 said:

Jan. 31 1925 was the date set, in conference Monday between the City Council and President Howard E. Crook of the affiliated utility corporations of Elizabeth City for the city to take over title to and begin operation of these properties.

It was felt by the members of the City Council, Mayor Goodwin explains, that Jan. 31 was as early as the city could properly advertise and sell its bonds, and, as there are no funds available for the purchase of the utilities until the bonds are sold, the date set would be as early as the city could take over and operate the properties.

The existing utilities have been purchased at a price of $370,000, while bonds to the amount of $800,000 will be advertised for sale. The city plans to spend a considerable amount on rebuilding or revamping the electric light and power plant, improving the water plant and extending the sewerage system.

Government of the French Republic.—$100,000,000 External Loan Placed in United States.—The Government of the French Republic successfully placed in the United States on Monday, Nov. 24, through an American banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co., of New York, $100,000,000 Twenty-Five Year Sinking Fund 7% Gold bonds, denominated "External Loan of 1924." The bonds were offered at a price of 94 and accrued interest, to yield approximately 7.53% to maturity, by the bankers. Bonds are coupon bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Dated Dec. 1 1924. Principal and semi-annual interest (J. & D.) are payable in New York City at the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness, without deduction for any French taxes, present or future. Due Dec. 1 1949. Bonds are not subject to redemption prior to maturity, except for the Sinking Fund, of which the offering circular says:

In the loan contract pursuant to which these bonds are to be issued, the French Government covenants to pay as a sinking fund, $4,200,000 per annum, payable in equal monthly installments beginning Jan. 1 1925, being sufficient to retire annually one-twenty-fifth of the entire issue at 105%. Such sinking fund payments are to be applied to the purchase of bonds, if obtainable at or below 105% and accrued interest, or if not so obtainable, to the redemption of bonds, called by lot, at 105% and accrued interest, such interest in either case to be paid otherwise than out of the sinking fund. The bonds are to be redeemable at said price for the sinking fund on Dec. 1 1925, or on Dec. 1 of any year thereafter prior to maturity.

The final favorable majority is expected to be beyond 1,000,000.

Obion County (P. O. Union City), Tenn.—County Not Liable for Drainage Bonds Federal Court Judge Decides.—That Obion County, Tennessee, is not liable to the First National Bank of Columbus, Ohio, for $62,229 due on bonds of a drainage district, is the decision handed down, according to the Memphis "Appeal" of Nov. 7, by Judge Ross of the Federal Court at Jackson, Tenn., in an opinion rendered after more than eight months of study of the case. The "Appeal" continues as follows:

The Columbus bank brought suit against Obion County for the sum representing a bond issue made in 1913 to finance certain drainage projects which were to be undertaken in the county. The bank bought the entire issue, but the project became a failure and in many cases the landowners turned their property over to the State rather than pay the taxes assessed against them to pay for drainage.

The total collected by county officers of Obion County on the assessments has come to $2,595 20, which sum, it is admitted, belongs to the First National Bank of Columbus. The institution based its suit on the ground that Obion County as a whole was responsible for the bond issue, inasmuch as officers of the county court had been active in issuing them, instead of Obion River Drainage District No. 2, comprising 4,030 acres, the land to be benefited directly.

Judge Ross cited numerous legal authorities and decisions in former cases, as well as the statutes of the State of Tennessee. The bank insisted that authority existed under the laws of Tennessee to warrant the county placing the bonds on the market. The county contended that it had authority to issue the bonds through its proper officers, but that payment must come from the lands involved. Excerpts from Judge Ross's opinion follow:

"The right of a county in Tennessee to issue negotiable bonds must be found within the constitution and statutes of the State, . . . nor has the county court or any county authority, in the absence of a statute expressly conferring the authority, the power to issue negotiable bonds of the county for any purpose whatever." "And bonds issued by a county where no legislative authority for their issuance exists are void and nonenforceable regardless of their recitations."

"It is equally well established that as above stated where no authority exists for the issuance of such an obligation no recitation in the bond or subsequent act or the county or municipality can bind the county or municipality even though the bonds may go into the hands of a bona fide holder.

"Plaintiff (the bank) seems to recognize the principle that if no authority existed for the issuance of the bonds in question, the county is not liable thereon and insists that such authority is to be found in the statutes to which reference is made.

"After the provisions in the Act of 1909 for the establishment of drainage districts and the assessment of the costs of construction against the lands embraces therein it is provided 'That the assessments shall be levied upon the lands of the owners so benefited in the ratio aforesaid and shall be collected in the same manner as taxes for county purposes except as herein specifically provided and the funds so collected shall be kept as a separate fund and shall be paid out only for purposes properly connected with such improvement and on the order or warrant of the judge or Chairman of the county court.

"It is true the bond states in the beginning that the County of Obion acknowledges itself to owe, etc., and promises to pay the amount specified in the bond to the holder thereof, but this general provision is but the usual form in which such a bond would be issued under authority such as conferred by the Legislature of Tennessee in the Act of 1909, and certainly could not prevail over a special provision in the bond calling the direct attention of any prospective purchaser to the fact that the bond is issued in accordance with and under the provisions of a particular power conferred by a particular Act and that such purchaser or holder must look to certain specified property for the collection of the bond, and when such purchaser looked further to the provisions of the Act, he would readily see that the Legislature in unmistakable language was solicitious to limit the power to collect on any bond issued to the lands within the drainage district proposed to the exclusion of all other property. If in fact the county officials issuing the bonds had undertaken to bind the county, under the authorities above cited, such Acts on their part would have been void.

"It results that plaintiff is not entitled to a judgment against Obion County, but is entitled to judgment on the bonds for the amount delinquent, with interest thereon and attorney's fees, against Obion River Drainage District No. 2 and against the delinquent individual landowners to the amount of the assessments against the particular tracts of land within the district, but for the satisfaction of the judgment plaintiff must look to said lands and the funds in the hands of the trustee collected from the assessments against the same."

The Transportation Act of 1920.

The railroads of the United States are now operated under the Transportation Act of 1920. On March 1 1920 these railroads, which had on Jan. 1 1918, as a war measure, been taken over for operation as one system by the United States Railroad Administration, were, in so far as still under its control (the short lines having previously been surrendered), restored to their owners. Federal control was terminated pursuant to a proclamation issued on Dec. 24 1919 by the President of the United States and subject to the terms of the Transportation Act of 1920, approved by the President on Feb. 28 1920. The complete text of the Act was printed in the "Chronicle" of Feb. 21 1920, pages 715 to 732, with an amendment in V. 110, p. 2250.

On Sept. 1 1920 the Government guaranty of income which had been granted to assenting roads for the six months following the end of Federal control expired by limitation.

On March 1 1922, two further provisions of the Transportation Act expired by limitation, namely: (1) The provision of Section 15 (a) making it incumbent on the Inter-State Commerce Commission when adjusting freight and passenger rates during the two years beginning March 1, to aim at establishing such rates for the railroads of the country as a whole or in districts as should afford "as a fair return" on the tentative valuation which was fixed by the Commission in July 1920, at $18,900,000,000 (against a book value of $20,040,572,611), a sum equal to 5½% per annum and in addition at the discretion of the Commission an additional ½ of 1% to make provision for improvements, betterments or equipment; (2) The provision in Section 210 (a) permitting the carriers to apply for loans from the Federal Revolving Fund, within two years from the termination of Federal control.

Rate of Return Allowed by Commission.

On May 24 1922 the Inter-State Commerce Commission, as required by the Act, made known its decision as to what would be a new reasonable rate of return on the investment of the roads, for use when fixing rates for passenger and freight transportation. The decision of the Commission was reached in considering the question of rate reductions, and the full text of the Commission's report and opinion in that case, in which a horizontal cut of 10% in freight rates was made, was given in the "Chronicle" of May 27 1922, pages 2317 to 2329; the conclusions as to the rate of return will be found on page 2327. The Commission ruled: "That on and after March 1 1922 a fair return on the aggregate value of the railway property of the carriers defined in Section 15a of the Inter-State Commerce Act, determined as therein provided, will be 5.75% of such aggregate property value as a uniform percentage for all rate groups or territories designated by this Commission." The Commission in July 1920, as already stated, fixed the tentative values of the properties at $18,900,000,000.

Following a decision handed down March 17 1923 by the Federal Court at New Orleans upholding the constitutionality of the provision in the Transportation Act generally known as the "recapture" clause, which was regarded as a test case (see V. 116, p. 1723), the Inter-State Commerce Commission on Mar. 23 1923 issued an order requiring all railroads to report by May 1 1923 as to their earnings during the year 1922 and to pay over to the Government under the Transportation Act one-half of the amount by which such earnings exceeded a 6% return on the value of the investment (V. 116, p. 1243). On Jan. 7 1924 (V. 118, p. 163) the United States Supreme Court also upheld the constitutionality of the "recapture" clause. The proceedings attacking the constitutionality of this clause were brought by the Dayton-Goose Creek Ry. of Texas, but when the action reached the U. S. Supreme Court, nineteen trunk lines had become parties to the brief filed in behalf of the road. (See V. 117, pages 2176-2179.)

The Inter-State Commerce Commission on April 4 1924 issued an order requiring all railroads whose net railway operating income exceeds 6% of the value of the property for the calendar year 1923 to file with the Commission, before May 1 1924, a report in the matter. The Commission also announced that pursuant to a ruling of the Comptroller-General of the United States, interest on amounts of excess railway operating income payable to the United States under the Transportation Act will be required at the rate of 6%, beginning four months after the termination of the period for which the excess income is computed. The newspapers, however, at the time stated that few, if any, of the railroads would pay any of their income for 1923 into the Treasury of the United States, since in almost every instance the railroads would use their own valuations of their property, which are sufficiently higher than any tentative valuations which have been made to date, to save them from making any payment of excess earnings (V. 118, p. 1868, 1869, 2142).

Changes in Wages and in Transportation Rates.

The Transportation Act of 1920 was designed to enable the railroads as a whole to meet their financial problems caused by the war and Federal operation, and to assist them in their future financing by giving them a reasonable, though extremely moderate, return on their investment. Operating costs had enormously increased under Federal control and big advances in transportation rates were necessary to place the roads on a solvent footing. Furthermore, on July 20 1920 the U. S. Railroad Labor Board awarded wage increases aggregating over $625,000,000 a year. Accordingly, on July 31 1920 the Inter-State Commerce Commission authorized advances in rates calculated to add $1,500,000,000 to the yearly revenues of the roads. The immediate effect was most disappointing, owing to a precipitate decline in railroad traffic (V. 113, p. 1732 to 1734). The railroads were therefore obliged as one of their first steps to curtail their expenses drastically and to seek a reduction in the wages of their employees. Comparative statistics show the following results for Class I railroads (those with annual operating revenues above $1,000,000), exclusive of switching and terminal companies (see also data in V. 113, p. 1852 to 1854, 1739 to 1742; V. 114, p. 1492). The figures have been compiled by the Association of Railway Executives from the records of the Inter-State Commerce Commission:

Calendar Year.	Average Yearly Wage.	Total Labor Cost.	Gross Operating Revenue.	Net Operating Income.	Return on Prop. Value.
1917	1,004	1,739,482,142	4,014,142,747	934,068,770	5.26%
1918	1,419	2,613,813,351	4,880,953,480	638,568,603	3.51%
1919	1,486	2,843,128,432	5,144,795,154	454,984,953	2.46%
1920	1,820	3,681,801,193	6,178,438,459	17,226,902	0.09%
1921	1,666	2,765,218,079	5,516,798,242	600,937,356	3.07%
1922	1,623	2,640,738,182	5,559,092,708	760,187,305	3.83%
1923	1,617	3,004,659,673	6,290,153,622	961,236,657	4.65%

These figures show the return on the investment in road and equipment without any reference to materials and supplies on hand or to working capital.

In April 1921 the Railroad Labor Board ordered the abolition on July 1 1921 of some of the provisions of the "National Agreements" which the railroad managers claimed had cost the railroads of the United States $300,000,000 per annum, but laid down 16 cardinal principles that must be maintained (V. 112, p. 1580, 1581; V. 113, p. 34, 805, 893, 915, 916, 1326, 1429, 1644, 1731, 1732).

Subsequently, in 1921-22, the national agreements were revised by the Labor Board, removing some of their most burdensome features in the case of railroad labor other than trainmen's brotherhoods. See below.

In May and June 1921 the Labor Board announced its decision that the exigencies of the situation demanded a substantial decrease in railroad expenses, and for that reason railroad wages on the larger roads should be reduced on the average 12%. A strike against this decrease and to forestall any further changes in wages and working conditions was ordered by the four trainmen's brotherhoods and the switchmen's union; but on Oct. 27 1921, on the eve of its becoming effective, was declared off, as below stated.

In Nov. 1921, after many reductions in freight rates had been made (since Aug. 1920), the railway executives, in order to be able to further decrease these rates as demanded by the public, posted notices of a proposed additional wage cut of about 10% with the intent of wiping out the remainder of the wage advance of 1920. The railroads agreed to pass on all benefit from this further wage cut to the public, and in anticipation of same put in effect on Jan. 7 1922 an experimental reduction of 10% on agricultural products for all parts of the country, this reduction to stand during the six months in which the plan to reduce wages would come before the Labor Board. See also V. 113, p. 2153, 2470, 2876. It was not until May 1922 that the Labor Board announced its decision as to further wage reductions, and it then promulgated decreases in the pay of the shop craft employees, maintenance of way men, freight car men, signal men, clerks, &c., effective July 1 1922, which it was computed would effect a saving to the carriers of $135,000,000 per year. This led to a prolonged strike, as noted further on in the article on Railroad Wages. V. 114, p. 2432, 2541, 2784. The maintenance of way men, who did not join in the strike, had a portion of the decrease remitted to them on a rehearing, the remission amounting to 2 cents an hour. In 1923 and 1924 wage increases of one kind or another again became common, not as a result of orders of the Railroad Labor Board, but as a result of the action of many different roads.

Government Holdings of Equipment Trusts.

Late in 1921 and early in 1922 the Federal Government sold a large amount of its holdings of equipment trusts (see below), and used the proceeds to settle its accounts with the railroads.

The sale of these equipment trusts and the improved financial outlook late in 1921 led the Federal Administration to withdraw their support of the so-called Funding Bill, which, as an amendment to the Transportation Act of 1920, would have permitted the settlement of the large amounts due by the Government to the railroads on account of compensation, guaranty, &c., and the funding of $500,000,000 of indebtedness due by them to the Government for expenditures made during Federal control on additions and improvement account. Compare V. 113, p. 2371, 2043, 2042, 1730, 1115, 910 to 914, 805, 696, 488, 487, 149.

Valuation of Properties by Commerce Commission.

For tentative valuations of 150 roads filed in 1921, see V. 113, p. 1008, 1011, 1539. Further tentative valuations have been noted in subsequent issues of the "Chronicle" in our "General Investment News" department. See also V. 115, p. 1798. To date the I.-S. C. Commission has set final valuations on 23 carriers, as in the table below. A petition presented by the National Conference on Valuation of American Railroads, of which Senator La Follette is head, to have the proceedings of the I.-S. Commerce Commission in the physical valuation of the railroads of the country recommitted to the Bureau of Valuation, was denied by the Commission on Dec. 3 1923 (V. 117, p. 2617). The Conference sought to have the Commission establish the original cost of property investment and labor in railroads, as well as other data. All the existing valuation work of the Commission was attacked as unsound. The Commission held that its procedure in ascertaining information with respect to aids, gifts, grants or donations, was in substantial compliance with the Valuation Act, and that analysis of method of arriving at final value was not required by the law.

a The petition of the Kansas City Southern Ry. Co. for a writ of mandamus commanding the I.-S. C. Commission to make a new valuation of the carrier's properties was dismissed Oct. 20 1924 by Justice Stafford of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, but it is expected that an appeal will be taken (V. 119, p. 1952). b The bill of equity filed by the Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR. (formerly the San Pedro Los Angeles & Salt Lake RR.) in the U. S. District Court, Southern District of California, to enjoin and set aside the final valuation of its property made by the I.-S. C. Commission, is still pending (V. 117, p. 2890).

Proposed Plans of Consolidation.

The Transportation Act of 1920 contemplates the ultimate consolidation of all the railroads of the United States into a limited number of competing systems, and under one of the provisions of the Act the Inter-State Commerce Commission is directed to prepare a plan to that end. The provision is not compulsory as far as the roads are concerned. In the process of carrying out the requirement, the Commerce Commission directed Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard University to prepare a plan of consolidation, and with that as a basis, the Commission prepared a tentative plan which was put forward in September 1921 "in order to elicit a full record upon which the plan to be ultimately adopted can rest." The plan was outlined in V. 113, p. 1429 to 1431, 1950 to 1952. A table showing the grouping of roads in the plans of consolidation under consideration by the I.-S. C. Commission was given in V. 119, p. 628 and 629. Hearings were held on the different systems proposed, principally the Northern Pacific-B rlington, the Great Northern-St. Paul, the Union Pacific-Northwestern, the Frisco-Katy-Cotton Belt, The Baltimore & Ohio-Reading, the New England-Great Lakes, the Pennsylvania and the New York Central Systems, but a final determination has not yet been made. The hearings terminated Dec. 4 1923. Oral arguments on the proposed consolidations were concluded Jan. 12 1924.

Outline of Transportation Act.

The following outlines the Transportation Act of 1920, which was published in full in the "Chronicle" of Feb. 21 1920, p. 715 to 732, with an amendment in V. 110, p. 2250:

RATES MUST BE ADJUSTED SO AS TO YIELD A FAIR RETURN.—The Commission is from time to time to determine and make public what percentage of the aggregate property value constitutes a fair return thereon. Such percentage must be uniform for all rate groups or territories which may be designated by the Commission. In making such determination it shall give due consideration, among other things, to the transportation needs of the country and the necessity (under honest, efficient and economical management of existing transportation facilities), of enlarging such facilities in order to provide the people of the United States with adequate transportation: Provided, That during the two years beginning March 1 1920 the Commission shall take as such fair return a sum equal to 5½% of such aggregate value, but may, in its discretion, add thereto a sum not exceeding ½ of 1% of such aggregate value to make provision in whole or in part for improvements, betterments or equipment, which, according to the accounting system prescribed by the Commission, are chargeable to capital account.

The Commission in a decision handed down in May 1922, as noted on the preceding page (top of second column) stated "that on and after March 1 1922 a fair return upon the aggregate value of the railway property will be 5¾%."

Pending the completion of its valuation of the railway properties in the United States, the Commission is required to make tentative valuations of the several roads as a basis for rate-making. In July 1920 the Commission placed a tentative value on all the railroads in the United States of $18,900,000,000 as against a book value of $20,040,572,611.

DISTRIBUTION OF EARNINGS IN EXCESS OF 6%.—Net railway operating income in any year in excess of 6% of the value of the property shall be utilized as follows: (a) One-half of such excess shall be placed in a Reserve Fund maintained by the railroad; (b) the remaining one-half shall go into a General Railroad Contingent Fund (see also page 3 of this publication).

REFUNDING OF CARRIERS' INDEBTEDNESS TO THE UNITED STATES.—The net indebtedness of each carrier to the United States for additions or betterments may be funded for a period of ten years (or less at option of company) from the termination of Federal control, with interest at 6% per annum, subject to the right of the carrier to anticipate the payment of the whole or any part of the indebtedness. Any remaining debt to U. S. to be evidenced by 6% notes running one year or less.

CONSOLIDATION OF RAILROAD PROPERTIES—STOCK CONTROL, &c.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission is directed to prepare and adopt a plan for the consolidation of railroad properties into a limited number of competing systems, and consolidations are authorized when in harmony with the plan as adopted and approved by the Comission. See remarks above and plans as proposed in 1921, V. 113, p. 1429 to 1431, and 1950.

The Commission shall also pass on any proposed measures for the control of one road by another by consolidation, lease, stock ownership or otherwise. In any consolidation the total amount of outstanding stock and bonds of the consolidating company shall not exceed the value of the consolidated properties as determined by the Commission.

JOINT USE OF TERMINALS.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission whenever in its opinion there exists an emergnecy may require such joint or common use of terminals, including main-line tracks for a reasonable distance outside of such terminals, as in its opinion will best meet the emergency and serve the public interest.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE COMMISSION MAY INITIATE RATES.—In the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates, the Commission can initiate as well as modify and establish rates.

CONTROL OVER SECURITY ISSUES.—The Inter-State Commerce Commission is given exclusive control over the issuance of all railroad securities, except notes maturing in less than two years when the total issues of said notes of the railroad amounts to less than 5% of its capitalization. See regulations, V. 111, p. 1814, 1049, 587.

LABOR BOARDS TO ARBITRATE DISPUTES BETWEEN WAGE-EARNERS AND EMPLOYERS.—The law authorizes a system of labor boards of adjustment to be established by employers and employees. A central railroad labor board of appeal is created with power to hear disputes and initiate investigations.

The members of this board, three of whom are to represent labor, three railroad managers, and three the public, to be appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. There are no penal provisions for the enforcement of the decisions of this board. [See list of members on page 228.]

Federal Control—Standard Return.

The proclamation of President Wilson assuming control of the roads was dated Dec. 26 1917. See V. 105, p. 2509; V. 106, p. 35; V. 108, p. 2081.

CONTRACTS FOR GOVERNMENT CONTROL—RENTAL PAYMENTS.—The form of contract which the Government executed, with slight variations, with the railroads, will be found in V. 107, p. 1157, 956.

The Act of Congress approved March 21 1918 (cited in V. 106, p. 1421) authorized the President "to agree with and to guarantee' to any carrier "that during the period of such Federal control it shall receive as just compensation an annual sum (herein called standard return) for each year . . . not exceeding a sum equivalent as nearly as may be to its average annual railway operating income for the three years ended June 30 1917." In a few cases for special reasons extra compensation was granted. Disputes however, arose, and when Federal control was terminated Feb. 29 1920 there still remained a number of roads concerning which the question of compensation, whether the standard return or a larger sum, was still to be determined.

Out of the aforesaid compensation as supplemented by the company's non-operating income, including interest and dividends on any bonds or stock owned, and other outside items each company was required to pay all Federal (war) taxes, interest and other fixed charges, and also any dividends allowed on their capital stock.

A list of the compensation contracts finally executed up to Sept. 15 1920 will be found, with the amounts of the compensation agreed upon, on pages 6, 7 and 252 of the issue of this Section for Nov. 27 1920. Others have been noted from week to week in subsequent issues of the "Chronicle."

Government's Settlement of War Time Claims of Carriers Against Railroad Administration—Final Cost to Government $1,696,000,000.

In a report submitted by Director-General of Railroads James C. Davis to President Coolidge on Jan. 3 1924, it is shown that of the claims arising out of Government war time control of railroads, settlements covering 99% of all the mileage taken over ha l been effected. The total cost to the Government of the 26 months of Federal control and the six months guarantee period is shown to have been $1,696,000,000. Claims amounting to $1,014,397,447 were filed by the carriers against the Railroad Administration; during the investigation of these claims, sundry voluntary reductions were made and the Administration paid to carriers sums on account; this reduced the aggregate amount of claims as finally presented for adjustment to $769,974,783. Up to Dec. 31 1923, according to the report, $763,106,521 of these claims had been finally adjusted, or definite tentative agreements made looking to final adjustment. For full text of report see "Chronicle" of Jan. 12 1924, p. 164.

Increases and Decreases in Railroad Rates.

During the period of Government control operating costs had been so enormously increased that the roads fell far short of meeting their expenses and charges, leaving a heavy deficit for the Government to make good. With the return of the roads to private control, therefore, it hence became necessary to arrange for increasing rates for the transportation of both passengers and freight. The extension of the guaranty period for six months after the roads had been turned back to their owners was for the purpose of allowing time in which to make the adjustment. Just as the Inter-State Commerce Commission was ready to announce its decision, there came the decision of the RR. Labor Board on July 20 1920 awarding increases in wages aggregating $625,000,000 or more per year. The roads had asked for increases in rates to yield additional revenue of $1,017,766,000 per annum. Following the award of the Labor Board the roads petitioned the Commission for further additions to revenue in the amount of the increase. On July 31 1920 the Commission having placed a valuation of $18,900,000,000 upon the railroad properties, against a book value of $20,040,572,611, undertook to allow them 6% upon the property investment, which would mean a total of $1,134,000,000 with which to cover the increased cost of wages and supplies and to pay for improvements, &c. (compare V. 111. p. 653, 549, 459, 347 to 350, 329). The decision of July 1920 increased:

(a) Freight Rates.—40% in the East, 25% in the South, 35% in the West and 25% in Mountain-Pacific territory. (b) Passenger Rates—20%, the amount asked by the railroads, or about ½ of 1 cent additional per mile. (c) Pullman Rates—A surcharge to the roads of 50% on rates. (d) Excess Baggage Rates—20% advance. (e) Milk Tariffs—20% advance. (f) Coastwise and inland steamship lines and electric railway companies were permitted to increase their freight rates in proportion to the increases of the railroads in the same territory. (V. 111, p. 848.)

These increases in rates were expected to add $1,500,000,000 to the yearly revenues of the roads. But, unfortunately, a sudden decline in traffic caused an alarming falling off in railway operating income, notwithstanding the higher rates received. (V. 113, p. 2155.) It then became necessary to reduce both rates and wages.

On Nov. 17 1921 the Railroad Executives, in anticipation of a wage cut of 10%, announced a 10% reduction in rates on farm products for all parts of the country, except New England (and in New England also it was voluntarily accepted by most of the railroads), the old rates to be restored at the end of six months in case the expected lowering of railroad wages had not been accomplished. (V. 113, p. 2154, 2470, 2786.) This move followed numerous and important rate reductions on many products since Aug. 26 1920, when the general advance mentioned above was ordered. The 10% reduction in rates on farm products it was estimated would save shippers about $55,000,000.

In May 1922 the Inter-State Commerce Commission ordered a horizontal reduction of 10% in rates, effective July 1 1922. For full text of decision see "Chronicle" of May 27 1922, pages 2317 to 2329. In the case of grain, grain products and hay in Western territory the Commission had the previous autumn ordered a freight rate reduction of 16½%, which went into effect Jan. 1 1922. That reduction was allowed to stand without change, the 10% cut not in any way affecting it.

On April 17 1923 reductions were permitted in freight rates to meet Panama Canal competition on certain heavy commodities to Pacific Coast and intermediate points. The reductions apply to all Western lines, including those like the Atchison and Southern Pacific, that reach the coast by the Southern route, and the Union Pacific that goes by the Central route, as well as the Northwestern roads. Some time before the Inter-State Commerce Commission had refused to permit those lines to charge a higher rate to intermediate than to Pacific Coast points. Further reductions by the same lines were ordered to become effective June 1 1923. The latter ran as high as 50%, it was stated, on some commodities. (V. 116, p. 2089, 1014.)

Railroads operating through the Southwest and the lower Mississippi Valley were ordered by the Inter-State Commerce Commission on March 15 1923 to make a general revision of commodity freight rate schedules, effective June 30 1923. (V. 116, p. 1138.)

Excerpts from Letter of Chairman H. C. Hall of the Inter-State Commerce Commission to Senator Smith, Chairman of the Senate Committee on Inter-State Commerce, Dated May 28 1924.

Since July 1 1922 there have been no general reductions over the country as a whole or throughout any of the major rate groups. Many reductions have been made in individual cases, but they have been relatively unimportant as compared with those made previous to and including the general reduction of July 1 1922. Readjustments of rates on some 30 commodities in the Southwest, involving both increases and reductions, but not designed to affect the carriers' aggregate revenues, became effective Nov. 27 1923. Other commodity rates in that territory are now in the course of similar revision. A revision of the same nature is contemplated with respect to class rates in the Southeast under an investigation now pending before us in Docket 13494, known as the Southern Class Rate Investigation, which is to be followed by a readjustment of the commodity rates in that terriory. A revision of the class rates within Trunk Line territory in the Eastern district, and between that territory and adjacent territories, is also contemplated. There is now pending before us a general investigation, No. 15263, instituted upon our own motion, into the reasonableness of the rates on grain, grain products, and hay throughout the United States. With this investigation has been consolidated a proceeding upon complaint by the Kansas Public Utilities Commission which was reopened by us for further hearing. Hearings and arguments therein were concluded March 22.

It has been estimated that from July 1 1922 to the end of 1923 the shippers and consumers of the country have paid nearly $800,000,000 less in charges for transportation of property than would have accrued if no reductions had been made below the basis established on Aug. 26 1920. Of this, it has been roughly estimated that more than $175,000,000, or about 22% of the total, represents decrease in freight charges on livestock and the products of agriculture. The latter constitute approximately 15% of the tonnage.

In the attached statement, marked "Appendix I" [given below] will be found a list of important general rate reductions between Oct. 26 1921 and July 1 1922.

The attached statement marked "Appendix 2" [given below], shows representative rates now in effect on lumber, base bullion, packing-house products sugar and iron ore as compared with the rates in effect on Aug. 26 1920. The percentage relationship of the present rates to the Aug. 26 1920 rates is also shown.

APPENDIX 1.

Important General Rate Reductions Between Oct. 26 1921 and July 1 1922, Inclusive.

1. A 10% reduction in rates on all products of farm, garden, orchard and ranch—other than grain, hay and their products, and livestock—which became effective about Jan. 1 1922.

2. A reduction of 10% in rates on livestock between any two points, both of which are located west of the Indiana-Illinois State line or the Mississippi River, where such rates wer 50 cents per 100 pounds or less. This reduction became effective about Jan. 1 1922.

3. Reductions in rates on grain, hay and their products made by the order of the Commission effective about Jan. 21, between any two points located west of Lake Michigan or the Indiana-Illinois State line and east of thr Rocky Mountains; on wheat, hay, and their products, such as flour, cornmeal, bran, alfalfa meal, &c., 13%; on corn, oats, barley, and other so-called coarse grains, and their products, 21%.

4. Reductions ranging from 1 to 15% on forest products from Southern, Southeastern and Southwestern producing territory to points in Eastern Trunk Line and Central territories, including points in Illinois and Wisconsin. These reductions became effective about May 10 1922 and were the result of the Commission's opinion in the Southern Hardwood Traffic Association case, Docket No. 12995.

5. Material reductions in rates on coal, both bituminous and anthracite, from Lake Superior docks to points in Minnesota, and also in South Dakota on and east of the Missouri River. These reductions were made effective about April 1 1921, and were the result of the Commission's decision in the Holmes & Hallowell case, Docket No. 6194.

6. General reductions in rates under the Commission's opinion in Reduced Rates, 1922, Docket No. 13293. These reductions became effective July 1 1922 and applied to all classes and commodities. The general effect was to make a reduction of 10% in the rates of June 30 1922, except in cases where prior thereto and subsequent to the general increase of Aug. 26 1920 reductions had been made by that per cent or more. Generally speaking, no rates were to be higher than 90% of the Aug. 26 1920 rates, and where reductions had been made but not to that basis, such further reductions were required to be made to bring the rates to that level.

The Inter-State Commerce Commission on July 17 1924 definitely refused further rate reductions on grain, grain products and hay, sought by 10 States of the Mississippi and Missouri Valley cereal growing region under the leadership of the State of Kansas. The Commission held that the ancial status of the carriers did not justify the step, ile, in general, it held that the financial situation of the estern grain farmers was showing a slow improvement, relieving them of the necessity for the reduction. (V. 119, p. 288.)

Because of the relatively disadvantageous position of the ew England group of roads, a readjustment of the basis for division of through rates was authorized by the Inter-State Commerce Commission on Feb. 14 1922, effective March 1 1922, by which the New England roads other than the Bangor & Aroostook were to receive an increase of about 15% in the amount coming to them from the division of revenue derived from most classes of traffic interchanged with the lines west of the Hudson River. (V. 114, p. 702, and V. 111, p. 1942 V. 112, p. 744, 987.) Compare remarks in Oldham merger plan, V. 113, p. 1950, 1951. In the suit brought in April 1922 against the Commission to prevent the carrying out of this increase as discriminatory, the United States Supreme Court on Feb. 19 1923 handed down a decision upholding the order of the Commission. (V. 114, p. 917, 1253.) Certain carriers have filed applications for rehearings. The case was to have been reopened in May 1924.

The American Railway Express Co. was held by the U. S. Supreme Court on June 2 1924, to be subject to the jurisdiction and control of the I.-S. C. Commission. The question was raised in three cases brought by the United States, the Southern Express Co. and the Southern Traffic League and others to set aside an injunction granted by the Federal District Court for northern Georgia restraining the Commission from exercising jurisdiction. (V. 118, p. 3044.) Following this decision, express rates throughout the country were ordered readjusted June 9 1924 by the I.-S. C. Commission, which authorized general increases in the Eastern zone approximately 8%, and slight reductions in the West and South. The decision will be effective Jan. 1 1925. The American Railway Express Co. and the Southeastern Express Co. have petitioned the Commission to extend this date to March 1 1925.

Changes in Railroad Wages.

On July 20 1920 the U. S. RR. Labor Board, acting under Transportation Act of 1920, granted wage increases to the 2,000,000 railway employees of the United States, retroactive to May 1 1920, which the Board estimated would add approximately $600,000,000 to the pay-roll, but which the Association of Railway Executives estimated at $625,921,085, or 21%, and which appears to have aggregated possibly $720,000,000. Increases aggregating about a billion had been demanded. See V. 111, p. 347 to 350, 459, 460; V. 110, p. 2252, 2254, 2624.

On July 1 1921, after careful investigation, the U. S. Labor Board permitted the railroads, aside from the so-called short lines (which are in a class by themselves), to make a wage decrease of about 12%, as against the aforesaid wage advance of May 1 1920. It was estimated that this would effect a saving in the yearly pay-rolls of the roads of $375,000,000. (Compare V. 112, p. 2143 to 2150, 2377; V. 113, p. 33.) While the decrease was duly put in effect, the question whether it should be accepted or should be opposed by a strike was referred by the leaders of the 16 railroad unions to their local organizations (V. 113, p. 149), which, it appears, were quite generally in favor of a strike, both to recover the lost wages and prevent further unfavorable changes in wage or labor conditions.

When, however, it came to the actual declaring of a strike only the four trainmen's brotherhoods and the switchmen's union were prepared to take this step in the face of a strongly

The B. & O. RR. having acquired all the securities issued by the Toledo & Cincinnati RR., made a deed of trust covering the same to secure notes exceeding $35,000,000 collateral bonds, which are intended ultimately to be made as far as possible a direct lien on this division. Of these new B. & O. bonds, $11,250,500 of 4% and $5,000,000 of 5% were issued forthwith under the plan. In addition, $2,447,000 Series "C" bonds have been issued for capital expenditures. The remainder were reserved to retire at maturity or earlier the bonds undisturbed by the plan as shown in table above, or for acquisition of underlying stocks, branch lines, branch line bonds, aid for refunding additions and betterments, or to acquire First & Ref. Mtge. bonds of new company issued therefor. V. 105, p. 2364.

(10) The $35,000,000 6% Secured Bonds dated July 1 1919 have as security: $6,065,000 Reading Co. First Pref. stock; $14,265,000 Reading Co. Second Pref. stock; $10,002,500 Reading Co. Common stock; $15,000,000 B. & O. Ref. & Gen. Mtge. 6% bonds, Series "B," and $2,000,000 Series "A," due Dec. 1 1995. The trust indenture provides that the aggregate value of the collateral deposited shall always be maintained at least equal to 125% of bonds outstanding. V 108, p. 2628; V. 109, p. 71

The trust indenture provides that the company in each year, beginning July 1 1919, after providing for its fixed charges, will set aside out of net income accruing after that date, not less than $3,500,000 p. ann. until a total of $17,500,000 has been set aside, such sums to be used, from time to time, solely for capital expenditures theretofore made, to pay loans incurred or maturing funded obligations. Moneys set aside in any year in excess of $3,500,000 may be credited against moneys required to be set aside in subsequent years. Balance of total set aside in 1923. V. 108, p. 2628.

Promissory Note.—The company has issued a promissory note for $9,000,000 dated March 1 1920, payable to the Director-General of Railroads ten years after date with interest at 6% p. a., payable semi-annually. Reorganization.—On Aug. 29 1916 the Boston & Maine RR. was placed in temporary receivership on account of inability to pay its maturing obligation of nearly $20,000,000. Pres. James H. Hustis was appointed temporary receiver and continued in this position until reorganization and consolidation of the system on Dec. 1 1919.

The reorganization plan (V. 107, p. 1918, 2375, 2474), which became effective Dec. 1 1919, provided as follows:

(1) Consolidation of the Boston & Maine RR. with its seven directly leased lines and the assumption by the consolidated company of all subleases and other obligations.

(2) Payment in cash of principal and back interest of all matured obligations of the eight consolidating companies.

(3) Payment in cash of back interest on unmatured bonds and debentures of the consolidating companies, these being left as original or assumed obligations of the Boston & Maine RR.

(4) Exchange of stock of consolidating leased lines on which dividends had been paid as rentals for like amounts of Boston & Maine Cumulative First Preferred stocks, the latter to be issued in series with dividends corresponding to the dividends on the old leased line stocks, but for a period of 5 years these dividends to be paid at 20% less than the normal rates.

(5) Preferred stock of the Boston & Maine remains undisturbed, except that it is subordinated as to dividends but not as to principal to the First Preferred stock, and the regular 6% rate reduced to 4% for the period of 5 years. However, it has been stipulated that the dividend on this stock must be paid if earned.

(6) The Common stock of the Boston & Maine is undisturbed, but is to receive no dividends for a period of 5 years, except under conditions mentioned below. In case of liquidation all three classes of stock are to share equally in assets after providing for obligations and accumulated dividends on the First Preferred and Preferred stocks.

(7) The money necessary to pay off the matured obligations was obtained by the selling of $19,879,000 bonds to the U. S. Govt., these bonds being secured by the consolidated properties under a mortgage which equally secures all the outstanding bonds of the consolidated companies, except that $8,338,000 bonds of the consolidated companies which previously have been secured by mortgages retain these mortgages, which are senior in lien on the divisions covered to the lien of the new general mortgage.

(8) The agreement in respect to the reduction of Preferred dividends and non-payment of Common dividends during 5 years is modified by the provision that if during the period of 5 years the company shall sell $12,000,000 6% First Preferred stock at par and apply the proceeds in the reduction of debt to the Government, restrictions in respect to Boston & Maine Pref and Common stocks shall lapse, but curtailment of dividends on the First Preferred stocks shall continue.

(9) The amounts earned for the stocks and not paid out on account of the reduction in dividend on the Pref. stock and the omitting of dividends on the Common are to be paid to a trustee to be applied in the purchase from the Government of the bonds it takes for its advances or invested in impts. CAPITAL STOCK.—First Pref., authorized, $50,817,900, of which $12,000,000 is reserved to retire $12,000,000 of new bonds. Issued, $38,817,900. Pref. only as to divs. (see paragraph 4 above). Preferred and Common stocks (see paragraphs 5 and 6 above). The Boston RR Holding Co. held $21,918,900 Common and $654,300 Preferred stock, and this was ordered by the Court to be sold by Oct. 1 1923. V. 108, p. 2122. The Court, on June 4 1923, modified the decree of Oct. 17 1914, the modification restoring to the New Haven its investment in the B. & M. V. 116, p. 2635. Voting trust agreement, V. 116, p. 1176, 2515. Suit by Stockholders' Protective Association, V. 119, p. 692.

BONDS.—In exchange for the $19,879,000 advanced by the Government the company issued $17,606,000 5% bonds payable July 1 1920 and $2,273,000 6% bonds payable Jan. 1 1929. The 5% bonds due July 1 1920 were refunded by a like amount of 6% bonds payable Jan. 1 1929, purchased by the Director General of Railroads.

The new 1st & ref. mtge. secures all of the consolidated company's bonds equally with the bonds given to the Government, and will cover all the property owned or hereafter acquired, subject only to the following divisional mortgage bonds: Portsmouth Great Falls & Conway RR., due June 1 1937, $1,000,000; Worcester Nashua & Rochester RR., $1,265,000 ($735,000 due Jan. 1 1930, $380,000 due Oct. 1 1934, $150,000 due Jan. 1 1935); Troy & Boston RR., due July 1 1924, $573,000. Bonds are to be issued in series. (See table at head of page.)

Proceeds of the $4,000,000 mortgage gold 6% bonds sold in Nov. 1922 were used toward the retirement of obligations maturing in January and May 1923, amounting to $3,991,000, viz.; $2,000,000 Boston & Maine RR. 3½s, due January 1923; $969,000 Connecticut River RR. 3½s, due January 1923; $250,000 Boston & Lowell RR. 3½s, due May 1923; $772,000 Vermont & Massachusetts 3½s, due May 1923. BULL FROG-GOLDFIELD RR.—Beatty, Nev., to Goldfield, Nev., 80 miles. In June 1914 control was obtained by Las Vegas & Tonopah RR., duplicate lines being abandoned, but in 1918 that company went out of business and this road has since been operated in connection with Tonopah & Tidewater RR. and Death Valley RR. V 99, p. 1536. During the latter part of 1919 Messrs. W. A. Clark, Montana, the holder of the outstanding bonds, agreed to take $148,000 in new 1st Mtge. bonds in exchange for the old 1st and 2d Mtge bonds held and in partial satisfaction of unpaid accrued int. on outstanding bonds. CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS.—(See Map.)—In 1919 a company under the name of "Canadian National Railway Company" was incorporated by the Dominion Government with the intention of having that company take over and operate the railways owned or controlled by the Government. This company was organized in October 1922.

In Jan. 1923 an amalgamation was effected between the above company and the Grand Trunk Ry. of Canada, the result being a new company with the name "Canadian National Ry. Co." and which new company became vested with the properties of the two amalgamating companies and became liable for the obligations of said companies. Pursuant to the agreement between the Dominion of Canada and the Grand Trunk Ry. Co. all the capital stock of the Grand Trunk Co. became vested in His Majesty the King on behalf of the Dominion of Canada and as a result of this and of the above amalgamation there was issued in favor of the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada in trust for His Majesty as above $180,424,327 70 of capital stock of the new Canadian National Ry. Co. This amount represented the previously outstanding capital stock of the Grand Trunk Co., there being no capital stock outstanding of the previous Canadian National Rys. Co. The Canadian National Rys. now operates about 22,000 miles of railway all under control of the same directors and the same general and executive officers, whether acting respectively as directors or officers of one or another of the companies included in the Canadian National Rys. System.

In May 1920 Wm. A. Read & Co., New York, offered $15,000,000 7% equipment trust gold certificates, dated May, 1920, and due May 1 1935.

Semi-annual payments of $500,000 each beginning Nov. 1 1920 must be used by the trustee to purchase certificates at or under par, if obtainable. At the end of each six months any unexpended balance must be used at the direction of the railway to purchase either certificates or Canadian Government obligations due before the maturity date of the certificates. Certificates may be purchased at a premium and tendered by the railway company to the trustee, under the foregoing provisions.

Serial equipment bonds of 1923, V. 117, p. 552. 3-year gold notes of 1924 and equipment trust ctfs. Series "H," V. 119, p. 578.

The 30-year 5% bonds of 1924 are secured by the full credit and taxing power of the Dominion of Canada equally with its Victory bonds and other direct obligations. The Dominion of Canada guarantees unconditionally the payment of principal and interest, the guaranty being endorsed on each bond. V. 118, p. 430.

The 30-year 4½% bonds of 1924 are callable as a whole, or in part by lot, on any int. date, at 105 to and incl. Sept. 15 1929; at 103 and int. thereafter to and incl. Sept. 15 1934; at 102 and int. thereafter to and incl. Sept. 15 1935, and thereafter at further successive annual reductions of one-tenth of 1%. V. 119, p. 1171.

HISTORY.—Reorg. in 1887 without foreclosure; V. 44, p. 714, 716; V. 105, p. 1707. Concerning coal properties, see Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. and Lehigh Coal & Navigation under "Industrials." In 1901 Reading Company acquired control, owning $14,500,000 stock. The latter company will dispose of its holdings under its dissolution plan. V. 113, p. 1469; V. 112, p. 743, 2304; V. 72, p. 86, 136, 241, 391, 721. In Sept. 1913 the Govt. brought suit alleging violation of both the Sherman law and the commodities clause of the I.-S. Commerce Law. In Oct. 1915 final decree of U. S. District Court dismissing said suit ordered that this company must dispose of its interest in the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. within 90 days. Both parties appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court. On April 26 1920 the U. S. Supreme Court sustained most of the Government's charges. The plan for the disposal by the company of all the stock of the Lehigh & Wilkes-Barre Coal Co. owned or controlled by it (as embodied in the dissolution decree of the Reading Co. dated Feb. 14 1921), provided that the stock be disposed of within six months after entry of the decree or previous to any other later date which may be fixed by the Court. Announcement was made on Nov. 17 1921 that the company had sold its 169,788 shares of Coal Co. stock to a syndicate for $32,500,000. See V. 114, p. 737, 946, 2578; V. 115, p. 182, 644, 868; V. 117, p. 669, 1555; V. 113, p. 1982, 2184, 2719; V. 112, p. 743, 2641; V. 101, p. 1464, 1807; V. 110, p. 1816. Full Crew Law.
